GRIEF-STRICKEN MOTHER WATCHES 3 CHILDREN BURN

Fire of Undetermined Origin Destroys Home North of Ottawa

Bristol Mines, Que., Feb. 1 — (CP) — While she struggled with neighbors who held her back, a grief-stricken mother Monday was witness to a fire in which her three young children perished.

Mrs. C. J. (Joe) Cleary was only gone from the house a few minutes when the blaze of undetermined origin gutted the one-storey frame dwelling in this village 50 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Dead are: four-year-old Lorraine, two-year-old Dwayne and eight-months-old Andrew. Their father was at work at the nearby Stewartville hydro project on the opposite side of the Ottawa River and was unaware of the tragedy until hours later.

Death of the children brought to 14 the number that had perished in fires in Canada in the last four days. Nine perished in the New Waterford, N. S., fire Friday; two in the River Hebert, N. S., fire Monday.

Mrs. Cleary was mailing a letter at the village post-office and was showing pictures of the children to friends when she happened to glance towards her home and saw smoke coming from it.

Seconds later the house was in flames. While neighbors held Mrs. Cleary, two others— Mervin Henderson and James Bohan—risked their lives by crawling into the burning home. In a carriage they found the baby, Andrew. He was dead.

Henderson and Bohan entered the blazing structure again. Dwayne also was dead when they brought him out.

The men tried to get into the dwelling once more, to search for four-year-old Lorane. They were forced out by the flames. Four hours later, probing in the ruins, Henderson found the body of Lorraine.

NO CHANGE IN DECISION

Ottawa, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Veterans Minister Gregg told the Commons Monday he has no intention of recommending higher allowances for student veterans at this time. He was answering a question from Rodney Young (CCF-Vancouver Centre).

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 1 (CP)—Synopsis: The disturbance that gave several inches of snow to Southern Ontario on Monday, moved rapidly northeastward through the Maritimes last night, giving somewhat heavier snowfalls there. Colder air has moved into northwestern Ontario from the prairies and will cover the province soon after midnight tonight. The full force of the cold air will not be felt in Southwestern Ontario because of the modifying effect of the Great Lakes. Snowflurries are expected in most sections of the province today and in southern and eastern sections on Wednesday, but amounts will be small except locally along the southern shores of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

Montreal, Feb. 1 — (CP) — More than 200 residents of suburban Longueuil, awakened and driven from their homes by rising flood waters and ice floes, today appraised damages caused to their homes on the banks of the St. Lawrence River just opposite Montreal.

The water swept 350 yards inland and rose as high as four feet at some points. More than three-quarters of a mile of shoreline was affected.

Volunteer workers, wearing hip length rubber-boots, poled their flat bottom craft from house to house where they took off men, women and children and escorted them to safety.

There was no loss of life reported, and as far as could be ascertained, no injuries suffered.

The heavy ice floes, pushed by rising flood waters, cascaded into the streets. One Longeueil resident rushed from his home in his underwear and stepped into four feet of icy water. Others climbed to roofs until rowboats rescued them.

At least 45 people were reported to be sheltered in Longeueil police headquarters today.

Test Plane Passes 1,700 MPH Speed

Cleveland, Feb. 1 (AP)—An aviation plant executive has confirmed indirectly that the X-1, first airplane to exceel the speed of sound in level flight, has atained velocities of 1,700 miles an hour and climbed to an altitude of 80.000 feet.

Lawrence D. Bell. Buffalo industrialist and aviation pioneer whose firm engineered the rocket-powered, experimental craft made his disclosure Monday night in an address before the third annual banquet of the Cleveland Technical Societies Council.

Bell said the plane was designed to hit the 1,700-mile-an-hour and 80,000-foot marks and then disclosed that the X-1 has been eminently "successful in all its tests."

Air force security regulations prohibit naming exact results achieved.

Believe Sabotage To Blame For Breakdowns, Fires

Toronto, Feb. 1 (CP)— After a one-week investigation, Provincial Police believe sabotage was responsible for breakdowns in equipment and recent fires on buses owned by Eastview Bus Lines in Ottawa, it was learned here today.

Inspector Leonard Neil of the provincial police staff here is in Ottawa working with investigators of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department. The probe may be completed by the end of the week.

Mysterious breakdowns on the bus line are said to have been caused by deliberate tampering with engines. Fires which destroyed one large bus and damaged four others, are also said to have been deliberately set.

Steps Being Taken to Save Ontario Moose from Extinction Says Scott

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP)— The threatened disappearance of the moose, king of the forest, is worrying both sportsmen and the Ontario government.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, meeting here, were told here Monday by Lands Minister Scott that the government "is just as concerned as you are about the disappearance of the moose."

"We hope to assure that this animal does not disappear from our forests," he said. New Brunswick, once a moose-hunter's paradise, now is almost barren and the government is trying to guard against such developments in Ontario.

He said, however, that the department was opposed to an increase in the bounty paid for wolves. The increase had been asked by sportsmen who claimed that wolf packs are killing many of Ontario's moose.

The Ontario wolf bounty is now $25, $10 more than in Quebec, Mr. Scott said, and any increase in the Ontario bounty would likely develop a black market in wolves across the Quebec border.

He said the growing number of beaver was welcomed because the number of dams is increasing. "More dams mean slower seepage, which means more fish for the fishermen."

Two Federation scholarships, valued at $250 each, were awarded to two biology students: D. G. Campbell of Harrow, student at the University of Western Ontario and F. G. Cooch of Ottawa, a Queen's University student.

Ken Clarke of Sudbury was named as the individual contributing most to conservation in Ontario in 1948. He was awarded a trophy presented by a brewing company (Carlings). Honorable mention went to Austin Peters of Kingston, W. P. Shields of Schumacher, and Pete McGillan of Peterborough.

The Danforth Rod and Gun Club won the Mary Pickford trophy. Special mention was made of the Good Times Fishing Club of Hamilton and Hagersville Fish and Game Club.

Ben-Gurion Will Aim At Alliance With Arabs

Tel Aviv, Feb. 1. (AP)—Israel intends to seek friendship with both the United States and Russia, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said Monday night.

He outlined the policy of the government in a broadcast, his first since Israel's election which gave his Mapai party the largest vote of any single party. Ben-Gurion spoke shortly after the United States announced it was recognizing as legal the government of Israel. Previously United States recognition of Israel was on a "de facto" basis, without an exchange of diplomatic representatives.

Ben-Gurion said Israel also intends to seek an alliance with Arab states and support the United Nations. The government must have a policy of full equality for all citizens, regardless of race, religion, and sex, he said, and engage in economic planning.

The prime minister did not speak of the armistic negotiations with the Egyptians at Rhodes. Reports from that island said the boundary question in the Negev had reached a point where the Egyptians were faced with the alternatives of making major concessions or taking responsibility for breaking off the talks. An Egyptian delegate left the conference to take to his government in Cairo a plan for a settlement offered by the acting U.N. mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche.

Trans-Jordan, recognized by the United States has been independent since 1946 when Britain recognized it as an independent state, and Abdullah changed his title from emir to king.

Abdullah's Arab legion helped oust Vichy French forces from Syria in the Second World War, and proved to be the strongest Arab fighting force when States of the Arab League invaded Palestine at the end of the British mandate.

Full Recognition Given Israel By United States

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP) — United States officials held out hope today that a settlement of the Arab-Jewish dispute may be a step nearer now with full American recognition of both Israel and Trans-Jordan.

They looked for the dual recognition also to increase Israel's chances for early election to membership in the United Nations and encourage other governments to recognize Trans-Jordan. (The Soviet Union vetoed Trans-Jordan's admission to the U.N. last year.)

resident Truman late Monday granted full "de jure" recognition to both countries.

On the eve of last week's Israeli election the United States approved a $100,000,000 loan for economic development of Israel. Truman had given partial "de facto" recognition almost at the moment the Israeli state came into being last May 14.

There was thus no question of strong American friendship for Israel.

De jure recognition means a government is recognized as the lawful one for that country; de facto recognition in recognition that a government is in fact a functioning government.

Officials said recognition of Trans-Jordan would have been forthcoming earlier except for concern that this might be taken as support for the Arabs against the Jews.

Supporting the official contention that no deal with Britain was involved, the White House made a separate announcement that the United States will soon exchange ministers with Trans-Jordan.

BOY ADMITS FIVE CHARGES

Galt, Feb. 1 (CP)— A 15-year-old Preston juvenile, pleading guilty to five of nine charges of breaking, entering and theft has been given an indeterminate sentence in Bowmanville Training School for Boys. With his arrest police recovered from his home and a barn a great array of loot some of which was classed as junk.

Claims Banker, Lenin's Financier, Now Behind Soviet

Berlin, Feb. 1 — (Reuters) — The Swedish banker, Olaf Aschberg, known as the "man who financed Lenin," has reentered politics — as a financial adviser to the Russian military administration in Germany, the British-licensed Montags Echo reported.

After 23 years of political inactivity Aschberg, who in 1917 was alleged to have provided Lenin with the means for his successful return to Russia from exile, now is the brain behind the Soviet military administration's financial operations. These operations are directed against Western Germany currency and Marshall aid for the western zones, the newspaper said.

Maj. Foote, V.C. To Move Adoption Of Throne Speech

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Rev. John W. Foote, wartime chaplain who won the Victoria Cross at Dieppe in 1942, will launch the throne speech debate at the coming session of the Ontario Legislature which opens Feb. 10.

Maj. Foote, Progressive Conservative member for Durham, is scheduled to move adoption of the reply to the speech, which usually outlines the government's program of legislation for the session. Allister Johnson, Progressive Conservative winner in the recent Parry Sound by-election, will second the motion.

Women Members Of Navy, Air Force Take New Names

From now on the Women's Auxiliary Air Force will be known as the Women's Royal Air Force. The Auxiliary Territorial Service becomes the Women's Royal Army Corps.

The distaff side of the Royal Navy — the Women's Royal Naval Service — keeps its present name.

The Times of London said in an editorial that the women could consider it a high compliment that these services have been given the right to enter the "honorable ranks" of those entitled to use the word "royal."

Saluting now will become compulsory in the W.R.A.F. Up until now, saluting between members of the R.A.F. and the W.A.A.F. has been courtesy.

Discipline will be tightened in the W.R.A.F. Airwomen ultimately may be detained in cells for certain offences.

Ukrainian Girl, 10 Says She Jumped From Speeding Car

Rita Czelpela told her story through an interpreter, as detectives pressed investigation into the case.

Detective-Captain Ovila Pelletier said police had "extremely little to work on. All the child can tell us was that the man was dark, middle-aged and drove a dark-colored automobile."

Rita could not explain how she came by her injury.

She said she had been waiting for her father to come home from work, when a dark-haired, middle-aged man stopped his car and began to speak to her.

"He grabbed me by the hand and pulled me and my sled into the car," Miss Kozak quoted Rita as saying. "I started screaming."

She finally jumped out of the automobile to gain her freedom.

SECOND MOTION NON-CONFIDENCE GOES ON RECORD

Budget Will be Brought Down Early-St. Laurent

Ottawa, Feb. 1 — (CP) —A second motion of non-confidence in the government went to the parliamentary record today as the throne speech debate gathered steam.

M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, urged the Commons Monday night to vote lack of confidence in the administration on the grounds it had "failed" in these three points:

1. Provision for an over-all national health insurance program.
2. Provision for the orderly marketing of agricultural products and for the exchange of goods needed in Canada.
3. Elimination of speculation in foodstuffs.

Actually it was a sub-amendment to a non-confidence amendment moved Friday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

Both are traditional opposition thrusts which will not come up for decision for several weeks.

Mr. Coldwell moved his motion after Prime Minister St. Laurent, concluding a 3½-hour speech started last Friday, defended his new administration and charged that Mr. Drew, who had based his maiden speech on Dominion-Provincial relations, had changed his stand on that question from time to time.

Coldwell Asks Question

He wondered what Mr. Drew's stand on Dominion - Provincial relations would be "if the country was ever so imprudent as to put him in charge of its affairs."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the fact the government was negotiating an Atlantic security alliance indicated it had "lost faith" in the United Nations as an instrument for world peace.

In the opening stages, Mr. St. Laurent and other party leaders paid tribute to Norman Jaques (SC-Westaskiwin), who died from a heart attack in the early morning.

Justice Minister Garson announced the establishment of a three-man commission to revise the Criminal Code, with Chief Justice W. M. Martin of Saskatchewan as chairman.

SECOND MOTION—Page 9

MINISTER DIES SUDDENLY

Peterborough, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Rev. Allan M. Partridge, 61, minister of Mark Street United Church here, died suddenly at his home Monday. Mr. Partridge conducted two services Sunday and attended a reception to Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, who was in Peterborough preaching at the 75th Anniversary of Trinity United Church.

Toronto Driver Is Identified As Vernon Barkman

$1,000 Reward Offered In Highway Killing

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Police said today a motorist wanted for the hghway killing of William Miller, 21, today gave himself up. They identified him as Vernon Barkman of Toronto.

Further details were not available immediately. The man identified as the motorist gave himself up after rewards totalling $1,000 were put up today by the Ontario government and the city of Toronto for information leading to identification of the driver who severely injured Miller's fiancee in the accident.

Police earlier were reported conducting a house-to-house search in the area east of the city and checking all garages.

Statements by three eyewitnesses and the records of a manufacturer indicate that the killer drove a 1933-model gray sedan (Chevrolet) police said. A door handle and an interior fitting belonging to that model were found in a snowbank at the scene of the accident and turned over to medico-legal analysts.

Slowly gaining strength in hospital, Helen Billson still is unaware of her fiance's death. Doctors are waiting until she passes the crisis stage before telling her. No decision has been made as to whether it will be necessary to amputate her shattered left leg.

Lombards Busy Toughening Dogs For Sled-Derby

Wayland, Mass., Feb. 1 (AP) —The Lombard dogs have been pulling an automobile in training for the Ottawa dog-sled derby.

Lack of snow forced Mr. and Mrs. Roland A. Lombard to design the contraption to toughen their dogs for the Feb. 15 event.

They "stripped down" a small car, took off the tires and rigged up a harness for the dogs they will take to the races.

The Lombards go into the Ottawa run with two teams, one driven by Dr. Lombard and the other by his wife. She will handle malmutes.

Frank Stukus Injured Crossing Street

Toronto, Feb. 1 (CP)— Frank Stukus, 65, father of three famous football players, was injured today when he was struck by an automobile as he alighted from a bus.

Police said Stukus suffered a fractured hip when he stepped into the car's path. Frank Fanning, a Toronto motorist, drove Mr. Stukus to the hospital, police said.

Gas-Turbine Electric Locomotives Will be Tested on British Railways

London, Feb. 1 (CP)—Two gas-turbine electric locomotives, capable of travelling 90 miles an hour, will run test trips on British railways this summer.

Both are experimental models. One is being built at Manchester, England, the other at Baden, Switzerland. If first tests prove successful, more such locomotives may be ordered.

Though described in London newspapers as "jet-powered," a British railways official said the term is misleading.

"In some respects they resmeble the jet-propelled airplane," he said, "but the construction is different."

The Swiss locomotive, which has a gas turbine driving through electric motors, will be shipped to England in July after exhaustive trials on testing gradients of the Swiss railway system.

It will then go to Swindon, Wiltshire, for tests on long runs. As the locomotive will carry enough fuel for 250 miles, it could be used on non-stop runs from London to Plymouth or London to Scotland.

For the technically-minded, British railways give this explanation:

"The heat content of the fuel oil is directly converted into mechanical energy without the working medium of water as in the case of a steam locomotive. The energy thus produced is transmitted electrically to the locomotive's driving axles.

Power unit for the second locomotive, under construction at Manchester, will resemble an ordinary locomotive, but will have no smokestack or tender. Weighing 120 tons, 70 feet long, it will have an intake for air to feed the jet, the blast of which will be "harnessed" to operate the turbine.

HUNGARY NAMES NEW GOVERNMENT PEOPLE'S FRONT

Constitution Will be Written and Country Lined Up in Moscow Orbit

By ENDRE MARTON

Budapest, Feb. 1 (AP)— The Republic of Hungary, on its third anniversary, today became a "People's Republic."

The National Front of Independence, the name of the coalition of Communist-dominated parties participating in the government, was re-named the People's Front of Independence.

Mathias Rakosi, No. 1 Communist of the country and its deputy premier will be chairman of the supreme council of the People's Front.

A new constitution will be written.

The move lined up Hungary in the actual form of the other "People's Democracies" in the Moscow orbit, although it has long had the outward trappings.

The change over was made three days before the trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of the Roman Catholic Church on charges of plotting against the government.

Premier Istvan Dobi's Smallholders Party, which won a heavy majority in the last free election in Hungary before the Communists won control in May 1947, will have 10 of the 43 seats in the supreme council of the People's Front.

A formal statement said there will be "absolute freedom of religion" in the new republic, but the republic will fight back "if the church uses her international connections to support internal external enemies of the People's Democracy."

The announcement asserted that Hungary aims to maintain friendly economic and political connections with all countries, provided they do not interfere with our internal affairs.

Between the two world wars Hungary was a kingdom without a monarch, ruled by Admiral Nicholas Horthy as regent. Hungary signed an armistice with the United Nations in Moscow in December, 1944.

The moderate smallholders won 57 per cent of the vote in a free election in May, 1945.

In the Communist coup of May, 1947, the Smallholder premier, Ferenc Nagy, was forced to resign while on a vacation in Switzerland.

Zoltan Tildy, former leader of the Smallholders, was forced to resign as President in July, 1948, when his son-in-law, Victor Csornoky, was accused of treason.

STIRLING

Board Reports Small Deficit For Local Fair

Stirling — A very successful year was reported at the annual meeting of Stirling Agricultural Society held in the office of the Ontario Department of Agricultural on Monday afternoon. President Ray Snortt presided over the well-attended meeting and E. D. Ketcheson acted as secretary.

The financial statement was presented by E. S. Bailey, treasurer showing the total receipts $2,750.52 and the expenditures including over $400 spent on the fair buildings as $3,037.00. This leaves a small deficit but taking into consideration the amount spent in improvement of the fair buildings and the inclement weather experienced on fair day, the directors were well satisfied with the year's work.

Directors Congratulated

In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. A. O. Dalrymple, agricultural representative congratulated the directors on the excellent progress they had made towards making the local fair one of the best in the county. He also congratulated the Board on the permanent improvements made to the horse barn, poultry pens, etc., and recovering the buildings.

Directors George Sutherland, Don Heath and Clarence Fitchett addressed the Board on matters pertaining to different departments in the prize list. The matter of sponsoring a field crop competition was discussed at some length but final discussion in the matter was left until the Febhuary meeting.

May Fence Grounds

The property committee was also instructed to investigate the fencing of the Fair Grounds and report at the February meeting.

The matter of the rental of the Fair Grounds was next discussed and it was decided to advertise for tenders on the rental.

The secretary was istructed to write Messrs. A. N. Pyear and A. V. Greenley voicing the regret of the members at their illness and their inability to be present at the meeting.

Ben S. Bleecker, Don Campbell, Clarence Fitchett, Chas. Vance, Earl Wallace, Ray Shortt, Don Heath, Geo. Carlisle, Verney Heath, Ewart Bailey, Carleton Potts, Kenneth Weaver, Wm. Sutherland, Harold Detlor, Geo. Sutherland, Guy Bradshaw, Arthur Pyear and the president of the Businessmen's Association.

OBITUARY

LATE HARRY DAVIS
(Point Anne)

The funeral of Harry Davis was held Monday afternoon from the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Lily Williams, Point Anne. The service there and at Belleville Cemetery was conducted by Major K. Graham of the Salvation Army.

Premium Paid On Debentures

Indicative of the strong financial position of the city, Belleville General Hospital debentures for $125,000 have been sold at a premium of $101,963, or nearly two per cent over par, according to city hall officials.

Tenders were called for sale of the debentures with thirteen tenders being received. The offer of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at the above mentioned price, was accepted. The debentures bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent.

Referring t the sale of the debentures in city council Monday evening, Mayor D. L. Storey stated that members of council could be proud of the city's financial condition which has resulted in debentures being sold at nearly two per cent above par.

Money from the debentures will be used to effect needed repairs to the hospital boiler room and laundry.

Council also last night gave approval for the sale of an additional $138,000 in hospital debentures, the money to be used to pay off the 1948 hospital deficit and for the 1949 capital expenditure.

In speaking to the debenture issue for $138,000 Mayor Storey referred to the heavy costs of operating the hospital, noting that when the city took over the institution there had been $74,000 un unpaid bills. He promised that progress would be made in 1949.

Sheet Metal Defeats Water Street 6-1 In Northern Electric Loop

The Sheet Metal team of the Northern Electric Hockey League racked up another convincing win in Memorial Arena last night, defeating the Water Street team by a 6-1 score.

Metals scored two in the first period and went all out in the 3rd after a scoreless second period to ram home four. Water Street got their lone tally in the first when Ingram scored from McCabe's pass.

Rosebush, Noakes, Fogarty, Salter, Rosetti and Barrett were the snipers for Metals. Four penalties were handed out by Referee "Porky" Yorke, one of them a major going to Kelleher. Ingram, McCabe and Locke were the best for Water Street with Rosebush, Prout and Noakes outstanding for the winners.

Conductor Jumps From Caboose As Train Pitches In

Toronto, Feb. 1 (CP)— J. J. Farrow, Canadian National Railways conductor, jumped for his life today when he leaped out of the caboose of a Clarkson freight train just as a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train from Hamilton ploughed into it at suburban New Toronto.

The passenger train was derailed and the caboose damaged but there were no injuries.

PERENNIAL CHAIRMAN

Gladstone, Man. (CP)— There's no question about the confidence school trustees of this town repose in Mrs. Rod McAskill. She was recently re-elected chairman of the school board for the sixth time.

Council Will Enter Agreements With Adjoining Municipalities Respecting Fire Protection

The Belleville Fire Department will give fire protection to the four adjoining municipalities of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburgh townships at the rate of $100 per call, for the first hour, it has been decided by members of city council.

Monday evening at the regular meeting of council, members voted to enter into an agreement with the above four named municipalities with respect to providing fire pratection and the agreement will be submitted to the respective municipalities for their approval.

Under the agreement the municipalities would pay $100 per call for the first hour and $25 for each succeeding hour which the fire department remained on the call.

Council also approved of a 400 gallon water tank and hose being installed on the small hose truck owned by the fire department. This vehicle when so equipped would be used to fight fire in the Parkwood Heights area until roads and streets are in suitable condition for the larger vehicles.

The vehicle would also be used to some extent for answering alarms to outside municipalities.

Will Interview Authorities

The matter of fire protection for federally-owned buildings in the city will be taken up with authorities in Ottawa, while fire protection for the Ontario School for the Deaf and for the Ontario Hydro building on Pinnacle Street, will be taken up with provincial authorities.

Accoustical conditions in the city hall auditorium will be improved at a cost of $740, it has been decided. Dominion Sound Equipment, Ltd., will be authorized to proceed with the work providing they can give council a guarantee of the work being satisfactory.

The H. J. McFarland Construction Company will be authorized to immediately commence building a stockpile of crushed rock in the Parkwood Heights area for the purpose of spreading on roads in the area with the start of the spring break-up. A stock pile of 15,00 yards of stone will be built up.

Delivered price of the crushed rock is $1.70 per ton for three quarter inch rock. The firm will be paid 80 cents per ton for stockpiling, the balance to be paid when the rock is spread on the roadways.

Both Will be Used

Alderman Duffy wanted to know if it had been decided to use crushed rock instead of gravel for roadways in Parkwood Heights. He was told by Alderman Lummiss, chairman of public works, that both would be used, but rock was necessary for the base.

Alderman Brown pointed out that when the contract had been given to McFarland he had been given to understand by certain members of council that this firm was the only one able to supply crushed rock in the necessary quantity. He had later found this to be not so.

Mayor D. L. Storey pointed out, however, that McFarland's contract did not run out until some time in the spring and to enter an agreement with any other supplier would be leaving the city open for damages.

To Construct Sewer

Council approval for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Boswell Street from Harriett to Earl Street was granted.

Howard LaPalm, local trucker, will be given notice to vacate market property east of the Memorial Arena by April 1st. This property will be used as market space and as parking space when market is not being held.

Additional lights on Emily Street extension, on Russell and Bull Streets were authorized. A committee of Alderman Hyde, Tice and Brown was appointed to investigate tree removal in the city and report to council.

Alderman Duffy tabled a recommendation asking that all purchase of supplies, goods or equipment by the city which amounted to over $75 be advertised and purchased by tender, and that local merchants be given the preference when price was equal.

The recommendation asked further that in the case of emergency goods up to $75 could be purchased when authorized by the comptroller. Here Alderman Clarke pointed out, however, that according to city by-law, the cost of emergency equipment purchased in such a manner could not exceed $25. The recommendation was defeated.

Referred to Traffic

A motion by Alderman Liddle, council recommended that steps be taken to place traffic lights at the intersection of North Front Street and Moira Street. The alderman stated this was a very dangerous intersection. The recommendation was referred to the traffic committee.

Gordon Lummiss, employee of the city clerk's office was named deputy clerk with a salary of $1,920 per year with annual increasements of $120 per year to a maximum of $2,400 per annum.

A communication form the suburban roads commission noting that work for the year would cost an estimated $11,000. The communication was referred to the estimates committee.

Council approval of the Armouries lawn as a site for a monument to the late Sir Mackenzie Bowell was given. Attention of council members was brought to the matter by W. C. Mikel, K.C., who noted that the Historic Sites and Monuments Committee were desirous of erecting the monument.

Referred For Checking

Several requests for tag day dates were referred to the city clerk for checking following it being decided that there would be no action taken with respect to a community chest.

Under inquiries Alderman Brown asked whether any action had been taken with respect to a previous request that Victoria Ave. be made a through street with a stop sign to be placed on Bleecker Ave. He said the move would be desirable from the standpoint of fire protection.

In reply Alderman Lattimer stated that the matter had been reviewed last year but it had been decided that one north and south through street was necessary for ambulance service to the hospital. There was no further discussion.

Alderman Brown also inquired as to progress in completing the installation of the connecting link for sewers in the Parkwood Heights area. In reply Mayor Storey stated that due to difficult working conditions very little progress had been accomplished during the past two weeks. He had contacted consulting engineers Gore and Storrie and had requested that another contractor be hired to speed the work.

Stand by Percentage

Alderman Liddle asked regarding the decision of the rink committee with respect to a request of the Quinte Skating Club for a more favorable agreement in renting the arena for their carnival. Alderman Lloyd replied that the committee had decided that the current division of 60 per cent for the club and 40 per cent to the arena would have to stand.

Alderman Brown wanted to know if any action had taken place with respect to the transfer of the Alemite recreation field for property in the industrial area. City Solicitor R. A. Pringle replied he had communicated with Stewart Warner and that action now would have to come from the company.

Alderman Lummiss referred to the recent joint meeting of the Public Utilities Commission and city council and objected to a statement of Alderman Hyde at that meeting that if council had gone ahead with the Parkwood Heights project when it was first discussed in council, the project would now have been completed.

Mayor Storey also disagreed with the statement and cited dates claiming council had sought to expedite the work.

Statement of Policy

The Mayor went on to say that at the last meeting of the Public Utilities Commission a statement of policy had been obtained from Commission Manager O. H. Scott to the effect that the utilities paid for the cost of constructing water mains and also house service to the property line. "This is exactly what the council has been maintaining," stated the Mayor.

Considerable discussion followed with respect to the joint meeting of the council and commission two weeks ago, several councillors claiming the meeting had been ill-timed as it had been necessary for council members to leave to attend their own regular meeting.

"We had several delegations waiting for us to start the council meeting and members of council did the right thing in leaving the meeting," stated Alderman Allin.

Three delegations appeared before the council meeting, their requests all being referred to the finance committee.

Harry W. Rollins appeared as a one man delegation asking for a grant from the council to assist the local Kinsmen Club in holding their district convention in the city this summer. As result of the convention the city would get a lot of advertising, stated Mr. Rollins.

Want Recreational Commission

Lorne McDougall, representing the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, addressed council requesting that a recreational commission be set up. "The idea would be to take full advantage of existing recreational facilities in the city," he said. He also mentioned the proposed swimming pool but noted the recreational commission should be first formed.

Mr. McDougall went on to say that such a program had the support of the province in that it would pay up to one third of the salary of a recreational director up to a maximum of $1,000. They would also pay 20 per cent of operational costs. It was suggested that council set up a budget for this purpose.

George Wishart, representing the Board of Education, also spoke to council on the matter, stating that the board heartily endorsed such a program pointing out that recreation filled a large place in preventing delinquency. In operating playgrounds the Board of Education had to some extent provided recreation for the youth outside school hours. He felt, however, that the larger program should be carried on through a separate organization.

The matter was referred to the finance committee with Aldermen Tice and Brown being re-appointed to the recreational committee.

The third delegation was from the Belleville and District Allied Labor Council seeking a grant of $2,500 from the city, claiming that the above organization represented a majority of citizens in the city. Mr. George Elliott acted as spokesman for the delegation the request of which was turned over to the finance committee.

Once-Roisterous Bar Rooms Slow Down to Mild Roar

Noranda, Que., Feb. 1 — (CP)— The once-roisterous bar rooms in this northwestern mining district have been slowed down to a mild roar. The sound of lilting music and gay laughter floating out of hotels and grills at 5 a. m. in the dawning can be heard no more.

Quebec liquor police, prompted by provincial legislature members in this area, have clamped down the law. There are no all - night drinking spots. All clubs must shut down at the legal limit, 2 a. m.

Hotels in Val D'Or, Rouyn and Noranda are doleful places these days. The clamor and hubbub of marathon drinking parties is missing.

Said one hard-rock miner: — "Things are really tough. It would be difficult to find a fourth for bridge in most bars. That is, if the boys played bridge."

Ontario Breeders Win Championships

Brantford, Feb. 1 (CP)— Ontario breeders were awarded 12 all-Canadian and 12 reserve championships by a committee including judges at the leading Canadian shows during 1948, it was announced Monday. The Holsteins were chosen from each of the 15 regular show classes.

Forthlyne Dolleta Inka Posch, owned and developed by Hugh W. Ormiston of Brooklin, Ont., and bred by F. H. Coldwell was named all-Canadian aged cow. She was grand champion and highest-ranking Canadian owned cow and the royal and grand champion at Peterborough championship show.

TORONTO STOCKS

Volume for the first three hours was 556,000 shares.

The gold list opened quietly with only a few juniors moving. Action increased towards mid-session and soon a wide list of senior and junior producers were well ahead in active dealings. Lake Shore, Kerr Addison, Dome added fractions in seniors while gains ranged up to 10 cents in juniors.

Smelters lost 1 1-2 at 111 1-2 in base metals and Hudson Bay dipped 1-4. Waite Amulet was the feature, rising to 13 1-2.

Britain Expects Her Home Acres To Produce Half Food She Eats

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 1 (CP)—All the world used to be Britain's larder but now she expects her home acres to produce half the food she eats.

The country's resources are behind a drive to make rural Britain an effective ally of roaring factories producing for export.

In the fiscal year 1952-53, if targets are reached, grain production will be 8,400,000 tons compared with 4,600,000 in pre-war years.

Meat and bacon production will be back at the pre-war level of 1,500,000 tons, compared with 900,000 tons in 1947 and 1,000,000 in 1948-49. Milk and milk products will total 9,000,000 tons compared with 7,300,000.

If hopes come true, Britain will have 50 per cent of her food from home production instead of 40 per cent at present.

A four-year program prepared for submission to the organization for European economic co-operation never suggests that Britain could be self-sufficient in food. But in 1952-53 she hopes to harvest 2,764,000 tons of wheat against 1,751,000 tons average in the years 1934-38 and 5,644,000 tons of coarse grains against 1,751,000.

Milk will be up to 123 per cent of 1936-39, beef and veal 110 per cent and eggs 131. A result of wartime depletion of herds and subsequent winter losses, mutton and lamb production will be 83 per cent and pigmeat 92, but improved grasslands will promise further gains.

Wheat acreage in 1951-52 will be up to 2,750,000 acres, "considered to be the highest that can be maintained as a permanent feature of British farming without an acute distortion of the general farming pattern and a loss of soil fertility.

"As the supply of alternative foods improved it is intended to reduce the area devoted to potatoes to aproximateply 50 per cent above pre-war.

"Vigorous efforts are being made to extend the cultivation of linseed, a new crop which is of particular value as a source of cattle cake and of oil for industrial purposes."

Nearly $400,000,000 will be spent on farm buildings in four years. Farm machinery production will be given priority so farms may procure replacements and new machinery at the rate of $200,000,000 annually.

About 2,500,000 acres of land will be improved by the clearance of farm ditches and field drainage at a cost of $36,000,000.

Four-Day Winter Carnival Opens At Fort William

It's part of a four-day winter carnival and sportsman's show, put on at the same time as the annual meeting here of the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association.

Beards, mackinaws and tam o'shanters are the order of the week for men. More than 1,000 have entered the beard-growing contest. A dog derby and log-sawing competition are other features.

Beauty and beards highlighted a parade Monday after Mayor Hubert Badanai declared the carnival open. Firecrackers popped constantly while a seven-foot Paul Bunyan led a band in Scottish tunes.

Down the street a bearded trapper decked out in moth-eaten bearskins, a huge fur hat and toting a tattered umbrella, started a bonfire on a main street. He was assisted by a bearded lady.

Oh, yes, there was business today. The Outfitters were told by President Ernie Calvert of Rainy River that last year 1,061 licensed tourists camps and lodges were in operation in Northern Ontario.

Emphasizing the theme of the carnival, he said he saw a great future for the lakehead as a tourist centre.

Delegates were told by J. D. Miller, Deputy Minister of Highways, that a record sum of between $60,000,000 and $65,000,000 was expended on promotion, development and maintenance of roads during 1948.

13 Coal Town Homes Damaged By Cave-In

Carbondale, Pa., Feb. 1 (AP) —The surface caved in over an anthracite coal mine early today damaging 13 homes in a three-block area and injuring three persons.

One home disappeared into a 25-foot hole. Others tilted precariously in the settling earth.

Police said it was one of the worst cave-ins in the history of this hard coal community located 20 miles north af Scranton. Police said the earth sagged four feet under most of the homes and as much as 30 feet in some spots where there were no buildings.

U. S. Will Remain 'Prosperous in Years Immediately Ahead'

Atlantic City, Feb. 1 (AP) — Treasury Secretary John Snyder said today the United States "continues highly prosperous" and probably will remain that way "in the years immediately ahead."

Business has no reason to worry because of stiffer competition, Snyder said in a speech to the National Sporting Goods Association convention.

"This is something which must be regarded as part of the process of 'getting back to normal,'" he said, adding that many recent price declines represent merely a return to "normal relationship to the general price level."

NORTHERN LONGEVITY

Lerwick, Shetland Islands — (CP)— Mrs. Grace Robertson, one of the Shetland Islands' two centenarians, celebrated her 101st birthday recently. The other, Mrs. Agnes Linklater, will be 103 on Feb. 11. Both are in good health.

China's Govt. Still Can Fight, Li Tsung-Jen Warns Reds Lay Off Irrelevant Demands

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Nanking. Feb. 1. (AP) — Li Tsung-Jen's government, showing new life, sharply warned the Communist today to lay off irrelevant demands if they want peace.

A statement attributed to the acting president's office told the Reds the government was still able to fight, but that continuation of hostilities was undesirable "because the people can no longer bear civil war."

The message, presumably sent by radio, said:

"If you keep raising irrelevant issues, one today and another tomorrow, we will find it impossible to meet your demands. We believe since both sides agreed to. (Communist Leader) Mao Tze-Tung's eight points as the basis of discussion it is proper that other conditions should be subjects for discussion around the peace table.

What angered Li's government was three recent demands of the Reds—the re-arrest of Lt.-Gen. Yasutsugu Okamura, former Japanese commander in China acquitted by a Chinese military court last week; detention of all Red-described Chinese 'war criminals'; and complete recognition of the local Peiping peact pact.

Seeks Temporary Marriages For Surplus German Women To Help Save National Culture

Kiel, Germany, Feb. 1 — (AP) — A twice-married school teacher of 52 is waging a determined share-the-husband campaign.

The teacher, Mrs. Dorothea Klage, wants the law under the projected West German constitution to permit surplus German women to bear children by temporary husbands.

In broadcasts and interviews, Mrs. Klage is pointing out that some 7,000,000 German women now have no hope of getting husbands because the war has caused a shortage of men. She wants permission for such women to marry temporarily for specified lengths of time so they might bear children to "save the culture."

Mrs. Klage, herself childless, said in an interview with a German newspaper her aim is to make the German mother the centre of family life.

Under her plan, the women would keep their maiden names and hand the names down through daughters rather than sons. Eldest daughters, rather than sons, would inherit both property and family name.

Fathers, she says, "are unimportant in marriage."

REV. C. D. BALDWIN DIES

Search for Shovellers

Brantford, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Police were searching today for two fake workmen who shovelled the snow from Dr. W. H. Nichol's driveway here Monday.

The men haven't been seen since they borrowed the doctor's tools to perform a similar service for his neighbors.

Gunners, Rockets, Win Minor Games From Trenton

Paced by the outstanding work of Gilmour who scored four of the teams five goals besides getting an assist on the fifth, the Belleville Rockets juveniles defeated the Trenton team 5-1 in Trenton Monday night. The game was the first of a two-game goals to count series to decide the juvenile group title. The winners meet Brockville in the first round of the OMHA playdowns.

The Belleville Gunners midgets also came through with a handsome 11-2 win over Trenton Midget "B's" and carry a nine goal lead to the next game. The four teams clash in the second game of the series in Memorial Arena here on Thursday night.

Gilmour and Strachan played an outstanding game for the juveniles. The former drew first blood from Strachan's pass early in the first period and Strachan made it two from Gilmour's pass at the twelve minute mark. Gilmour scored twice in the second period on passes from Muirhead, Strahan and Brown and added his fourth goal midway through the third heat, also from Strahan's pass.

Trenton's lone goal came in the second period when Ormshaw rifled the puck into the net on a lone effort.

Ten penalies were handed out by the officials, nine of them going to the home team.

Had Little Trouble

The Gunner kids had little trouble turning back the Trenton midgets in their battle. They fired home three goals in the first period, added four more in the second and garnered a similar number in the third to pick up an impressive victory. Trenton scored one in the first and added their second goal of the game in the second period. Only two penalties were handed out each team getting one.

Peter Green scored the hat-trick firing home a goal in each period. Milligan got himself a trio too, getting one in the first and a pair of tallies in the third period. Whalen, Barrett, Carey, Elliott and Allen got the remainder. Hartman scored Trenton's first goal near the end of the first period with Scott getting the second in the middle stanza.

Aged Couple Die Within 17 Hours Of Each Other

Kingston, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Matthews of Kingston died within 17 hours of each other.

Council of Europe

With the Western European Powers deciding to set up a "Council of Europe" they have taken a step which has long been proposed. What has hitherto been a dream now begins to take form. These powers by their united action will it is believed become a major factor in the life of Europe. Headqquarters will be in Strasbourg, France. The states to form the council are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

They will not be alone for other countries of Europe are to be asked to join. There are hints that Italy will join and the Italian Foreign Minister said that Italy will be "one of the founding states."

The council will consist of representative ministers from member states. They will meet in secret and an advisory assembly is to be set up to pave the way for a single parliament to represent the European democracies which will meet in public.

Influenza on Wane in Europe

Influenza which was reported in Europe is now definitely on the wane according to latest reports which add that the outbreak did not strike the British Isles.

The disease of influenza or "flu" as it is generally known, hit the world in the last year of the First World War and carried off, it is estimated, 15,000,000 persons. Half a billion persons were affected. The plague struck almost all parts of the world, warm and cold climates made no difference to the incidence of the disease and its toll in dead. Older residents recall its ravages in Belleville.

The present outbreak in Europe did not reach the virulence of the 1918 "flu," which affected many of those who were taken down with it in many ways and led to disorders as of the heart and kidney and to other maladies as a consequence of the infection which it left.

With the passage of years the thought of "flu" has lost much of its terror. In the interim medical and sanitary sciences have advanced greatly.

Every school boy and school girl has read in history of the "Black Death" that terrible disaster which swept over Asia, Europe and Africa with a devastating effect in the fourteenth century. It was of Oriental origin, marked by inflammation, boils and tumors of the glands and black marks on the skin. It was accompanied by an intense fever and no amount of water or liquid could quench the thirst of its victims. In Britain few if any places escaped and it is reported in the annals that not more than a tenth part of the population remained alive after its course. It spread from England to Norway and some ships drifted ashore in Norway unguided because every person aboard was dead of the dread disease. Scotland seems to have escaped. Twenty-five million are supposed to have perished through that plague.

This winter's influenza in Europe has been of a rather mild type and its toll has not been heavy. People of course should exercise the usual precautions with colds and protect themselves against reactions. Ordinary colds are plentiful enough any winter and are the cause of great monetary and business loss because of their interference with the work and occupation of the people. The public of today, however, is in possession of greater knowledge on the means of combatting colds and know rules to follow in the case of being taken ill with the usual type of cold.

North Atlantic Military Pact

The North Atlantic military pact will shortly be an accomplished fact and will bind together Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg with Canada and the United States. This document will be signed in Washington. By that time it is possible that Italy will be a sharer in the responsibilities and the advantages of the ties binding all these states together. It is said that Norway and Denmark may enter but there is doubt of Sweden's position.

The progress towards the pact has been very encouraging and has brought an easing of the world tension which has been felt.

CHILDHOOD MEMORIES

This age's children will not know
The simple joys of long ago.
The ice cream vendor with his bell,
Who had delicious ware to sell;
The organ grinder of the spring,
Playing some old familiar thing.
And runner-riding on a sleigh,
Which gladdened many a winter day.

In that glad childhood which we knew,
The hazards of the street were few.
The traffic moved at slower pace.
On bicycles the boys would race,
And some were "scorchers." Mad with power,
They strove to make ten miles an hour,
But 'twas not often when they spilled
That any one was maimed or killed.

Now there are joys the youngsters know
Unheard, undreamed of long ago.
Speed has become a fearful thing.
Horns sound where sleigh bells used to ring.
The lesser joys we loved and cheered
And ran to share have disappeared.
But, will such memories they own,
As ours, when they are older grown?

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 1st., 1929.

Mr. Harold Bateman has been re-elected Chairman of City Board of Health.

Mr. Frank M. Sharpe, Church Street, is today celebrating the 35th anniversary of his appointment as messenger at the Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal. He assumed his duties on Feb. 1st., 1894, and since that time he has faithfully and efficiently discharged his duties. He is well known to all business men who have always found him courteous and obliging. His services with the bank are well appreciated.

Mr. A. R. Collins, barrister, has been appointed city solicitor to succeed Mr. R. J. E. Graham, who has resigned.

Mr. Robert Tannahill and Mr. A. P. Allen will leave tomorrow for New York City and will sail from there for the Mediterranean on a nine weeks' cruise.

30 YEARS AGO

Feb. 1st., 1919.

The annual meeting of the Belleville District Holstein Breeders' Association was held here and was well attended. In the absence of the president, A. Maybee of Trenton, the chair was occupied by the vice president, S. J. Foster of Bloomfield. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, S. J. Foster, Bloomfield; First Vice President, A. E. Phillips, Rossmore; Second Vice President, C. Baker, Brighton; Secretary Treasurer, F. R. Mallory, Frankford; Sales Manager, J. A. Caskey, Madoc; Auditors, J. A. Anderson, Ameliasburg and P. B. Nelson, Campbellford. It was decided to hold the first sale in Belleville on the first Wednesday in April and about 100 cattle will be offered for sale. Ed. Purtelle, Bloomfield, F. R. Mallory, Frankford, and J. Valleau, Rossmore, were appointed a committee to arrange for the holding of a banquet in Belleville in April next.

40 YEARS AGO

Feb. 1st., 1909.

The thermometer registered 12 degrees below zero last night. This is the lowest so far this winter.

Mr. William T. Patterson left today for Ottawa on business.

Mr. B. Mallory, County Treasurer, went to Toronto today where he will attend the meeting of the Cattle Breeders' Association.

Mr. W. P. Clarke and his son, Clifford, left today to visit friends in Sarnia.

In a fast game of hockey in Trenton the Ontarios of this city defeated the Y.M.C.A. team of that town; the final score was 5 to 1. The following composed the teams: Belleville, G. Wardhaugh, E. Moore, A. Moore, W. Burke, W. Wallace, A. McGie and H. Thompson. Trenton, E. Hoag, Mowatt, R. Barker, F. Jackson, W. McClung, J. Goodsell and W. Brett. Referee, A. Reynolds.

Feb. 1st, 1899.

The annual meeting of the Law Society of Hastings County was well attended. The reports presented by the Curator, Col. W. N. Ponton, and the treasurer, W. H. Biggar, showed that the association is progressing in every respect. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. President, John Bell, Q.C.; President, J. Parker Thomas; Vice President, W. C. Mikel; Treasurer, W. H. Biggar; Curator, W. N. Ponton; Secretary, W. S. Morden; Trustees, P. J. M. Anderson, C. D. Macaulay, W. Jeffers Diamond, E. Guss Porter and F. E. O'Flynn; Auditors, J. F. Wills and W. B. Northrup.

Mr. J. C. Weller of Toronto, an old Belleville boy, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Walter Fanning has returned home from Montreal where he spent several days on business.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

WHY THROW GOOD THINGS AWAY?

The referee's whistle shrieks out, and the football players stop and look up with considerable anxiety on their faces. And well they may be anxious. One side is going to be penalized for a "personal foul." In this case it is slugging. Some hot-tempered chap couldn't resist the temptation to take a punch at the man in front of him, and the referee's whistle was the result.

Well, the side which had profited by the penalty had a touchdown within three minutes. Then later in the game, that side was penalized and their opponents soon got a touchdown. Again their was another "personal foul" called, and that kept a clean-cut touchdown from being counted.

The hotheads had lost the day for their fellows. One side was definitely defeated because one of their men started slugging. He brought down the good name of his college and defeated his teammates. He was there to play football, but he insisted on making the affair a prize fight.

One flash of temper can break up a marriage. A silly little quarrel can come between sweetharts, and fifty years later they remember the lost years with moist eyes. An angry accusation, and a business partnership is at an end.

How can we be so silly as to throw happiness and welfare away with both hands?

Fractures Spine While Tobogganing

London, Ont., Jan. 31 — (CP)— Gertrude Garwood of Sarnia, a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital here, suffered a fractured spine in a Sunday tobogganing accident, it was learned today. Her condition is fair.

She was one of several persons on a toboggan riding down a hill on the University of Western Ontario compus. She was thrown in the air when it hit a bump and landed hard on her back. The others escaped with bruises.

CLOSE CHRISTIE STREET

Toronto, Jan. 31 (CP)—Christie Street Military Hospital, a converted factory building which has housed thousands of wounded soldiers since 1918, was officially closed Sunday.

Medical services and about 140 men remaining under a sort of residence care will be moved to the big Sunnybrook Hospital on the outskirts of Toronto within a few months.

Christie Street Hospital, situated in West-Central Toronto adjacent to a branch railway line, was administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs in the last war. After the federal services have completed the move to Sunnybrook, the hospital will be taken over by the city.

Eire Trade Letter:

Tourist Trade Shows Decline And the Irish Are Worried

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Dublin Feb. 1 (CP)— The Irish have a suspicion that their tourist trade is going into a decline.

First hint of a slackening came at Christmas when Dublin Hotel keepers found themselves with scores of empty rooms. Some of them put their staffs on a part-time basis.

The explanation may lie in the fact there is less spending money in Britain. Most tourists come from the neighboring island, hungry for Eire's cream, eggs and beefsteaks. Taxes and the high cost of living now absorb their travel money.

Dubliners are still a little stunned by the post war popularity of their city. It's the goal of most tourists —a matter of concern to government officials, who would like to see the visitors distributing their pounds more evenly throughout the country.

Increased Revenue

Even so the revenue has climbed to about five times what it was before the war. The best pre-war tourist year was 1938, when between 5,000,000 and £6,000,000 found its way into the country.

In 1945 the visitors disbursed £12,000,000. In 1946 they spent 18,000,000 and in 1947 £28,000,000 Figures for 1948 are not yet available but probably are as much if not more.

Irish tourist officials realize that competition for tourists is becoming keener, particularly in estern Europe. They themselves are anxious to attract more Americans and Canadian to Eire.

Once it gets visitors into the country, the Irish tourist board hopes to chase them into rural areas.

Transport Crisis

A call for nationalization of Irish transport comes from the national executive of the Irish Trade Union Congress.

A statement said under the existing setup public companies, particularly railways, had to maintain expensive systems even in slack periods, whereas private operators worked only when traffic was heaviest.

"Small wonder that, competing under such inequitable conditions, no transport company has found it possible in peacetime to maintain solvency," it added.

Mackenzie's Column:

Stalin Invited To Washington For Peace Talks

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

If Stalin really wants peace, let him come to Washington by all means and talk things over. Presidents Roosevelt and Truman both crossed the seas to meet him —and reciprocity never hurt the reciprocator.

Stalin will read "welcome" on the door mat. Moreover, if he will sign a peace pact with guarantees attached, the United States probably will give him a ticker-tape parade up Broadway.

However, we get nowhere with Stalin's assertion (in answer to a question by an American reporter) that "there is no objection to a meeting" with President Truman to discuss peace. Nothing could be more noncommittal.

Much the same can be said of the Communist chief's statement that he would be willing to discuss a joint declaration of peaceful intentions and gradual lisarmament.

That's not necessarily because of a desire for peace. It's because the Soviet Union isn't prepared militarily or economically to wage a shooting war against the United States.

Communists Worried

Why then has Stalin seen fit to give a personal fillip to Moscow's latest "peace offensive?" The consensus of observers is that the peace offensive is calculated to lull the western world into a feeling of security and so soften the anti-Red drive.

Among developments to worry Moscow is the proposed North Atlantic alliance now being negotiated in Washington. Coincidently the five countries in the Brussels pact—Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—agreed to set up a council of Europe which may develop into a European parliament.

Then there is the mounting success of the Marshall plan which is bringing new life and strength to Western Europe.

Also ranking high on the list of Moscow's worries is the vigorous manner in which the United States is cleaning house for its Red fifth-columnists.

Immutable Law

The law of Communism is as immutable as is the law of gravity. There has been no change in the basic aim since it came to power in 1917. This is that the entire globe must be converted to Comunism and that capitalism everywhere must be destroyed.

The program calls for the violent overthrow of all non-Communist governments and the establishment of Soviets which would take their directions from Moscow. And it cannot be repeated too often that this change must be accompanied by violence in order to impress the proletariat.

Stalin himself not only was one of the creators of this program but since the death of Lenin has been the absolute dictator of Communism everywhere.

It would be pure folly to believe that Stalin now is about to toss over his shoulder everything that Communism stands for. He may make gestures, but Communism isn't changing its spots.

Major Relaxation In Clothing Ration For Great Britain

London Feb. 1 (Reuters) —Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, Monday announced amid cheers in the House of Commons a "major relaxation" in the clothing ration.

Practically all suits, jackets, trousers, overcoats, costumes and and woven wool dresses are to be taken off ration tomorrow.

This is due to a decision to remove from the ration all woven wool cloth—except gabardines and certain utility cloth for infant wear —and all garments made from such cloth which, he said, now is plentiful.

Wilson has been under pressure from the trade to abolish clothes rationing altogether. But he said today he could not do so yet.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

BRIDE OF FORTUNE

I have just read a most interesting fictional story, based upon the life of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, wife of the Confederate President. It is a most absorbing book, cleverly touched all through with historic fact. At one point I took out my United States history to see how the facts stood against the story, and found it very striking.

The book is the story of a remarkable woman, a very beautiful one, yet one with great character, and boundless courage. She was married to the young Southerner at the "Briers," a beautiful home in Natchez, Mississippi. A few years ago I had the privilege of spending a night at this noted home, where I was received with the greatest of proverbial Southern hospitality.

Mr. Harnett Kane, the author of this book, is a former newspaper reporter of New Orleans, and he has done a brilliant job. I passed many a midnight until the book was finished, for my reading must all be done late. Mrs. Davis was the former Varina Howell, and the "Briers" was her childhood home. Never did the faith of this woman grow cold. To the very last she was the devoted wife and mother. She took both glory and misfortune in her stride with Jefferson Davis. To me, and perhaps, to many, she stood out as the greater of the two.

This is a good and useful book for all to read, especially every American whose loved ones fought on both sides during one of the most tragic of all American days. The reading of it will give a better understanding of the stirring events that were enacted during those fearful years, and of those which have since followed.

We can now look dispassionately upon the events of those bitter times and appraise both the men and women of both sections, as well as the cause for which each fought so bravely, and remember that on both sides were Americans, both sincerely believing that their side was right. Out of both came great men and women, who were heroic and outstanding. But in this story it was Varina Davis —"Queen of the Lost Cause."

WHAT CURED THE DT'S DIDN'T HELP PNEUMONIA

When I was an intern in a public hospital the attending physicians gave senior house physicians considerable freedom to prescribe and operate when attending was not available—and we contrived to have him unavailable as much as possible.

A physician published a report of a method of treatment which had proved fairly successful for delirium tremens in Bellevue Hospital, New York City. The feature of the treatment was enormous doses of digitalis. I decided to try it.

A little man was present brought to the hospital wildly delirious and requiring restraint. Careful examination satisfied me that the man had DT's and nothing else. I prescribed one-half ounce of tincture of digitalis by mouth at once. The average dose is perhaps ten drops.

The head nurse first asked if I meant to give the patient that quantity in a single dose. I confirmed it. The hospital pharmacist refused to fill the order and asked if we intended to kill the man? I reassured the pharmacist that I assumbed sole responsibility and he reluctantly dispensed the overdose.

The patient received two or three such doses in the course of thirty-six hours.

Then the patient had digitalis poisoning. At least his pulse which had been too fast, dropped to sixty, fifty, forty beats a minute. When the pulse rate got down to 40 we'd put the patient in a tent and give a hot air bath.

An hour or two in the torrid zone would bring the pulse rate up to about normal. We'd remove the tent, and after another few hours the pulse would slow down again, and so another sojourn in the tropics to bring it back to normal. In again, out again for several days. Finally the little man made a complete recovery and left the hospital. Maybe he would have done as well or better without the digitalis.

A year later the same little man came back to the hospital, obviously delirious and obviously alcoholic. A new intern had the case this time. He asked me about the digitalis treatment. When I mentioned the dose he said that was pretty risky, wasn't it, and decided to give the patient just one-fourth as much, as the fellow wasn't so wild this time anyway. A few days later the autopsy revealed that the man died of peneumonia, to the astonishment and embarrassment of the intern. Maybe the little man would have died anyway. Who knows? Pneumonia in an alcoholic is always a touch and go battle with death.

The great majority of good doctors are as firmly convinced of the value of digitalis in certain phases of heart disease as I am that it isn't —worth a hoot for anything. Medical colleagues with whom I have discussed the question generally specify auricular fibrillation and congestive heart failure as conditions for which digitalis is positively indicated. The former is benefited by digitalis, they say, because the drug blocks stimuli from the very rapidly contracting auricles from reaching the ventricles, which pump blood out through the arteries, rest. Congestive heart failure (blood stagnating in the vessels because the heart is too weak and tored to pump it through is relieved, they imply, because digitalis increases the "tone" of the heart muscle.

Right there we go to the mat. How do they know improves tone? How do they know it isn't the rest and/or other remedial measures generally employed along with digitalis that account for improved tone?

Tone, you may or may not understand, is elasticity, resilience, the normal degree of tension and vigor—as opposed to flabbiness. It is the difference between the healthy bowel and one that has been habituated to physic—after all, the bowel and the entire length of the alimentary canal, is composed largely of muscle. And it is the difference between the heart of the person who sits most of the time and the heart of the person who gets a reasonable amount of exercise daily—walking instead of riding, playing a game instead of watching hired professionals play, doing something for the good of somebody instead of lolling in cocktail joints for a pick-up.

The Packsack

of Gregory Clark

In the old settled regions of Canada, winter is the time to see how greedily we have cleared the land. Through the naked trees of the random woodlots, we see beyond to the endless bare fields mile upon mile to the horizon. What in summer appears to be a comfortably or even a richly wooded country, is revealed in winter as stark and sere.

This is the result of virtue in our forebears. The best men in the country were those who cleared and tilled the most land. All around them stood the wilderness, of course, storing water for them. But the virtue of clearing land, once established by the pioneer generations, still survived long after it had become a vice. Down went the forests before the axe. The beneficient swamps were drained. Provincial governments paid bounties to townships in return for acreage of swamp land drained. The noble purpose was to get as many beautiful, bare, efficient acres of the nations as possible open to the plow.

Efficiency is always being modified. Efficiency, along with truth, is like the stock market; you always have to have the latest quotations. Our virtuous forbears did not know that the treeless, swampless land would dry up like a sponge that has been squeezed.

Now the virtues of our fathers are seen to be vices: and they are being visited upon us. A project as imposing as that which faced them now faces us. They faced the wilderness most competently they conquered it. Now we have to restore a great deal of what they took. Water conservation means not so much the building of dams as the restoration of forest areas that will hold water. Soil conservation means the return to the land of woods, hedges, trees and shrubbery that will prevent the soil from being blown and washed away. Dainty work for the descendants of axemen.

Salary Increases Are Approved By Finance Com.

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Salary increases for Toronto teachers which would increase the city's education budget $140,000 were approved Monday night by the finance committee of the Board of Education. If approved by the board the increases will be retroactive to Jan. 1.

No action was taken on a request by the Toronto Public School Masters' Association that a differential be restored in salaries of men and women teachers.

Recommended minimum and maximum salaries for secondary school teachers, with present salaries in brackets, are: principals, $5,200-$6,200 ($4,500-$5,500); vice-principals $3,000-$4,800 ($4,000-$4,200); specialists, $2,100-$4,700 ($2,000-$4,100), and assistants $2,000-$4,500 ($2,000-$4,000).

Minimum-maximum salaries for public school staff, with present salaries in brackets, are: principals of schools with 15 or more rooms, $4,700-$5,400 ($4,400-$4,700); principals of schools with less than 15 rooms, $4,700-$5,200 ($4,400-$4,700); men and women teachers, $1,800-$4,400 ($1,400-$3,500).

The approximate cost of the increases over 10 years will be $995,000.

Attitude May Be Determined Within 10 Days

Copenhagen, Feb. 1 (AP)— The attitude of Scandinavia toward the North Atlantic Security Pact may be determined definitely in the next week or 10 days.

Although Sweden, Norway and Denmark were not able to agree on a joint program during months of conferences, they now are free to act individually.

Norway, which has favored joining the western powers despite Russian pressure, may be the first to make a decision. Sweden is expected to stick to her policy of neutrality. Denmark, which wavered between the two, may make up her mind soon.

A showdown on Denmark's attitude toward possible military co-operation with the western powers is expected next week when the Danish parliament convenes for a debate on foreign policy.

In preparation for the debate, there will be a closed meeting Wednesday of the parliamentary foreign policy committee of which all political parties but the Communists are members.

At least two parties—the Agrarians and Conservatives — will demand that Denmark join the North Atlantic negotiations in Washington.

The Agrarians and Conservatives need the support of at least one other opposition party to push through their view if the Social Democrats prefer to hold off action. But the other parliamentary groups principally are anti-militarist, making their stand on joining the western powers doubtful.

Outcome of Norway's foreign-policy debate may influence Denmark's attitude. But the Danish government also will watch Sweden, which is eager to remain neutral.

Burmese Troops, Karen Tribesmen Battle in Rangoon

The fighting is near Insein and Karen sources said the battle raged around the home of Saw Ba U Gyi, president of the Karen National Union with whom they have not been able to make contact since Monday morning.

The bark of trench mortars was clearly audible in Rangoon. The Rangoon telephone exchange said no contact could be made with Insein. Train and motor service between Insein and Rangoon still was suspended.

Earlier heavy mortar and machine gun fire was reported from the west Rangoon suburb of Ahlone during the night, near the headquarters of the Karen National Union. A huge fire reddened the sky for miles.

The civil war between government forces and the Karens spread to the outskirts of the capital Monday.

The fighting was reported to have started when the tribesmen resisted government forces making a house-to-house search for arms in the predominantly Karen area.

CCF Wants Parley On Housing

Ottawa, Feb. 1 (CP)—The C. C. F. Monday called for an all-governments conference on housing and at the same time spokesmen for the two big parties took swipes at the C.C.F.'s chances in the next election.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative officials, commenting on the C.C.F.'s weekend decision to throw more than 200 candidates into the coming general election, said the third party would not be able to capture power.

Meanwhile, that party issued its call for a Dominion-Provincial municipal conference after a joint weekend meeting of its National Council and its Commons members.

A C.C.F. statement said the Dominion government had reaffirmed its stand that it would not go in for home construction except of an emergency nature but that consideration would be given if the provinces requested action. The provinces could do nothing because of lack of finances.

"The great majority of Canadians, in the middle and lower income brackets, are unable to build their own homes," the statement said. "The federal government refuses to build such homes; the provincial governments are financially unable to build them, and the municipal authorities vainly request action."

Big Bill Tilden Is Charged With Serious Offence

Los Angeles, Feb. 1 (AP) — William T. (Big Bill) Tilden, king of the tennis world an athletic generation ago, Monday night was charged with a moral offence against a boy for the second time in two years.

The charges are contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old and violation of parole imposed in the previous case.

"I don't know anything about this, therefore there's little I can say except that I think a great error has been made and I think I can prove that conclusively later," Tilden said when he was booked into the county jail last night.

Tilden was accused of picking up an Inglewood youth who was hitch-hiking last Friday, driving the boy to Santa Monica and making improper advances to him.

Two years ago, the man who was the top American tennis player from 1920 to 1930, was charged with a similar offence against a 14-year-old boy in Beverly Hills. Judge A. A. Scott then sentenced him to nine months in the county jail and placed him on probation for five years. One probation condition was that Tilden was not to be in the company of a male or female juvenile unless the youngster's parent or parents were present. Tilden actually served 7 1-2 months at the county farm, getting time off for good behavior.

Spy Committee Will Question Arrested Man

New York, Feb. 1 — (CP) —A Grand Jury investigating spy activities in the United States is scheduled today to question Sam Carr, linked by a Royal Commission report to the espionage ring exposed in Canada in 1946.

Carr, missing since the Canadian investigations began almost 3 years ago, was arrested here Thursday and has since been held at the immigration detention centre on Ellis Island, in New York harbor. He is awaiting deportation to Canada, where he is charged with violation of the Official Secrets Act and two counts involving passports.

Monday night his counsel, Mrs. Carol King, announced that Carr would be taken before the Federal Grand Jury here today with Mrs. Carr, who was arrested a day after her husband on a charge of entering the United States illegally. At no time has there been any suggestion that Mrs. Carr was involved in the Canadian spy case.

The House of Representatives un-American Activities Committee, has been seeking to question Carr before he is returned to Canada. The committee and the Grand Jury both have been seeking to establish what relation, if any, the Canadian spy ring had to similar groups operating in the United States.

Another witness scheduled to appear before the Grand Jury today is Alexander Stevens, also known as J. V. Peters. He has been denounced by the Un-American Activities Committee as chief of the communist underground in the United States.

Interest Stimulated In Uranium Search

Washington, Feb. 1 — (AP) — Guaranteed prices and bonuses for ores have "stimulated a large public interest in the search for uranium," the United States Atomic Energy Commission said today.

It notified Congress that during a three - month period of 1948 alone, prospectors sent to the commission for examination nearly 800 ore samples, "some of which contained enough uranium to warrant field investigation."

Uranium is one of the basic ingredients in the development of atomic energy.

Founder's Descendants Worship at Church's 165th Anniversary

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 1 — (CP) — Members of the fourth, fifth and sixth generations of Thomas Macmicking who came from Scotland to found the Presbyterian Church at nearby Stamford in 1784, worshipped in the church Sunday on the church's 165th anniversary. The church is the oldest in Upper Canada built by popular subscription.

WEDDINGS

TUMMON—VAN ALSTYNE

On January 11, at the home of the bride's parents, in a lovely setting of evergreens and white 'mums, the Rev. R. C. McLean officiated at the wedding of Phyllis M. Van Alstyne, Reg.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Van Alstyne, Trenton Ont., to Gerald L. Tummon, son of Mr. Harry Tummon, Holloway, Ont. and the late Mrs. Tummon.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white wool, made with three-quarter length sleeves, and fitted bodice, with a peplum bustle. A shoulder length veil was held in place by a matching white wool coronet. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses.

She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Helen Tummon, of Holloway, who wore a blue wool dress and blue coronet similar in design to the bride's and carried a nosegay of baby 'mums and roses.

An informal reception was held following the ceremony, after which the happy couple left to visit relatives in Long Island, New York. for travelling the bride wore a navy blue topcoat with matching accessories and Russian mink furs, a gift of the groom. The bride's gift to the groom was a watch.

On their return they will reside on a farm near Holloway.

Guests of honor were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Cairns, Mrs. Julia Fox, great-aunt of the bride, and Miss Martha Hamilton, great-aunt of the groom.

RITTWAGE—MACMILLAN

A quiet wedding took place in the United Church parsonage, Brighton, on Wednesday, at 7 o'clock, when Irma Marlene MacMillan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacMillan, of Ivanhoe, became the bride of Clarence Harold Rittwage Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rittwage, of Brighton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Anderson.

Mrs. J. L. Rittwage, sister of the bride, and her only attendant, wore black and gold velvet with gold accessories.

The happy couple will reside in Brighton, Ont.

Cobourg Presbyterial of W.M.S. Holds Annual Meeting at Brighton

The annual meeting of the Cobourg Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada was held in Trinity - St. Andrew's Church, Brighton, on January 26 with morning and afternoon sessions. There was a good attendance, all parts of the Presbyterial being represented. The president, Mrs. P. F. Gardiner of Canton, presided.

The Smithfield Auxiliary conducted the morning worship service and Mrs. R. S. Shaw of the Brighton Evening Auxiliary, cordially welcomed the delegates.

The Story of the Year, given by Mrs. F. N. Belyea of Port Hope, was most encouraging, while the treasurer, Mrs. F. K. Denyes of Smithfield, reported a substantial increase in givings.

Life in Primitive Land

The guest speaker at the morning session, Miss Kate Rutherford, on furlough from Angola, Africa, was introduced by Mrs. E. C. Roberts of Campbellford. Miss Rutherford, who has been a missionary in Angola for over twenty years, opened her address by saying that missionaries go to battle while the members at home guard the stuff. Canadians are a privileged people with a Christian background. Only those who know non-Christian homes know what a Christian home means.

She said, "Our Christian background takes us out into other countries and our sense of fair play makes us willing to look beyond to the lesser privileged. Our United Church has spread to other countries. Angola was a mission of the former Congregational Church and is a Portuguese colony about the size of Ontario. Portuguese is the language spoken."

Great Waste of Life

Miss Rutherford gave a vivid picture of educational and medical work in the Dondi area. The waste of human life in Africa is appalling. Sixty per cent of the African children die before they are two years old. Very few modern implements are used to till the soil. The hoe is still used instead of a plow. A native pastor, whose salary is ten dollars a year, uses a bicycle to cover his sixty-mile field. Deacons and deaconesses have ten villages each to oversee. Only the light of the Gospel can cast out fear. Let us bring this light to our African sisters.

A short business session was held when officers were elected, committees appointed, delegates to the branch meetings appointed and Frankford's invitation for the 1950 Presbyterial accepted.

A brief preview of the literature for sale was given by the literature secretary, Mrs. M. Roberts, of Colborne.

The Campbellford Auxiliary conducted an "In Memoriam" service in memory of the twenty-one members who had passed to higher service.

Work on Home Fields

The first speaker of the afternoon session was Mrs. C. M. Loveys, Home Mission Executive Secretary. She gave an inspiring address on the home fields, especialy in Western Canada, and the heroic work being done by our workers.

"Canada is the greatest mission field," said the speaker. "It has over seventy nationalities and these newcomers present a challenge. We are responsible for them so our task has only begun. Workers are needed in Canada or agencies without religion will push us into the background. Nurses who are young adventurous and not afraid of loneliness are needed for our hospitals in Western Canada. There is a great need for advance at home."

A pleasing quartet was rendered by Brighton ladies.

Mrs. F. W. Harris of Peterborough, President of the Bay of Quinte Branch was the second speaker. She said, "our responsibilities and opportunities are great and our home church has challenges to be faced. General McArthur once said the Christian Church must save the world. We are urged to read and study so as to overcome indifference and race hatred and to give more to things that are worthwhile.

A play "A Stewardship Treasure Chest" was ably presented by the Brighton Evening Auxiliary.

Rev. J. E. Anderson of Brighton installed the officers and closed the meeting.

Annual Congregational Meeting

WHITE'S CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

White's District—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones opened their home on Tuesday evening for the congregational meeting of White's Church with a good attendance of members and representatives of all church bodies.

The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev. A. C. McCallum, followed by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mr. L. Hunt.

Various Reports

Mrs. L. Hunt, treasurer of the Bayside W.M.S. reported $145.56 raised which was well above the allocation.

Mr. G. Sarles reported for the Sunday School showing a good year with several new members. Mr. W. A. Jeffery was re-elcted as superintendent with Mr. G. Sarles as assistant.

Mr. W. H. May, church treasurer, reuported receipts of $944 with a balance of $152.

Mr. McCallum reported $22 for the Y.P.U. with a good attendance at meetings.

Mrs. R. Ketcheson, treasurer of the W.A. reported a good year with receipts of $410.20 from various sources.

Officers for 1949

Mr. Lorne Hunt was re-elected as church secretary, with Mr. D. Bowers elected as treasurer. Mrs. W. A. Jeffery was re-elected as pianist with Mrs. Frank Sandercock a s assistant. Mr. W. A. Jeffery and Mr. Walter Jones were named as auditors.

The ladies served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed by all.

BAYSIDE CHARGE

Bayside — the annual congregational meetings of the Bayside Pastoral Charge comprising Centenary, Wesley and White's congregations, were held quite recently and in each instance presided over by the minister, the Rev. A. C. McCallum.

The various reports as submitted, indicated a year of progress on the part of each organization.

The Session reported an increase in church membership of 22 including seven from the Sunday Schools.

Two of the churches (Centenary and Wesley) undertook extensive repairs and decorations which have added greatly to the beauty of the church.

The Session also reported two Sunday Schools, two Young People's Unions, two Woman's Missionary Sacieties and three Women's Associations. All these organizations have made a valuable contribution to the life and work of the church. The two Missionary Societies exceeded their missionary allocations, while the three Women's Associations raised approximately $1,200.

Congregational givings to the Missionary Maintenance Fund exceeded that of last year. The total contributions from all sources amounted to $4,392. Most of the officers were re-elected for another year.

The Rev. A. C. McCallum expressed his thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the past year.

A vote of appreciation was extended to Mr. McCallum and Mrs. Mooney for their leadership, and a unanimous invitation to remain for another year.

Adult Bible Class Holds Regular Meeting

The Adult Bible Class of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church held their regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, 152 William Street last Friday evening.

Mrs. George Carson, the president, was in the chair. Mrs. A. Blackburn took the devotion, dwelling on the joy and happiness of the Christian and the miracles and ways past understanding of God, Our Heavenly Father.

Mrs. Hales conducted a musical contest, a "B" contest and a "Violets" contest.

The men later served the refreshments, putting a novel touch to the evening. Mr. A. G. Fox presided at the tea table. He was ably assisted by H. Staples, W. Kelly and W. Hales. Mr. H. R. Fox and Mr. H. O. Eastman replenished.

After a vote of thanks to the hostess and host, everyone went home feeling the evening a decided success.

Beauty and Wealth of Canada Theme Of Talk to Women's Canadian Club

Dr. Margaret McWilliams, LLD., Litt. D. noted author, educationist, lecturer, and wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, addressed a capacity audience at the open meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, in the assembly rooms of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Monday evening, on "Canadian Mosaics". Dr. McWilliams, who was introduced by Mrs. Arthur May, president of the Canadian Club, stated that first of all, she had a confession to make, which was, that she had 'stolen' her title for the address from Dr. Gibbon, as he had written a book under that heading, adding that she wished to pay tribute to him as well for his sympathetic understanding of Canadian people.

"Mosaics," continued Dr. McWilliams, "was an ancient art which had to do with the making of beautiful pictures from small pieces of marble, glass, stone, or precious metals, of different colors, and fitting the pieces together, making the pattern one harmonious whole, each piece in its proper place, cemented the one to the other, and infinitely more useful and beautiful than the individual pieces. So," said the speaker, "the pieces are people, and the 'cement' is the country, while the finished product or picture, is the assimulation of the foreigner into his or her own individual place in Canada's economy."

Beauties of Canada

Dr. McWilliams then went on to tell of the beauties of Canada as seen by a Westerner, and beginning on the west coast, with its lovely shore-line, sea views, gorgeous Rockies, through British Columbia with its magnificent trees, thence to the foot-hills, and into the prairies with their lovely, level, fertile lands and cloudless skies; lands rich in minerals, and possessing Canada's basic industry—wheat growing. "There is nothing more beautiful," continued the speaker, "than to see these vast sections like golden fields, rippling in the breeze."

"From the prairies, we come down to Ontario with its gentle, rolling hills, elm trees, and orchards, and wonderful lakes, and Niagara Falls. The whole province is full of beauty. Thence to old Quebec with its lovely, staid, settledness, and on down to Nova Scotia, luxuriant in its trees, and then coming back to New Brunswick with its multitude of rivers and lakes. St. John river is one of the loveliest things on this continent, truly magnificent in the setting sun. And then to Prince Edward Island, which is a perfect little gem. No where else in Canada is life lived so simply and so leisurely. Here they have time to enjoy the friendship of friends; there is time for living."

Rich Natural Wealth

Touching briefly on the natural wealth of Canada she stated that it was rich in food, fish, butter, mineral wealth such as gold, silver, uranium and oil, and in Quebec, Labrador and the North West Territories the iron and uranium would set it forward in production, and its national income will be ten times what it was before the war. In size, Canada is greater than the whole of the United States, and in number of people, about the same as New York State, but the most interesting fact is the determination to live our own lives, to create a nation, whose people are steady, kindly, honest, conservative, with an unflinching spirit, always advancing but not always at the same rate.

The mosaic of Canada began with two pieces, one cultural from France to Quebec, and the other strong and enduring from Britain, to Upper Canada, thus making out of two races one country and one people as the Confederation of 1867 demonstrated. These two races have developed in such a way as to attract the people of other countries, and the intermingling is such that it is hard today to select he foreigner as they are becoming so quickly Canadianized.

In 1666 the census of Canada was but 3,215 people. One hundred years later there were 60,000 nearly all French, and one hundred years later still the population was five and one-half millions. From 1901 to 1949 it increased to twelve million and one-half; and when New Foundland comes in there will be almost thirteen million.

Haven From Persecution

When Sir Wilfred Laurier and Sir Clifford Sifton threw open the immigration doors 400,000 people came into Canada from other lands across the sea. The reasons for this was persecution, and bad conditions at home. In Canada they could live and work their own land in peace. They brought with them the art of happiness and gaiety. It is an ordinary sight to see the workers singing on their way from work, proving the truth of their motto: "Always busy; Always gay." The first to come out were those from the peasant stock, but now highly educated and skillfully trained are coming, taking their place in the professions, and have become a real part in the Canadian mosaic, adding color and warmth to the gray of British staidness. Since the war, Canada has done more to assimulate displaced persons than any country in the world.

"Not all the pieces of the mosaic are in their right places," said the speaker, "and those out of place are the women of Canada who do not realize their responsibility to the government, and who are not carrying their share of the conduct of its affairs. This is not due to their inability, but solely to lack of interest. By nature, woman is a natural organizer and is lack of experience that causes lack of interest. Crises in history teach that the civilization which will live, is the civilization which has met its difficulty and overcome it. Women have gifts that are needed, and should give them to the country now if Canada is to develop into a Christian democracy. Preaching democracy is useless, make it work! When women once recognize their opportunity, things will change. Canada's great opportunity is now."

Mrs. W. J. Doyle, very graciously and charmingly, on behalf of the members and friends of the Canadian Club, thanked Dr. McWilliams for her enlightening, instructive, and altogether lovely address of the evening.

Winchester Couple Wedded 70 Years

Winchester, Ont., Feb. 1 (CP) —Mrs. Henderson is 94 and her husband, Robert, who's Irish on his father's side, is 92, and they're not as spry as they used to be, but they recall very well their marriage—just 70 years ago.

Still bustling about, Mrs. Henderson buying the groceries and Robert listening to the radio, the nonagenarians marked their 70th wedding anniversary quietly on Sunday. They've lived 34 years in this town 30 miles southeast of Ottawa.

They're the oldest couple in the Ottawa district and one of the oldest in Canada, but mind you, they say little about it. They like living alone, with Mr. Henderson helping with the chores and Mrs. Henderson doing the ordering on the telephone and relying on her husband a little more than she used to—because she's blind now.

But 70 years ago, they were spry young ducks. Still remember that day that Robert took one of his father's best driving mares from the stable, hitched it to a cutter and called on his bride-to-be. She was Miss Margaret Davis, of North Augusta, Ont.

Away went the young couple to Prescott, 35 miles from Winchester Springs where Robert lived. Gay and reckless they took the side-wheeler ferry across the cold St. Lawrence to Ogdensburg, N.Y., and married at the Anglican rectory.

They honeymooned and then farmed for 10 years. Robert assisted in clearing 'all the dense bush which covered the Winchester district 70 years ago, right on the site where Winchester Springs now stands."

And now they've celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary and they think its a right fine thing to be able to settle down.

RIVER VALLEY W.I.

Rawdon—River Valley W.I. sponsored a very successful dance in Stirling Community Hall on Wednesday evening, with a large crowd in attendance.

Music for round and square dancing was provided by the "Melody Mustangs" and the dancers were enthusiastic over this new orchestra which is composed of Messrs. McLachlan, Rose, Hulin, McComb, Mason and Morgan.

Mr. Ken Milne of Menie had the lucky ticket No. 224.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Reid of Belleville, won the "Old Time Waltz". Melville resided in Rawdon for many years before his marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Richardson of River Valley, who were celebrating their 27th wedding anniversary were given a place of honor, while the orchestra accompanied the crowd, as they all sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart".

The ladies of the Institute served refreshments at midnight. They cleared over $85 and the most of it will be used to send food parcels to England.

The February regular meeting of the Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Morley Richardson and will be in the form of a grandmothers' party, under the direction of Mrs. Fred McDonnell.

A YEAR OF ACHIEVEMENT

The year 1948 was the greatest in the fifty-seven year history of the Great-West Life. Among the achievements of the year are recorded:

$198 millions of new protection placed on the lives of more than 39,000 people in Canada and the United States.

$22 millions paid to living policyholders and beneficiaries . . . $25 millions credited to them for future benefits.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Etiquette in the Headlines

When Mrs. Huntington Watts, mother of Miss Joanne Connelley, this season's most glamorous New York debutante, announced that the engagement of her daughter to Mr. Robert Sweeney of London was terminated, she was asked about whether or not Joanne would return the engagement ring. "Return the ring?" she replied. "Of course. Isn't that what nice people do? Of course she will return the ring!"

And that's what "nice people" always do . . . return the engagement ring when an engagement is broken. (And in this case the engagement ring was a dazzling and much-talked-about 20-carat diamond!)

Simplest kind of engagement tea

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to have my engagement tea informal, and only for my girl friends. May we serve only small cakes, with the tea or coffee, or are sandwiches a must? We do not have coffee or tea services. . . so how can either or both be served? May I greet the guests at the door, show them my diamond engagement ring, and then have the refreshments served? Do I wear a corsage? Does my mother wear a corsage? And must my fiance be at this tea?

A. L.

Small cakes, with tea or coffee will probably be ample. However, a few simple sandwiches are a good addition ,and remember the sandwiches may be as simple as bread-and-butter sandwiches. made of several different kinds of bread. I suggest you serve only coffee, have it poured in the kitchen, and serve the filled cups from the tray, on the order of serving after-dinner coffee. Yes, you may greet the guests at the door. When they've all arrived have your mother tell them of your engagement, then serve the refreshments. You may or may not wear a corsage . . as you wish . . . and perhaps your fiance would like to send you a corsage and your mother a corsage. And if the main part of the party is 'for the girls", you might ask your fiance to come in toward the end of the party, to receive the guests' congratulations.

Problems of the Sweet Sixteen Birthday-er

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to have a Sweet Sixteen party soon. (1) Is it necessary for me to have a "coupled" affair? (2)) If some of the guests bring gifts, is it necessary to open them in front of everyone? I should think this might prove embarrassing to the persons who did not bring gifts.

M. S.

(1) No. . . this isn't at all necessary. Invite the "crowd" and never mind if there are a few more boys or a few more girls. A sixteen-year-old hostess will be able to think up appropriate games and social procedures for an uneven number! (2) Yes, you should open each gift as it is handed to you, and 'oh' and 'ah' about it with enthusiasm. Since it's a Sweet Sixteen party, your guests will, I am sure, know this fact, and each one should bring a gift, even though an inexpensive trifle. If you don't open the gifts, those who brought gifts will be disappointed at your seeming disinterest and lack of enthusiasm. But I'm sure everyone will bring a gift, and that you're unnecessarily worrying about embarrassing anyone.

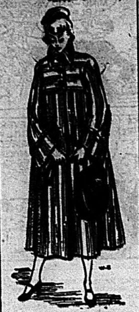
Tweed Coat



For Town and Travel

By VERA WINSTON

GOOD FOR TRAVEL wear, and for general wear later on, is this attractive and useful coat of imported Irish tweed in stripes of brown and tan with touches of gray which is a good color combination. The sleeves and shoulder yoke are cut in one. A tuck in the easy sleeve is used in lieu of cuffs and breaks the line. The slit, pockets are cleverly worked with stripes in front. There is one inverted box pleat in back.

Women's Institute

ALLAN'S MILLS' W.I.

Allan's Mills—The W.I. members met at the home of Mrs. G. Meiklejohn on Wednesday afternoon, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. John McKeown opened the meeting in the usual manner with Mrs. R. Wellman at the piano.

The roll call was answered by giving "a social activity for the benefit of our community". The business period was dealt with. An invitation was read by Mrs. W. J. Barlow from Rylestone Women's Institute asking the members to attend the 25th anniversary dinner of their Women's Institute on Feb. 15 at Petherick's Corners hall. Members were asked to bring donations for boxes to Britain at the next meeting.

A fund was started for the Springbrook skating rink and a donation of $10 was given. A committee for the same was appointed consisting of Mrs. A. V. Brown, Mrs. J. McKeown, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Mrs. Geo. Williams, Mrs. H. Mumby and Mrs. S. G. Meiklejohn.

Mrs. Meiklejohn was in charge of the program and the following ladies gave three-minute talks on health and social welfare—Mrs. Burton Bateman, Mrs. Fred McKeown, Mrs. A. Reid, Mrs. C. McKeown, Mrs. S. G. Meiklejohn.

Mrs. R. Wellman played soft music and Mrs. A. V. Brown gave current events.

Mrs. John McKeown was then given a parcel containing gifts prior to her leaving for Miami, Fla., on Thursday. After opening the gifts, Mrs. H. Mumby asked Mrs. R. Wellman to make a presentation on behalf of some members of the Rebekah lodge. Mrs. McKeown was taken by surprise and thanked her friends for the gifts.

Mrs. S. G. Meiklejohn put on a contest. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters and Answers

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a bachelor in my 50's. In the office where I have been working for six years I met a young lady. I asked her every day for a date but she refused. Shall I ask her once more or not?

There is another young lady in the office who asked me if I wanted a date with her sister. I turned it down because I love the first one.

"Truly yours"

Dear "Truly yours":

It rather seems to me that you should have more sense than to talk about loving a girl with whom you haven't even had one date. What you really means is that she attracts you very much and you would like to know her better.

However, if she has consistently declined your invitations, it certainly seems foolish for you to go on urging her. I think you would do much better if you took the opportunity the other girl has offered you and went out with somebody else. Perhaps the first girl might be inclined to be more interested in you if she saw you paying attention to another girl. But whether she does or not, you would certainly have more fun than you are having now. I advise you to try this plan.

• • •

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going steady with a boy quite some time, and recently he asked me if I would like to get engaged next year. At first, I was very anxious, but last Sunday something happened that rather upset me, and made me worry as to whether it would be right to accept his ring.

He is of a different faith than I am, and on Sunday we decided to go to both my church and his church for services. When we were at my church, he refused to put anything into the collection basket, and this hurt me, as I couldn't see what wrong it was to put money into a church collection. When I was at his church, I gave to the collection gladly, and later, when I spoke to him about it, he told me that he would not give money to something he didn't believe in. Is he right, or do you think I am right in feeling that he was wrong in refusing to put money into the collection? After all, both our faiths believe in the same God.

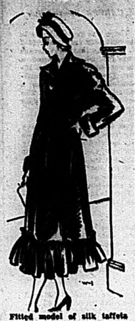
"Laura"

Dear "Laura":

I think you are entirely right in your position in this matter, and I think it was very petty and narrow-minded of this young man to refuse to make a contribution to your church.

If he is going to take this attitude towards your church, then you would be a very foolish girl to marry him, for there would only be constant friction between you that might lead to serious trouble in the end. Even so small a thing as his refusal to put any money in the collection can indicate a very prejudiced state of mind which would certainly not make for happiness in your marriage. It was not the thing itself, but the insight into his character that his actions showed, that is serious I think you would be wise to reconsider the matter of becoming engaged to him.

Spring Coat



Fitted model of silk taffeta

By VERA WINSTON

FOR IMPORTANT town wear in the late spring, watch for the fitted coat of fine silk, of which the model sketched for today's page is an outstanding example. The fabric is heavy silk taffeta in navy blue and is very smartly handled. It is loose underarm, has a cuffed sleeves, and a squared off rolled collar. The full skirt is accentuated by a cartride-pleated ruffled hem. The coat has Princess lines except in front where it is nipped in by a small belt.

Fashion Flashes

MAKE YOUR MANNERS. Manners are made, not born. So it's you who must choose the fabric and the pattern of your manners. This makes the "basic dress" of your personality. Then add becoming accessories .. the graces and amenities of life.

SINGING THE BLUES for Spring is one way of saying that blue is the cited color in all Spring collections—for clothes and for accessories. Light, medium and dark blue baroque type pearl beads, nicely scrambled, make up a long bead rope to be twisted and tied. A nice accessory.

COMING BACK, especially for late afternoon and evening, is the flower and flower-trimmed little hat. A charming pillbox of pink satin is enlarged and softened by an irregular border of pink silk roses, foliage and tiny wired butterflies in iridescent velvet.

THE RETURN ENGAGEMENT of the petit-point bag is most successful. Bags of petit-point with stone-set, gold-washed frames are selling well, so if you have one put aside, now is the time to get it out and into circulation. Suede bags with petit-point panels are liked too.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Consider the Hair-do

With short hair getting shorter—you know how it is, some girls are never satisfied, have to go to extremes—there is the problem of making the napeline decorative. Mirrors on dressing tables get plenty of workouts. The hand mirror, used in conjunction with the large look-ing-glass, is not used as often as it should be.

Forelocks that frame the face are fussed over plenty. Every little fuzzer must march just so. Bangs and beau-catchers are soft and fluffy. But how about the rear of that cute hair-do? What's going on there? Not much of anything, it may happen.

The pre-historic shingle that set the world on its ear—when only long hair was considered womanly and respectable — carried a false note that one couldn't get away from, those horrid little bristles that extended along the back of the neck.

After every trim the clippers were used, same as the Pappy's barber uses them on the pillar that holds up his noble pate. So, if you are going in for short hair in a big way ,don't shear off that rear fringe too closely. Leave enough to curl upward or under or enough to be formed into pin curls.

No matter what style the hair-do assumes, the back portion is the heavy problem.

The back arrangement of the hair has an effect upon the shape of the head and he contour of the neck; it may be good, bad or indifferent. If the head is round, the line should not be straight across, but slightly lower in the centre ;the straight-across trim is all right if the head is long and narrow.

With short locks, the cut is as important as the manner of dressing the hair. Almost any operator will give you a satisfactory shampoo and set. But good trimmers are few and far between. If there is a single strand longer or shorter than it should be, the whole pattern is thrown out of form. If you are given to the use of metal curlers, you have found out that fact for yourself. A short strand here and a longer one there is maddening.

The sleek, tailored style is just the ticket for the career girl. No trouble putting it in order. Yet this plain, severe effect is likely to be trying unless one is blessed with freshness of complexion and good look. We suspect that many a young woman will be tempted to let her hair grow shoulder length, make dates for permanents, as in the past. Soft effects may not be quite as smart just now, but they are flattering. If the hair-do does not flatter, it is a failure.

CNR Diesels Score Fifth Straight Win, Defeating Navy Of Kingston by 14-2 Count

The high-flying Canadian National Railway Diesels romped into undisputed first place in the district Senior "B" group last night when they trampled the Kingston Navy erstwhile co-holders of the league's first slot, by an impressive 14-2 score.

The victory last night marks the fifth straight win for the Diesels in the Senior "B" group and now they hold top slot position with ten points by virtue of their win. Navy marked their third defeat of the season and have won but four games. Diesels tacked on the second loss on Navy having defeated them 8-4 in their first engagement.

Last night's holocaust was another typical Diesel win. The team after firing home three goals in the first period went on a scoring rampage in the second heat to ram home eight goals with not a return from the fast-skating Navy team. The score at the end of the second period was 11-1. They scored another three in the third.

Score No Indication

The lopsided count does not by denied. They carried the torch all any stretch of the imagination indicate the difference between the teams. To the credit of Kingston Navy, under the able management of Maxie Jackson, let it be said that the wearers of the blue and white battled all the way until the McNaughtian piccolo sounded "Taps." Kingston never gave up trying. They carried the battle all the way. More credit to 'em.

But the Diesels were not to be the way through and Manager "Red" Carson and Coach Jimmy Ethier deserve all the kudos coming to them. They had a hard-fighting team with plenty of power up front, a sterling defence in Vern Goyer and Clare Williamson plus youthful Art Plumley in the nets, not forgetting Mark Storms, who turned in a useful chore.

Another Night to Howl

It was another Diesel night to howl and the up-front attacking divisions did not let 1,300 fans down. Their passes were clicking perfectly and when close in their shooting eyes were not bad either. D. Barrett, K. MacDonald and Jackie Wardhaugh fairly flew all night, with the veterans Leo Goyer and Timmy Williams aided and abetted by the Meagher brothers did not let the squad down at any time.

Behind the blue line Vern Goyer and Clare Williamson did an excellent job, Mark Storms, in fact all the Diesels, including Art. Plumley, who kicked out plenty of Kingston rubber, co-operated in getting sweet revenge for what happened a season or two ago.

Its not fair perhaps to pick out individual stars. Don Barrett, Keith MacDonald and Jackie Wardhaugh did no better job perhaps than did Leo Goyer, Timmy Williams and Doug. Bastedo. In fact the entire team co-operated in offensive action that brought desired results. True, MacDonald scored three goals and assisted in a couple more, but then the Meaghers, Timmy Williams, Leo Goyer, not to mention the big guy Vern and Williamson on the defence, all contributed to a sparkling victory. And by that we don't want to leave out Art. Plumley in the Diesels nets.

Kingston flashed a fast-skating team. As was said before they never gave up trying, and were deserving of a better fate. However, it was the Diesels night and they deserved everything they got.

The teams: —

CNR Diesels: goal, Plumley; defence, V. Goyer, Williamson; centre, Barrett; wings, Wardhaugh MacDonald; subs, L. Goyer, Williams, Nolan, A. Meagher, B. Meagher, Bastedo, Storms, Reeves, Leforte.

Kingston Navy: goal, Stone; defence, Clarke, Graves; centre, Ohlke; wings, Dugan, J. Aitken, B. Aitken, Flint, Murray, Castleton, Murphy, Dunn, Andrews.

Golab Offered Football Job With Winnipeg

(By The Canadian Press)

Tony Golab, Ottawa Rough Riders star flying wing, said at Ottawa Monday that Winnipeg Blue Bombers are looking for him as coach and although they have come up with "a very attractive offer," he hasn't made up his mind yet.

He said the terms of a contract being dangled before him include "$5,000 — give or take a few bucks." There had been no mention whether his playing services would be required.

"I'm not fussy about leaving the Riders," he said, "but I nevertheless intend to give this offer every consideration."

Golab now is serving with the R.C.A.F.

Winnipeg's speed skating star, 21-year-old Betty Mitchell, left Montreal Monday on the second lap of an airplane trip to Norway where she hopes to add the world amateur speed skating crown to her lengthy collection of titles.

Miss Mitchell, holder of the North American and Canadian womens' senior speed skating championships, will compete in the women's event at Konensberg, Norway next month. She is the only Canadian entered in the meet.

Losing 14 wickets for only 164 runs, India was beaten by the West Indies at Madras Monday in the fourth test cricket match by an innings and 193 runs. Final scores: West Indies 582; India 245 and 144.

The previous three tests had been drawn and one more remains to be played.

Rhodesia was 101 runs ahead of the English touring cricket team at close of play at Buluwayo Monday in a three-day match with which ends tomorrow.

The English eleven gained a first-inning lead of 19 runs. Then they dismissed half the Rhodesian side in their second innings for 120.

England was all out for 193 after Rhodesia had tallied 174 in the first innings.

Despite the need for lots of money and players, there is nothing but optimism being voiced by enthusiasts behind Edmonton's football Eskimos, returning to the Western Interprovincial League after an eight year absence.

R. Murray Montague, club president, said at Edmonton Monday Eskimos have no "Grey Cup or bust" ideas. "If we can hold public interest, we'll be doing fine," he said.

Executives are confident the club will turn out a team capable of putting up a good show against the league's other teams — the Canadian champion Calgary Stampeders, Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Marilyn Ruth Take, Toronto's 20-year-old professional figure-skater, finds there's nothing like posters and signs on arena walls to keep her mind occupied during a performance. She has been cutting capers on ice for money for six months and thinks "it's wonderful."

"My mind is a complete blank when I get out there in front of thousands of people who pay money to see me," she said in an interview at Toronto before her initial pro appearance in an ice extravaganza before a home-town crowd. "I like to read the bills and posters as I skate by."

The vivacious brunette, who tried springboard diving and the violin before she decided to devote her time to skating seven years ago, finds capacity-house crowds don't "fizz" on her. "I just don't think about them," she said.

Visiting Scottish curlers, nearing the end of their Canadian and United States tour, won four of 10 matches with Peterborough district rinks, Monday, tying 87-87 on the aggregate score.

A second Scottish team at the same time visited Kingston and won three out of five matches against curlers from that district. The aggregate score also was a draw, 46-46.

The largest purse in the history of Ontario Harness racing will be at stake in the Canadian pacing derby at New Hamburg next Aug. 10. The purse was set at $5,000 by the New Hamburg Turf Club. The derby trial prize will be increased from $750 to $1,000.

Edward Pfaff was re-elected president of the club for his 9th term and E. C. Katzenmeier was returned to his 14th term as secretary.

Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds scored six points during the past week to break a tie with Sid Smith of Pittsburgh Hornets and take the scoring lead of the American Hockey League with 73 points. Smith now is in second place with 68 points. He is followed by Roger Bedard with 64 points, Johnny Chad with 62 and Harvey Fraser with 58, all of Providence.

Gene Bearden, Cleveland Indians' pitching star who carries a platinum plate in his head and another in his leg as a result of war injuries, was named "most courageous athlete of 1948" by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association Monday.

Bearden, World Series hero and American League rookie of the year, was honored at the annual writers banquet along with his manager, Lou Boudreau, who was named the outstanding athlete of the year.

Jimmy Demaret squared playoff accounts with Ben Hogan as he won a three stroke victory in an 18-hole special round to decide the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf tournament.

The Ojai, Calif., shotmaker scored a four-under-par 67. Hogan took a 70. They had finished the 72 hole tourney Sunday tied at 278.

This was a reversal of the outcome last week when Demaret and Hogan ended deadlocked in the Long Beach Open. Hogan won that playoff 67-69.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Our Diesels are flying high. There was great hilarity in that dressing room last night after that very convincing 14-2 victory over the Kingston squad. It seems that the veterans of the gang felt it was sweet revenge for what happened a year ago when the Kingston Locos rubbed it into us by a 16-4 count. The Diesels had no sorrow. They were out for business and they did not make any mistakes. There was not a bit of "feel-sorry for the boys" and all that kind of tripe. The Trainmen were out to win and they didn't give a tinker's dam whether it was by one goal or forty.

• • •

More power to 'em. Teams from this man's village have been taking it on the button plenty from hamlets outside the realm. Its pretty near time this city asserted itself, especially from a hockey point of view. Right now, and we're saying it perhaps a bit modestly, this village has the sweetest Senior "B" and Junior "B" teams extant in the district. Pardon us if we appear to be boastful. We are, insofar as the opposition is concerned. The only thing that we are interested in, is the fact that the fans do not realize it. They do insofar as the Diesels are concerned, but after all, the railway fans contribute the most to the senior "B" gates.

• • •

And there are a lot of loyal fans who in years past, have always backed up a Belleville team. But, it seems that we have to have a winning team before we can get solid fan support. All right, we've got one, so far that is. Personally we've never seen in our twelve years of sports writing a team that clicked, and is clicking like the current edition of the Senior "B" representatives.

• • •

We are not holding any brief for the Canadian National Railways. We have to buy our railway tickets. But we do recognize fellowship, sportsmanship and the will to co-operate. If it had not been for the CNR Athletic Association and the willingness to "play ball" so to speak on the part of a hell of a lot of good fellows and hockey players, this village would not have representation in OHA Senior "B" groups.

• • •

So why not get behind them. And in passing, don't forget that there's a swell bunch of youngsters wearing the uniforms of the Belleville Rockets juniors who likewise are doing a sweet job in carrying the hockey torch for Belleville. They, too, deserve a pat-on the back and a little support from youse guys and gals.

• • •

Right now, the CNR Diesels are sitting on top of the heap. They've met and defeated the best that the group has to offer. They have won their first five starts. But that doesn't make them champions. They've got a long way to go. And don't forget there's play-offs looming up and these Kingston teams are "plenty" tough when the chips are down. Don't sell this Nylon or any other Kingston team short. Its all right to sail along with an undefeated record in schedule play but when it comes to playoff time—well—that's something different.

• • •

Personally we like this Diesel squad. They're good. They have the best defence in the group as far as we have seen things, but we do think that another good defence man or two would help matters. At least, as we have said before, they would give Vern Goyer and Claire Williamson a much-needed rest. Belleville is well-protected as far as a defence is concerned, but you can't expect two guys to handle the whole chore, especially with important playoff games looming up. Right?

• • •

Diesels have nothing to worry about in the net-minding division. Maurice Lefort b'gar is wan dam good goalkeeper. Art Plumley who played a grand game last night in the Diesels nets, is another net guardian extraordinary. Both will do. With all respect to goal keepers of former eras, these two boys carry the cake. They're good. Manager "Red" Carson and Coach Jim Ethier have rounded up one of the best defensive tries seen here in many years.

• • •

And they're good out front. They have a couple of attacking divisions that are potent and prolific goal producers. Carson made no mistake when he enlisted the services of the grand Northern Electric line of Don Barrett, Keith MacDonald and Johnny Semark. True, Johnny has been out with a gashed leg, but he tells me that he will be back in action again shortly. Hope he does.

• • •

Then there is Leo Goyer and Timmy Williams.. That pair click like pepper and salt, coat and pants, shirt and vest or what have you. The whole team will do, with the Meagher brothers, diminutive guys who can skate with the best of 'em and Doug Bastedo and Jackie Wardhaugh all round out a fine squad.

Diesels entertain Gananoque here next Monday night and, brothers and sisters, that will be a brawl. The Diesels tacked on a 6-3 defeat on Bill Hastie's crew when they met in Gananoque a few days ago and the guys from the "Gateway to the Thousand Islands" don't feel too well about it. It should be a good brawl for this Gan. team is rated one of the best in the loop.

Three Goalies In Running For Venzina Award

Montreal, Feb. 1. (CP)—With Chicago's crack snipers, Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher, making a runaway of the scoring race, the spotlight has shifted to the wide-open battle among the National Hockey League's goalkeepers for the Vezina trophy honors.

The scramble for the Vezina, which goes to the goaler who played the most games for the team with the least goals scored against it, has suddenly become a nip-and-tuck affair since the weekend games.

All because Bill Durnan, a four-time winner of the award, who was winging along with a comfortable 13-goal lead, watched 14 pucks whiz by as Montreal Canadiens dropped two games.

This moved New York's Chuck Rayner and Detroit's Harry Lumlay into contention, with Lumley probably holding the upper hand at the moment, although he has allowed more goals than both Durnan and Rayner. Rangers have had 99 goals scored against them in 39 games. Canadiens 100 in 41 games, and the Wings 103 in 42 games.

With a rock-ribbed defence and an array of back-checking forwards fronting him, Lumley figures to be right in there at the wind-up. Last year he lost out to Toronto's Turk Broda in the final week of the campaign.

Durnan still leads the goals-against average. Big Bill has allowed 100 goals in 41 games for a 2.43 percentage. Next in line is Lumley with 2.45 and Rayner with 2.57.

In the scoring list, official statistics show Doug Bentley still topping the parade with 48 points, followed by Roy Conacher with 46. Riding along in a tie for third spot are Sid Abel of Detroit and Billy Reay of Montreal. Jimmy Conacher remains in the fourth slot with 35.

Bentley was the big gainer during the week among the leaders, collecting one goal and two assists.

Abel failed to score in the Wings' three games but maintained his lead in the goal-scoring department with 19 markers. Reay, Harry Watson of Toronto and Grant Warwick of Boston all have 18. Bentley is top man in the assists column with 31.

Bill Ezinicki of Toronto upped his penalty time to 103 minutes, while Canadiens with 514 minutes displaced the Leafs as most-penalized club.

Kroehlers Jump Into Second Place Tie With Flyers

(By The Canadian Press)

Officials of Windsor Spitfires aren't happy over the final outcome of the so-called "farcical conduct" staged by Coach Leighton (Happy) Emms and his Barrie Flyers fans.

The Windsor manager, Lloyd Pollock, announced Monday night that his club will protest the Ontario Hockey Association executives ruling on a Junior 'A' game in Barrie last Friday that was called by referees in the third period. Windsor was leading 4-2.

O.H.A. President J. J. (Tiny) McFadyen ordered the two teams to complete the game when the two clubs clash Wednesday night. There were six minutes remaining when the officials called the game because the fans frequently littered the ice with miscellaneous objects and Emms temporarily ordered his team off the ice over a disallowed goal.

Pollock said that for less serious charges than those brought Emms, Windsor coach Jimmy Skinner was handed a 15-game suspension last year. Windsor has not yet been officially notified on the ruling but when they are "we will have plenty to say about it," he said.

The ruling which dismissed charges of missile throwing against the fans and misconduct against Emms with a reprimand and warning were "lukewarm" Pollock added. He said that Emms had appeared before the Board in the past and has been handed similar warnings without any direct action being taken.

Generals Defeated

But while the leading Spitfires argued it out, Stratford Kroehlers jumped into a second-place tie with the Flyers defeating Oshawa Generals 8-1 Monday night. They are eight points behind Windsor. In the Senior 'A' race Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen downed the last-place Stratford Indians 10-3.

The Kroehlers moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period, held a 4-1 margin at the end of the second and then added four unanswered goals in the third frame.

The Indians made their last scheduled appearance at Waterloo as they took the defensive throughout the game. Kitchener drove into a 5-0 lead in the first period, added five more in the second and then were outscored in the final period 2-1. In the third period Dutchmen used five forwards in an effort to fatten the score.

Don Bauer, Billy Curick, Mickey Roth and Mike Dzuira scored twice for the Dutchmen. Bill Dinning and Sparky Weiler tallied one apiece. Jackie Brooman, Ken Stemmler and Dunc Daniels scored for Stratford.

Petawawa-Born Giesebrechts Show Way for Windsor

Toronto, Feb. 1 (CP)—Daddy Giesebrecht may have had something when he said he allowed only hockey players in his family—and it's a cinch Windsor Spitfires or their parent Detroit Red Wings won't argue with him.

Pop has had five players of his family in the chain of the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings and the latest are a couple of bashing sons—Bert and Bruce.

The Petawawa-born brothers look like a good bet to bring the Spitfires their first Ontario Hockeyl Association Junior "A" championship and individual scoring title since the club joined the nine-team league two years ago.

The scoring ability of the two forwards has been a large factor for the Spitfires gaining first place in the league race—eight points ahead of the second-place Barrie Flyers. Although not as yet signed by the Wings, Detroit has first call on the boys as sponsors of the Spirfires.

The 19-year-old, 175-pound Bert and his 18-year-old brother practically have the individual scoring race sewed up. Bert has 81 points—39,—goals and 42 assists—while Bruce is three points behind with 78. In third place is St. Catharines Teepees Red Sullivan with 59.

Jack Adams, Manager of the Detroit Club, recently said he liked all the Giesebrechts but Bruce was an "exceptionally fine hockey player." "Pop Giesebrecht (who operates a store in Petawawa, Ont.) told me he allowed only hockey players in his family," he said.

Gus Plyaed Weth Detroit

Gus was the first of the Giesebrechts to play with Detroit. He played centre for the Wings in the late '30s before joining the army. Then there was Cully Simon, a defenceman who married a Giesebrecht girl. Cully's brother, Thain—a former Detroit defenceman—also married a Giesebrecht girl.

But coach Jimmy Skinner's Spitfirts don't expect a pushover for the league title. The Flyers, Stratford Kroehlers and Oshawa Generals are still in the picture. The Generals are only four points behind Flyers and Kroehlers, tieu in second place.

St. Catharines Teepees are in fifth place with 44 points—nine ahead of the sixth-place Guelph Biltmores and Toronto Marlboros. In eighth and ninth place are Galt Rockets and Toronto St Michael's College Majors.

In the Senior "A" loop, Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen are proving a headache for the potent Toronto Marlboros. The Dutlhmen have taken over first place with 50 points—two aneau of the second-place Marlies. Eleven points behind the Marlboros are Hamilton Tigers, while Owen Sound Mercurys are in fourth-place. The hapless Stratford Indians are in last place of the five-team circuit with only four wins in 35 starts.

The Bengals still can take the individual scoring race with two of their ace forwards one-two. Clare Shillington leads the pointgetters with 58 while teammate Johnny Conick and Don Bauer of Kitchener are tied for second place with 57.

MILK UP IN WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Feb. 1 (CP)—An increase of 25 cents a hundredweight for secondary milk for Woodstock city milk producers was agreed on after weekend discussion between producers and city distributors, it was announced Monday.

The increase is effective tomorrow. City consumers also received notice from dairies that price of milk will be increased half a cent per quart.

Secondary milk, used for chocolate milk, buttermilk and skim milk, will bring producers $3.15 instead of the present $2.90.

Barbara Ann Scott Named Winner Of Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy

The award, announced by Elwood A. Hughes of Toronto, chairman of the five-man selection committee, was unanimous over a field of three other nominees. The trophy, perpetuating the memory of the late Toronto Daily Star sports editor, is open to men and women, amateurs and professionals, in any sport in the Dominion.

Announcement came just six weeks after sports editors picked the pert ice queen as Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1948 in the Dominion-wide year-end poll conducted by The Canadian Press.

She has established history in both polls, winning each three times. She previously won the Lou E. Marsh Trophy in 1945 and 1947 and sports writers put her in the top slot in the 1946 and 1947 CP survey. The choice in nearly all cases was unanimous.

Three other athletes were nominated for the 1948 Marsh Trophy.

Jack Parry of London, Ont., University of Western Ontario football player, track and basketball star. Parry, chosen to represent Canada in the 1948 Olympic games at London, was sidelined due to a leg injury a few days before the Olympics opened.

Viola Myers, crack sprinter from Toronto who represented the Dominion in the 1948 games, and Kenneth Nunn, singles rowing champion of Toronto Argonaut Canoe Club.

Montreal, Jan. 31 (CP) — The crafty character who figures he'll be a box-fight promoter and make cash fast and easy from somebody else's fighting should think about it. The craft has its harrowing times.

Consider the case of Mons. Raoul Godbout, one of the more noted of Montreal's fight promoters who finally has signed New York's Beau Jack to fight Johnny Greco March 14. It wasn't easy going at all, as Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson recounts.

Beau Jack called off the match, set for last week, on the plea by manager "Chick" Wergeles, that he had "hurt" his hand and Wergeles was evasive about signing or discussing a new match.

Godbout went to New York, made several dates to meet Wergelés but the latter never showed up. Finally he camped before "Chick's" office and, after several hours of waiting, who shows around the corner but Wergeles?

Let Fergie take it from there: "Imagine meeting you here," cordially shouted Wergeles. "I bin lookin' for you almost everywhere."

"Everywhere except where we had an appointment," said Godbout, boldly.

"The Beau's flipper is so bad, we didn't go to the gym," said Wergeles glibly.

"It better not be too bad to sign a new contract," said Godbout.

"What new contract?" enquired Chick in feigned surprise. "Ain't we got a contract now? Ain't we gentlemen? Ain't we sportsmen? Why contracts? Ain't our words good?"

"Mine is all right, but I'm not so sure about yours," said Godbout.

"Always kidding," said Wergeles, forcing a hollow laugh.

"No kidding," said Godbout. "I got lawyers, we are going to the Commission and to the Guild. We are going to sue for breach of contract. We want Beau Jack's hand examined. We want damages."

Mr. Wergeles paled.

"We don't need no lawyers," he said. "All them guys want is money. Leave us sign like gentlemen—tomorrow."

"Not tomorrow but right now," said Mons. Godbout.

Beau Jack was summoned, appeared with neither hand showing any sign of injury. "It's an infernal injury, like inside," explained Mr. Wergeles.

But Beau Jack signed, Wergeles signed, a Newark promoter signed, Godbout signed. Then Mons. Godbout came home.

Marmora Defeats Lakefield 9-6 In Valley Game

Marmora — Advantage secured in the second period enabled Marmora to win their postponed home game with Lakefield on Saturday evening, the final score being Marmora 9, Lakefield 6. The game was fought at a surprisingly fast pace throughout, for teams who had played the previous night. Lakefield forced the pace at the start and for the first time this season a visiting team netted first in the new Marmora rink, L. Lonsberry scoring after four minutes of play on Fawcett's assist. Marmora soon evened the score an Ken Trumble scored on G. Leonard's pass. End to end rushes occurred with good plays lacking finish on both sides until Cousins scored on Gus Leonard's assist. Unassisted, Chappell tied the score again. Just before the period closed Lavender registered on K. Trumble's assist. The latter opened the scoring in the second period after 58 seconds of play, beating Jones on Gus Leonard's pass. Lakefield responded through Henry on Hopkins' assist, but in the latter half of the period Marmora added goals through K. Trumble (2), G. Leonard and McInroy.

With the third period scarcely begun Blewett on an individual rush beat Borland. McInroy added the homester's last goal. After Blewett had again scored unassisted, he provided the pass for Fawcett to further lower Marmora's lead just before the final bell sounded.

The game was devoid of rough play and was voted by the Marmora section of the thousand or more fans as the best on the home rink this season.

Teams:

DIES FROM WOUNDS

Coroner C. N. Mooney of Toronto said a preliminary investigation led him to believe the weapon was accidentally discharged in the hands of the baby's 14-year-old brother, Douglas.

The baby, unconscious, was admitted to Brantford hospital after being wounded Friday and later brought here for a brain operation.

SECOND MOTION

Trade Minister Howe said the government is considering whether to establish a floor price for flax for the 1949-50 crop year, and warned farmers that flax is in surplus, with markets for the future clouded with uncertainty.

Mr. St. Laurent highlighted his marathon address with two newsworthy disclosures.

Budget Will be Early

He said the presentation of the budget will not be "delayed" at this session, leading many to surmise that it will be brought down in early April, possibly with a view to an early election in the federal field.

He also disclosed that the government is considering the possibility of establishing immediately some television stations which would not interfere with a long-range television program.

Mr. St. Laurent labelled as "absolutely false" a statement made in the Ontario Legislature by Mr. Drew to the effect that the federal government claimed to have power to change provincial rights on language, property and civil rights.

"I challenge any man in this House," said the prime minister, "to bring forth any iota of fact that can be invoked to support a statement of that kind."

Speaking of the government's offer of last September to hand over rent controls to the provinces, he read a long series of letters between Finance Minister Abbott and the governments of the various provinces.

These showed the provincial lineup as follows

British Columbia, Alberta, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Ontario — no disposition to enter the fentals control field at present.

Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba — no final answer.

Wants More Information

Quebec wants more information; concerned over possible effects of court cases in which the constitutionality of federal rent control is being challenged.

Mr. St. Laurent noted particularly that Prime Minister T. L. Kennedy of Ontario, a Progressive Conservative, had said flatly that rent control should be carried on by the Dominion government. "There is no doubt," he added, "about the Ontario government's attitude concerning the terrible 'invasion' we have been practising on provincial jurisdiction."

The fact that nothing had been done by the provinces on oleomargarine, he said, was another indication of the "apparent reluctance of provincial administrations to tackle embarrassing problems."

"It is all right to make broad statements about centralization of power," the prime minister continued. "But I invite anyone to point to one single case of 'invasion' since the cessation of hostilities.

Mr. St. Laurent quoted statements made by Mr. Drew as far back as 1937, when the Progressive Conservative leader had called for a "strong" central government, to prove his point that Mr. Drew had changed his position periodically.

Pre-Election Parleys Useless

As for Mr. Drew's call for a new Dominion-Provincial conference, he said he was convinced that pre-election conferences were useless because there was no general desire to deal with matters on their merits "with one eye cocked on elections."

Discussing television, Mr. St. Laurent said it must necessarily develop into a monopolistic enterprise since only a limited number of frequencies were available to Canada. If they were turned over to private interests, these interests would have a vested interest in the frequencies.

The frequencies should not be granted to private enterprise unless the conclusion was reached that the only way television could be provided was through private enterprise.

Criticizing the government's health program, Mr. Coldwell said the $30,000,000 voted last year for health expenditures could not be considered a national health plan because part of it was earmarked for a health survey.

Supports Security Pact

He expressed support for Canadian participation in the projected security pact and called for a statement outlining the Progressive Conservative party's stand. There appeared to be some doubt about the opposition's policies.

He urged the government to adopt intelligent marketing plans for all of Canada's products—particularly wheat and other cereals — and suggested the inauguration of a system which would overcome exchange difficulties through the barter of goods.

The chamber also should consider the provision of adequate housing and a return to controls and subsidies to maintain a reasonable price level. A subsidized low - rental home building program was urgently needed.

Charging that there was a "public and flagrant" attempt to "destroy" the CBC, he said the publicly - owned radio system is "receding" slowly from the original intention that it protect the airways for the public. Private stations had grown to the point where they now had transmitters of up to 50,000 watts.

Wants to Know Cost

Mr. Low urged the government to tell the Canadian people what the Atlantic pact would cost and what commitments it would involve for this country.

He said the Social Credit party had opposed the United Nations because the party saw behind it "a number of the wretches who made the old League of Nations unworkable." There had been little chance of the U. N. ever succeeding.

There had been "stupid" agreements with the Soviets, agreements which worked to the disadvantage of the west, and he had found at the elbows of men who negotiated those agreements figures such as Alger Hiss, who had been indicted by an American Grand Jury for the leakage of state secrets.

"Who knows how many such men have been in the government of the United States and the government of Canada," he said.

National Currency

On the domestic side of the picture, he said the Social Credit Party would establish a national currency and credit commission which annually would give parliament a balance sheet showing the relationship between production and the purchasing power of the people.

When surpluses of goods accumulated, a national dividend would be paid to everyone and a retail price discount given to the people, in this way, a depression would be avoided.

Mr. Raymond said he did not think Canada should remain neutral in the even of a war between the United States and Russia. Some thought neutrality would serve to safeguard Canadian interests but this was not so. European countries which had counted Russia had lost their religious and economic freedom.

Mr. Ross quoted figures which he said showed that western farmers had lost $352,000,000 through the sale of their wheat to Britain at low prices during the first two years of the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. Another $172,000,000 had been lost through the cheap sale of wheat for domestic consumption.

Mr. Gillis suggested a national survey of Canada's resources and said the government's fuel board should attempt to work out a national fuel policy which would include the zoning of markets. At present, Canada was too dependent on the U.S. for her coal supplies.

May Establish Stations

On televison Prime Minister St. Laurent said the federal government has under "active consideration" the possibility of establishin gsome television stations in Canada immediately.

He said that the government is considering the possibility of setting up some station which would not interfere with any long-term policy on television.

He indicated that the long-term policy will not be laid down until a royal commission on radio, television, films and the like makesc recommendations to the government. Establishment of the commission was forecost in the Throne Speech.

Mr. St. Laurent said television necessarily must develop into a monopolistic enterprise. Only a limited number of television frequencies were available for us by Canada.

If the frequencies were turned over to private interests, those private interests would have a vested interest in the frequencies. He wondered if such a course was desirable. He felt it would be a mistake to embark on any plan that would take from the public the frequencies allocated to Canada for the public.

MAN BURNED IN FIRE

Deschamp was one of five men sleeping in a basement bedroom when fire broke out around 4 a.m. He is believed to have left the room, but became confused in the smoke and unable to find an exit. His body was only slightly burned when found.

The rooming house is owned by Mrs. J. O. Lanthier. There were approximately 25 people in the building at the time of the fire.

Canada's banks have 7,000,000 bosses

Your bank account is one of seven million: You keep it in the bank of your choice. A bank exists by the confidence of its depositors. You're the boss.

YOUR banks operate under charters granted by Parliament, which every ten years reviews and revises them.

Above all, the depositor is the controlling factor—the safety of depositors' funds is a bank's first concern. As a depositor exercising your free choice—yours is the power which keeps the bank alert to your needs.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.

♣7

The bidding starts off like this:

South	North
1 H	2 S
2 NT	3 H
4 H	?

The south opening promises five tricks, four high cards, two sure tricks, a biddable heart suit. Actually this hand has a trick count of six; one trick in reserve for a later raise.

The north immediate one jump is forcing to at least a game, shows six tricks with two sure, a biddable spade suit. If it has support for hearts, it has not yet had a chance to show it.

With no more takeouts and no assist heard, the only south second bid is two no-trump. North then shows heart support. When he does, south can raise to four hearts. It shows his sixth trick.

Thus does north discover 12 tricks in their pair. These suggest a slam. Placed in this position, would you be content with a game? If not, what would you do about it? So would I.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

"It costs too much here to make the kind of pictures I want to make," he told me, "so I am concentrating on a couple of films in England. Meanwhile, I will continue preparing pictures and will make them here when the situation becomes more settled."

Reports and Rumors

Red Skelton says the deal for him to jump from NBC to CBS hasn't yet been settled. But it looks probable. Red is particularly interested in the new set-up because of the television angle. He has big plans for video.

Reports of Walt Disney going into television are premature. He has been keeping his eye on the new medium for some time, but so far has made no move toward it.

June Haver gets a present every day from Dr. John Duzik, but it's not flowers. He sends her a new household gadget daily for her ne wapartment. There's a practical husband-to-be.

Eleven Women

Robert Young was musing on "The Forsyte Saga" set about his life with women. He has four daughters and at one time there was a total of 11 women in his house. For a man-to-man talk, he chats with himself in the mirror while he shaves. Despite his living with so many, Bob says, "I still don't understand women any better than I did when I married, which understanding was nil at the time."

Breeders Warned To Maintain High Standards

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP)— The emphasis is on scientific breeding and feeding as Ontario's Livestock Breeders' Association hold their annual meetings here.

The Ontario Hereford breeders were told Monday that exports of the breed from Canada had increased four times in some instances and were advised to keep up breed standards if the current demand for Herefords is to be maintained.

D. H. Andrews of Calgary, president of the Canadian Hereford Association, said the number of transfers of the breed among Canadian breeders indicated a healthy industry.

The provincial group voted to retain a ruling which bans registration of the first heifer calf from a female under 26 months of age imported from the United States.

The meeting Monday of Ontario swine breeders heard criticism of breeding methods by William McMullen, field representative of the Ontario Agriculture Department.

He said Ontario's pigs were too short and fat to capture the best markets, and advised breeders to concentrate on longer hogs with less fat about the loins.

R. H. Graham, secretary of the swine breeders, urged farmers to increase the number of swine tested for record of production, as such records were the only yardstick to measure developments in the breed.

Oleomargarine entered the discussions of the Ontario Jersey Club. They passed a motion asking the provincial governments to ban butter substitutes that are colored to resemble butter, and said that the practice was likely to "deceive the public."

Two members of the Ontario Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association were given gold watches for having won championships at the Royal Winter Fair in the last two years. They are Lloyd Mack of Rockwood and Kenneth McKinnon of Hillsburgh.

Hereford breeders elected B.B. Warnick of Barrie as president and Howard Stutt of Forest as vice-president. A. C. McTaggart of Aurora is president of the Aberdeen Angus Association with Thomas Henderson of Guelph as vice-president. Joseph Featherstone of Streetsville is president, and Clifford Carscadden of Stroud vice-president of the swine breeders.

SMASH-AND-GRAB IN DURBAN RACE RIOTS

An interesting study of the face of a man inflamed with hate for another man. He doesn't know the other man. He only knows that he is of a different race. So he destroys his property and grabs what he can of it. The striking photo was made during the recent race riots in Durban, when African natives ran amok in the Indian district, killing, burning, looting. This man holds two cans of meat he snatched from another broken window.—Central Press Canadian.

NEW HAND AT NATIONALIST CHINA HELM

Smiling with more confidence than is merited by the peril of Nationalist China, Vice-President Li Tsung-Jen is shown in Nanking as he assumed the presidential duties relinquished by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Rabbit Plague In Australia Worst in History

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 1 (Reuters)—Australia is suffering from what is regarded here as the worst rabbit plague in her history, although record numbers of rabbits are being killed.

Years ago Australia imported the rabbit. But despite the contribution he makes to the dollar funds of the sterling area, it would pay Australia to exterminate him, because his bill for room and board is much greater than the money he brings in.

No one knows how many rabbits Australia has. The Commonwealth Department of Agriculture said that 140,000,000 were killed last year. But this caused no noticeable decrease in their numbers.

Reports from all States indicate that the pest is multiplying rapidly.

Six to 10 rabbits are believed to consume as much pasture as would feed one sheep. A sheep produces wool which will sell for nearly twice as much as the skins and carcasses of the 10 rabbits. The rabbits also eat grass roots, reducing growth and contributing to soil erosion.

Rabbits, if unchecked, play havoc with young grain crops and to thousands of trees and shrubs by nibbling off the bark. Many men, who would be in the sheep-shearing sheds if rabbits were less plentiful and the skin prices lower, are trapping rabbits. It pays better.

Some trappers have averaged $200 a week for months; as much as $500 a week has been made in the mid-winter season when skins are at their best.

The prices of skins have dropped recently, but the prices of rabbit carcasses to the Australian consumer have never been higher. At present they are as expensive as the best cuts of beef and lamb.

Britisher Plays Snooker for 60 Consecutive Hours

For the last 13 hours he hobbled painfully as a result of being accidentally kicked in the ankle by an opponent shortly after snapping the old mark of 45 hours and 27 minutes, set recently by Dickie Flicker of London.

His only food during the grind consisted of four sandwiches at 12 hour intervals. He drank about three dozen cups of tea, smoked 320 cigarets and 96 of 162 frames played against a series of opponents.

His opponent was a former college professor, A. D. Burke. They put on their contest in pick-up trucks at a milk products convention.

Bossy blinked her eyes and relaxed.

Reese and Burke both got busy.

The professor got a little more milk. But his cow kicked him as he crawled from the truck.

That cost him points.

The judges called the match a draw.

The chair, an office model, measures 32½ inches from arm to arm, compared with a normal 18 to 20 inches. It will hold two men or three women comfortably.

The chair is on its way to Atlanta, Ga., Dealer. Bush estimated the eventual sitter must weigh close to 500 pounds.

"We can also make chairs for midgets," said Bush.

Danville, Ill. — (AP) — Earl Van Dyke huddled in a doorway with a friend to escape a strong wind whipping across the city's business district Friday.

The two men hurried to the scene, lifted a prostrate figure in woman's clothing from the sidewalk and carried it to safety.

Then they discovered they were carting away a dummy. It had toppled out of the smashed window. The woman for whose safety they feared had stepped into the store as the window fell.

Indianapolis — (AP) — A vote recording machine was installed in the Chamber of the Indiana House of Representatives recently to speed up the vote, but irked representatives claim it is failing to record some "no" votes.

The House voted Friday to instruct the Attorney-General to stop payments to the installing company. It also ordered the company to put the machine in order or refund all payments.

Vincennes, Ind. (AP)—Rev. Ray H. Montgomery returned to the First Christian Church Sunday for the first time since he suffered a broken hip in a fall from the pulpit last Oct. 3.

"Watch your step!"

Jackson, Tenn., (AP) — Two weeks ago a young mule escaped from his owner and raced merrily through the city streets, causing a minor smash-up between two automobiles, and giving pursuing officers of the law the mule-laugh.

He was finally caugh and sold at auction.

But Saturday he was back in hot water with the law. The trouble: Overparking!

Derby, England, (CP)—P. W. Elliott has started a choir in his fish-and-chip shop.

Children used to "hang about" outside the shop an hour before he was ready to open. So, being fond of music, he asked them inside and taught them to sing while frying his fish.

Now the fish shop choir is asked to sing at public concerts as well.

Wednesday—in case you've forgotten—is groundhog day.

Tradition says if Mr. Groundhog sees his shadow, the country will be in for six more weeks of wintry blasts.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a Satturday walk with pop, and he said, Step on the gas, Benny, let's look as if we're going somewhere in a hurry, here comes the human talking machine.

Meening Admiral Tricker, and we started to walk faster with a busy expression on our faces, but Adwmiral Tricker stopped us just a same, saying to pop, Do you know what the cerse of this present age is?

Indeed I do, pop said. Practically nobody has enough money, he said, and Admiral Tricker said, Intolerance is the cerse of this age.

Maybe so, pop said, and Admiral Tricker said, This werld aint going to be a safe place to live in till all the people everywhere admit that it's possible for other people to look and act different and still have a rite to a mind of their own and their own ways of living and thinking.

I'll bet that's a fact, pop said, and Admiral Tricker said, And what's more, the rich have got to quit looking down on the poor, and the poor have got to stop hating the rich. Men and women everywhere awt to regard each other like brothers and sisters, no matter what the color of their skin is, or their religion, or their degree of education, and I'd like to see a great big petition to that effect, with millions of names on it, that's what I'd like to see, he said.

It would be quite a site, pop said, and just then some kid riding his bysickel on the sidewalk rang his bell rite behind Admiral Tricker and made him jump, and Admiral Tricker said, One thing I cant stand is these modern kids, they awt to be wiped off the face of the earth, every last one of them.

Why not tack a postscript to that effect onto your petition, Admiral? pop said.

Holloway St. Church Reports Successful Year

Last Friday evening, Holloway Street United Church held its annual congregational meeting in the school rooms. Considering the inclement weather a splendid representation of the members gathered for this yearly get together and the transaction of the business made necessary by the completion of one year's work and the beginning of another.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing various games arranged and directed by a special committee of which Mr. L. Hopkins was the convener. This created a jovial atmosphere and caused the people to intermingle thus becoming better acquainted with one another.

Following an hour of these pleasantries a short devotional period was conducted by the Rev. C. A. Perkins. At this point the pastor, acting as chairman, asked that copies of the annual report be distributed. Mr. Perkins then reviewed the year's work pointing out the fact that the report not only revealed the story of the labors of each organization but also indicated a year of continued progress. "This year," he said, "will be remembered because of the passing of the 75th mile post. Who can measure the spiritual achievements of seventy-five years of service for the Master and His Kingdom? As a special anniversary with special services throughout the week it afforded an opportunity of renewing old acquaintances; a time of Christian fellowship; a time of reconsecration and re-dedication to the greatest task committed to mankind. For these blessings we give thanks unto Almighty God, and face the future with continued confidence believing that God's presence and power will go with us as we find Him our wisdom, strength and security for time and eternity."

Membership of 601

When the year 1947 had run its course, there was a membership of 601. During the year 142 were received into Christian fellowship —69 by profession of faith and 73 by certificates. The present membership is 701. The congregation then stood in memory of six members removed by death, and the minister led in prayer.

Throughout the year $12,900 was raised for all purposes. Of this amount $1,277 was contributed to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. This is $105 more than last year. $535 was sent to the Presbyterial by the W.M.S and kindred organizations; while $1,985.11 was realized this year through the efforts of the Woman's Association.

The Church School, of which Mr. A. C. Campbell is the superintendent has enjoyed a successful year. There are 23 teachers and officers giving leadership and assistance in this important department of the church's life. The school contributed $176.15 toward the M. & M. Fund and $10 toward the O.R.E.C. The total income amounted to $513.85.

The Y.P.U., under the direction of Miss Rosslyn Robertson, is doing a good job. The roll contains the names of 50 individuals. During the year the Y.P.U. contributed $25 to the "Quinmolac" Camp Fund and $120 to Missions.

The Energetic Club with Mr. L. Buck as president closed the year with a balance of $168.03. During the year the club had an average attendance of 41; contributed $100 towards parsonage indebtedness and set aside $65 for church calendars.

Fellowship Club Active

The Fellowship Club is one of the latest organizations with a membership of 32. During the year this club gave the W. A. a donation of $20. Besides sewing and knitting for the Red Cross they organized a Blue Cross Hospitalization Unit, and contributed White Gifts to the Victor Home. This year Mrs. O. Wagar is the president, Mrs. J. McFarlane the secretary and Mrs. E. Fitzgibbon the treasurer.

The Other Girl Club under the leadership of Mrs. L. Hopkins with Miss D. Craighead as the president, held 10 meetings during the year. This group of girls not only contributed $20 in cash to the Victor Home but sent a layette and White Gifts valued at $55.56.

The C.G.I.T. is an active organization under the leadership of Mrs. J. Doig and Mrs. J. W. Cavers with Alayne Ferguson as secretary. It has a membership of 32 with an average attendance of 27. During the year they contributed $12 to the Girls' Work Board, sponsored a church service, sent a bale of clothing for Overseas Relief.

No organization contributes more to the welfare of the church services than that which leads in the service of song, and no organization is more appreciated by the minister and the congregation. This year the choir under the leadership of Mr. R. Unwin and Mr. Wm .Connor as organist is planning greater things. This organization is using its bank balance of $116 to purchase new gowns.

Musical Program

Mr. R. Unwin, the new choir choir leader, was introduced by the chairman and took charge of the musical part of the evening's program. This consisted of a trio by Misses S. Hitchon, R. Robertson and B. Robertson; a baritone solo by Mr. Ross Purchase; a piano solo by R. Unwin; a piano duet by Messrs. Unwin and Connor; and a humorous number given by the members of the choir using kitchen utensils as musical instruments.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by Jas. Scriven and resulted in the election of the following as members of the Session elected for three years, A. C. Campbell, C. I. Frederick, C. Green, M. Burtt, E. Bush. Rev. H. Gill Steers was appointed as Honorary Elder; Mr. Chas. Heath and Mr. Arnold Mitchell for one year to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Mr. Geo. Woodley and Mr. Chas. L. Walters respectively. Members of the Stewards elected for three years, A. Lennox, C. Sinfield, F. Wilson, W. B. Vandervoort, H. L. Outingdyke.

Expressions of appreciation were tendered Mr. J. Livesey and his assistants for decorating the church on special occasions, and to Mr. G. W. Tucker for his faith- The pastor and his wife were called to the platform where Mr. F. Elgie, on behalf of the congregation, expressed appreciation for their efficient and faithful leadership.

A delicious lunch was then served by the members of the Woman's Association, and Mr. A. Lennox expressed the gathering's appreciation for the same.

Toronto Rotarians Taken On Tour of City After Luncheon With Local Club Members

Headed by President Harold Gulley, thirty-eight Toronto Rotarians were the guests of the Rotary Club of Belleville at the weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte yesterday. The visiting clubmen were entertained yesterday afternoon with a tour through the Northern Electric Company plant; a reception in the officers' mess of the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment and dinner at Golden Acres. They left for Toronto on the 7:30 train last night.

The guests were formally welcomed by Rotarian "Pink" Pinkston while additional welcome was voiced on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce by newly-elected President Arthur Bateman and President A. B. Brewer Hunt of the Belleville Ad and Sales Club. A telegram of regret at his inability to be present was received from District Governor Ed. Simmons of Trenton. Highlight of the musical part of the luncheon was a solo "Rule Britania" sung by Rotarian John Deacon with Leo Riggs at the piano.

Informative Address

Rotarian Hilton Smith of the Toronto Rotary Club, deputy librarian of the Toronto Public Schools, was the guest speaker and gave a highly informative address on "Life and Literature."

Rotarian Smith stressed the value of individuality in children in selecting their own type of literature. "Let them select their own books, but make sure they get the best of whatever is their selection," he warned.

He recalled a night in London, England, when Nazi bombers roared over the city for the "54th night in a row" and left a blazing metropolis behind them. Four million books were destroyed in the holocaust of flame; books that went out of print that night, many of which have never been replaced.

Following a Process

"They were following a process laid down by tyrants throughout the ages," Rotarian Smith said. "Caesar started the burning of books. Napoleon, Mussolini and Hitlyer did it. Stalin is doing it. What clearer evidence of the power of books is necessary? Four of the greatest books ever written," he went on, "are the Bible, Uncle Tom's Cabin, Marx's Capitul and Hitler's Mein Kampf albeit the last was a work of tyranny."

Thomas De Quincy suggested, the speaker pointed out, that books be divided into two classes, knowledge and power. Books of knowledge such as text books, manuals, etc., throw light on the past and illuminate the present. But, he warned, it is dangerous to become too pre-occupied with one kind of book.

Canadian novels, he asserted, were not being given the proper praise or understanding of Canadians. "One good Canadian novel can give the outside world a better idea of what Canada and Canadians are doing than can 10,000 tons of aluminum ,or a million bushels of wheat."

A Wrong Attitude

"Canadians, generally, have the idea that books only become famous long after the author is dead. This is definitely the wrong attitude to take."

The speaker cited cases of Canadian novelists and play wrighters who have written many works of art. He urged his listeners to "buy or borrow" Canadian books, "a splendid work being done by Canadians speaking with the strong voice of Canada."

Referring to children's books, Rotarian Smith urged that by no means should a child be forced to read books he does not want. Parents should not tamper with the individual reading of their children. Tastes differ. There is no absolute standard as to what constitutes a good book. Forcing books on children is a mild form of totalitarianism.

"Parents should feel and foster the highest available level of current interest. They should give their children the best they want in their individual taste of literature," the speaker said. "Individualism in reading relieves mass emotions."

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Giles McKague with Belleville appreciation voiced by Rotarian Harold Mott. President "Mack" Macklem was in the chair.

Stable Groom Pleads Innocent To Murder Count

Kenneth Parrington, former jockey, said Monday he heard a noise that sounded "like a stick hitting a fence" and saw Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, bending over the fallen form of George (Cowboy) Parker on a parking lot near Woodbine racetrack.

St. Lawrence, racing stable groom, pleaded innocent Monday to the murder charge. He stands accused of bludgeoning Parker with a "twitch," a thonged wooden object similar to a baseball bat, used to lead unruly horses.

Parker died in hospital several hours after he was found, severely beaten, lying near a fence on the racetrack property. Police said that about $200 he had won on the races at another track was missing.

Parrington said he recognized St. Lawrence and saw him run across the street. Later he saw St. Lawrence in a hotel near the track, he said.

Under cross-examination, Parrington denied saying that he would "get even" with St. Lawrence because he thought the latter had taken his place as groom.

Another track worker. Peter Hlynsky, 28, said that St. Lawrence gave him $203 for safekeeping the night of Oct. 9, the night Parker was found slain.

The trial is continuing.

Find Wreckage Of Superfortress But No Survivors

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, Feb. 1 — (AP) — A Spanish naval commander announced today the discovery of wreckage believed to be part of an American B-29 Superfortress missing since Thursday. He said no survivors had yet been found.

The commander said he received a radio message from a Belgian ship reporting that the wreckage was located just before midnight Monday night at a point half way between the Canaries and Gibraltar.

The Belgian message said a number of life preservers and some wreckage were picked up but no signs of either survivors or victims had been sighted.

The Superfort had been on a training flight from Dakar, French West Africa, to the United States training base at Marham, England. It carried 15 men.

Truman Road Re-Named New China Road

Peiping, Feb. 1—(AP)—Travellers from Tientsin said today Truman Road in that communist - captured city has been renamed New China Road.

Favor Wheat Bd. Handling Also Coarse Grains

Regina, Feb. 1 — (CP) — The Canadian Wheat Board, sole purchaser of and marketing agent for Canadian wheat may — depending upon the outcome of an interview with Trade Minister Howe — expand its functions.

Delegates who have been attending a conference here on the marketing of coarse grains would like to see the board become the selling agent for them as well as for wheat growers.

But in a statement issued last night they stipulated the board "would be required to act as a producers' agency"—selling grain for the best available price whether at home or abroad.

Representatives of western farm organizations and prairie provincial governments will interview Trade Minister Howe "as soon as possible" to explore the possibilities of assigning the marketing of coarse grains to the Wheat Board.

Opposes Proposed Disposal of Navy, 'Prize Money'

Victoria, Feb. 1 — (CP)—Cmdr. C. T. Beard, who commanded the auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert when it captured the German motorship Weser in 1940, strongly objected today to the government's proposed plan to dispose of world war navy "prize money."

The navy magazine "Crow's Nest" Monday said that nearly two-thirds of $3,000,000 won by Canadian navy men would be allocated by the government to the navy's benevolent fund and the other $1,000,000 to the R. C. A. F. benevolent fund.

In his statement the coalition member of the provincial legislature said:

"... I question the legality of the proposed legislation which would permit Canadian naval authorities to allocate the Admiralty's gift of naval prize money to any fund or source without first obtaining the sanction of the rightful recipients, such as those who served at sea and the widows of officers and men killed at sea."

Subs Won't Have Any Walkover In Any Future War

Brockville, Feb. 1 — (CP) — In spite of greater speed and improved equipment and weapons, the submarine is not likely to have a walkover in a future war by any means, Commander J. S. Dalison, Royal Navy liaison officer on the staff of the British High Commissioner to Canada, told a service club here.

"In future," he said, "it will be far more unhealthy to be a submarine man than it was in the last war."

George H. Luery, Stirling Clerk For 37 Years, Retires, Presented With Watch From Community

George H. Leury, for 37 years clerk of the Village of Stirling, was paid tribute for his faithful service at a banquet held in his honor at the Stirling Community Hall Monday evening. Upwards of 75 persons were present to witness the presentation of a gold watch to the retiring clerk, symbolic of the time spent in the service of the community.

Chairman for the occasion was Harold Wells, Reeve of Stirling, who introduced and thanked each speaker in turn during the evening. A warm welcome was extended to the gathering after which an enjoyable dinner was served by ladies of the Stirling Women's Institute.

Following the dinner, George Crown, assisted by Fred Houston at the piano, led in a rousing singsong. Fred Addset of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, was introduced by the chairman and gave a graphic account of Stirling's position as a Hydro municipality receiving hydro power at cost. An outline was given of the administration of the Commission with regards to the village, and the system of rates whereby the greater power usage meant a lower hydro rate was explained. A glimpse into the future of electricity was given by the speaker in a description of the "Electronic Age" that is about to take place in the "Electric Machinery Age" in which we live at present.

"Stirling has every reason to feel proud of its hydro system, as it is in good shape financially and progressing favorably," he concluded.

Tribute Paid Mr. Luery

Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. Hastings West, in paying tribute to the guest of honor, spoke briefly noting that "We are here to do honor to a man who has served his community for 37 years with many councils and a good deal of credit is due for his efforts in local improvements in Stirling. He has always been a good friend and counsellor to the younger councilmen."

The presentation of the gold time-piece was made by E.G. Bailey, on behalf of the municipal council, the Board of Education, Power Commission, and the businessmen of the village.

In expressing his appreciation, Mr. Luery noted himself as probably the oldest man at the meeting; in years, but not in spirit. He termed the three best things in life as: a good wife, a good family, and good friends, and said that he was sure that he had all three. In recalling his years of office he summed it up in the statement, "I have tried in my duties as a citizen and an official to meet everyone in a kind way and help wherever I could."

The progress of the village since 1899 when he first settled there was noted by the speaker. Having served under ten Reeves in his time, Mr. Luery said that he had always found "one of the finest spirits of friendship, kindness and co-operation to be found anywhere." He urged the men of the community to take a more active part in communal affairs, and laid stress on the importance of acquainting the youth of today with civic administration so that they could more capably fill their places in the future.

Mr. Luery's remarks were sprinkled with witty anecdotes of philosophy, and in concluding he expressed his thanks to those who had attended to honor him on his resignation.

Good Clerk Great Asset

Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., Hastings East, was in attendance to pay tribute to the guest of honor as one who knows and appreciates the efforts of the council clerk. Wilfred Spencer, Reeve of Rawdon Township, said, "A record of 37 years in municipal service is much to be commended. A clerk can be a great asset and aid to a council."

Ben Bleecker, Reeve of Sidney Township, brought greetings from that area, noting Mr. Luery's long term of office as denoting an indication of faithful and good service.

Best wishes for happiness and health for many years to come were expressed to the honored guest by the chairman, who also expressed his appreciation to those whose efforts had contributed to the success of the memorable event in the history of Stirling village.

ROBBERS GET $120,000

Colombo, Ceylon, Feb. 1—(AP) —A gang of armed robbers disguised as policemen held up clerks of the Ceylon Turf Club Monday and made away with nearly 400,000 rupees ($120,000). They stopped the clerks at gunpoint between the race course and a bank, pushed them out of their car and took a trunk carrying the money.

Reimann, German Red Leader, Given 3-Months Term

Dusseldorf, Germany, Feb. 1 — (AP) — Max Reimann, West Germany's communist leader, today was sentenced to three months in jail for encouraging discrimination against Germans who aided allied military government.

Reimann was convicted [illegible] British military gov[illegible] court in a trial harried by communist demonstrations.

The prosecution argued that Reimann's attack was a clear violation of a 1945 military government statute forbidding "encouragement of discrimination against Germans who aid and assist the military government."

Heavy police guards were summoned again today to cordon of the courthouse area where communist demonstrators broke thru Monday to sing the "Internationale" outside the window of the courtroom.

Says Men Attack Him When He Said He Was Penniless

Brantford, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Peter McGibbon of Little Lake near Teeterville told police today from his sick bed at the Brantford General Hospital that he was attacked by two men late Monday night when he told them he was penniless.

He said the attack took place near the Kerby Hotel where he was "held up" in a laneway. He said he had three beers and was about to go for a sandwich at nearby lunchroom.

He suffered a bruised and cu forehead in the pummelling [illegible] received from the pair.

Charge Russians Plo Putsch to Upset Tito

Berlin, Feb. 1 — (AP)— The American military government German newspaper here claimed today that the Russians are plotting a putsch to unseat Yugoslavia's Premier Tito before Ma 15. The newspaper, Neue Seitung said its information came from "Balkan experts" in Berlin.

Find More Than 100 Stolen Articles in Home

Preston, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Police hit the jackpot when they picked up a 15-year-old boy on suspicion of theft here yesterday. They found more than 100 stolen articles in the boy's home. They included electrically driven tools, lawn mowers and hockey sticks. He pleaded guilty and was given an indefinite term at Bowmanville Training School.

Cannot See Salt Sprayed on Highways

Toronto, Feb. 1 — (CP) — Highways department officials think they may have to color salt before spraying the roads with it. The department has been flooded with calls from motorists complaining that the roads have not been treated with salt — because they can't see it.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

She closed her eyes and remembered how his expression had changed, melting from cool impersonality to something warm that, even now, sent a thrill coursing through her veins.

"Norman." She said his name. For a little while he had stepped from the pages of a book written only in her imagination, and then she had closed the book and she did not know how to open it again.

But he was coming again that night. He had said so. But he hadn't said it because he wanted to. He said he would come as a paid escort. "At seven, Miss Bates."

Rosalie swung her legs to the floor angrily. She could be as high-handed as he.

She came dripping from her bath and looked at her crushed tulle frocks. She'd never wear it again. She'd never see him again, she thought. She'd buy her Bermuda wardrobe and her ticket. If there was one man in the world as attractive as Norman Ellis Carteret, there must be many more.

There were two things that she had learned the day before — where to buy the right clothes, and the telephone number of the Empire Escort Service.

She dialed the number rapidly and said, "This is Miss Bates. Will you please tell Mr. Carteret that Miss Bates wishes to cancel her appointment for this evening."

Her pride was saver, but her feeling of excitement was gone. The gay throngs on Fifth avenue no longer made her feel part of them. The windows did not beckon, and the check-book in her purse was no longer a sesame to adventure.

There was a boat sailing for Bermuda two days later. She wanted the best accomodation, she said, and scarcely looked at her ticket. The suspicion that Bermuda would not provide an equal to Norman dulled her pleasure in what she had hoped would be her most exciting moment.

With the ticket in her purse, she went on grimly to a shop that advertised cruise clothes. In the hands of a professional director, Rosalie bought madly. A bright blue suit for the boat. Checkered tweeds, and pastel wools. Half a dozen little, soft sweaters with wool sox to match. Dazzling white sports things and a beautifully tailored rose silk. Hats, small and simple, and eight pairs of shoes. A slinky white satin evening gown, and four smart evening frocks. Pocket books and gloves and luggage beyond compare.

Then there was nothing for her to do but eat her supper and go back to the now unbearably large rooms that were hers. She thought of a movie, but did not dare to venture across the city alone at night. She bought a box of chocolates and a book and went back to her hotel.

The clerk gave her her key and a slip of paper in an envelope. Rosalie tore the envoletp
Rosalie tore the envelope open. It enclosed a message saying that Mr. Carteret had telephoned. The time, she noted, was 10 a. m. She hadn't called until after 10. She tore the message into little pieces and dropped them into an ashtray.

The book was not engaging, and the chocolates which were to make her supper tasted bitter in her mouth. Perhaps, because there were tears of lonesomeness and disappointment in her throat.

"Hello," she said tonelessly.

"Hello, Rosalie. Are you ready?"

His voice did most peculiar things to her; it strangled hers in her throat; it set her hand to trembling; it made her want to say, "Norman, how did you know I wanted so much for you to care?" She didn't say it. She said very coolly, in clipped accents his Boston sisters might have used:

"Didn't you get my call? I cancelled our appointment."

She waited an interminable moment, then she heard him laugh. "Of course I did. That's why I'm here. I rang you up early this morning to ask you to get another escort. But now that I know you have had a change of mind, I've come to take you to my favorite place."

"Oh!" That was all she could manage.

"Don't dress," he said. "Hurry. I'll be waiting for you in the same place. East entrance."

Don't dress. Thank heaven she had the black sheer she'd bought the day before. And the black picture hat. And no gloves. What would Norman's sisters say to that? Nothing that any one could say could dim the radiance that burst on Rosalie's world with the sound of his voice. Flying from shower to dressing - table, she thanked her guardian angel she hadn't gone out to dinner alone.

She was to do it over and over again during the next three hours. Luigi's was a tiny restaurant on the East Side. It boasted a garden, if you'd call the unlovely open square back of the kitchen, a garden. It was outdoors and there was a trellis over which a few dusty vines trailed dispiritedly. There was mended cloths on the wobbly tables, and a radio droned somewhere within.

Rosalie ate antipasto and hot soup. She ate yards of spaghetti drenched with an inferior sauce. She ate dark browned meat and limp vegetables and mixed a salad for Norman. And declared it the best meal she had ever tasted. And so it was. For there was Norman, looking very pleased with himself, and with her. The garden, Rosalie pronounced, but only to herself, the nearest to Eden she had ever known.

"It's my evening, Rosalie, and we have to do things my way. Do you mind slumming?" He didn't ask her until they'd finished their bitter, black coffee.

"The one thing I'd wanted to do tonight was slum."

"Ah, but my way — it's different. You may have your choice of ways. Bus? Ferry? Or a very hard seat down on a dock by the East River?"

"The river, please."

The seat was very hard, but Rosalie couldn't have told you that. She could have told you only how like a ribbon of black silk the river was. She would have told you about the lace against the sky that was the bridge. She could have told you about the barges with red and green lights that drifted past on the swift current, and the lighted skyscrapers back of them, placed there, she felt, as a drop only for herself and Norman.

She could have told you every word he said. Her voice was only a murmur, repeatedly asking for more.

She heard about schools that she felt she ought to have known of. And Norman's family. Did and the mater. And the clubs to which Norman "used to belong." And how he missed polo and "all that sort of thing." Oh she heard much, and nothing that didn't enchant her. She was a little disappointed that Norman didn't smoke a pipe, and hated to see him light his cigarettes with a lighter which he said "a girl" had given him. The "girl" was, Rosalie felt with dreadful pangs, a debutante whose family was as old as Norman's. She had undoubtedly gone to school with one of Norman's sisters and one day expected him to marry her. Rosalie hated her.

"Lovely here, isn't it?"

Rosalie said it was and wished that she might tell him she would not have found it loe lvy not have found it lovely without him.

"But it's selfish of me. I've been thinking about a lot of things today — and you."

He did. "I'm selfish, child. And I'm narrow - minded, too. Old-fashioned, perhaps." He smiled at her in the glow of his lighter. "You came here to have fun and I'm trying to spoil it, to keep you for myself. I want to apologize for a lot of things I did last night."

"Please don't, Norman. You did only what was right. I thought you were . . . fine. I'm glad to have a chance to tell you that. I was afraid I wasn't going to see you again. I'm the one who was selfish."

"Why did you think you were not going to see me again?"

"I'm going to Bermuda on Saturday."

He flung away his cigarette and snatched suddenly at her hands. "You can't, Rosalie! I've got to know you for a little while. You shall have all the parties and dancing and bright lights you want. But don't go away now. We will have a date every night."

Rosalie thought how bitter he had been when he said he had to earn something besides his Wall street "pittance." And of the seat in Wall street he wanted to buy.

"Very hesitantly she said, "Norman, if I don't go, and if we do have dates every night, will you . . . will you . . . please have it on the financial arrangement we . . . we had last night?"

PHOTOS ILLUMINATE HORRORS OF PRESENT-DAY SHANGHAI

Small Underground Fire at Noranda

Noranda, Que., Jan. 31 (CP) — Fire fighting crews today fought a small but stubborn underground blaze at Noranda Mines which started Sunday night and resulted in today's shift at the mine being sent home without starting work.

R. V. Porritt, mine manager, said the fire was in the timbers between the 15th and 17th levels but could not be considered serious.

It started about 10 p.m. Sunday.

Smoke from burning timbers circulated through the mine and fire crews are working with masks. No one was injured and Mr. Porritt said there was no danger to the mine.

St. Lawrence Project Urged To Halt Annual Wastage Of 12 Billion KWH of Power

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 2 (AP) — The New York State power authority today urged construction of the St. Lawrence power project to "halt the annual waste of over 12,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy."

Governor Thomas Dewey has called for creation of the $400,000,000 joint Ontario-New York development near Massena, but the federal administration in Washington has refused to approve it.

The authority, in its annual report to the governor and the legislature, said the project would be second in size only to Grand Coulee dam on the Columbia River in Washington Etate.

The report said New York's half of the projected 2,200,000-horsepower development in the International Rapids section of the river would produce an annual average of 6,300,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy.

There was an "urgent need for the low - cost hydro-electric energy potentially available at the New York-Ontario site...

"This need was emphasized during 1948 by recurring power shortages in the project area, by unprecedented growth in demand for power in New York and Ontario and by rising charges for fuel and transportation reflected in increased costs of fuel-generated power."

"While the curtailment of use of power was temporary and was attributed by utility companies, in part, to drought conditions in up-state New York, it reflected also continued growth in the demand for electric energy from more than 4,000,000 residential,

Firemen Hampered by Lack of Water Use Efforts to Save Other Buildings

St. Catharines, Feb. 2 — (CP)— Fanned by a 40-mile wind, flames roared through the Corbett basket factory near Jordan Station Tuesday night reducing the $100,000 factory to a heap of glowing embers and twisted machinery.

Hampered by a lack of water, firemen used their feeble supply to soak a nearby house and prevent further damage. Thousands of people gathered from the nearby communities of Beamsville and Jordan as the mounting flames could be seen clearly in St. Catharines, 10 miles away.

A house owned by Oscar Disher of Jordan was directly in the path of the flames less than 50 yards from the burning factory and was bombarded for two hours with a hail of basket-sized glowing embers. Streams of water were kept playing on the face of the building, and snow was thrown against the outbuildings in an effort to keep them cool.

No one was in the factory at the time of the fire, and when firemen arrived in response to a telephone call flames were already licking out through the roof next to the chimney. There was a furnace kept going all night at the factory.

US Can Head Off Economic Disaster, Follow Through With World Planning

—TRUMAN

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—President Truman said last night he believes the United States can head off economic disaster.

It must not only do that, he said, but must follow through with the job of "world planning."

"I think that before any disaster with which we may be faced comes about," said Truman, "we will be in a position to meet it."

He voiced his thoughts at a dinner of the National Planning Association in an extemporaneous talk that was alternately humorous and deadly serious.

Efforts to make government serve the people more efficiently go hand in hand with economic planning to avert the disaster of depression, he declared.

The President spoke of the dark days from 1929 through 1932, of earlier depressions, and said planners, in and out of government, are working to prevent a recurrence of disaster.

"But, when we talk about planning the things we want to do economically, we are charged with being Communists and fellow-travellers," he said. There was a distinction between a "planned economy" and a "controlled economy."

It is "absolutely essential" that the American economic structure remain "sound and prosperous", so it can meet its responsibilities the world over.

If the United States does not, it will be a question of "going back to the ninth century."

Praising former President Herbert Hoover's government reorganization proposals, he said they would reduce the number of boards and bureaus reporting to the President.

17-ROOM PUBLIC AND HIGH SCHOOL AT CHESLEY BURNS

$400,000 Estimated Loss, Small Insurance

Chesley, Feb. 2 — (CP)—Loss is estimated at $400,000 in the fire which gutted the 17-room combination public and high school in Chesley last night, leaving only blackened brick walls standing. Insurance carried amounted to only $150,000.

"We were licked from the start" declared Thomas Soper, chief of the 10-man volunteer fire brigade in this town 25 miles south of Owen Sound. Smoke was so heavy that firemen found it impossible to stay in the building to fight the blaze.

Several firemen and volunteer helpers were almost overcome by smoke, but managed to escape the building without assistance.

H. A. Doubt, member of the Board of Education and a past-chairman, first noticed the smoke issuing from the ventilator and from cracks in public school principal H. S. Sanderson's office during a meeting of the board. He turned in the alarm.

At almost the same time smoke was noticed by players and spectators in a Kincardine - Chesley high school boys basketball game in the gymnasium, located in the basement of a $65,000 addition erected 10 years ago.

Girl Convicted Of Armed Robbery

Hamilton, Feb. 2 — (CP) "You can't escape from the fact you all started out on a joint venture," said Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins today as he convicted 18-year-old Jeanine Loyer, of armed robbery. The girl along with her 19-year-old brother, Rudy, and their uncle, Roger St. Pierre, were charged with the toy pistol robbery last night of Edith Taylor. Total loot, Detective Sgt. Howard Moreau said, was $2.55.

The two youths admitted their part in the holdup but the girl entered a plea of not guilty and it wasn't until Miss Taylor testified against her that the girl was convicted. The trio was remanded one week for sentence.

Given 10-Month Term For Wounding Brother

Whitby, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP)—Earl Hopkins, 27-year-old Uxbridge, Ont., farmer, today was sentenced to 10 months on a charge of wounding his brother Marlin, 32, during a drinking bout at an Uxbridge farm house last Nov. 23.

An assize court jury reduced the charge against Hopkins from attempted murder and brought in a recommendation of leniency.

Evidence was that Earl quarrelled with his brother during a party and left the house. He returned later with a shotgun and fired a blast through a window.

Horseflesh Consumption Rises In Britain, Causing Concern To Food Ministry and M.P.'s

London, Feb. 2 — (AP)—Watch that veal steak you order next time you're in Britain. It may be foal.

Your "beef" may have a slightly sweet taste and seems a little coarse and stringy. That's probably horseflesh.

The mounting consumption of horseflesh in Britain is disturbing the ministry of food and many members of the House of Commons. But neither the members nor the ministry know how they are going to stop it until Britain has unrationed and plentiful meat again. That probably won't be until the mid-1950s.

Ministry regulations are that it may not be served in a restaurant which serves other meat, and restaurants must notify customers if horse meat is being served. But the ministry says there are many violations.

"Lack of other meat to serve demanding customers has forced many restaurants to serve horse meat, disregard the regulations and take a chance that ministry of food inspectors won't be around," a ministry spokesman said.

The controlled price for so-called edible cuts of horse meat ranges from one shilling (20 cents) a pound for the best ribs down to eight pence for lesser cuts. That's about 50 per cent under the control price of beef in Britain.

Storms Take 112 Lives in US, Citrus Crop Damage Heavy

Chicago, Neb. 2 (AP)—Wintry weather delivered a series of staggering, costly blows over the United States from Texas to California in January, but the full extent of the damage is not yet known.

A survey over the storm-battered section today unfolded to some extent the enormity of the economic loss from the worst weather in several years in many of the states.

The death toll in 15 states hit by blizzards, sub-zero temperatures and ice and sleet storms was at least 112.

The damage to citrus and vegetable crops runs into the millions of dollars—$30,000,000 in California alone.

The livestock loss still is undetermined and probably will not be known until spring. The job of saving the thousands of cattle and sheep which were snowbound on the western range lands by January blizzards still is not finished. Neither is the huge task of bringing relief to the thousands of marooned ranches and Indians. The emphasis in the western blizzard belt still is on relief operations, not on counting the losses.

Some communities in the western blizzard area were isolated for days—some for weeks. Roads choked with huge snow drifts halted all travel over hundreds of miles.

The federal government joined with the western blizzard states in the relief and rescue work. Bulldozers and snow plows opened the snow-locked highways and secondary roads. Planes carrying tons of hay flew over the isolated regions, dropping their cargo to the starving livestock. Planes also took food and medical supplies to snowbound communities and Indian reservations.

Red-Stained Softball Bat Found at Scene

Toronto, Feb. 2 — (CP) — The case of Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, on trial for murder in the racetrack death of George (Cowboy) Parker, is expected to go to an Assize court jury tomorrow.

The Crown yesterday introduced as an exhibit a red-stained softball bat which it claims St. Lawrence, also a track employee, used Oct. 9 to beat Parker, 37, a racing stable groom. When Parker was found unconscious near a racetrack parking lot, some $200 in race winnings was missing from his pocket, police said.

Crown counsel W. O. Gibson placed before the court an empty wallet and a liquor permit which he said belonged to Parker.

Detective Barry Lorimer said the empty wallet was found two days after the slaying. The wallet, the permit and the bat had been tossed over a fence into some weeds, he said.

One of the main points discussed yesterday, the second day of the trial, was an assertion by Kenneth Parrington, an ex-jockey, that on the night of the slaying he recognized St. Lawrence 200 feet away in indifferent lighting. He said he saw St. Lawrence standing over the fallen Parker.

Detective-Sergeant Arthur Keay, who searched the racetrack for clues for several days after the slaying, said that, at 200 feet he wasn't sure whether a certain sign said "no smoking or no gambling."

White Criticizes Rodney Young For Statement

Ottawa, Feb. 2 — (CP) — G. S. White (PC - Hastings-Peterborough), Tuesday night in the Commons criticized Rodney Young (CCF-Vancouver Centre) for describing members of parliament as a "bunch of crooks."

Mr. White said there was a similarity between the "slanderous" statement and the tactics used by the Communists to discredit democratic institutions and to undermine confidence in the representatives of the people.

(Mr. Young made the statement in a speech in Vancouver during the off-session period. James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North) unsuccessfully attempted last week to have Mr. Young withdraw the statement in the Commons. When the C.C.F. member declined to make the withdrawal Mr. Sinclair said he would bring the matter before the Commons committee on elections and privileges and attempted to have Mr. Young unseated.)

Mr. White said he hoped Mr. Sinclair will persist in getting Mr. Young before the committee.

Report Red-Inspired Soldiers Mutiny

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 2 (AP) — Korean army headquarters today reported 38 Communist-inspired soldiers mutinied and killed two sentries Sunday night at Pohang, 165 miles southeast of Seoul. The rebels were reported surrounded by 400 loyal troops 10 miles south of Pohang.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP) — Synopsis: Cold Polar air now covers Ontario, but the modifying effect of the Great Lakes will prevent temperatures from dropping appreciably in the lower lakes district. Maximum temperatures today will range from 15 to 20 degrees in southern sections to near zero in northern sections. Occassional snowflurries.. will extend southeast to the shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario. Somewhat milder temperatures and clear skies are expected for Thursday.

QUESTION OF WAR CROPS UP OFTEN DURING DEBATE

Drew's Motion Ruled Out of Order by House

Ottawa, Feb. 2 — (CP) — The ominous, anxious question of war fell like a scarlet thread across the fabric of an otherwise untroubled throne speech debate in the Commons yesterday.

It appeared periodically, but persistently, through the patchwork of debate as members on both sides of the chamber aired grievances of their constituents and disclosed a consciousness of the troubled situation abroad.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, brought it to the fore in the very opening minutes of the sitting when he sought unsuccessfully to open an emergency debate on the possibilities of war with Russia, possibilities which he said had been indicated by a government member.

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled his motion out of order on the ground the question could be discussed in the debate now in progress. Mr. Drew contested the speaker's decision and, in the ensuing division, Dr. Fauteux was upheld by a vote of 133 to 55.

Mr. Drew said Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent, had been quoted in the Toronto Star as saying in a speech at Brantford, 10 days ago that war with Russia might come in three months. If this was true, the chamber should be given all the facts in the government's possession.

Mr. Harris later told the House he had stressed the fact that the signing of the Atlantic Security Pact, which may come in three months, would be "the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world."

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver South) pointed to the Pacific with a warning that it may be "more dangerous" to Canada than the Atlantic in the years ahead. He asked the government to enunciate a Pacific policy.

Lower Age Limit For Navy, Reserve To Seventeen Years

Ottawa, Feb. 2 — (CP) — The navy announced today that the lower age limit for entry into the Royal Canadian Navy and its reserve has been reduced from 17½ to 17 years.

Recruits now will be accepted between the ages of 17 and 30, the maximum age.

No reason was given immediately for the change.

Present strength of the R. C. N. is 7,800 and the reserve 4.100.

British Liberals Court Women's Vote With Promises of Equal Citizenship

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 2 (CP)— The Conservative party is drawing up a "women's charter." The Labor party invites women to work for its re-election. But the Liberal party is more chivalrous than either of them.

Instead of formal charters and appeals for help, the Liberals announce that this resolution will be discussed at their March assembly:

"The Liberal party, believing in the importance of human beings as individuals, whatever their sex, race or religion, will take whatever action is necessary to give women full opportunities of citizenship, both at home and abroad.

"Emancipation of women is incomplete until partnership of men and women, in every respect of private and public affairs is recognized.

"In particular, their work for the nation as home-makers is of vital importance and steps must be taken to relieve the physical strain brought about by present conditions."

Spokesman for the Conservatives and Labor parties, which together hold almost all the seats in the 640-seat House of Commons, insist the Liberals have no prospect of forming the government after the next election. They not that the Liberals now have only 11 seats.

But Liberal organizers are unabashed. They say their party will have at least 300 candidates in the field. They read with satisfaction the results of public opinion polls which report they are rising in popularity.

The Liberal resolution on women will irritate the Labor party. Before the last election, in 1945, Labor posed as the women's champion. It passed resolutions favoring equal pay for equal work.

Since Labor took office, its women supporters have reminded it of this pledge and suggested—with varying degrees of anger—that it should give the lead by granting equal pay for women civil servants.

Blushing cabinet ministers have replied that they would like to see women given the same pay as men; but the National Exchequer can't carry the load.

Russian Leader Suggests Meeting Places In Europe

Says Health Won't Permit Visit to United States

Washington, Feb. 2 — (AP) — The White House said today that President Truman has not received an invitation from Prime Minister Stalin for a meeting to discuss United States-Russian differences. The President's position against leaving the United States for such a discussion is unchanged, it was added.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, asked about a published report that the Soviet leader had suggested a meeting in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia, told a press conference that Truman has not received any communication from Stalin on this subject.

Paris (Reuters) — Prime Minister Stalin today invited President Truman to meet him either in Moscow, Stalingrad, Odessa or Yalta —"wherever the president chooses." The invitation was made in a telegram sent to the International News Service Paris office and reproduced in a special edition of the evening newspaper, France Soir.

Stalin's telegram said the meeting could be alternatively arranged in Poland or Czechoslovakia if there were any objections to a meeting in Russia.

The message, marked "telegram, official urgent," was addressed to Kingsbury Smith, European director of the News Agency. It apparently was in reply to a telegram sent by Smith to the Kremlin yesterday.

Stalin said he had for a long time wanted to go to Washington, but he was medically advised against a long journey by sea or air.

Smith was the journalist who put the four questions to Stalin, answers to which were broadcast by the Moscow Radio Sunday.

He asked whether Stalin would be preferred to confer with Truman at a mutally suitable place to discuss the possibility of concluding a pact with the United States asserting that they "have no intention of resorting to war against one another."

No Objection to Meeting

Stalin replied: "I have already stated before that there is no objection to a meeting."

A White House spokesman said Monday that Truman was willing to see Stalin provided the meeting was held in Washington.

France Soir, under the banner headline "Stalin Invites Truman" carried the text of Stalin's cable which it said had been delivered in duplicate in English.

Henry C. Cassidy, NBC commentator in Paris, said in a broadcast to the United States this morning there was "one curious note about the message from Stalin."

SKIPPER SAVES SEVEN AS SHIP PILES ASHORE

Carries Lifeline to Land and Crew Follows Him to Safety

Isaac's Harbor Light, N.S., Feb. 2 (CP)—In ocean-ringed Nova Scotia, where tales of heroism at sea are common, the story of Capt. Land Lace's rescue of seven men yesterday will go down with the best of them.

The 22-year-old Lunenburg, N.S., skipper plunged into the pounding surf from his shipwrecked Dragger to carry a lifeline ashore. Hand over hand, his seven crew members followed the line through an icy sea to safety.

His 29-ton ship, the Marie Brenda out of Lunenburg, dragged her anchors in a howling gale early Tuesday and piled aground on a ledge near this spit of land on Nova Scotia's north shore.

Gale-driven snow whipped across the freezing sea. Batering seas ground the wooden hull of the tiny Dragger against jagged rocks, punching holes in the bottom. The ship began to break up under the crew's feet.

Soaked and numbed by the wind and the seas that piled over their craft, the crew clung to the wreck for nearly eight hours. Some of them lashed themselves to the mast to prevent being washed overboard.

No Help in Sight

Then Capt. Lace, the son of a Lunenburg sea captain, tied the line to his waist and dived overboard. After a herculean battle with the sea, he reached shore.

He tied the line to a tree as the Marie Brenda threatened to go under after the terrific punishment she had absorbed.

In hospital at the nearby university town of Antigonish were Gordon Acker, the cook, and Fry. They were suffering from frostbite. Acker,, weak from exhaustion, almost collapsed as he reached the ledge. It was Fry who reached down and yanked him out of the water.

BREAD TRUCK DRIVER INJURED IN CRASH

Driver for Weston's Bread, William McKie of Trenton, suffered chest injuries and injury to his knee early this morning when his truck and a Smith Transport truck were in collision on the Belleville-Trenton highway about two miles west of the city. McKie was given emergency treatment at the Belleville General Hospital and was permitted to go home.

Both vehicles were reported to have been proceeding in the same direction when the Smith Transport truck collided into the rear of the bread truck forcing it to the side of the highway where it struck a pole. The bread truck was badly damaged as result of the accident, but the transport was able to proceed on its scheduled run.

SECOND PAIR OVERSHOES TAKEN FROM STOOP

To all general appearances there is no apparent shortage of men's overshoes in the city, but a resident on Queen Street has a slightly different story to tell.

Some days ago the above man missed a pair of overshoes from the back door of his home. So he bought himself a new pair and last night the second pair of overshoes disappeared from the same back door.

The matter was reported to police and today the officers of the law are scratching their heads in an effort to determine just who would require two pairs of overshoes.

ISS OLIVE BUSH PENS REST HOME

Miss Olive Bush, Reg. N., on Tuesday opened the Quinte Rest Home, one mile east of the Trenton Air Station in the home formerly occupied by Mrs. Verna Waldron. This home has been completely renovated and redecorated and patients will be comfortably housed. Miss Bush is a daughter of George A. Bush, former reeve of Sidney township and is a graduate of the Belleville General Hospital. She has served in private nursing since her graduation.

TRENTON ROTARIAN STILL GOING STRONG

Rotary District Governor Ed. Simmons, of Trenton has had 37 years perfect attendance at club meetings. In all he has attended a Rotary meeting for 1,404 consecutive weeks. Rotarian Frank Weldon, Lindsay, has attended a meeting every week for the past 25 years.

MARGARINE BEING SOLD IN TRENTON

Margarine was placed on sale in Trenton for the first time this week, according to residents of that town. Oleo has been on sale in Peterborough for some time. Some dairies there report the sale of butter has dropped one half since the ban on margarine was lifted.

LARGE DECREASE IN CUSTOMS RETURNS

Customs returns at the Belleville office showed a marked decrease for the month of January as compared with the same period in 1948, according to officials.

Returns for the last month totalled $663,105.13 as compared with $996,030.38 for the same period last year. This is a decrease of $332,925.25.

AREA SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

The School Board for the North Thurlow area met recently at No. 26 Tyendinaga School for the purpose of electing a new slate of officers for the coming year. The Board of Trustees was represented by Messrs. K. Denyes, C. Ray and D. Foote.

Clifford Ray was re-appointed chairman of the board, with Don Foote being appointed to the position of vice-chairman. Secretary-treasurer for last year, Lee Ketcheson was re-appointed to the position.

SIX CRIMINALS HANGED

Munich, Feb. 2 (AP)—Six convicted war criminals, including two prisoners from concentration camps who turned on their fellow prisoners, were hanged today at Landsberg prison.

Three of the six were accused of killing surrendered American aviators who parachuted from damaged planes over Germany.

The executions increased to 103 the number of war criminals hanged at Landsberg since Oct. 15.

Noted Industrialist To Speak Here

Col. R. D. Harkness, D.S.O., ~~M.C., D.S.O.,~~ president of the Northern Electric Manufacturing Company who will address the Sales and Ad Club of Belleville on Friday evening at the dinner meeting in the Hotel Quinte. Subject of his address will be the ever-growing menace of the philosophy which is not confined behind an "iron curtain."

Col. Harkness was born in Osaka Japan, and was educated at Cornwall High School. A graduate of Queen's University in 1913, with a B.S.C. degree in Electrical Engineering, he joined the Northern Electric Company in 1911.

The D.S.O., M.C., 1914-15 Star, and special mention in dispatches were awarded him for overseas action in World War 1, following which he rejoined Northern Electric Company in 1920. His efforts while in the service of that company were conducive to his attaining his present position of president.

In his address he will point out the responsibility of business and business organizations to combat subversive agencies by working for the retention of individual freedom.

January More Moderate Than Same Month in '48

Weather summaries for this area for the month of January indicate a much more moderate winter month than was experienced in January of 1948.

The high temperature for this year was 49 degrees as compared to 37 degrees in '48, the low, three degrees below zero against 23 degrees below zero for the previous year. The mean temperature for this January was 24 degrees as compared to a much lower 11 degrees for '48. Two zero days as against 17 zero days for last year is indicative of the comparative mildness.

This January was a much drier one than the last, with rainfall recorded at 1.39 inches compared to .09 inches for the previous year. Snowfall totalled 16.6 inches, less than half the 39.3 inches of '48. The total precipitation for the two months amounted to 3.05 inches for this year and 4.02 for last.

Degree days for this January totalled 1,278, while the previous year's total amounted to 1,674.

rural, commercial and industrial customers in the state...

"It is evident that the economically wasteful power shortages that have occurred in New York State and the Province of Ontario during recent years could have been prevented by development of the power potential of the St. Lawrence River."

The report claimed that the power development also would save at least 2,677,000 tons of coal annually, or more than 25 per cent of the total amount of fuel used for the production of electric energy in the state during 1947.

The authority said that the revision of the project's engineering plans during the year had resulted in proposed modifications that would reduce the estimated cost of construction by about $40,000,000.

Enlarge Hearing Until Thursday In Theft Charge

Charged with the theft of $25 from a cash box in the County Registry Office, Gerald Ellis of Trenton, inmate of the Hastings county jail, appeared in magistrate's court Tuesday before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Ellis pleaded not guilty to the charge and after hearing several Crown witnesses, the case was enlarged until Thursday afternoon.

Police charge that Ellis had been detailed by the jail governor to act as janitor at the County Registry Office and on January 7th stole $25 from a cash box on a table in the vault of the county building.

First witness called by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan was Mr. R. J. Dewar, registrar, who stated that on January 7th he had found there was $25 missing from his cash box. Missing was one twenty-dollar bill and one five-dollar bill.

Went to Lunch

He said that he had gone to lunch at 12:30 leaving the office in charge of Miss Margaret Fairbairn until one o'clock when Jack Andrews, deputy registrar, had taken over. He said the accused, Ellis, had been attending the fire at the office and had had access to the vault where the cash box was kept.

Miss Fairbairn agreed with Mr. Dewar that Ellis had acted as janitor for the Registry Office and had been about the office on the day in question. He had been in the vault checking radiators during the noon hour. She said she had not been aware any money was missing until three days later.

"I then asked Ellis if he knew anything about the money in the cash box," stated Miss Fairbairn. Ellis replied "No, why, is there anything wrong?" she said.

Knew Ellis Was Inmate

Miss Fairbairn stated under re-examination by the Crown that she knew Ellis was an inmate of the county jail.

Jack Andrews, deputy registrar, stated that he had not seen the accused about the office when he returned to duty at one o'clock. However, he had seen him later in the afternoon. He said he had no knowledge of the amount of cash in the cash box, or when Mr. Dewar made bank deposits.

Shortly before quitting time the same day Mr. Dewar had informed him that the money was missing from the cash box. "Mr. Dewar asked me if anyone had been with Miss Fairbairn when I came back from lunch," stated the witness. "He told me that money was missing from the cash box."

On January 10th Mr. Andrews said he had counted some bills for Mr. Dewar. There had been $48 in bills, he recalled. Mr. Dewar had noted the amount and marked down the denominations of the bills.

Sister of the accused, Miss Alma L. Ellis of Trenton, said she had visited her brother at the county jail on January 10th when he had given her a $20 bill.

Witness Under Tension

Noticeably under tension as she gave testimony against her brother, Miss Ellis broke into tears and fainted as she was about to be cross-examined and had to be carried from the court room.

James H. MacDonald, Trenton, former inmate of the county jail, told the court that he had seen a $20 bill in the hands of the accused on the evening of January 7th. "He showed me the $20-bill and said his sister had sent it to him," the witness said.

Miss Ellis then returned to the court room to be cross-examined by Mr. Davis and again stated her brother had given her a $20 bill when she had visited him at the jail on January 8th.

Continuing, Miss Ellis said she had spent the money by purchasing clothes for herself. She had come to see her brother once after but jail authorities would not allow her to visit him.

Here the court was adjourned, the hearing being enlarged until Thursday afternoon.

CHEQUES MAILED

Lethbridge, Alta., Feb. 2 (CP) — Cheques for $486,000 were mailed Tuesday to holders of Canadian sugar factories' contracts as additional payments on the 1948 beet crop in southern Alberta.

Initial payment of $10 a ton was made recently to 1,400 beet growers on the 1948 crop. Yesterday's payments of $1.30 a ton cover 324,000 tons of beets.

Ontario Intelligencer Carrier Boys, Girls Guests of Paper At Banquet at Kiwanis Centre

More than 100 Ontario Intelligencer carrier boys and girls were entertained by the Ontario Intelligencer at dinner at the Kiwanis Centre, Tuesday evening when they were introduced to R. L. Cowan, newly-appointed Circulation Manager of the Publication, and were made acquainted with the details of a plan to reorganize the paper routes so that the boys will not have to go more than a few blocks to deliver papers to their customers. Some boys have been travelling as far as 4 miles a day to deliver papers but no boy will cover more than a mile under the new system. It will mean more leisure time for the boys and better service for the Ontario Intelligencer's subscribers. The plan will go into effect around the 14th of February.

After numerous questions had been asked and answered, the boys greeted the new plan with enthusiasm. F. H. Barton, Advertising Manager of the Ontario Intelligencer, acted as Chairman for the occasion.

It was explained that under the reorganized system the individual carrier boys will still own their own paper routes and will have the same number of customers as at present. At the present time half a dozen boys may cover one block in the city delivering one or two papers each to their individual customers in that block. Under the new system each boy will be given a district in this city as near his own home as possible and he will be the only Ontario Intelligencer carrier in that district.

The entertainment last night was supplied by Jack McLaughen and his Trent Valley Ramblers. This popular CBJQ orchestra was thoroughly enjoyed by the boys and greeted with loud applause. Several films were shown through the courtesy of the local Film Council. At the conclusion of the dinner group pictures were taken of the carrier boys and girls.

At least two contracting firms are interested in the purchase of building lots on the former county home property with the idea of constructing residences, it was learned at city corncil Monday evening.

EThe matter came up for discussion when Alderman Lattimer inquired when building lots on the former lounty home property would be placed for sale.

In reply Alderman Harold Armstrong as chairman of the housing committee stated that his committee had received a tentative offer for 108 of the 150 lots in the home property north of the highway. However, the property had not been properly surveyed and in any event all or any offers received would be submitted to council for consideration.

Wants Quick Action

Alderman Lattimer pointed out that i nhis opinion the lots should be disposed of as quickly as possible in order that the city get a return on the money expended in the purchase of the property and thereby save in interest charges. Already $8,000 has been spent in interest charges on money borrowed to pay for the property, it was stated.

Several of the aldermen were of the opinion that the lots in the county home property should first be offered to the general public, stating that they had received numerous inquiries from residents interested in the lots.

"Your committee has been trying to get the details arranged," pointed out Alderman Armstrong, "and will then submit the whole thin to council."

Favors Contractors

Mayor Storey pointed out that if a group of lots were sold to construction contractors, the houses would be built in the near future and the city would realize a return on its money. On the other hand, if the lots were sold to private individuals there would be no guarantee of the number of lots that would be sold and the city would be called upon to service the entire area, regardless of the number of lots sold.

Alderman Duffy felt selling a number of lots to contractors would be the quickest way of getting a number of houses built. There would still be plenty of lots left for sale to the public, he stated.

Under general business Alderman Armstrong brought in a recommendation that all lots on the county home property north of the highway be offered to the public. This again saw considerable discussion with Alderman Duffy terming the motion a "terrible mistake."

"It's just another way of muddling around and losing time," he contended. "As far as we know there may not be 40 persons in Belleville prepared to build their own homes on the property. I think the housing committee should carry on as it has been doing."

After some discussion Alderman Armstrong withdrew his recommendation with the understanding that the housing committee would secure additional information from contractors and submit it to council at a special meetin to be called Thursday evenin for consideration of estimates.

Want Bridge Widened

On recommendation of Alderman Allin, a committee of Alderman Allin, Lummiss and the city solicitor was appointed to interview Canadian National Railways officials with respect to the widening of the overhead bridge on North Front Street. The alderman pointed out that North Front Street would be the main artery into the city when the proposed four-lane highway was built north of the city. Already the overhead bridge was too narrow, he said.

Bear, Woodchuck Take Look, See Shadows on Snow at Noon, Scurry Back into Burrows

If Old Man Bruin, or little Johnny Woochuck poked winter-weary noses from their respective burrows today, they had no trouble in seeing their shadows. Today is Canolemas Day and according to legend, if Bruins and Grounahogs are able to see their shadow then a snow-blanketed countryside is due for six more weeks of winter

So if legend is true, then the city and district at least can prepare for a lengthy continuance of winter. According to reports, it was the same all over Canada where a brilliant sun shone down enabling the hibernating animals to sniff the snow and scurry back to months more of sleep.

Candlemas, the feast of the Purification of the Virgin Mary is celebrated on the second day of February, by Roman Catholics. The festival gets its name from the fact that on that day a procession of candles which will be required in divine service for the ensuing year.

The festival is also observed by the Church of England and the Armenian Church. It has been compared with the Roman Festival held in honor of Februa, mother of Mars, when candles were burned. The old custom was utilized by the church and turned into a Christian ceremony.

In Scotland, Candlemas Day is the first of the quarterly terms when interest, taxes, rent, etc., must be paid. The state of the weather at this time, according to old Scottish legend, is said to determine that of the year.

"If Candlemas is fair and clear,
There'll be two winters in the year"

So goes an old Scottish saying.

IN MEMORIAM

SPRY—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Ruth (Danford) Spry, who passed away Feb. 2nd., 1945.

When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If she only could come home.
God knew that she was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids,
And whispered, peace be thine.

SPRY—In loving memory of a dear niece Ruth (Danford) Spry, who passed away four years ago today, on Feb. 2nd., 1945.

A day of remembrance sadly recalled
Without farewell she left us all,
God knew that she was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids,
And whispered "peace be thine."
To be with us in the same old way,
Would be our dearest wish today.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by Aunt Lena and Uncle Walt. F2

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP) — Base metals moved downwards at an increased pace on the stock exchange today as selling pressure increased over recent easier sessions. Golds weathered early profit-taking, climbing steadily and industrials firmed for the first time in more than a week. A handful of western oils dipped into lower ground.

Volume for the first three hours was 653,000 shares, about 97,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period. Almost all base metal issues sagged in active trading.

Golds opened weakly, bucking profit-taking, but resumed their last two days of advances. Lake Shore, Kerr Addison and Hollinger rose fractionally in the seniors and gains ranged up to 10 cents in junior producers.

PRODUCE MARKET

Labor Party Error Causes Blushes Among Stalwarts

By JAMES McCOOK

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 2 (CP)—The Labor party, much as it likes the royal family, would be pleased if the Duke of Kent is not mentioned again for a while.

Blushes spread among party stalwarts Tuesday as the Conservatives made quick use of a Labor error which used as party propaganda a picture of the Duke taken in 1936 to advertise the fine babies growing in Britain under the Labor administration elected in 1945. The picture of the Duke who was born in 1935, was distributed in party leaflets.

The opposition jests began in parliament. When Harold MacMillan, former Conservative Minister, speaking in a House of Commons committee, commented on the propaganda slip, an unidentified Labor member shouted: "It is a very good baby."

Political observers generally agreed with the comment of the News Chronicle, Liberal newspaper, that "this unwitting borrowing of a baby is not regarded as a mortal blow for the government."

Dr. R.B. Chisholm Retires, Practised For 51 Years

The following article which appeared in a recent issue of the newspaper published at Griswold, Iowa, with regard to the retirement of Dr. R. B. Chisholm will be of interest to many of the older residents in this city and vicinity. Dr. Chisholm lived here when a young man and was a son of James Chisholm, an alderman of the city, and who was engaged in the insurance business.

Mrs. E. R. Doxsee was a sister of Dr. Chisholm. The family lived on Chatham Street.

The people of Griswold will be missing the familiar figure of Dr. R. B. Chisholm of this city arriving each morning to open his offices on Main Street.

Dr. Chisholm closed a long medical career of 51 years on Saturday when he closed his office just east of the American office. The last few days of his active career were spent in closing his records and disposing of his equipment and stock.

Dr. Chisholm, a native of Canada, graduated from medical school at Toronto, in 1897. He opened his first practice at Oxford Junction, Iowa, at which place he remained for two years. Dr. Chisholm then opened offices at LaPorte City, Iowa, practicing there seven years.

On February 7, 1907, Dr. Chisholm and his family came to Griswold to open his third and last practice, where he has spent the past 42 years ministering to the ill of the community. It is significant to note that Dr. Chisholm has occupied but two locations in the time he has practiced in Griswold. His first location was in rooms over what is known as the old Welch-Moore shoe company, while of recent years his office has been in a part of the remodeled buildings on the site of the old opera house in the east block of the business section.

During Dr. Chisholm's practice in this community, he has ministered to thousands of people suffering physical ills, brought countless children into the world, and rendered all possible medical assistance in relieving suffering of those who have been called beyond. Dr. Chisholm was a physician who often deprived himself of personal comforts and the pleasures to fulfill his trust; on countless occasions in the performance of his duty. As an early practitioner, he drove a horse and buggy, even walking when road conditions permitted no other mode of travel, to reach the bedside of anguish and give the medical assistance he possessed. Perhaps no better tribute could be given Dr. Chisholm than to acknowledge that he always was a ready and willing public servant, performing his duties to the level best of his ability without prejudice to rich or poor.

Dr. Chisholm, in his early eighties, felt that he could no longer carry on his work efficiently, and has laid aside his working tools of life. By reason of his advanced age, many of his faculties have been impaired, hence he plans complete retirement to enjoy life with his wife, family and large circle of dear friends.

Emphasis on Peace Offensive

"He tells Kingsbury Smith he is grateful to President Truman for his invitation, apparently referring to remarks the President has made in press and radio conferences," Cassidy said.

"Stalin may be laboring under the wrong impression that Kingsbury Smith is acting as an official intermediary, an impression that Smith here in Paris would be the first to deny.

"But the new message, despite the skepticism that greeted the previous one, puts more emphasis on the Soviet peace offensive. Reaction is not yet available but European diplomats can hardly be less skeptical of this than of the other."

He said during a speech: "To assure the peace of the world and see all conflicts settled is what I want most in the world. But to do this we need actions not words."

Reporters at the luncheon had invited him to give his opinion of the telegram in which Stalin today invited Truman to a conference in the Soviet Union, Poland or Czechoslovakia.

"Marshal Stalin says his doctors forbid a long journey," he said, "perhaps Mr. Truman will find that his own health does not permit a voyage to eastern Europe.

Conservation Steps Must Be Taken to Retain Elements In Soil, Farmers' Meeting Told

The Agricultural Committee of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce held another of its regular monthly meetings in the Kiwanis Centre, Tuesday evening with Mr. W. B. George, Kemptville Agricultural College, as the guest speaker. Subject of his address was "Soils and the Ability of Soils to Bear Crops".

Prior to the main meeting, a committee meeting was held to appoint new officials for this season. W. C. Miller was named chairman of the Agriculture Committee, and D. Stanton as vice-chairman. Three new members, J. Huffman, president of the Hastings County Jr. Farmers, D. Harry, secretary-treasurer of the Sidney junior farmers and R. Phillips, agriculture supervisor of Belleville Collegiate were named to the committee. C. Jewell was appointed by the committee as representative of the board of directors for the Agricultural Committee.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Miller, and opened his remarks with the noting of the wide variance of soil in different localities. Accordingly, the organic and mineral content of the soil required in the production of plant growth vary in different areas. The human race is dependent on the soil for existence, but the work of thousands of years in forming fertile earth can be undone in a short space of time by careless overworking of the land by farmers.

Land Soon Useless

As an instance of how the soil content is depleted, it was pointed out that ten cows will consume 168 pounds of phosphorus and 215 pounds of calcium in a year. The constant removing of these elements will soon render the land useless unless the necessary conservation steps are taken.

The importance of the ever-increasing world population was stressed when it is realized that the world is having difficulty in supplying food for its present population. Man and plants were put on a similar basis as both require food, air and water for existence. The human diet is affected by poor soil conditions through the medium of livestock feeding on undernourished growth, consequently deficient in chemical elements.

Requires Years of Effort

Corrective measures with soil require many years of effort and attention, and the need for immediate attention was pointed out to the farmers in attendance. The service offered by the Ontario Department of Agriculture was outlined. A soil analysis which would give the comparative relationships of elements in the soil can be obtained by forwarding a sample of the farm soil to any agriculture station.

The benefit of the department's experience and equipment will be given to the farmer free of charge. As a result of such an analysis, steps can be taken to put back into the earth the elements which are lacking for 100 per cent fertility. Following his address the speaker showed a technicolor film, "The Life of the Soil."

The appreciation of the meeting was expressed to the speaker by Mr. D. Harry. Two door prizes, donated by the Canadian Department Stores, were won by Mr. H. Watt, Foxboro, and Mr. J. Huffman, Corbyville. The date for the next meeting was announced as March 1, when the topic will be "Canning Crops."

Queen's Interest Speeds Bride's Return to Britain

London, Ont., Feb. 2 — (CP) — Queen Elizabeth's interest in the plight of a British war bride and her four children here speeded their return to the mother's former home in England.

To prevent any new "incident" in the wartime wedding that failed, city welfare officials delayed announcement until today that Mrs. Mary Klinkhammer had left Monday for the home of her mother, Mrs. Ada Lyons, Wiston, Eng. The family had been on relief here.

Worried over her daughter's problems, Mrs. Lyons wrote to the Queen for aid. Her Highness in turn wrote to Viscountess Alexander in Canada, who asked Brig. G. W. Robinson here to look into the case.

It resulted in the welfare branch and the family service bureau arranging with city council for funds to return the family to England.

Norway Praises Marshall Plan

Norway in its new budget this year plans the first surplus since the war. For the four previous years the Norwegian budget deficit has ranged from $130,000,000 in 1946-47 to $22,004,000 in 1948-49, due to heavy expenditures necessitated by the war and occupation. Balancing at $506,200,000 the proposed budget shows a balance figure some $21,000,000 lower than that for 1948-49 with total expenses $22,800,000 below and total income $1,440,000 above similar figures for the present budget period. Where the present budget shows a deficit of $22,400,000, the 1949-50 state finance program anticipates a surplus of $2,000,000.

The Norwegian Minister of Finance said a year ago "the country would begin to feel the weight of its load and to note the steepness of the way" but then the Marshall plan was but in the form of an idea. Now "today this plan is a reality and we can see what our position might have been had this program been side-tracked or defeated. We can all agree that our position today and in the future would have been much different from what it is now. There would have been less food and clothing; there would have been less feed, fertilizer, raw materials for industry, and machines and investment goods. Large segments of the population would have been faced with unemployment and continuing poverty."

Now there is an increase in spending proposed with increased costs of ten million dollars above the $42,000,000 spending of this past year.

The readiness of Norway is indicated in increased outlay for defence. "Civilian defence organization and training will claim a 500 per cent increase in funds over the present year. Norway is asking increases for all branches of the armed services, the greatest being ear-marked for the air forces with a total increase of $2,340,000," the minister said.

Norway, one of the key nations in the war against Hitlerism, is on the way of progress. She is alert to the needs of the time and she is moving true to her record of history.

Every student of English history has in schooldays had his or her attention drawn to the Book of Common Prayer. This year becomes a memorable one because the four hundredth anniversary of the Prayerbook will be fittingly observed by the Church of England. The present Book of Common Prayer is based on the version first drafted and published during the reign of King Edward Sixth, son of King Henry Eighth. Arrangement for celebrations to mark the anniversary is being supervised by the Dean of Westminster and a committee appointed by the Primate of England. These observances will be concerned not only with the original Prayer Book but also as it has been known, used and loved by generations of the English-speaking peoples throughout the world. The climax will be reached in May when special services will be held, both in Westminster Abbey and in Yorkminster.

In the early English Church there had been no rigid uniformity in the service books as printing was not in use and different reforms were made along different lines in various parts of England. There was however a distinct trend in the direction of uniformity and in time as certain cathedrals rose to greater prominence, they began to be copied in the districts all around them. The Prayer Book speaks of the uses of Salisbury, Hereford, Bangor, York and Lincoln; but the first of these was the more important and widespread than all the others. This was the basis of the revised Book of Common Prayer.

A Talking Traffic Light

GROUND HOG DAY

This is the day when the woodchuck scrambles
Out of his hole and the meadow rambles.
Should he see his shadow he is creeping,
Back he'll go to stay six weeks sleeping.

Wise little woodchuck, this I wonder:
Do you know more than we men blunder?
Is your shadow to you a truth expressing
Too deep for humans who trust to guessing?

Is it fact or fable? Does woodchuck knowledge
Excel that taught in our greatest college?
Does the woodchuck's shadow mean winter's staying?
Or, is that just a thought which men are saying?

Directors of the Belleville Arena Company decided at a meeting last night that the new rink building, when not in use, could be used as an overflow indoor market, thus relieving the congestion which now prevails in the outdoor market in the city hall building. There is very great need for additional space for market purposes and the use of the new rink building, when not in use, will solve the problem nicely and save the city from expending a large sum of money for a new market building.

Belleville Market Prices: Butter 45 cents per pound, eggs 34 cents per dozen, cream 30 cents per pint, honey 10 cents per cake and 45 cents to 50 cents per small pail, beets and turnips 30 cents per peck, carrots and parsnips 40 cents per peck, onions 80 cents per peck, cabbage 10 cents and 15 cents each, celery 15 cents per bunch, potatoes $1 per bag, beef cut up sold from 16 cents to 28 cents per pound according to cuts, 12 cents per pound for front quarters and 16 cents per pound for hind quarters; pork 22 cents to 25 cents per pound, apples $1.50 to $1.75 per bushel for best varieties.

THE LIGHT GONE OUT

Near a rocky shore upon which the surf thunders in fair weather and foul, stands a huge lighthouse built some generations ago. But it has been abandoned in recent years. Its light no longer warns ships to stay away from that dangerous coast. Those who were supposed to be adept in maritime matters issued a report saying that the lighthouse was no longer necessary. Yet there have been wrecks on that same shore often in recent years.

This is a parable—a very, very modern parable. People who are supposed to know the ins and outs of human behavior tell us that the idea of sin is not only out of date; it never was anything but a superstition, and this largely because people did not understand the principles of psychology. People used to sin, but they don't sin any more — they engage in unsocial behavior. Accordingly, what our forefathers called the means of grace — the Bible, prayer, the Sacrament, and worship — are no longer necessary. And of course, argue these new teachers, there is no need for a personal Saviour. There is nothing to be saved from. What one needs in this case is not a Savious but a psychiatrist.

But the more learned we become, the less do we appear able to solve our problems. It may be that we need to re-establish the lighthouse.

Indians Can Resume Peddling in Buffalo

Buffalo, Feb. 2 (AP)—Indian peddlers can resume their ancient business in downtown Buffalo, the city council ruled yesterday. It exempted Indians from an ordinance prohibiting peddling and hawking in the business district. Herbs and flowers are the Indians' chief sales.

Money on Education Creates Opportunity

St. Catharines, Feb. 2 (CP). — The "staggering sums" now being spent on education by Ontario are justified since they have the objective of creating equal opportunity for all, Education Minister Dana Porter said last night. He was here to officially open the new $375,000 extension to the Collegiate Institute.

Mackenzie's Column:

China's Future Most Unstable At Present Time

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

When we describe the outcome of a situation as being "on the knees of the gods" we mean that it is beyond human knowledge to control.

That accurately sums up the position in revolution-torn China. There is no man inside or outside that vast country who could possibly read the future with any degree of certainty at this moment of chaos.

The "shadow" government Chiang Kai-Shek left behind when he folded his tent and slipped away to the south is trying to negotiate peace with the conquering Mao. His attitude naturally is all take and no give.

In the far south, the four provinces surrounding the great city of Canton are being organized for a last-ditch stand against the communists. This final effort is in the hands of the new governor, Gen. Hsueh Yueh, who took over when Governor T. V. Soong fled to Hong Kong and asked for British protection.

Hsueh declared his four southern provinces will fight to a finish, irrespective of the outcome of the peace negotiations in the north. He predicts that Chiang will try to make a come-back — and many observers also have been looking for some development of the sort.

No Warm Welcome

However, Hsueh intimates that the generalissimo won't get a warm welcome in the south. One suspects that this might also be true in other parts of the country. Chiang's status is much in doubt.

All this, of course, seems to present a grave threat to the interests of the United States and other western powers in the Far East. By the same token, Russia's stock in the Orient has taken another jump. Moscow is challenging American dominance in China, Southern Korea and Japan.

Members Against Way Income Tax Collected

Ottawa, Feb. 2 — (CP) — G. S. White (PC - Hastings-Peterborough) Tuesday night in the Commons protested against the way income tax is collected from farmers.

Farmers were "up in arms" over income tax and they had protested against the campaign by the Revenue Department.

Mr. White said he had warned a year ago that income tax would cause a drop in farm production. In his constituency some seven or eight cheese factories had already closed.

Mr. White said income tax rates are excessive. He urged that exemptions be increased from $750 to $1,250 for single persons and from $1,500 to $2,500 for married persons. Allowances for children also should be increased, he said.

Mr. White also criticized activities of the Prices Board. He said the board's "snoopers" were still carrying on their activities in his constituency.

Orders of the board were issued so frequently that a grocer could not keep up with them.

Mr. White, a lawyer, told of a case where he defended a grocer charged with breaching the board's regulations.

Board investigators had attempted to have the grocer sign a statement pleading guilty before he appeared in court.

Under oath, a board investigator had admitted that there were few stores in which there were not breaches of the regulations.

Yet not all were prosecuted. Mr. White said he did not wish to suggest that politics entered the prosecutions. However, he knew that those prosecuted in his constituency were those who had always opposed the present government.

Convicted of Holding Farm Hand in Slavery

Nankato, Minn., Feb. 2 (AP) — George Stark, 56-year-old Minnesota farmer, was convicted last night of holding a Mexican farmhand in slavery for more than six years. Maximum sentence is five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine. Sentence will be passed later.

The Packsack
of Gregory Clark

This is groundhog day. In all those parts of Canada that have the groundhog, the newspapers will make note of the fact. If the groundhog sees its shadow today, it will go back into its den for another sleep, in sure and certain expectation of a long continuing winter.

Nobody else than the newspapers will take much notice of it, least of all the groundhogs. On most February seconds I have seen, anything that stuck its head out of a warm and comfortable den, when it had every right to stay asleep, is hardly a type on which to place any reliance.

Certainly the farmers won't be wasting their time watching groundhogs. In the olden days, when this and many other rural fables were dreamed up, farmers were possessed of a larger leisure in February. After feeding and watering the cattle in the barn, a farmer could come back to the kitchen, sit in the rocking chair and look out the window. The winter drifts lay deep, discouraging him from hitching up the cutter. The kettle hummed, the cat purred, the dog muttered behind the stove. The old clock ticked. Gazing out the window, the farmer might, mind you, just might see a neurotic groundhog stumble out of its den on a sunny slope, and stumble immediately back again. And having nothing else to do but ponder the mysteries of life and of nature, the farmer might let his fancy free. If a great blizzard blew up within twenty-four hours, as is most likely to happen in early February, the whimsical farmer and the neurotic groundhog could very easily get together on a fable.

The age of fables is past. If he wants an up-to-the-minute weather forecast, in order to decide whether to drive into town to see a movie, the farmer turns on the radio: and doesn't trust that very much either. But more likely the reason the farmer has no time to bother about either weather or groundhogs, is that he is out in the barn, overhauling his tractor . . .

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

VALUE OF MANY INTERESTS

I have often called attention to the value of having many interests to occupy one's mind. Interests are a stimulant that gives only good "after-effects." The more interests anyone has the happier he is sure to be. And when I say interests I do not mean details. Details are little robbers.

For years I have had many hobbies — collecting etchings, rare books, a little summer island camp, writing these Talks, interest in a small printing shop, and running a newspaper syndicate. All interesting. In addition, all sports interest me, and I follow many with great enthusiasm.

I spent an evening with a friend, and we were talking about these many diversions, when my friend snapped out: "I'll bet you even collect postage stamps!" I replied that I sure did, and began when a mere boy, though I dropped out of the game until I became more intelligent and discriminating. I have found this hobby highly educational and fascinating.

There is this about having many interests — if you lose one now and then, there are plenty to hold your attention and enthusiasm.

Speaking of collectors, I know of a wealthy man who collected many forms of art and rare birds. He had fine taste, knew and loved his treasures. A part of his great collection of rare French books were recently sold in New York for nearly half a million dollars. I viewed the collection and it was truly a beautiful lot. One book — a work of art — sold for $25,000. I believe that they all were kept in a vault in Paris, however, during this man's life. But when he visited Paris from America, he always cabled to have his treasures placed in his room, so that they would greet him as friends upon his arrival. This was always done.

Interests not only add to one's enjoyment, but they actually prolong one's life, as has been proved time and again. A person begins to waste away just so soon as his interests begin to die or take flight. Interests do more than anything to aid one into "the more abundant life."

WHAT THE KING CAN'T DO THE RED CROSS CAN

A minister sends a clipping which pictures firemen demonstrating "the proper method of administering artificial respiration" under the instruction of the Safety Service division of the Red Cross. The firemen are applying the wrong method, but who cares? That's the way the Red Cross likes it.

The minister's comment:

"This is enough to make even a preacher cuss. It shows the persistent stubbornness of the Red Cross, as though learning something from you would hurt their dignity or effectiveness."

The American Red Cross approves and teaches the wrong method of artificial respiration. By persisting in the error the American Red Cross is responsible for fatalities which might have been prevented by the right method of artificial respiration, in my opinion.

The right method is Schafer's manual prone-pressure. The American Red Cross approves and teaches a modification of Schafer's method, and the modification, made by person or persons unknown.

The correct Schafer method is described (in Schafer's own words) and illustrated in Howell's Textbook of Physiology which should be available in the public library. Schafer's illustration shows both of the subject's arms extended well above the head, palms on ground, the subject's face turned toward one side.

The late Prof. Yandell Henderson, fatmous authority on resuscitation, stated in a personal communication that extending the subject's arms well above the head puts the thorax in the best position for entrance of air into the lungs, which occurs from the elastic rebound of chest to the inspiratory position when pressure is released by the person applying Schafer's method. Any one with an elementary knowledge of anatomy and physiology knows or should know that placing one hand or arm under the subject's head compresses the thorax more or less and so impairs the efficiency of the prone-pressure method.

The other serious, indeed often fatal fault in the Red Cross method, in my opinion — my opinion is based on experience, not on theory—is that a hand, arm or anything else under the subject's head creates a water trap in the breathing passages which may prevent drainage and block the entrance of air.

If there were any valid reason for the modification of Schfer's method by the Red Cross the "persistent stubbornness" of the people in charge of the "life saving" departments in the name of humanity the person or persons who made the alteration ought to defend himself or themselves against the specific charges I make here and have made scores of times in past years, or else make immediate correction of the fatal error in the Red Cross method of resusciation.

I suppose it is only fair to name some of the other organizations or accomplices of the Red Cross in the indictment, such as the U. S. Public Health Service, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company (there's a nice touch of irony!), the National Safety Council, U. S. Bureau of Mines, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Bethlehem Steel Corporation etc., etc.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Don't Be a D. F.—

I find that whenever I take any kind of alcohol, even just a small glass of wine or a mixed drink, a day or two later my skin breaks out... Some tell me this is because I drink too much milk. How can I prevent it so that I can take a little drink. (Mrs. M. J.)

News to Me

Specialist took our ten months old baby off homogenized milk and put her on Grade A Raw Milk. He says the homogenizing process removes the calcium. (G. A. C.)

Answer—Probably you misunderstood. Homogenizing removes nothing from the milk. However, I'd prefer Grade A Raw Milk to nondescript homogenized milk in any circumstance. When I buy milk I like to see how much, if any, cream there is in or on it.

Worms

Two months ago I began to notice worms. (Mrs. R. S.)

Answer—Most children have round worms, many have pinworms at one time or another. Don't dose the children with so-called "worm medicine". Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for booklet Unbidden Guests.

Pruritus

After ten years of suffering from pruritus and much futile treatment, I received three X-ray treatments by dermatologist and at last was cured. How grateful. (J .H. G.)

Answer—On written request any reader may have the pamphlet on Pruritus—inclose stamped self addressed envelope.

Hamburg Most Luxurious Place

By GEORGE BRIA

Hamburg, Feb. 2 — (AP)—The sign on the door of the plush Atlantic Hotel still says verboten to all Germans.

Sickly kids beg cigarets as the British cars roll up.

Half a mile away stands another hotel, the Espanade. There are no signs here because this is a German place.

Inside the panelled rooms of the Esplanade, waiters in tails hover over prosperous-looking men with beautiful, expensively-dressed women. A dance band plays far better jazz than you can hear in a British - requisitioned club.

Luxury in Hamburg

This is Hamburg, 1949. The feverish pulse of currency reform has given the city a Parisian glow. Everyone agrees it's the most luxurious place in Germany. One reason may be that it's a port; another that the bombs which wrecked the outskirts spared the centre.

If it's night life you want, you can go to the Esplanade, or the Tarantella, or a place called Er und Sie (He and She), done in cream and dark blue.

A bottle of good champagne costs 35 deutsche marks. At the export-import rate of exchange, the only official one, this is $12. On the black bourse, which is the way most foreigners get their marks, it figures to about $2.

The aura of prosperity has got under the skins of the British occupation people. Verboten signs on British clubs don't mean much in the way of who's who when the Germans have better clubs.

Rich Fashion Show

The Esplanade had a fashion show just before Christmas. Statuesque blondes paraded about in rich costumes for the bejewelled clientele. "A British woman who had parked her volkswagen behind a German-licensed Mercedes said, "Why, we're getting to be just poor relations."

Actually, it's the rare German who can afford the clubs or the clothes. The man who can't says the others are black-market operators or business men who cheat on taxes, or foreigners. Now and then you are reminded of the poverty. Germans still scramble when you dump your automobile ashtray in the streets.

But it's hard to see the dreary valleys when you have your eye on the luxury peaks — which weren't here a year ago.

Question Brings No Information

Ottawa, Feb. 2. (CP)—A question on whether a United States Air Force officer is in command of a Canadian airport brought no information in the Commons, Tuesday.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (P.C.-Nanaimo), military critic for the Progressive Conservative party, asked Defence Minister Claxton if "a U.S. Air Force officer is in command of the airport at Mingan in the Province of Quebec?"

"I will have to look into that; I had no notice of the question," the Defence Minister replied.

A little later, Julian Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North), asked if anyone in Canada has the power to appoint a U.S. officer as commanding officer of any depot of any arm of the Canadian forces.

"Has anybody in Canada that authority at this time except the minister himself?" he added.

"If it was considered desirable in the interests of our common defence that that course should be taken, it could be taken," Mr. Claxton replied.

Moderate Quake Felt

Berkeley, Calif., Feb. 2 (AP) — The University of California seismograph recorded a moderate earthquake some 1,700 miles from here yesterday. The earthquake centre was either in Central Mexico or Southern Alaska. It began at 11 a.m. and lasted one hour.

Power Quotas To Municipalities Lifted by Hydro

Toronto, Feb. 2 — The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission Tuesday lifted its 139-day-old system of placing a quota on power supplies to municipalities. Restrictions on use of electricity were not changed. Robert H. Saunders, commission chairman, said the change followed notification from Gatineau Power Company of Ottawa that deliveries of power to the area would be "substantially increased."

Government restrictions regarding commercial power consumption remain in force. These have to do mostly with interior and show-window lighting, illuminating signs and hot-air heaters. Electric power is allowed in such cases on a watts-per-square foot basis.

Mr. Saunders stressed that "there must be sustained observance of restrictions in the use of electricity and continued all-out voluntary conservation."

"We are still short to the extent of approximately 10,000,000 kilowatt hours per week in deliveries from Gatineau and Maclaren," he added.

Toronto and other Southern Ontario municipalities were first placed on quotas last Sept. 14. They were reduced twice between then and Nov. 1. Blackouts started early in October and continued until early in December.

Since Nov. 22 the quotas have been increased six times. Since Christmas Toronto has been on a daily quota of 5,495,200 kilowatt hours—nearly 1 million less than the city would have used under normal conditions.

17-ROOM PUBLIC

Laughter greeted the first cries of "fire" but it quickly became evident that the shouts were no joke. None had difficulty in escaping, but several players lost their street clothing, and some Kincardine students rode home clad only in running shoes and gym shorts.

The fire originated in a cupboard under the stairs leading into the basement from the old part of the building. High school principal O. A. Kalbfleisch emptied two fire extinguishers into the flames, and at that time the fire was so limited in area that this action came close to quelling it.

Blaze Spreads Quickly

Then it spread like quicksilver. In spite of prompt arrival of the fire brigade it raced up partitions and broke through the roof, where it was fanned by a stiff wind. It floodlighted the town and brought spectators from miles around.

Principal Kalbfleisch blamed faulty electric wiring for the fire, but Fire Chief Soper disagreed, expressing the belief it was caused by combustion among oily rags. The building was completely rewired in 1938 when the addition was erected.

Floors of the school were oiled regularly. Elizabeth Buckley, a teacher, reported that she smelled smoke at noon on Tuesday.

Paisley and Hanover fire brigades, from nine and 13 miles distant assisted the local firemen. With four hydrants and water from the nearby Saugeen River, there was no lack of water.

Fears were felt for a time for surrounding buildings, including houses and apartments, although none of them was close to the school. With the school's tower and the floors collapsing, sending the contents of the school crashing into the basement, sparks and burning debris flew in every direction. Flames spread from the old section to the new part.

Heavy Blow to Town

Loss of the school is an exceptionally heavy blow to the small town. It was equipped very extensively with up-to-date facilities. In addition to classrooms it contained auditorium, cymnasium, home economics room, woodwork shop and other features. There were 195 public school pupils and 115 high school pupils enrolled along with 14 teachers.

Frances Elliott, home economics teacher, was preparing refreshments on the second floor for the visiting students and their Chesley rivals when the fire broke out. With her were two other teachers, Marjorie Doubt and Luella Prues.

The fire was still smouldering in the ruins at 10 a.m. today. A barricade was being erected around the walls to keep curious children out, as fear was felt the walls might collapse.

A meeting of the Board of Education was scheduled for this afternoon to deal with the problem of finding accommodation for classes of both schools.

WRECKED PLANE IDENTIFIED

Edmonton, Feb. 2 (CP) — An R.C.A.F. spokesman Tuesday night confirmed that the wreckage of a plane found near Yellowknife, N. W. T. was one missing since Jan. 22. A message from Fort Smith, N.W.T., said the plane was "completely burned." Pilot Grant Ford; Henry Denis, an official of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, and Thomas Lee of Yellowknife died in the wreckage.

Rockets' Coach, K. McNaught, Treats Members of Team And Executive to Turkey Dinner

If Bill Cook's Rocket junior pucksters could play hockey like they can gobble succulent slabs of roast turkey, they would win the National Hockey League title, the Stanley Cup and other baubles of supremacy overnight.

What those guys can do to a table-load of golden turkey, mashed potatoes and a half dozen assorted vegetables to say nothing of gobs of chocolate and white milk, generous slabs of chocolate cake topped by mounds of ice cream is nothing short of mayhem murder and what have you.

The boys staggered home food laden last night after one of the most enjoyable social evenings this writer has ever had the pleasure to attend. The food was excellent, the fellowship delightful, the singing par excellence and the camaraderie out of this world.

It was the Rockets' night to howl and they did just that literally and figuratively. They had a grand meal, plenty of good music and how those kids can sing. They ran the gamut of music from Gounod's "Ave Maria" to the "She's too Fat for Me" with scarcely a pause for breath.

Stuck His Neck Out

It all happened after coach Ken McKnaught perhaps extended his neck a little too far away from the rest of his torso. Some time ago he made the more or less rash statement that if the Rockets won a certain hockey game, he would treat them to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. The boys did just that and they ribbed the coach about his offer every chance that came their way. And last night's banquet was McKnaught's promise kept.

Held at Lanthorn Inn

The banquet was held at the Lanthorn under the excellent supervision and cuisine of Mrs. Carney. Coach McNaught took a personal interest in the well being of his charges and saw that they were provided with generous portions of turkey and the "trimmings" all the milk they could drink and plenty of dessert. And the boys "cleaned up" everything in sight.

There were no speeches outside of a brief address of welcome by the host coach.

The function brought out some of the hitherto unheard of musical talents of the boys. Mrs. Carney, an accomplished pianist and vocalist presided at the piano and gave an outstanding performance both individually and as an accompanist.

Nolan Star Vocalist

Joe Nolan, was one of the star vocalists of the evening warbling in first a Sinatra whispering croon and changing to a bullfrog baritone more or less at will. Coach Ken McNaught who, in case you don't know is possessed of a fine tenor voice offered several Irish songs and led the chorus in "Alouette." A group of Kinsmen gave the club song while the lone Kiwanian, Bill Cook offered a brief prayer to which the lone Rotarian added a soft "Amen."

The Lanthorn rang with the lusty voices of a team that averages nearly 180 pounds "on the hoof." All the old songs and many of the new ones were given excellent tonsorial treatment until nearly midnight.

"You can't say there is no harmony in that team" wryly commented manager Bill Cook as the strains of "McNamara's Band" echoed in the room.

HOLLYWOOD COMPOSER DIES

BASKET FACTORY

Firemen could do little but stand and watch as the flames roared up through the roof which collapsed soon after. At the height of the fire two 300 gallon tanks of fuel oil, used in a boiler to heat water, let go and shot geysers of flame a hundred feet in the air.

Sound Like Airplane

Although the plant is known as "Corbett's basket factory." it is no longer owned by Roy Corbett. He sold his interest in the firm last year to the Canadian Wood Products Company which owns a chain of basket factories throughout the Niagara peninsula.

Four families were taken from the Disher house but none of the furniture was removed.

The factory employed about 30 people and produced about one-fifth of the baskets used by fruit growers in the Niagara Peninsula. War time shortages are still hampering the growers and this fire will come as a serious blow to those who are waiting delivery of baskets. Only last spring the Hewson basket factory in Grimsby burned with an $80,000 loss.

New Machinery Installed

Along with two trucks destroyed in the two-storey building was a new $1,500 machine that had just been delivered two weeks ago in the company's efforts to speed up production.

The building has been in existence as long as any of the residents could remember and was first used as a canning factory. It was converted to the use of a basket factory and taken over by the Corbetts in 1935.

Across the road from the razed building is another $20,000 structure where more baskets are stored. Two more trucks were in this building which was not touched by the flames. The strong wind was from the west and as the factory is on the eastern end of the village only the one house was in danger. If the wind had been from the other direction the whole village would have been in danger.

Campbellford Hands Frankford 14-8 Trimming

Frankford — Frankford - Batawa Combines were caught badly off stride Monday evening, as they were handed a 14-8 trimming by the Campbellford crew, in a Trent Valley contest. Campbellford scored seven times in the first period, as they kept the locals completely bottled up in their own end for the greater part of the period. It wasn't until the 3rd period that the Combines hit their stride, when they countered six times. However, it was "too little, and too late." It was just "one of those games" that any team has, and now that the boys have it out of their systems, they feel confident that the next one will be different.

The luckless Frankford juveniles were blanked for the second straight game, as Wellington handed them a 7-0 shellacking. The local lads were very wild and erratic in their passing and seemed to fall down badly on the back checking. However, this is their first year, and no hockey team is made in a single season.

WEDDINGS

ASHMAN—CARSON

A lovely wedding was recently solemnized in Bridge Street United Church when Jean Lorraine Carson, Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Carson, of Brantford, was united in marriage to G. Robert Ashman, Belleville, son of Mr. George Robert Ashman, and the late Mrs. Ashman, of Palmerston, Ont. The Rev. Donald C. Amos officiated before an altar banked with ferns and yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mr. Alec Gordon, church organist, rendered the customary wedding music, playing before the ceremony, "Because", and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Day".

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. George Wallace of Belleville, was charming in a gown of white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves pointed at the wrists, gathered skirt and slight train, with beaded headdress and floor length veil of tulle illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses and white gardenias.

Miss Mabel Mayers of Napanee, was bridesmaid, in a powder blue satin gown with low neckline, cap sleeves, full skirt with bustle, and matching gloves. She wore a shoulder-length veil.

Mr. Isaac Ashman of Hamilton, was groomsman, and Mr. Dixon Ashman, also of Hamilton, and Mr. Roy Thompson of Mountain View, were ushers.

Later the reception was held at Tobe's County Gardens, where the bride's mother in black with corsage of cream roses, and black accessories received the guests. (Owing to the illness of the bridegroom's father, Mr. Ashman was unable to be present.)

After the reception, the happy couple left for a trip to Miami, Fla., upon their return will spend a few days with the bridegroom's parents. For travelling the bride wore a fuchsia colored suit, with navy blue hat and accessories, and grey topcoat.

Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were, Mrs. E. Carson, Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. E. Thompson, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. D. Ashman, Mr. and Mrs. I. Ashman; Mr. and Mrs. C. Ashman, all of Hamilton; Mr. C. W. Bell, Simcoe, and Miss Freda Bain, Langton.

ACKERMAN—MURPHY

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel was the setting of a pretty, but quiet wedding on Tuesday, at ten a.m., when Kathleen Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, Steenburg, Ont., became the bride of Ralph Ackerman, son of Mrs. Ackerman, and the late Korah Ackerman, Belleville, Ont. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Monsignor J. F. Nicholson.

Miss Mary Flurey rendered Lohengrin's Wedding March before the ceremony, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March, after the ceremony, and during the signing of the register appropriate music was softly played.

The bride, who was becomingly gowned in a brown gabardine suit with blue accessories, and corsage of red roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Murphy, of Kingston, wearing a blue gabardine suit with black accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Martin Murphy, of Steenburg, Ontario, brother of the bride was groomsman.

The wedding breakfast was held at the New Queens Hotel, Belleville, where the bride's mother, wearing flowered crepe with black accessories, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who also wore flowered crepe, and black accessories received the guests.

For travelling to Ottawa and points east, the bride wore a blue wool suit, with matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

RAWDON

Bethel Sunday School Party Much Enjoyed

Rawdon—On Friday evening, Jan. 28, the Intermediate Class of girls and their teacher, Mrs. Walter Warren, sponsored a special Sunday School party in Bethel United Church Hall. There were around forty in attendance and the adults paid according to their waist measure.

Rev. H. C. Vaclavik was master of ceremonies and spoke briefly.

A round of hymn singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Edgar McKeown as pianist. Appropriate readings were given by Miss Joyce Reid, Mrs. S. J. Elliott and Miss Ruth Welbourn.

Mr. Charles Morton illustrated a familiar Bible story. Miss Ricky Boulton sang a Dutch hymn. Seven girls who are pupils of the public school taught by Mrs. Stewart Hoover rendered "The Old Stone School".

Mr. B. C. Tucker gave an address on the "Pioneer History of Rawdon" and especially Bethel Community. The pastor closed the program with prayer.

In the recreation period, three contests were sponsored by Misses Norma Kirkey, Betty Roy and Marlene Hadley.

The Supt. Mr. B. C. Tucker, moved a vote of appreciation to Mrs. Warren and her class of girls for the splendid evening.

On Sunday afternoon, at the close of the Sunday School period Mrs. Walter Warren spoke briefly, and Miss Marlene Hadley presented Mr. William Heath, secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School, with the sum of $7 for the treasury.

Grocer Rescues 'Good Customer'

Moffat, Ont., Feb. 2 (CP) — Grocer R. S. Elsley, 60, would go through fire to keep a customer. Noticing flames shooting from a house across from his store in this village 15 miles from Guelph, he raced inside Monday and dragged out Harry Smith, 45, unconscious just before the fire engulfed the three-room cottage. He told interviewers: "He's a good customer"

Women's Activities

BRIDGE STREET UNITED W.A.

The January meeting of the Bridge Street United Church Woman's Association took the form of a pot luck luncheon, in the S.S. rooms at one p.m., on Friday.

The tables were prettily decorated in red and white with Valentine decorations. This was the work of Miss Helen Sulman and was greatly appreciated by those present.

After a delicious luncheon, the president, Mrs. R. B. Morden, opened the meeting with a short devotional program, assisted by Mrs. Guthbridge at the piano.

As this was the annual meeting, the president called upon the following to read their reports —secretary's report, Mrs. H. Seldon; treasurer's report, Mrs. R. Grant; Press Secretary, Mrs. E. Buchanan; Card Secretary, Mrs. C. Hyde; Parsonage, Mrs. H. Clarke; Kitchen, Mrs. Tice; Visiting, Mrs. H. Rollins; Decorating, Miss H. Sulman.

At the conclusion of the reports, Mrs. W. Northcott, was selected to head the Red Cross Group, temporarily.

Mrs. Wood, in a brief, but impressive ceremony installed the new executive with Mrs. Morden, as president for another year.

A vote of thanks to the retiring officers was tendered to them by Mrs. Lee, and all present expressed their thanks with a hearty round of applause.

ST. JOHN'S EVENING AUXILIARY

Tweed — The Marion Coon Eevning Auxiliary of St. John's United Church held their January meeting in the form of a pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. Emerson Hodgins. The theme of the Worship Service was "Thy Kingdom Come—Through the Teaching and Ministry of the Church."

The secretary read the list of officers for the coming year and each officer came to the front for the installation service conducted by the Rev. Mr. Sisco.

Officers for 1949 are: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. Sisco and Mrs. Wallace Johnston; President, Mrs. Harold Foster; Vice President, Mrs. Percy Jordan; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. M Bush; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Ken Fisher; Treasurer, Mrs. C. R. Porritt; Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Harold Emerson; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. Frank Bowers; Supply Secretary, Mrs. E. Hodgins; Pianist, Mrs. Ken Belch; Peace Secretary, Mrs. J. Wilkinson; Community Friendship Secretaries, Mrs. A. Maynes and Mrs. C. McCoy.

Mrs. Howard Connor and Mrs. Harold Emerson then gave a chapter of the Study Book and Mrs. J. Wilkinson read a very interesting article "Can China Support Her Millions?"

The February meeting will be held at the parsonage.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Ritual Committee of Belleville Chapter 435, Women of the Moose, met in the Conservative rooms, on Monday evening. Mrs. G. Ritch was in charge of the work in the absence of Chairman Mrs. E. Jeffrey.

Cards were played, the euchre winners were, 1st, Mrs. G. Ritch; 2nd, Mrs. L. Murray; lone hand, Mrs. M. Moon and consolation, Mrs. Mintz. The Rummy prize went to Mrs. E. McGinness and Mrs. L. Connell, received the consolation prize.

Supper was served by the Homemaking Committee.

Mrs. Mary Peoples reported a card party held the previous week with gratifying proceeds for the Child Care Committee, and she again assisted on the same committee, in the absence of Chairman, Mrs. N. Pickell, in presenting Mrs. V. J. Freeman with a personal shower of gifts from the members. "Matty" graciously expressed her appreciation and gratitude.

Women's Institute

MELROSE W.I.

Melrose—The Melrose Women's Institute held an evening meeting in the Township Hall on Friday last. The Convener of Health, Mrs. Wm. McMechan, had charge of the program, two special features of which were the slides on "Cancer", obtained from Kingston, and shown by Mr. Seeney of Stirling, and a debate, "Resolved that the Social Security Measures in effect in Canada are Beneficial to this Democracy".

The cancer film available for the asking, was to have been shown and explained by a representative from Kingston. Since this person was unable to come, the loan of the film was very kindly given and the local film representative presented it, along with several other interesting slides.

The debate resulted in a victory for the affirmative. This side was taken by Mrs. Grant McLaren, Mrs. Clare Weese and Miss Beatrice Macfarlane, while Mrs. Arnold Reilly, Mrs. Mac Lazier and Mrs. J. Haight, ably supported the opposition.

The institute is indeed grateful to Rev. A. W. Lougheed, Mrs. Marie O'Neell and Mr. Brooks Allen, who attended this meeting and acted as judges for this debate.

Miss Ruth Brintnell and Miss Murini Homans, of Carmel, were given a period of the program to present highlights of the "Folk School" they had been privileged to attend. One is being held at Foxboro late in February and the girls were desirous in interesting the Melrose young people in this school which has the support of the Department of Agriculture.

The Melrose Institute decided to help defray the expenses of two of its young ladies during their attendance.

Mrs. Reilly contributed a solo and community singing, led by Rev. A. W. Lougheed, were oher items on this interesting program.

PINE GROVE W.I.

The Pine Grove Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Harold Detlor, on Thursday afternoon for the January meeting. There were fifteen members and three visitors present.

The President, Mrs. Frank Finkle, took charge of the meeting. "Courtesies Worth Observing" was the subject chosen for roll call. The Secretary, Mrs. Heasman, read a letter from the president of the F.W.I.O. Mrs. J. Futcher. Mention was also made of the Folk School which is to be held at Mrs. Longwell's home February 25th to March 5th.

It was decided to have a social evening in the school in February. Mrs. R. Vanderwater and the members on the 6th Line were appointed to make plans for same. Mrs. F. Campbell and Mrs. H. Coulter reported having sent a box to our pen pal Institute in England.

The Citizenship convener, Mrs. Alex. Tanner, then gave a paper on Citizenship. She said, "Citizenship is the ability to live in harmony, not just with one's friends, or one's neighbors, but with our fellow beings—free from hatred and intolerance; to think and act according to the principles of justice and truth. If we are to live in harmony with our fellow beings, we must have well informed minds; we must continue our education in every way possible—'to keep our minds open; to base judgment upon facts; to keep abreast of new knowledge; to prepare for new occupations and to direct social change'. The good citizen realizes that change is inevitable and will be ready to help guide the change into proper channels".

Mrs. Fred Campbell then conducted a quiz on Institute work, after which she gave a paper. In quoting Miss Ethel Chapman she said in part, "Happily the founders of the Women's Institutes in establishing such objectives as 'The betterment of the home and community life', gave us something fundamental and vital enough to work on indefinitely. We just have to keep interpreting the betterment of the home and community in terms of present day needs." Community life is a reflection of home life, and the social standards, activities and ideals of the community, influence to a greater or lesser degree each home in the community and directly, or indirectly each individual. She said, "let us carry forward the old democratic ideal, that the strength of the nation is in the individual", and closed with these few lines entitled "Gleanings":

"All have a share in the beauty,
All have a part in the plan
What does it matter what duty
Falls to the lot of man?

Some one has blended the plaster
And some one has carried the stone;
Neither the man nor the master
Ever has builded alone.

Making a roof from the weather,
Or building a house for the King
Only by working together
Have men accomplished a thing".

After the closing of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and group.

Not So Much Bosom! Burmese Girls Told

Rangoon, (AP)— Present day Miss Burma is laying heavy emphasis upon "the bosom"— and Police Chief Aung Chein doesn't like it.

Burmese wear three garments only —a longyi (sarong, to you), an aingyi (or jacket) and a bodice.

The jacket is made of flimsy material. With the passing of years, it has grown steadily shorter. Today the nearly transparent garment barely covers the bosom.

New style bodices, built along brassiere lines, are cut low both in front and back. Consequently, well dressed Burmese girls today are revealing what Hollywood's Johnson office politely calls "too much cleavage."

Police Chief Aung Chein, disapproving of this departure from more modest ancient custom issued an edict. He told bodice manufacturers to alter the lines of their garments to give more coverage.

Refrain—Or Else

"In the future," he said, "you will refrain from making women look immodest—or else.."

Last year attempts at westernizing hair styles were frowned upon by young Burmans with old fashioned ideas. Girls with modern haid-dos were waylaid on street corners. Bangs and pompadours were cut off with expertly wielded scissors.

But the girls counter-attacked swiftly. Decoys lured "hair-snippers" down lonely streets where waiting accomplices beat them up.

The girls had a rougher time before the war when the nearly transparent jacket first was introduced. Scandalized Buddhist monks tore the offending garments off their wearers and horsewhipped the girls publicly.

Bachelors' Ideas Of Perfect Wives Set Off Protests

New York, (CP)— Advice for bachelors don't sound-off on what you think the ideal wife should be. A group of New York bachelors tried it, and the ladies are still storming.

The consensus of a doctor, lawyer, engineer, art student and two U.S. navy ensigns was that the girl should:

1. Be attractive;
2. Be neat;
3. Have a sense of humor and responsibility;
4. Have the courage to be herself;
5. Have a low, pleasant voice;
6. Have no family;
7. Possess cooking ability;
8. Be discreet;
9. Stop working after marriage, and above all,
10. Love her husband.

Stopping work brought most kicks from the girls.

"We'd be glad to," they chorused, if our men made more money." One young model said the bachelors' theories about non-working wives are "outdated".

"Girls who go to business are better dressed, better groomed and more in touch with things," she asserted.

How About Men?

Another angry young woman wrote a New York newspaper: "Attractive, neat, humorous and well-spoken are traits that may be attributed to either sex. Do these young men meet the qualifications of their so-called dream girls?"

What's more, wrote another irate reader, too many chaps demand that girls must have a "right address" before they become interested.

"If men would only learn that a woman likes to be treated as such instead of looked upon as a self-reliant creature! We don't care if they're not all Burt Lancasters but we are interested if he is considerate, thoughtful, a good athlete, with a good sense of humor, a good steady job, and, most of all, loves the girl of his choice."

The bachelors had this advice for the girls: "Don't be too eager. It scares off eligible men faster than a double dose of poison!"

But the women had the last word. Wrote one:

"There is no doubt there are many young women who come from an average family and who have the majority of the qualities mentioned by these young men, who would rather love and be loved, stay home after being married, eventually raise a family, etc. But the problem is, where can such young working girls become acquainted with the special someone?"

Club Activities

BRIDGE STREET Y.P.U.

Bridge Street Y.P.U. opened with the business meeting which included an invitation to visit Bethesda Y.P.U. and also the announcement of a crokinole party to be sponsored by Bridge Street Y.P.U.

The Worship Service was then conducted by Ruth Clark, assisted by June Dunham.

Margaret Martell took charge of the remainder of the program and showed a film entitled "Christ and the Fine Arts" which were famous paintings portraying incidents in the Life of Christ.

A short recreational period followed and after refreshments were served the meeting closed with "Taps".

BELLEVILLE VENTURE CLUB

The monthly study meeting of the Belleville Venture Club was held Tuesday evening at the Kiwanis Centre with Mr. George Whitman, sanitary inspector and welfare administrator for this city, as guest speaker. The meeting was well attended, members of the club hearing a very informative and interesting talk on public health work and assistance given to the needy in Belleville.

Thurlow-Tyendinaga Teachers Meet

After a short business session, Mr. H. Darling gave an interesting address on "How High School Marked". He explained that the principle leading to the answer of a problem is as important as the answer itself.

"School Problems" was the subject of a general discussion led by Mr. R. H. Macklem, Inspector of Public Schools.

For the remainder of the service a game and contest, introduced by Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Dier respectively, provided a period of relaxation and enjoyment.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

A lady is introduced to the President

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) Is it true that a woman is always introduced to the President of the United States? (2) If so, what are the correct words to use for this introduction? (3) And are all women introduced to the wife of the President of the United States, even if they are considerably older than she? (These three questions arose last evening at our club meeting, and there was a difference of opinion.)

Myra G.

(1) Yes, a woman is always presented to the President of the United States. (There are only three exceptions to the rule that a woman is not presented to a man—(a) a woman is presented to the President of the United States; (b) to a royal personage; and (c) to a dignitary of the church.)

(2) The correct form for the introduction of a lady to the President of the United States: "Mr. President, I have the honor to present Mrs Sheldon'. Or, "Mr. President, I have the honor to present Mrs. Sheldon of Philadelphia". (Of course at a White House reception, the aide mentions only the name of the one who is being presented.)

(3) Yes.

The girl's mother, not the girl, gives this important invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is engaged, but the engagement is not to be announced until she receives her engagement ring, which will be in about two months. What should we do about meeting the young man's parents and when should we do it? We haven't met them, although I have talked with his mother several times over the telephone. We don't wish to give the impression of being "too eager". Should we arrange the meeting now or wait until just before the announcement? Do I call his parents on the telephone and arrange the meeting, or do I write a note of invitation? Or is it my daughter's place to arrange the meeting—just casually inviting them to come to our home to spend the evening? What is your advice?

W. S.

I judge that the young man's parents know of the engagement—yes? If so, it would be pleasantly hospitable for you to bring about the meeting very soon. It is you, the hostess of your home, who must give the invitation—by telephone is proper, since you have already talked with the mother by telephone. Invite the parents for a definite date and time and for a definite occasion—dinner, Sunday luncheon or tea or buffet supper, or just "to spend the evening with us here". In other words, the plan is informal but cordial, and comfortably definite for all concerned. This invitation that establishes the relationship between the two families is an invitation of special importance, remember—not to be given with any impression of "casualness".

The bra top has a halter strap tucked into its well-cut shapeliness, which is slipped around the neck for security when a mermaid is really swimming. The brief shorts have a slightly dipped waistline behind, which holds the back contour as it minimizes the waistline.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

Beware of tension. It Makes wrinkles

Stand on the sidelines as the shopping parade goes by. Look at the faces of the women who are out stalking becoming dry goods. You don't see many tranquil ones. Some carry frowns. Some faces—drawn and tense, teeth clicked together—look downright tragic. Yet these women are well-dressed, evidently have comfortable homes, aren't worried about the balance in the checkbook. Don't they ever take a long, deep breath and relax? You wouldn't think so. Life is too delirious; that's what's the matter.

Next to splendid health, a sound and steady nervous system is the greatest of all weapons against the ravages of time. The state of one's nerves depends, to a large extent, upon the state of one's mind. The remedy is found in mental hygiene and wise living habits.

Learn self-control. Don't get all hot and flustered over annoying trifles. Tell yourself they will soon be forgotten. If there is a mistake in the grocery order don't fly to the telephone and bawl out the clerk; merely say what is wrong. Tradespeople don't intend to make mistakes. They aren't anxious to get in bad with their customers.

Practice moderation in all things. Don't overwork or underwork. Above everything else adjust your day's activities so that you will not be rushed. If you have an appointment, give yourself plenty of time. eGt there ten minutes early. You can use that short period to commune with your soul. If you are the average woman, it won't do a bit of harm to do nothing at all. Cultivate repose. Repose of body keeps one physically fit; repose of mind makes for orderly thinking.

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

She keeps you on the telephone for forty minutes

Conserve your energies. That requires planning. If you are a home-maker, have a schedule for housework. Save all the steps you can. Remember that confusion in the home is tough on the nervous system. Don't overlook the fact that gabbing all day long is wearing. That friends of yours who keeps you on the telephone for forty minutes while she tells you her troubles! She is not your friend or she wouldn't do it. Sidestep her.

Try to keep cheerful. Fear envy, hate and jealousy will destroy the spirit and place ugly marks upon the countenance. Mean emotions play the dickens with us, not only mentally and spiritually, but physically as well. No woman can afford to indulge in them. No cosmetics will remove the scars.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A strange kind of mother

What kind of a mother would want to save herself at the expense of her children?

Not a very natural mother, it seems to me, yet here is one who apparently is willing, even anxious, to do so. She writes me and says that she has been married ten years and has four children, ages 2, 5, 7 and 8, respectively. Her husband has been drinking heavily for the last five years, and has also had affairs with other women. Because of this, she left him two years ago, but when he begged her to return, and promised to stop drinking, she went back to him. Now he is drinking again, and comes home violent and abusive, and has even threatened her with a knife.

"I have taken all I can," she says, "and I am about to leave him. Would it be all right to leave the children with him? He has a job and would take good care of them."

She adds that before her marriage she worked, presumably implying that she is ready to do so again. She is 28 and her husband is 34.

Now, as I said in the beginning, I cannot imagine any woman wishing to abandon her children in any such fashion as this. She cannot stand the strain of living with a man like her husband, yet she is perfectly willing to let her children go on doing so.

Certainly there is something strange somewhere, either in this woman's character or in her story. Either she is so unnatural that she wishes to buy her own sofety and peace of mind at the expense of her helpless children, or else her husband is not really as bad as she says, since she apparently feels she would be perfectly content to leave the children in his care. Which if these things is true I have no way of knowing, but I cannot think of anything more incredibly selfish, as well as foolhardy, than for a mother to walk out and take a chance on what might happen to children left at the mercy of an irresponsible and possibly dangerous alcoholic.

Before she makes any move whatever, I think she had better consult some welfare agency in her city and ask their advice on her problem.

Ill-Fitting Shoes No Bargain

Health is Reflected in Eyes

Style and comfort are combined in these pretty navy kid pumps with matching leather soles for flexible comfort

By HELEN FOLLETT

FEMININE feet take a lot of punishment. The way many women neglect their poor twinging trotters is cruel and inhuman. In many cases they are screaming out for release from the bondage of ill-fitting shoes that produce corns, callouses, in-growing nails. If the sufferer will set out with the stern purpose of finding high grade leather casing with flexible leather soles that provide comfort without pressure, her poor feet will become tranquil.

But will she? Chances are no. She will go to a chiropodist who will give her the necessary treatment, do everything possible to give her relief and who will tell her that the right shoes will be the solution. To this suggestion she will give no heed. She hobbles around in the same lasts, soon the corns and calouses are back again .It just doesn't make sense.

Wherever there is pressure on the flesh of the foot nature produces a cushion of dead skin cells as a means of protection. These cushions develop into corns. Removal is only a temporary cure. How much more sensible to wear shoes that are sufficiently wide, give the toes wiggling room, have moderate heels that permit the foot to assume a natural position.

It is bad enough to sacrifice foot health to false idea as to what is smart or beautiful. It is even worse to destroy the fine lines of the body by poor posture that is bound to appear if one cannot move with grace and ease.

Hurting feet mean that correct posture is impossible. The chest is contracted, the abdominal muscles go slack, the ankles thicken. It is a vicious circle.

Fashion Flashes

BEACH BEAUTIES for next season include handsome swim suits of specially treated, elasticised velvet. There are also handsome beach dresses in the same interesting, if novel, beach fabric.

EVERY HOUSE making medium-priced prints seems to be showing frocks with wide waistbands, deep, plunging necklines and skirts with pockets in the folds of its unpressed pleats. The whole design adds up to a delightful dress, nice for casual or more dressy wear.

THE BEAUTIFUL PICTURE that is the bridal gown takes shape as Spring bridal plans are announced. Ivory slipper satin is used for an exquisite bridal gown cut on slim princess lines that sweep into a long, circular train. The wide square neckline is banded with a floral design in strass and seed pearls, the same detail edging the puffed sleeves and also forming a garland at the skirt hemline.

Slimness Keynote of Linen Clothes for London Shows

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (CP)— Ease is the key-note of linen styles in London's spring fashion shows.

All garments are easy to move in. There are no exaggeratedly tight skirts, no hip padding or exaggerated fullness, Instead, the classic tailor-made, with softer and more feminine lines, is pre-eminent.

Jackets are easy-fitting, of classic length, with neat—but not tight—waistlines. Peplum fullness is slighter and concentrated at the back or front, leaving a clean hipline.

Hip emphasis is again on slimness. Skirts, however exuberantly pleated, are smooth at waist and hipline. A popular skirt style is a pencil front with back fan pleating. This gives a slim line in repose and an attractive fluid movement in action.

Pleats are popular, particularly stitched pressed pleats. The bulky, unpressed pleat is out. Unpressed effects used are the full straight skirt gathered minutely into a tight waist band, or skirts pleated by numerous tiny gores.

Pencil skirts are still in vogue, with slits for ease in walking. An example in rust-colored linen with plain classic jacket and rounded peplum had slits that buttoned or unbuttoned to please the whim of the wearer.

Trouser suits and slacks are definitely man-tailored. A cream linen suit with plain turn-up trousers has a square man-tailored jacket with long revers caught by double-breasted waist buttoning. Effectively casual are the sea-slacks combined with a vermilion Chinese coolie jumper top with optional belt.

Dresses follow the suits in slimming design. Full flares and pleats alike leave a clean untrammelled waist and hipline and give a fulness of skirt.

Dress sleeves are squarely tailored or cut in one with the bodice with nice roomy underarms to give a fluid look. These too are gently padded. Cuffs are important, often winged, sometimes in contrasting colors.

Some beach dresses are merely calf length, usually with the full circular swing skirt of skating suits. Others are definitely "new look". A lovely example in brightly patterned Moygashel has gathered bodice, round gathered neckline and tiny puff sleeves.

Colors are soft pastels, creamy whites and pearl greys with a sudden accent on navy royal blue. Patterned materials have a pastel effect of coolness and ease.

Western Germany Ready to Greet Foreign Tourists in Great Numbers

By JAMES DEVLIN

Frankfurt, Feb. 2 (AP)—Western Germany is hanging out the welcome sign to foreign tourists for the first time since the war.

Allied and German officials are planning on an influx of tourists this spring to Bavaria, the Black Forest and the Rhineland. They expect the program to get really rolling in 1950 when the Wagner music festivals of Bayreuth and the passion play at Oberammergau will be resumed.

The stumbling block to tourism since the war has been chiefly a lack of hotel space and transportation.

German officials, in co-operation with the joint export import agency, consisting of Allied representatives of the American, British and French zones have opened 82 hotels for tourists in "Trizonia"—with more to be opened constantly. All are well stocked with a variety of food.

Tourists to Germany will be required to pay in dollar instruments at the legal rate of exchange for marks.

This is because Allied officials want Germany to build up a hard cash fund to pay for imports. This is intended to take some of the burden off British and American taxpayers.

One difference the traveller will find in Germany is that he will be expected to sleep and eat only at the hotels affiliated with J.E.I.A. usually, however, these are the best available.

Other than this, the tourist will have virtually the same freedom he would have in any country even though Germany is still under military occupation.

One estimated the cost for a couple touring Germany would be about $25 a day for hotel rooms, meals and taxicab transportation.

South Africa Needs 10,000 More Nurses

Capetown, South Africa, Feb. 2. (CP)—South Africa needs some 10,000 more nurses and midwives and may expand training facilities to help meet the shortage.

A report of a survey by the National Executive Committee of the National War Memorial Health Foundation shows that the biggest problem is the provision of nurses for the non-European community. The report says that if the shortage of white nurses is to be overcome, additional non-European nurses must be trained to minister to the Negroes.

"We need about 22,784 nurses and midwives for adequate health services and we probably have some 13,200," say the report, compiled from information supplied by hospitals and nursing authorities throughout South Africa.

The main reasons given for the shortage are:

The attraction of jobs with more pay and less work; the wastage of nurses in training as only 47 per cent of nursing recruits qualify and stay in the profession; and the lack of secondary school education for non-European girls which would qualify them in building up the numbers in the profession—only one student nurse comes from every 17,000 non-European girls, against one from 600 among Europeans.

With regard to the swap club, Mrs. Frank [illegible], Indian Valley Trail, Port Credit, Ontario, might be able to help you. Write her, telling her what varieties you have and those you would like to obtain.

STOVE BLEMISH: "About a month ago I bought a white enamel stove. By accident I dropped some Javex on the black enamel trim and burned off the enamel. What can I do to make my stove look like new?"

If the burn in the enamel is deep, the stove will need refinishing. That means a journey back to the factory. But, any stove man, [illegible] enamel, obtainable at any paint shop, should do a smart cover-up job.

MILDEW: "What will remove mildew from cotton sheets?"

Mildew stains should be treated when fresh, before the mold growth weakens the cloth. However, try Javelle water on the sheets; it should help. Dip the stain in the Javelle solution for one minute, then rinse well in warm water. That should remove the marks.

PAGEANT: "I wrote a Christmas pageant which was most successfully used in our church. It was really staged, too. Could I sell it to a company producing playlets?"

Samuel French (Canada) Ltd., 480 University Avenue, [illegible] have consented to read your manuscript. Have it typed and send it along to that company. There might be a future for you in such work.

Respectively 66 and 54 years old.

Kiwanian Mayor Storey Gives Resume of Business of City To Members of Local Club

Public Relations Day at the Kiwanis Club luncheon on Tuesday at the Kiwanis Centre was one of the best meetings in some time, the members being given a concise resume of city business by His Worship, Mayor D.L. Storey, a member of the club. The Public Affairs committee under Stan Jose also gave a report on the intention of Kiwanis International to institute a campaign through pamphlets to stop the spread of Communism, the speaker explaining that the world has had occasion to deal with the issue down through the ages and he quoted Plato, McCauley and Hitler to prove his point.

A delegation from the club will journey to Toronto on Saturday for the annual meeting of the American Power Boat Association and it is understood that the Kiwanis Club will handle the regatta on the Bay of Quinte this coming summer. Bill Brown, speaking for the president of the Soroptimist Club stated there are only a few seats available for the concert sponsored by that club, which will feature Peter Smith as pianist and many of the members picked up the pasteboards. Past Lieutenant-Governor Bruce Lattimer and Ross Stiver, who have been absent from meetings for some time due to illness were welcomed back to the club as well as a number of visitors from other clubs and distant parts

In Charge of Meeting

William Stovin, chairman of Public Relations took charge of the meeting at this point and he explained the work that club has accomplished and what was promised in the future. Ald. Angus Duffy introduced the speaker and Mayor Storey without many introductory remarks launched into an explanation of the city's business and how the council were trying to cope with the growing pains of this municipality. His Worship expressed complete confidence in the city's welfare and foresaw a population of some 50,000 in the near future. "It is a heavy burden that goes with the office of Mayor" Mr. Storey said "but the co-operation of the council has been very encouraging and I honestly believe that the record of your council in 1948 will long be a record to try and outdo for future councils."

Council Reorganized

The Mayor explained the reorganization of the council into committees for the transaction of business stating he believed that it would shorten the council meetings and that more attention would be given to details than under the old method of all being the committee of the whole. He praised the efficient Police Department and explained the working of the Commission, which is composed of the Mayor, the Magistrate and the County Judge. He also detailed the work of the Harbor Commission and the Traffic committee, showing the unusual flow of traffic that must be handled by city streets. His Worship stated that more boulevards in the city would be taken out in order to provide more room for traffic to move.

Speaking of the Memorial Arena he showed that it cost $40,000 to purchase and a like amount had been spent in the addition of a new floor, artificial ice plant and roof. The speaker was in favor of more free time for children under 15 to skate although the Commission was of the opinion that the indebtedness should be paid off before much free time is given. Welfare was next touched upon and it was shown that the Old Age Pensions, Blind Persons, and Mother's Allowances were administered by the city with grants paid by the government. At present 40 persons are on relief and there are forty wards that are costing approximately 85 cents a day to maintain. His Worship stated that the biggest headache he has had since assuming office was the taking over of the hospital by the city from the W.C.A.

Requirements Needed

"On taking over the new board found a disorganized staff and money quite short" said the speaker. "The hospital requires a new laundry, a new boiler room and new boilers and I have asked and the council has approved the floating of a debenture of $138,000, which will take care of our needs and put the hospital I hope on a near paying basis. Mr. Wakefield, the new administrator, was praised by the speaker for his fine reorganization work. The convalescent hospital, that will be for use at the County Home, that was purchased by the city at a cost of $300,000 will be secured at a very nominal sum due to the grant from the Provincial and the grants from both governments for the remodelling.

Cost Figures Given

Food costs at the hospital for 1 year are $85,000, power, water and light $15,000, drugs and medical supplies $40,000 and pay roll $280,000. 1,000 tons of coal at $14 a ton are needed per year and there was a deficit of $54,000 last year. Turning to the construction of sewers and water services for new areas His Worship stated that progress was satisfactory but that some contractors were behind in their schedule and that the people were impatient to get into their new homes in the Parkwood Heights. He gave a lengthy outline of the Utilities Commission stating that nearly eleven-and-one-quarter miles of sewer and water mains were now being installed but thought the inspection should all be under one head and the city in turn could save thousands of dollars.

In closing the Mayor stated that Belleville is a growing city and it would be well to remember that any expenses incurred have resulted in increased assessment of nearly one million dollars and every citizen is gaining from the progress made. His Worship also explained that the council had only about 25 per cent of the total taxes collected to control as all others were fixed charges but that relief was coming in a few years. The speaker stated that lots in the new subdivision would soon be on sale and it was necessary that one third would have to be sold before sewers and water mains could be laid. The appreciation of the meeting was expressed by Earl Kuntze. Addison Lloyd won the door prize.

Toronto to Get School For Crippled Children

JAPAN'S ROYAL FAMILY IN ANNIVERSARY GROUP

Although the imperial lustre is somewhat dimmed by coming out of a war on the losing end, and post-war recovery takes much of their time, still the members of Japan's ruling family manage to pose for the court photographer to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako. Left to right: Princess Kazuko (21); Princess Atsuko (19); Prince Masahito (14); Empress Nagako (47); Princess Takako (11) and Emperor Hirohito (49). 500-Acre Area Recreation Plan Is Advocated Peterborough, Feb. 2 (CP) — Representatives of 15 civic and service bodies in Peterborough Tuesday night endorsed a plan to develop a 500-acre area 20 miles northeast of the city as a public recreation area.

The suggested land has been selected south of Big Cedar Lake and is being held by the Department of Lands and Forests pending decision as to such use. The meeting favored the projects development as a city and county enterprise rather than under provincial aid.

Gabby Ferland Gains a Draw With Pete Zaduk

Montreal, Feb. 2 (CP)—Montreal's Gabby Ferland battled to a 10-round disputed draw here Tuesday night with Pete Zaduk of Toronto and Guelph in a welterweight main bout fight. Ferland weighed 145 and Zaduk 153 1-2.

Fans and judges appeared to be bewildered at the end of the hectic battle as to who was the winner.

It was first announced that Ferland had gained the verdict by a split decision. Later the judges announced that they had decided in favor of a draw.

An official of the Montreal Athletic Commission was called upon to determine the decision. After reading the three judge's scoring slips he ruled the fight "a draw." Two of the judges had ruled in favor of a draw while the third gave the decision to Ferland.

There were no knockdowns, but the fighters maintained a torrid pace throughout the 10 rounds.

BROTHERS HOLD LEAD

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP) — The Giesebrecht brothers, Bert and Bruce, still hold first and second place in scoring in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Figures released by the O.H.A., including games Jan. 29, show the brothers have contributed 73 goals—slightly more than one third of the league-leading Windsor Spitfires' total.

Bert has 79 points from 38 goals and 41 assists and Bruce is two points behind with 35 goals and 42 assists.

Detroit Pitcher Refuses to Sign

Detroit, Feb. 2 — (AP) — Detroit Tigers ran into another balk today as they counted four more signed contracts in and 29 players in the fold for 1949.

The balk was by Freddie Hutchinson, 29-year-old right-handed pitcher, who refused to sign for the same $18,000 salary he is believed to have drawn last season when he won 13 games and lost 11.

Outfielder alter (Hoot) Evers, first baseman George Vico and rookie pitcher Lou Kretlow also expressed dissatisfaction with the club's first offers.

They were among 10 Tigers who haven't yet signed.

Drop Kick Passes Into Football Scrap Pile

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Feb. 2 — (CP) — Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the drop kick.

Uncle Abner and cousin Ed, both of whom have beards that brush their knees, are about the only people around who can remember seeing this football rarity. Extinct? The dodo bird is a bush leaguer compared to the drop kick when it comes to being dead.

The drop kick passed into the football scrap pile when the forward pass came into the game and chuckers needed a slimmer ball. They got it. The kickers found it more convenient to boot the new ball from placement.

Many old-time football fans, recalling the days of such drop kick experts as Pep Leadley of Queen's feel that an effort should be made to revive the play. Some even are in favor of making the drop kick count for more points than the placement.

E. Kent Phillips of Saskatoon, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, says there has been "no definite suggestions in official quarters that any change be made in the field goal scoring." But he adds he has heard many fans "express regret that the drop-kick seems to be a lost art."

Should Reduce Score

"Rather than increase the three point score for the drop kick, I would suggest reducing the score for a field goal from placement to two points," says Phillips. "If you increase the field goal score from a drop kick to four points, I think a valid objection might be that you are bringing it too close to the touchdown score."

Other football men who would like to see the drop kick make a comeback are Joe Tubman, renowned kicking half of Ottawa Rough Rider teams in the '30s, and E. A. (Eddie) Armstrong, president of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

"It's accurate, faster than the placement and gives just as great distance as the placement — if not greater — with a trained kicker," says Tubman.

Both Armstrong and Lew Hayman, coach of Montreal Alouettes, feel that drop kicking has passed into the discard because there is no coaching of the art.

One of the things that prompted talk about a possible drop kick revival was the instance last season when quarterback Don Hiney of Blue Bombers used the play—by accident and not design.

Hiney was set to try a field goal from placement against Calgary Stampeders but the snap was misdirected and got away from Bob Sandberg, who was down on one knee to do the holding job. Hiney scooped up the ball and sent a perfect drop kick spinning between the posts for three points

Hundreds of the youngsters and 'teen-agers in the park had never seen a drop kick before!

Sudbury Wolves Will Receive Reinforcements

Toronto, Feb. 2 — (CP)—Two Canadian hockey players are flying to Europe to strengthen the touring Sudbury Wolves in preparation for the world hockey tournament in Stockholm Feb. 12.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual winter meeting in Winnipeg last month decided on reinforcements after team coach Max Silverman cabled an urgent plea for help. The Wolves fared poorly on a pre-tournament exhibition tour in Britain.

Stanley is a son of Barney Stanley and a cousin of New York Ranger rookie Allen Stanley. He played junior and senior hockey in Edmonton but dropped out this year due to business commitments.

Russell played for North Sydney until recently, when the C. A. H. A. revoked his licence because North Sydney was one player over the import limit. Last year, Russell played for Hamilton Aerovox, winners of the Ontario Hockey Association junior 'B' title.

Announcement that the players were being sent to Europe was made Tuesday night by George Dudley of Midland, Ont., secretary - manager of the C. A. H. A. He said:

"The Wolves will give a good account of themselves. People here don't seem to realize that they have been playing mainly against Canadian players over there in these exhibition games. But once the tournament starts, the only Canadian players will be with the Wolves. We (the C. A. H. A.) didn't expect much from the team at r stehtta p the team at the start but they'll be all right."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Old Man Winter has wreaked havoc with natural ice rinks this year, and a lot of the teams are way behind in their scheduled play. Minors especially have felt the lack of co-operation of Jack Frost and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association has been forced to curtail schedules, drop postponed games and order teams into group playoffs. The minor hockey body has notified all groups etc., that winners must be declared by Feb. 12. The minor groupings in this district have felt the lack of good ice co-operation on the part of the weather and right now all groups are in playoff threes.

* * *

Belleville Gunners Midgets and the Rockets Juveniles seem to have a clean hold on their groups. Rockets take a four-goal lead into their second game of the goals-to-count series here tomorrow night while Cy Barriage's Gunners have a nine-goal lead to play with. It is more than likely both Belleville teams will oust the gallant Trenton kids and go on into the first round of the playdowns against the Brockville juvenile and midget teams.

* * *

And speaking of minor hockey teams, this Stirling crew appears to be headed for the faraway championship places. They gave our juveniles a smart game here the other night and the village kids should go a long way down that titular trail.

* * *

Says Jack Christie, secretary of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association in a recent bulletin:—Note to referees—The Ontario Minor Hockey Association is determined to stamp out rough play. To do this we need the co-operation of all referees. You can help do this by refereeing strictly according to the rule book. You will be backed up to the fullest extent by the Association. Coaches are being "licensed" by means of numbered cards, as are the managers. Continued rough play will mean that the coach involved will have his card lifted. We also refer you to Rule 81, which gives you the authority to issue penalties for "Unnecessary Roughness." The O. M. H. A. is trying to do its part! Please do yours! Remember, whether appointed by an O.M.H.A. official, or by one of its clubs, you are working for the Association. Report any unusual incidents or rough play to the Secretary as quickly as possible.

* * *

The name of Jerry Moher was inadvertnetly omitted from the Diesels line-up in yesterday's story of the Kingston Navy-CNR game. Jerry has been doing a grand job out there on the Diesels attacking divisions and is one of the speediest puckists on the team. He got three assists and his back-checking featured a fine effort. "Huck" Reeves also turned in a good job and is one of the most improved players on the squad. The name of "Nolan" was inserted in place of Moher.

* * *

Trenton RCAF Flyers race back into Intermediate "A" action in Memorial Arena tonight when they take on the Cobourg-Port Hope Combines. Nicky Sargent, Al Middleton, Miller, Ault and the rest of the Flyer crew have been travelling at top speed of late and as far as we can ascertain are sitting on top of the group heap at the time of writing. Game gets under way at 8.30.

* * *

What is reported to be one of the most colorful ice extravaganza ever shown here, the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club's 1949 show will be iced in Memorial Arena on Feb. 25 and 26th with a matinee performance on the afternoon of the latter date. The club has a lot of new entertainment angles and all participants are in the throes of strenuous rehearsal. 'Tis hinted that several ice stars from out-of-town clubs will feature the show.

* * *

George Vezina, Canadiens' former goaling great and in whose memory a trophy is presented annually to the League's outstanding goalkeeper, was the father of 18 children. Included among the 18 were one set of triplets and several sets of twins. The "Chicoutimi Cucumber" as he was called, literally died in harness. He collapsed in the middle of an N. H. L. game at the Montreal Forum on November 28, 1925, was rushed to his home and died a few months later from a form of galloping consumption.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By JACK AVERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, Feb. 2 (CP)— Visiting Scottish curlers have found that life gets tedious sometimes, even when touring Canada for a "gr-r-r-rand series of exhibition matches. But, they admit with a chuckle, even the tediousness is rather amusing.

Max (Fort William Times-Journal) Ray says the Scottish curlers main difficulty has been in finding time to sleep.

"Everywhere we have been its been a constant round of entertainment that lasts till all hours in the morning. Then we have to be up around eight to curl."

Brushes Popular

But, Ray quotes, the Scotsmen as saying, anybody can get accustomed to lack of sleep. It's much more difficult retaining possession of curling brushes when a group of wild Canadians decide they'd like to have them.

"In Regina," said one of the curlers to the Lakehead sports editor, "I missed by brush and finally found a fellow trying to smuggle it away under his overcoat.

"It was a lot of d----d nonsense going to all that trouble over a wee brush. Why, the fellow offered me $25 to let him keep it—preposterous."

No Fad

Krug (Brandon Sun) Crawford has decided that automobile bonspiels are not a fad. They can't be, he said, after hearing that Saskatoon will stage one March 14-19, the first to be held on artificial ice.

The Saskatoon 'spiel will be the fourth in Canada this year Portage La Prairie, Man., opened the season, with Nipawin and Rosetown in Saskatchewan coming close behind. Curling clubs in all three centres have announced the car 'spiels will be back again next year.

Pratt in Wrong In Pacific Coast Hockey League

(By The Canadian Press)

President Al Leader of the Pacific Coast Hockey League said Tuesday at Seattle Babe Pratt, defenceman with New Minister Royals, has been warned of league regulations penalizing any player who publicly ridicules an official.

Leader was commenting on a Vancouver Sun story which said Pratt, former National Hockey League performer, might face a $500 fine for writing an article which appeared under his name in another Vancouver evening paper, the Daily Province, Saturday.

The article commented on actions of the referees in a league game between Vancouver Canucks and Fresno Falcons Friday.

Leader said Pratt was warned of consequences if he should become involved again in such a situation.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association announced Tuesday at Toronto that Albert Smith of Keswick Juveniles has been suspended for breach of certificate, having left his team without release. The Ontario Hockey Association will be requested to concur the suspension.

George Nicholson, Manager of Cannington Juveniles has had his card withdrawn until completion of group plays and playoffs. Nicholson was ordered to leave the bench by the referee at Lakefield Jan. 26 when he permitted his team to leave the ice before completion of the game. The game was awarded to Lakefield. He will be allowed to resume his position in provincial playoffs if the team wins its group.

Sale of defenceman Eddie Bush to Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League was announced Tuesday by Philadelphia Rockets of the same circuit. Bush, a native of Collingwood, Ont., came to Philadelphia from Providence Reds in 1947.

At Washington Barbara Scott said Tuesday that winning the Lou Marsh trophy for the third consecutive time is "a really great thrill." The 20-year-old Ottawa girl, world and Olympic figure-skating champion, learned of the award shortly before leaving for Chicago, where her second professional show starts Friday.

At Akron, O., a $15,000 suit against heavyweight contender Ozzard Charles of Cincinnati was filed Tuesday by counsel for the estate of Samuel Crandall. Crandall, then fighting under the name of Sammy Baroudi, died in a Chicago hospital last February, six hour after meeting Charles in the ring of the Chicago stadium.

Relief goalie Gordon Bell will remain with Omaha Knights of the United States Hockey League for the remainder of the season, coach Mud Bruneteau said Tuesday at Omaha. Bell was on loan from Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Omaha's spare goalie, Jim Hurley, will be loaned to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League, Adams said.

New York Giants, who last week signed their first Negro players, added a third Tuesday when they purchased the contract of Henry Thompson from the Kansas City Monarchs of the American Negro League. Thompson, 23, had a brief trial with St. Louis Browns in 1947. He plays both the infield and outfield.

Boucher Finds Six Prospective N.Y. Rangers

That is the report the manager of the National Hockey League's cellar dwellers gave today after an 11-day tour of Western Canada and the United States.

During the trip, which took him to Winnipeg, Regina, Vancouver, Tacoma, Wash., and St. Paul, Minn., Boucher interviewed eight scouts and saw three games involving 30 of the 285 players in the Ranger system.

In Winnipeg, Boucher saw a junior game between two Winnipeg teams — the Canadiens and Monarchs. Two defencemen of the Canadiens, Don Lucyk and Larry Thompson, both under contract to the Rangers, caught his eye.

Asked if any other Winnipeg juniors looked like N. H. L. talent, Boucher smiled and said: — "Oh yes. But I wouldn't like to tip off any other club."

At Tacoma, he watched the Rockets of the Pacific Coast League, managed and coached by Murray (Muzz) Patrick, a son of Lester Patrick, one of the founders of professional hockey and now vice-president of Madison Square Garden.

Bing Jukes, of Charlottetown, P. E. I., and Buck Trainer, from Hamiota, Man., are N. H. L. possibilities at St. Paul, Boucher said. Jukes, at left wing, and Trainer, a right-winger, have been consistent standouts for the Saints.

Boucher plans one more scouting trip before the end of the season — to Northern Ontario. His plans are as yet indefinite.

Mayer's Breeding Farm Sold

Los Angeles, Feb. 2 — (AP) — The thoroughbred racing empire that Louis B. Mayer spent 10 years and millions of dollars to develop is no more.

All that remains is a herd of about 80 yearlings to be auctioned later this year.

Sale yesterday of the movie magnate's 504-acre breeding farm at Perris, Calif., for a price estimated at more than $1,000,000 was the last major step in the breakup of the Mayer racing realm, started in 1938.

Buyers of the farm were Ellsworth M. Statler, son of the founder of the Statler Hotel system, and Mrs. Meredith Howard Harless.

Ben Matthews, a Statler trustee, in announcing purchase of the Perris farm, said the new owners will continue it as a thoroughbred breeding centre, opening it to other interested horsemen.

Mayer spent an estimated $2,800,000 on the farm, including stallions, broodmares and yearling purchases, but turf experts figure it was profitable for him.

Earnings of the horses and sale of the ranch, breeding stock and two-year-olds totalled approximately $7,780,000.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 2 (CP)— Denis Compton, Britain's cricket idol and pin-up boy, has a "touching" offer of a legacy from a 73-year-old spinster he has never seen.

Now in South Africa with the touring Marylebone Cricket Club Compton received the offer in a letter from Miss Mary Bradshaw of Johannesburg. Said the writer:

"I am a great admirer of sport. I have nobody to leave things to, when I die. Have you any objection to my leaving my house and possessions to you in my will?"

The 31-year-old Compton's first reaction: "I scarcely know what to say." He told reporters he would try to get in touch with Miss Bradshaw when M.C.C. visits Johannesburg late in January.

Compton is the hero of England's cricket-loving schoolboys. His cellar-ad profile, reproduced on thousands of billboards and posters throughout the country, is familiar even to those who seldom see a cricket match.

The celebrated Grand National steeplechase, the most hazardous horse race of them all, will be run at Aintree in March. Already the tips are flying. One of the strangest so far comes from a judge at a famous British track.

Without identifying himself, he says: "Bet the horse with a tall jockey. Long legs give them better leverage and a lower centre of gravity. They stay on better."

Soccer Sidelights: A skilled electrician took a job on condition his company allow him Saturday afternoon off to watch Chelmsford City soccer games. Result: the firm broke a 25-year practice and switched its early-closing day from Wednesday to Saturday... Wilf Mannion, a hold-out since the soccer season opened, has signed with Middlesbrough. Two months ago he said he'd never kick a football for Middlesbrough again... Hughie Gallacher, still remembered as one of soccer's all-time greats, says soccer today makes him sick. "Too much money influence," he says. "Shekels count more than skill."

Old Hand: D'ye ken John Peall of the record break? Few people do, but 50 years ago the name was a household word in billiards. William John Peall, now a dapper, grey-haired man of 94, made a run of 3,004 before the turn of the century. It stood for more than 40 years until Walter Lindrum came along with a mark of more than 4,000.

Peall stopped playing billiards regularly after the war. He still has the occasional bame with his sons Ernest (72), Arthur (69), Gordon (68) or daughter Mabel (67). He has used the same cue for 76 years.

SUDBURY DEFEATED

Stockholm, Feb. 2 (CP) — Sudbury Wolves, Canada's representatives in the International hockey championships slated to begin Feb. 12, were defeated Tuesday by Sweden 4-2.

A crowd of 4,900 watched the Swedish team defeat Canada for the second time. They defeated the Canadians 2-0 Sunday in their first exhibition match.

Flying Dutchmen Riding High In Senior Race

(By The Canadian Press)

Toronto Marlboros had better take more than a second look at the powerful Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. They're going to be a tough squad to knock off in the playoffs.

Last night Billy Woodward's Dutchmen ran their winning streak to 12 consecutive games as they downed the fourth-place Owen Sound Mercurys 8-2 in their Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tilt. The win moved the Dutchmen four points ahead of the second-place Marlboros.

In a Junior A game last night, Toronto Marlboros moved into sole possession of fifth place by batting to a 3-3 tie with the eighth-place Galt Rockets in overtime play. The Dukes are one point ahead of the sixth-place Guelph Biltmores.

The Dutchmen have proved they can take care of any club in the five-team loop — at least for a while. In their last three meetings in Toronto with the potent Dukes they've come up with three decisive wins. In those three games, the Dutchmen have rattled home 14 goals. The Dukes have managed to get the puck past Kitchener netminder Marcel Pelletier once.

Last night Owen Sound was weak in every position and only a good performance by netminder Bobby Gilson kept the score down. The Dutchmen held a 4-1 edge at the end of the first period, went ahead 6-2 in the second and then scored two unanswered markers in the third.

Hurst Tallies Twice

The Dukes used shifty Eric Pogue for the first time since he broke a leg at Toronto Maple Leafs pre-season training camp last night. While not in top shape, he was always a threat and picked an assist on Marlies' second goal.

The Rockets opened the scoring early in the first period on two goals by Ken Green and Pat Lumley. Bob Hassard answered for the Dukes minutes later. Marlboros tied the score when Larry Egan beat netminder Sommerville in the second period.

Hassard got his second goal early in the third period and put the Dukes up 3-2. With five minutes left in the game, Pete Tkachuk scored on a solo rush. A total of 13 penalties were meted out eight going to Toronto.

Ten teams go into action tonight. In the Senior A loop, Toronto Marlboros clash with the third-place Hamilton Tigers and the Dutchmen play a return match with the Mercurys. In the Junior A division, Barrie Flyers play Windsor Spitfires, St. Catharines Teepees clash with Stratford Kroehlers and Toronto St. Michael's College Majors play the Biltmores.

CANINE CANVASSER DEAD

Tankard Playoffs Start This Week

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)— Play in Southern Ontario for the Ontario Silver Tankard and Associated trophies winds up this week.

Semi-finals in the Tankard, Burden, Governor's General's and Globe and Mail Trophies will be played in Toronto curling rinks at 9 a.m. Friday. The Tankard competition is at the Victoria Club, the Burden at High Park, the others at the Granite Club. Finals will be played later in day.

Elimination playoffs are due Thursday. Kingston, Orillia, Elmvale and Bracebridge meet the Toronto Victoria in the Tankard and Burden. Brampton, Thornbury, Walkerton and Brampton play at Toronto Granite Club in the same events. Other Tankard and Burden group play is at Oshawa where Toronto Royal Canadians, Oshawa Peterborough and Agincourt compete. At a previous competition at London, Hamilton Thistles won the Tankard group and Galt won the Burden.

Elimination playoffs Thursday in the Governor-General's and Globe and Mail events are: Kingston, Agincourt, Oshawa and winner of group No. 3 at Oshawa; Orillia, Gravenhurst, Elmvale and Flesherton at Toronto Granite; Hamilton Victorias, London, Mount Forest and Toronto play at Toronto High Park.

Sportsmen Urge Closed Season For the Moose

Toronto, Feb. 2. (CP)— A split decision on closing the moose season in Ontario came out of the north country Tuesday to plague the central body of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters hearing resolutions at its 21st annual meeting.

Two of the three zones in the north—Sudbury and Port Arthur—urged a two-year closed season. Delegates from the South Porcupine-Timmins area opposed the move. Final decision on the Federation stand will be made known before the annual meeting of the Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario legislature this Spring.

Williams Shields of Schumacher, speaking in support of an open season, said: "We don't want a closed season on moose until there are enough game wardens to enforce the laws. At present there are 75 per cent more moose killed illegally than are taken during the legal time and by legal means .At present some of our game overseers are 162 miles apart."

Dr. L. Giardine, South Porcupine referred to a recent conviction against a man who killed two moose near Timmins and was fined $20 for each animal. "This was a stupid decision and is typical of the attitude of magistrates sitting on fish and game cases across the province. We have been assured by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, that this verdict will be appealed."

Another resolution introduced by Sam Osborne of Sudbury, threw the meeting into an uproar. It censured the Ontario government for lack of action to curb and control pollution of streams and lakes, and insisted that "positive action be taken at once, not alone against the little sawmill operator who pollutes a stream with sawdust, but against the big industrial firms, which are the worst offenders."

Wins Support

Delegates from Windsor, Toronto, Brantford and Peterborough spoke on this measure which won unanimous support.

Len Hughes of North Bay voiced warm appreciation of the progress made by the Federation. "For 25 years I worked and argued urging the northern clubs and groups to amalgamate with the south. Today I am the proudest man on the continent, because such a thing has happened."

A resolution from Western Ontario asking that the partridge season be not opened until the leaves are off the trees, drew caustic comment from Pete McGillen of Peterborough, who said: "If the presence of leaves on the trees gives the partridge a better chance to escape, then this resolution is certainly not one for a conservation organization to be supporting. Then again, who is going to say when the leaves are off."

Meet in North

Next annual convention will be held in either Sudbury or North Bay, in consideration for the delegates from the Port Arthur, Dryden and Fort Francis area, who have so far to travel.

A contentious resolution on fishing sought an increase in the size limit for black bass to 12 inches, instead of 10. Dr. Wesley Curran of Queen's University opposed the change because of difficulties of enforcing it and because it was not possible to judge exactly what size fish should be in different regions to have a chance to spawn successfully.

Another resolution asked a $1 family fishing licence fee for Ontario residents, who now fish without licences.

Mr. Osborne said part of the trouble with conservation in Ontario lies within the fish regulations. "When we go out fishing we take our limit whether we can eat them or not. We spoil fishing for the next day."

Dr. H. H. MacKay, biologist of the Ontario Fish and Wildlife branch, said most authorities believed restocking above and below dams would do more to maintain the fish population than using fishways, or fish ladders, past the dams.

NUISANCE BECOMES USEFUL

Dogfish, formerly regarded as a nuisance by fishermen, have now become valuable when their livers were found to contain high Vitamin A potency.

QUESTION OF WAR

A voice from Quebec was heard when Real Caouette, Union Des Electeurs member for Pontiac, said his party believes Canada should remain neutral in another war unless she is attacked. He opposed conscription in any form.

His opinion ran counter to that of J. L. Raymond, Liberal member whose constituency of Wright adjoins that of Mr. Caouette's. Mr. Raymond told the Chamber Monday that those who believed Canada could remain neutral in a conflict with Russia were "very wrong."

No Action Taken

Justice Minister Garson said no action has been taken by his department to disallow the 1948 Prince Edward Island legislation which outlaws unions having national or international affiliations.

The Senate gave first reading to five government bills and received three new members appointed last week—Senators J. Gordon Fogo, national chairman of the Liberal party, John Caswell Davis of St. Boniface, Man., former President of the Manitoba Liberal Federation and T. H. Wood of Regina, all long-time Liberal party workers.

.Wr. Drew, in seeking to produce an emergency debate, said that if Mr. Harris had knowledge which justified his statement as reported "nothing else should take precedence over the placing before this House of the information upon which that statement is based."

Reads From Report

Mr. Drew read from the newspaper report which had Mr. Harris saying that war might come from the signing of the North Atlantic Security Pact which he estimated would be in about three months.

"If the Russians feel they must make war it will come at that time," the newspaper quoted Mr. Harris.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had no knowledge of the statement or the report of it. He welcomed a division of the house on an appeal from the speaker's decision, or rather on his ruling that there could be no appeal from his decision not to accept the motion.

Mr. Harris issued the following statement to newspaper men and later read it in the House:

"In view of the incorrect impression that might be created as to what I said at Brantford 10 days ago, I should like to make it clear that the signing of the Atlantic Pact would be the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world.

"I expressed the opinion that the signing might take place within the next three months. I said that I did not believe that we would have war, nor did I suggest that I had any knowledge about the matter other than what is generally known.

"I did say that the agreement of the nations which would be evidenced by the signing of the pact would place such a preponderant strength on the side of peace that it was highly unlikely that any aggressor, including Russia, would try to make war after the signing.

Pact Essential

"I emphasized that the pact was essential for the peace of the world and for the protection of Canada, and that its signing might even mark the beginning of better relations with Russia."

After he completed it in the House Mr. Drew rose and said:

"I take it then that the honorable member was misquoted?"

"You have no right to ask him a question of that kind," interjected Transport Minister Chevrier.

"Oh! Yes I have," retorted Mr. Drew. "Since when are you running the House?"

Mr. Harris said he thought his statement was clear to all including the leader of the opposition.

The incident was another example of the opposition's strategy at this new session—the "constant" attack method of keeping the government on the offensive.

It was the second division forced by the official opposition in the first week of the session — a procedure that usually takes up nearly a half-hour of time while all members present are counted invidinally, for and against.

Mr. Green said recent press dispatches indicated that a Pacific pact, similar to that now being negotiated for the Atlantic, might be formulated. If that was so, Canada should become a full partner. He also called for government assistance in setting up a steel industry in British Columbia.

Mr. White, the member from Middlesex East, sounded a call for preparedness in national defence and said it would not be too great a price to pay to ensure peace. The last two wars had started because the "enemy thought us weak."

As one step in this direction, he suggested the defence department give greater support to flying clubs, a source of men for the R. C. A. F. in the Second World War.

In the event of another war, there were certain areas in Canada and the United States which would be likely targets for the enemy's air force. One of the areas possibly would take in Windsor, Ont., and Detroit, where there was a great industrial concentration. Another might be Sarnia, Ont., where the synthetic rubber plant was located.

He suggested that when consideration is being given to the construction of steam power plants that the possibility of a war and bomber attacks be taken into account. He believed that Port Stanley, Ont., would be a good site for a steam power plant that would serve the Windsor-Detroit area.

Protests Action of "Snoopers"

G. S. White of Hastings-Peterborough protested against the activities of Prices Board "snoopers" in his constituency and criticized the method of collecting income tax from the farmers. The country's farming population was "up in arms" over the income tax question.

Mr. Beaudry proposed that the government slash personal income taxes by 50 per cent in the forthcoming budget and outlined a new taxation principle, involving changes in the method of exemption, which he said would remove some 724,000 taxpayers from the tax rolls.

Mr. Beaudry said Mr. Drew has changed his views on family allowances. He charged that Mr. Drew, as Premier of Ontario in 1944, had said that the Ontario government wou do everything in its power to defeat the "iniquitous" family allowances bill.

Mr. Drew had declared himself not only opposed to the principle but to all sections of the bill, passed by parliament in 1945.

Changed Tune Claim

Now, said Mr. Beaudry, Mr. Drew and his party were in favor of revising family allowances upwards.

Mr. Irvine criticized so-called monopolies and said various governmental investigations had failed to curb their activities. There was no doubt that they existed and continued to fix prices to the disadvantage of the consumer.

Some monopolies and cartels were under one management while others functioned by agreements between groups. The agreements often were unwritten, making it difficult to prosecute their members.

Steel companies were behind the "silken curtain of free enterprise hypocricy." They raised the price of steel and this brought price increases in every article the consumer had to buy.

They were the "dictators" of Canada's living standards and from time to time created depression, unemployment and want.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A guy tells me the game of bridge would not be much fun if every bid slam was made. Pardon me while I stifle an outburst of mirth. His is an impossible conclusion, humans being what they are.

Conventions are invented to help decide how safe it would be to try for a slam. Some of these conventions are reasonably accurate. But none are infallible. Nor will they ever be.

Only a long neck can tell exactly which oppenent has what cards of the opposition. And bridge is too ethical a game for this to be accepted as an applicable rule.

So, relying on conventions is a help but not a surety. And even when warned of danger, people are the funnest monkeys. There will always be players who take chances for one reason or another.

Up came this deal:

NORTH
♥ A J 4 3
♣ 7

WEST
♠ 9 3
♥ 9 7 6
♦ J 8
♣ Q J 10 8 6 2

EAST
♠ J 8 7 5 4
♥ K
♦ K Q 10
♣ 9 5 4 3

SOUTH
♠ Q 10
♥ Q 10 8 5 2
♦ 9 7 5 3
♣ A K

The bidding went like this:

South	North
1 H	2 S
2 NT	3 H
4 H	4 NT
5 H	6 H

Opener promised five tricks. His raise to four hearts promised a sixth trick. With six of his own, north then saw 12 in the pair; enough to suggest slam chances.

Slam safety may depend on enough aces and kings. Four notrump is the asker for them. Five hearts reply is a convention for an ace and a king. Opponents are thus known to have two kings.

West led a club. That six hearts was made is not the point today. When north goes to six hearts it is without knowledge of the danger. Humans will ever be thus. Else few would marry.

Hollywood, Feb. 2 (AP)—An-to 37 degrees in '48, the low, three pieces.

Paulette Goddard, a girl who has worked for Florenz Ziegfeld, Charlie Chaplin and Cecil B. DeMille, is generally conceded to be something of a female wizard. Her Hollywood reputation rates her as a little miss moneybags who has managed her career with unusual aplomb.

Concerning this, Paulette merely giggles and comments:

"Ridiculous!"

She goes further: "It's all press agents' dreams. I own nothing but a piece of beach property, and I haven't even had time to improve it. I limit myself to signing one paper a year."

Just Happened!

What about her paintings? She admitted she had quite a few in her apartment. And her gems? (Value of her jewelry has been estimated at $200,000 and upwards.) She admitted she didn't have to sign for that.

"I just say 'thanks,'" she grinned.

As for her career, "It all just happened. I never have sought after a role."

Supporting her on that point was producer John Wildberg.

"I first saw her in San Bernardino when we were making phone calls during a train stop. She said, 'don't let anyone tell you I don't want to do 'Anny Lucasta.'" For two years it was touch and go. I met her in trains, airplanes and in a Paris Cafe. I could never get her to say she would do the picture."

Good Deal

Finally, a few weeks before the picture started, Paulette said "yes."

"I knew all along that 'Anna' is one of the greatest roles ever written," she admits. "But I just don't like to be tied down. I like to think about one thing at a time."

Paulette's deal for "Anna" is reported at $17,500 a week plus a percentage of the profits. Which are pretty pleasant working conditions for a girl who just "stumbled on success."

Breeding Units Assisting Farmers To Improve Herds

Technician at the Belleville District Cattle Breeding Association, Dr. K. Mitchell, was guest speaker at the regular Kinsmen meeting, when he outlined to members the operation of the unit, headquarters of which are in Sidney township just west of the city.

The speaker noted that artificial breeding units were giving farmer members the advantages of high class sires for their herd and at considerably less cost than they could individually purchase and maintain a herd sire. The unit would do much to improve dairy herds in the district, he said.

Club members had a lengthy discussion on the Kinsmen district convention which is to take place in the city during May. Kinsmen club delegates from as far east as Quebec cit yand west to Trenton and Campbellford will attend the convention. It will be the first Kinsmen district convention to be held in the city.

The city-wide tuberculosis survey scheduled to take place starting April 5th and which is a joint project of the Belleville Shrine Club and the local Kinsmen club, was also discussed. Many of the details of the campaign were worked out, while it was noted that Dr. Jamieson, T. B. clinic head, will address the club at their next meeting.

It was reported that the Kinsmen Club boys' band was progressing favorably with practices being held regularly. The band would soon be ready for its first public appearance, it was stated.

110-Mile Ride On Bike Ends Near This City

That it is a long way from Toronto to Picton by way of Belleville — especially when riding a bicycle — was learned the hard way by 14-year-old Arthur Jackson, of Lansing in North Toronto.

Friday morning the lad started away from Toronto on his bicycle en route to Picton apparently to visit friends. Eighteen hours and 110 miles later he was found by provincial police standing along the road near the Ontario School for the Deaf, where he had become lost after missing the turn to Picton.

Police took the lad to their headquarters where he remained for the balance of the night. In the morning he was placed on a west-bound bus and his bicycle was expressed back to Toronto.

Once Partial Cripple Wins Marathon

The Port Arthur youth outsped a starting field of 95 contestants, 70 men and 25 girls, to cover the distance in seven hours and 26 minutes. Many of the contestants failed to finish.

Wirkkunen was stricken with a malady some years ago that deprived him of full use of his limbs, but overcame the handicap through exercise. In yesterday's race he finished with a swing-pace that gave him a lead of two miles at the finish.

Manslaughter Charge Laid Against Driver

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)— Virgil Barkman, 49-year-old barber, was remanded for a week when he appeared for preliminary hearing today on a manslaughter charge arising out of the highway death of William Miller, 21, early last Sunday.

He was released on $4,000 bail.

Police said no charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident would be laid. Barkman voluntarily ended a widespread search yesterday by walking into a Toronto police station and saying "I'm the man you're looking for."

Rewards totalling $1,000 had been offered for information leading to the apprehension of the driver, whose automobile struck and killed Miller, and seriously injured his 19-year-old fiancee, on the city's eastern outskirts. They were walking to a bus stop from a late Saturday-night dance.

LOVERS OF ANIMALS ARE SMALL CHILDREN

Have you ever watched a little boy light up like a Christmas tree when he has been given a dog to call his own? Most children like to own their own pets and can often play with them for hours. This charming three-year-old, Christine Parker of Bromley, Kent, Eng., wanted to take these white goat kids home with her when she visited the London zoo. No doubt Christine had heard about "Mary and her little lamb" and she wanted to go one better. Like Mary's lamb, the kids would probably have been pleased to follow her, but then their place is at the zoo where they can amuse other little visitors.—Central Press Canadian.

New Charge Laid Against 15-Year Boy

Drummeller, Alta., Feb. 3 — (CP) — A new charge was laid by police Tuesday night against a 15-year-old Rumsey, Alta. farm laborer in connection with the Dec. 1, 1948, shotgun - slaying of Mrs. Gladys Moore of Rumsey.

A murder charge against the boy was quashed yesterday in Supreme Court here on a legal technicality.

Constable James Baxter of the R. C. M. P. laid a charge with juvenile court Judge Horace Harcastle, stating the boy had committed a delinquency in that he did unlawfully murder Mrs. Moore.

HUGH F. YOUNG, 58, DIES

Search Resumed For Five Bodies

Ripon, Wis., Feb. 2 (AP) — Search was resumed today for the bodies of five persons believed to have perished in the fire which destroyed the Grand View Hotel early yesterday.

One unidentified body was recovered from the ruins late yesterday, but police said five other hotel guests still were missing.

CharwomenMarch Through Streets Of Old London

London, Feb. 2 (Reuters)—London charwomen, 100 strong, flourishing mops, marched the streets of London Tuesday in the most touching wage demonstration the city has seen in a long time.

Jigging along to the music of three Scottish pipers, they carried posters saying:

"Cleanliness is next to godliness, women cleaners are next to starvation."

All were up at dawn scrubbing out Whitehall offices before members of parliament and civil servants arrived. But tired feet and aching backs did not deter them from gathering at noon to march two miles from the Thames embankment to Lincoln's Inn Field, a centre of London's legal activities.

The cleaners, who get 1s 8½d (about 34 cents) an hour, want two shillings an hour. They were insulted that the government only offered them a farthing-an-hour increase.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself with a sattisfied expression, and ma said, William, is it true that the best cigars are the ones made in Cuba by human hands?

Nuthing could be truer, pop said, and ma said, Did you ever hear of a box of cigars from Havanna called Earl of Queensberry?

I'll say I have, pop said. I've even smoked them from time to time in my luckier moments, he said, and ma said, Well, I've bawt you a whole full box of 25.

I must be dreaming, where are they? pop said, and ma said, You're not going to get them till New Years day. That's the whole idea, mean I got them to save you from the hopeless, one-sided struggle of your annual New Year resolution to stop smoking. The longest you ever kept it was 3 days, so now you can spare yourself the useless mental anguish of even making it. You can avoid all that stress and strane and waisted expenditure of will power. You can just sit quietly back and puff on an Earl of Queensberry while you calmly make some practical resolution that you'll have at least a ghostly chance of keeping, she said.

Are you by any chance thinking of any particuler resolution? pop said, and ma said, Well, I thawt perhaps you mite resolve to be a little more social about agreeing to play bridge a little more often. Of course it's only a suggestion, she said.

Consider it ratefully rejected, pop said. Any child could keep a resolution like that. I'll stick to my guns like a man and resolve to quit smoking. This may very likely be the year I'll keep it, who knows? he said.

Then I mite as well return the box of cigars, ma said, and pop said, Oh, dont bother, leave them around, now that they're here.

Bouchard, Lach Ready for Duty With Canadiens

After a nightmarish weekend which Montreal Canadiens and their fans can't forget quickly enough, the team's high command came up with the bright announcement that veterans Emile (Butch) Bouchard and Elmer Lach would see action against Toronto Maple Leafs, Thursday night at Montreal.

The Montrealers, who lost face on home ice Saturday night when they suffered a 5-2 defeat at the hands of Detroit Red Wings and then went on to receive a humiliating 9-0 trouncing the next night at New York, report that Defenceman Bouchard has recovered from a knee injury that kept him off the ice lanes for the best part of the present campaign.

Victory to either team is important. Toronto, in fifth-place with 36 points, is only one point away from the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers while Montreal is grouped in a three-way split for second-place with Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins.

Toronto's Turk Broda thinks he still has a chance to capture the Vezina trophy, emblematic of the award to the goaler with the least goals scored against him during a season.

"If the club really started rolling I could win it," said the "fat man", on his return from a 4-2 loss at Chicago last weekend.

"That's a lot," agrees Broda, "but I was down some this time last year and I still won the trophy.

"If the guys get in there and hit 'em, really start going, we'll get in the playoffs and win the Vezina again."

LO, THE POOR INDIAN—SILHOUETTED AGAINST HEAVY SNOWS

A group of Navajo Indians, with their pack ponies are shown against the heavy snows which covered northern Arizona and marooned them, as they waved to a low flying airplane which sighted them just before the Arizona state department of highways turned out snow fighting equipment to open a road and rescue them. Notice the distress signal in background. While human beings generally managed to ride out the storm, as much could not be said for their livestock, and sheep owned by the Indians on their reservation were rescued from starvation by hay dropped to the drift covered ground from U.S. air force rescue planes.—Central Press Canadian.

National Hockey Loop Highlights

Detroit Red Wings added another four points to their total during the week to increase their lead over the second-place occupants, Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens, to 10 points. Detroit is on the top perch with 52 points. Chicago Black Hawks follow Bruins and Canadiens with 37 points. Toronto Maple Leafs are next with 36, one more than New York Rangers, who bring up the rear with 35 points.

Doug Bentley of Chicago is in sole possession of first place among the individual scorers. The speedy Chicago centre has 17 goals and 31 assists for 48 points. Roy Conacher of Chicago is second with 17 goals and 29 assists for 46 points. Sid Abel of Detroit and Billy Reay of Canadiens are deadlocked in the third slot with 37 points each. Abel has 19 goals and 18 assists while Reay has 18 goals and 19 assists.

Sharpest sniper in the circuit to date is Sid Abel with 19 tallies. Billy Reay, Harry Watson and Grant Warwick are one goal behind with 18 counters each. Doug Bentley has assisted in more goals than any other player — 31.

Charlie Rayner's brilliant 9-0 blanking of Canadiens on January 30 put the black - thatched Ranger netminder ahead of all the N. H. L. goaltenders. Rangers have only allowed 99 goals to be scored on them in 37 games. Canadiens with Bill Durnan in nets have had 100 goals scored on them in 41 games. Rayner has had five shutouts; Durnan has had four; Turk Broda has had four; Harry Lumley has three and Frank Brimsek one.

Montreal Canadiens top all other teams in number of penalties for the second straight week. Canadiens have been penalized 514 minutes. Toronto's Bill Ezinicki continues to lead all other players in amassing penalties. The rugged right winger has spent 103 minutes in the "sin-bin".

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 2 (AP)— During a recent wrestling match at Indiana University, one of our spies reports, footballer Walt Bartkiewicz had an opponent on the mat but couldn't pin him... A fraternity brother who was watching shouted to Walt: "Try a half-nelson." ... Bartkiewicz, still holding his man under control, hoisted himself up and asked "What's a half-nelson?" ... The "brother" demonstrated on a nearby pledge; Bartkiewicz exclaimed "oh I see,' 'and promptly pinned his rival.

Sports Before Your Eyes

Seattle Hanover, the "trotter" for which Mrs. Frances Dodge Johnson paid $18,000, is causing his owner and trainer considerable embarrassment because he'd rather pace ... as soon as George Guerre, Michigan State's 157-pound football star, was graduated this winter he took over the job of assistant alumni director ... Johnny Perkovich, Chicago White Sox pitching prospect, once sold peanuts in Comiskey Park. Leave us not say he'll be pitching for the same things in the same place.

She Pitched a Three Ringer

About a year ago Mrs. E. L. Hopkins of Cleveland was strolling through the Hialeah paddock when she encountered trainer J. P. (Sammy) Smith .. Sammy was on his way to saddle the horse Three Rings, which was entered for $7,500 in the next race "I'd like to buy that horse," Mrs. Hopkins remarked, and Sammy replied, "You can have him right now" ... the change of ownership was effected in the paddock and announced over the speakers ... Three Rings then went out in the Hopkins colors and won at 25 to 1. He's been doing right well ever since.

STEWART MAY GET JOB

Boston, Feb. 2 — (AP)—His friends hereabouts are expecting Bill Stewart to be named umpire-in-chief of the National League.

Bill Klem, present chief of arbiters in the senior major baseball league, is 75 years old and is reported ill at his home in Miami.

Stewart, a former referee in the National Hockey League, who spends the winter as referee-in-chief of the American Hockey League, has been invited by Commissioner A. B. Chandler to sit with baseball's rules committee at Sarasota, Fla., March 3.

Show Animals Not Profitable To Beef Producers

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)—Ontario livestock breeders whose animals carry off the blue ribbons at the big fairs may be losing sight of their best source of income: Meat sales at the corner butcher-shop.

Prof. R. G. Knox of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph yesterday told the Ontario Shorthorn Club's annual meeting that show ring standards and commercial demands are becoming too far apart. He said the difference between the commercial shorthorn steer and the beribboned champion of the shows usually is a matter of fat.

Desirable characteristics of livestock are those which will pay off for the farmer rather than those which might catch the eye of present-day show ring judges, he said.

Prof. Knox said he felt that Ontario could maintain more cattle to the acre by use of so-called marginal land and hills.

Such lands could contribute enormously to the intensity of farming on better lands," he said. "Education and research are futile unless they result in an action program which, like the spring rains, sinks well down to the roots."

Prof. Knox said he believed United States beef prices soon would fall. He said U.S. production of pork and poultry during 1949 is expected to be heavy.

T. C. Amos of Moffat was reelected President of the Shorthorn Breeders.

The Canadian Jersey Cattle Club passed a resolution criticizing yellow coloring of margarine. Ontario directors of the association named for the coming year are: Col. Bartley Bull of Brampton, F. M. Chapman of Pickering, Harry Collins of Woodstock, J. W. Pawley of Caledon and W. D Thompson of Brooklin.

Directors meetings were held by Holstein-Friesian Breeders, Hereford and Aberdeen Angus Breeders. Today the Holstein men hold their annual meeting while Ontario Cheese Producers hold a quarterly session.

CONICK TOP SCORER

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)— Johnny Conick of third place Hamilton Tigers tops the scorers in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Figures released by the O.H.A. including games of Jan. 29 show Conick has 59 points from 29 goals and 30 assists.

Team-mate Clare Shillington is two points behind with 27 goals and 30 assists. Four points down the ladder comes Don Bauer of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen with 28 goals and 25 assists.

MOTHER BREAKS SAD NEWS TO DAUGHTER

Mrs. Frederick Billson tries to comfort her daughter, Helen, a 19-year-old model, at Toronto East General hospital after telling her that her fiance, William Miller, had been killed in the hit-and-run accident that shattered her leg and left her in critical condition. One of the most intensive manhunts in history of the Ontario provincial police ended with the surrender of Virgil Barkman, 49, a Toronto barber, in connection with the accident. Barkman, with his wife at his side, said his conscience had bothered him ever since the accident and especially after he read of the terrible injuries received by the dead youth's fiancee. Police said Barkman told them he was driving a borrowed car when the accident happened. His own car was being repaired, they said. — Central Press Canadian.

London, Feb. 2 (CP)—London's popular newspapers, with slightly more newsprint at their disposal, seem to be concentrating on winning new readers among women and young people.

That's the impression emerging from a month in which penny papers have been able to expand three days a week to six pages instead of their usual four. A large proportion of the extra space has been devoted to features especially for women and youth.

Besides expanding, the papers have been permitted to sell as many copies as they can instead of limiting circulation to their sales of the summer of 1947, when a dollar crisis cut short the last period of free sales.

The result is that the tabloid Daily Mirror, the only London newspaper to run a full page of comic strips, and Lord Beaverbrook's terse, feature-crammed Daily Express, each claim to have passed a daily circulation of 4,000,000.

The News of the World, published each Sunday, still claims the world's largest newspaper circulation with sales exceeding 8,000,000.

Two Exceptions

Two exceptions in the daily papers' scramble for additional readers are The Times and Daily Telegraph. During the period when newsprint was restricted, both papers reduced ciculation so that news presentation would not be further cramped.

Both now are readily obtainable at their customary size. The Telegraph, sometimes nicknamed "The Poor Man's Times," is thought to have passed the 1,000,000 mark. It sells for 1 1-2d. Compared with 3d for the Times and 1d. for all other London dailies.

Before the Second World War Birtish newspapers, averaging from 16 to 24 pages in size, had a total circulation of 19,000,000 daily. This figure now is estimated at 29,000,000.

A reduction to four pages came was not until 1946 that six pages were allowed every other day and sales were unrestricted. In the period that followed the Daily Express and Daily Mirror gave a preview of their drawing powers, but restrictions were reimposed in 1947 to reduce dollar expenditures for Canadian newsprint.

Before they were lifted again this year prophets forecast a rash of comic strips, but only two or three have been added to pages which usually are bare of such features.

The general trend has been towards columns and articles with popular appeal to the family as a whole rather than the wage-earner. Sports which in many cases already occupied almost a quarter of the four-page paper have been given little new space.

Film Industry In Great Britain Facing Crisis

"Let them cut our salaries if they wish," said Margaret Lockwood, long Britain's leading lady of the screen.

"Agreed," said blonde Valerie Hobson. "Something must be done if we're to stay in business."

They were commenting on reports that screen stars in the high salary brackets may be harshly treated by proposed new economies in the industry. One suggestion was that actors and actresses who make £12,000 ($48,000) a picture may be pruned to £1,000 and a share of the profits.

"What of it?" asked Miss Lockwood. "Money means very little—except on paper—when your income tax is 19 shillings and sixpence ($3.90) in the pound."

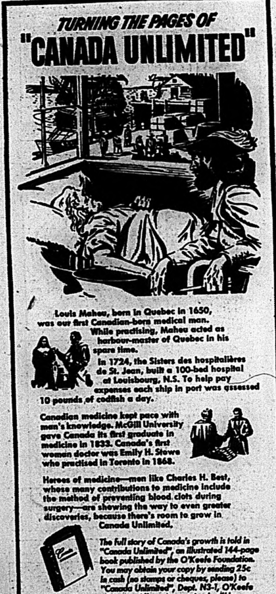
The threat of an economic strait-jacket emerged yesterday. Leaders of the firm trade unions told the government that 11 studios were empty this week and more than 500 film workers were being dismissed. These movies, union officials said, meant "potential ruin" for the industry.

It was understood that even the powerful interests of J. Arthur Rank feel the pinch. Rank, who has an extensive theatre chain in Canada, reported he is determined to make films at a top cost of £100,000 apiece. Present average is £180,000.

The film crisis had its echo in the House of Lords, which gave second reading to a bill authorising the government to loan £5,000,000 to Britain's independent film producers.

REMEMBER PIONEERS

Morden, Man., — (CP) —Gretna Community wants to have a cairn put up to commemorate the old post road and settlers who first built up the area from the Red River to the Pembina Hills. They are being supported by the Pembina Hills Historic Society.



TURNING THE PAGES OF
"CANADA UNLIMITED"

Louis Maheu, born in Quebec in 1650, was our first Canadian-born medical man. While practising, Maheu acted as harbour-master of Quebec in his spare time.

In 1724, the Sisters des hospitalières de St. Jean, built a 100-bed hospital at Louisbourg, N.S. To help pay expenses each ship in port was assessed 10 pounds of codfish a day.

Canadian medicine kept pace with man's knowledge. McGill University gave Canada its first graduate in medicine in 1833. Canada's first woman doctor was Emily H. Stowe who practised in Toronto in 1868.

Heroes of medicine—men like Charles H. Best, whose many contributions to medicine include the method of preventing blood clots during surgery—are showing the way to even greater discoveries, because there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

The full story of Canada's growth is told in "Canada Unlimited", an illustrated 144-page book published by the O'Keefe Foundation. You may obtain your copy by sending 25c in cash (no stamps or cheques, please) to "Canada Unlimited", Dept. N3-1, O'Keefe House, Toronto, Ontario. All monies received will be donated to the Canadian Citizenship Council.*

PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

2 Barrie Youths Sent to Prison For Armed Holdup

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)— Two Barrie youths who held up Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson in their Toronto home last Jan. 7 and made off with their automobile and considerable household equipment, today were sentenced to a total of seven years imprisonment.

James Jesson, 23, and his 20-year-old brother, Vincent, who was employed as a house boy by the Johnsons, were charged with armed robbery and car theft.

James was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary and his brother given two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory.

Police said the pair held up the Johnsons at gun-point, using a revolver from Mr. Johnson's collection, trussed the couple up, looted their home and made off in their automobile. The youths were arrested later at Three Rivers, Que.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

White's District— Mrs. W. H. May opened her home for a quilting for the White's Woman's Association on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Jean Dudley has been ill with inflenza.

Mr. R. Hunt is a patient in Kingston Hospital. His many friends hope he will be able to return home soon.

Mrs. Glen Meyers, leader of the Sunbeam Mission Band, conducted the January meeting in Quinte View School, on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Leonard Young, who has been ill, is able to be out again.

There was a good attendance at Sunday School and Church services at White's Church on Sunday afternoon. The Rev. A.C. McCallum based his sermon on "Behold the Open Door." He spoke reminiscently of his former western charges, where he met many Ontario people and hoped at that time to be able to preach in Ontario He has served faithfully here for many years leading both young and old to be faithful followers in the various works of the church.

Mr. Donald Sandercock is spending several days in Toronto with relatives and friends and will attend the Ice Carnival.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

Her hat swung from her hand. Very gently he turned her face up so that the light from the street lamp fell on it. "You really want me to?" he asked gently, their lips close.

She nodded. It was a rather spiritual moment, she thought. "I really want to do things for you," she said.

"Sweet child!"

"Dear Marion:"

The reason I haven't written before—

Rosalie looked at the line she had started half an hour before and wondered how she could go on. How could she tell Marion about the lazy days she had spent waiting and remembering? The days that were only interludes between seeing Norman. How could she tell Marion about Norman? And of the great sum of money that the week had cost her.

"It's my money," she said aloud with a trace of defiance and defense in her voice. She tore the sheet of paper into small pieces.

The ringing of her telephone was a welcome interruption to her thoughts. She hoped it would be Norman. When she talked to him, when she was with him, she was not troubled. Then the scheme seemed right. She was rich and Norman was poor, and she wanted to do the things, expensive things they did. She would have them always to remember.

If Norman hadn't been sweet ever since the night they'd dined in the little Italian cafe and then sat on the dock and watched the East River, she would never have had those experiences. Being one with the fashionable crowd at the races. But Norman needn't have bet and lost her money. Dancing at a smart night club and having Norman point out the society girls whose names she had read in the newspapers. But Norman need not have bought champagne for the couple who stopped at their table. The night they'd motored up to Westport to hear the symphony under the stars. Glorious night! Norman had interpreted the music for her. She'd never known Tschaikowsky before. She would always love his music now. The car Norman hired had cost twenty-five dollars.

The conflicting threads ran through her mind as she crossed the room to answer the telephone.

"Hello, Rosalie? . . ."

Rosalie said, "Hello, Jane." Anticipation lifted her voice. Jane Woodward was Hank Woodward's wife — the Woodwards were the couple for whom Norman had bought the champagne. Jane had said casually that she'd ring Rosalie up for tea when she was "in from the island."

"Isn't it beastly . . ." Jane's voice said wearily. "I've got to wait to drive Hank home. I'm free for an hour."

"Will you have tea with me?" Rosalie said at once.

"Tea? Aren't you archaic? Meet me at the Rankin in twenty minutes, Rosalie. It's cool there and rather amusing. The music is good."

Rosalie was excited about meeting the other girl. Jane Woodward was the only other person she knew who knew Norman and the hour ahead meant that she would have a whole hour in which to talk about him.

But Jane was not alone. She had brought along "Mildred Daly, another old flame of Norman's, Rosalie."

Rosalie said she was "so glad," but she felt resentful, and she could think of little to say to add to the chatter of the other girls. They sipped long, cool drinks. At last she said, "Do you know Mr. Carteret very well?"

"Mr. Car. . . ? Oh, Norman? I used to," Mrs. Daly answered, exchanging an amused glance with Jane. "He's rather sweet, don't you think so?"

Rosalie didn't answer. Jane did:

There was a crisp edge to Rosalie's voice that she did not intend when she asked, "Why?"

"Well, life isn't much fun for them. Financially they haven't much future."

"I don't think I know what you mean."

"My dear," Mrs. Daly offered, "Jane means that Norman is a sort of post-flapper — of the he species, I mean. Good-looking with good manners, a manner he may have been born to, or picked up, and little else. Of course we accept that sort of thing today because we need men. Personally, I'm not so sorry for them because they can always do what the girls used to do — make a good marriage. What Norman ought to do— and heaven only knows he's been trying hard enough — is to marry a girl with a lot of money and..."

Jane's heel came down very quickly and effectively on Mildred's instep. Jane's voice said hastily, "Mildred, weren't your to phone Debbie at five?"

"Heavens, yes!" She got up hastily.

When she had gone, Jane turned to Rosalie. "Mildred is a darling but she talks too much."

"What did she means about Norman's trying to marry a rich girl?"

"Norman probably hasn't told you, and perhaps I shouldn't, but, my dear, it's too good to keep. Shall I?"

Rosalie nodded, wanting, yet not wanting, to hear.

"Well, we've all been twitting Norman about signing up with something called the Empire Escort Service, or something like that. Don't let on to him that I've told you! We've all been accusing him of doing that so that he could meet some gal with a million or so."

Rosalie swallowed very hard. "When you saw him with me at the night club, didn't it occur to you that I might be one of the... the Empire clients?"

Jane laughed and patted Rosalie's hand. "My dear, of course not! You don't look the type, and besides, Norman wouldn't have been having such a good time."

Rosalie said nothing to that. In a strict sense, she was still a client. But was she? But wasn't there something else between them?

"You like him, don't you?"

"Pay no attentio anything we say. Norman might marry a girl with a great deal more money than he has, but, darling, he wouldn't marry a girl who wasn't in the social register. He hasn't actually any position himself but he's awfully strong for it, and you may be sure he wouldn't step out of what he wants to be his class."

Rosalie said, "It couldn't possibly make any difference to me."

Two hours later, waiting for Norman, Rosalie remembered every word of that conversation. He wouldn't marry a girl who was not in the social register. Rosalie Bates was not in the social register, never would be.

Thinking these things, she saw her dream collapse, and being Rosalie Bates, made a decision. She would run away before she was hurt.

She cancelled her last passage to Bermuda. This time she would make another and go. She didn't tell that to Norman until the night before she sailed. All the week she had tried to tell him but the second week had been very different from the first.

"You've had your fling, Rosalie. You've seen all the fashionable places. Now it is my turn And we'll do it my way."

So there were no more large checks for Rosalie to sign, no exchange of money. There were little dinners and cheap foreign movies, and free concerts, and trips to the museums. And Rosalie's misgivings disappeared before Norman's charm.

Then one night he kissed her. And Rosalie waited for him to say he cared for her. The silence was sweet with waiting and it remained silence.

Rosalie broke in: "I'm glad you did that Norman. I haven't known how you felt about me?"

"Haven't you, Rosalie? I think we feel the same way about each other. We like to be together."

Again Rosalie waited, and again there was silence. If Norman felt the same way about her surely there would be endless things to say. But Norman had nothing to say.

On Friday she said, "I'm sailing to Bermuda tomorrow, Norman. How do I say thank you for all that you've done to make these last two weeks so perfect?"

There was a lump in her throat.

"By coming back soon. I've plans for you."

"Wh . . . what kind of plans?"

"You're going to stay in New York for the winter. You'll find an apartment and be a real New Yorker. I'll introduce you to lots of people and ..."

Rosalie hated him at that moment. He had spent every evening with her! He'd rung her up every day! He'd kissed her, and now he had "plans" for her. But not plans for the two of them.

She said, "I have no idea when I'm coming back, but it will be nice to see you again." Each little word was edged with hurt and anger.

"I'll be waiting for you," he said calmly.

And that was the phrase that she carried away with her. With the corsage of orchids, the three novels that he gave her, and the memory of his airy salute as the big ship moved slowly away from the wharf.

Rosalie saw him through a thin veil of mist.

She'd wanted life to be as it was in story books and this was it. This was parting from the first real romance she had ever known. That it was parting Norman Ellis Carteret did not know. But Rosalie knew. She knew it because she had meant it so. She knew, deep in her heart, that she was not good enough — good was her word, she meant glamorous — for a man who knew worlds with which she was not yet familiar.

But as she found her way along the narrow passage to her stateroom, she vowed she would learn the ways of the world to which he belonged. And she meant to start at once.

Rosalie took the black dress. The yellow one, the red one and the blue cotton print she put on hangers and hung in the spacious closet of her stateroom where they swayed gently with the roll of the ship.

The palatial cruise ship was four hours out and it was time to dress for dinner. All the things that Rosalie had heard about dressing or not dressing for dinner meant nothing to her. She solved the problem by deciding to do what she wanted most to do. She wanted to meet people and she wanted to look her prettiest. She wanted to meet people who would make her forget Norman and the feeling of emptiness, mixed slightly with a feeling of nobility that she had experienced since she had had the courage to say farewell to him.

His orchids drooped in the glass on the dressing table beside her bed. While she cold-creamed her face, applied make-up delicately and brushed her hair until it shone, she debated whether to throw them through the porthole or to wear them. She'd wear them she decided. Orchids were, to her, a symbol of something glamorous and Rosalie meant to use all the materials at hand.

She was glad she wore them, wore the long-skirted and long-sleeved black sheer when she arrived at the dining-room. The others at her table were formally dressed. They wouldn't know, she hoped, how awkward and unfamiliar to it all she felt.

There were already five others at the table — three men and two youngish women. She wished desperately that she were at a table alone, and wondered how long she could sit there listening to them and appear not to be listening.

One of the elderly men spoke twice before she realized he was speaking to her. After that she found it easy to join in their conversation. No, she said, she was not getting off on the tender at St. George, she was going on to Bermuda. She didn't know exactly where she would stay. The conversation wasn't very exciting but it was good to feel included.

There was dancing in the A deck lounge, they told her. Rosalie thanked them and wished she dare ask them if there were a hostess to introduce her to some one.

Truman Believes U.S. Can Head Off Economic Disaster

Washington, Feb. 2. (AP) — resident Truman said last night e believes the United States an head off economic disaster.

It must not only do that, he aid, but must follow through ith the job of "world planning".

"I think that before any disaser with which we may be faced omes about," said Truman, "we vill be in a position to meet it."

He voiced his thoughts at a inner of the National Planning Association in an extemooraneous alk that was alternately humorous and deadly serious.

Efforts to make government erve the people morke efficienty go hand in hand with economic planning to avert the disaster of depression, he declared.

The president spoke of the dark days from 1929 through 1932, of earlier depressions, and said planners, in and out of government, are working to prevent a recurrence of disaster.

Scientists studying 19 different ways of heating homes aren't sure. One of their conclusions is that room heat shouldn't be thrown away rashly by opening windows. Enough fresh air, they say, comes in through chinks around doors and windows.

Bexley, Kent, England, (CP)—Every day people knock at Mrs. Moira Newman's door and ask her to look at insects.

Mrs. Newman is the wife of a lepidopterist, a professional breeder and dealer in butterflies and moths. For her this entails a few hundred caterpillars in the linen cupboard, a cage of moths in the kitchen, as well as muslin bags containing more caterpillars in the garden.

Mrs. Newman says: "It is not unusual for half a million caterpillars to be feeding here at the same time."

Here's why:

Frozen switches at Austin. Delay: Two hours.

Sewer burst at Waco, washing out one of the tracks. Another delay.

Were passengers mad?

"Nope", said Adron R. Newman. "There was nothing we could do to start the train. We relaxed and had fun. We even got off the train and threw a few snowballs."

CARDINAL MINDSZENTY PLEADS 'PARTLY GUILTY'

$6,000 In Bonds Stolen From Vault Of Napanee Sheriff

Engineer's Vault Rifled But Nothing is Removed

Napanee, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Thieves Wednesday night escaped with $6,000 in bonds, including $1,600 in bearer bonds, from the office of Sheriff J. L. Haycock.

Police said the thieves forced open a rear door and broke into a desk drawer from which they removed keys to the sheriff's vault and the vault of the county engineer in the same building. The engineer's vault was rifled but nothing was removed.

The theft was discovered shortly after 8:30 a. m. today when Fred Bush, chief turnkey of the county jail, reported for work. Police believe the robbery took place about midnight.

A rusty hand saw, a knife, and a pair of blacksmith's tongs found in the office were being examined for finger prints.

EIGHT KILLED AS PLANE NOSES INTO AIRSTRIP

Aircraft Carrying Holiday Bound Bushworkers to Their Homes

Baie De La Trinite, Que, Feb. 3 (CP) — Eight persons were killed in a crash Wednesday of an airplane carrying holiday-bound bushworkers to their homes. Six were killed outright. Two died this morning of injuries.

The plane owned by St. Lawrence Airways plummetted nose first into the airstrip shortly after becoming airborne on the outskirts of this tiny St. Lawrence gulf village 250 miles northeast of Quebec.

Four were critically injured and flown to hospital at Rimouski whence came word today that two of the injured died. The other two were reported in "fair condition."

Two Die in Hospital

The two who died today were identified as Edgar Lebel of Rimouski and Louis Ross of St. Marcelin, Que. They were employed on bush operations by the St. Lawrence Paper Mills, Co.

Three others of the dead were tentatively identified late last night as Ken Smith, the pilot; George Ouellette of Montreal, plane mechanic and Lionel Gagnon of Petite Matane, Que., a bush worker.

The two injured survivors were Donat Cote of Nazareth, Que., near Rimouski, who suffered severe shock and Roger Boudreau of Matane, who has a fractured thigh.

Smith, who was believed to be a native of Ontario, and Ouellette were employed by St. Lawrence Airways which operates an unscheduled service of flights out of Riviere Du Loup, Que.

The injured, all St. Lawrence Mills woods workers, were tentatively identified as Edgar Lebel and Donat Cote, Rimouski; Louis Ross, St. Marcellin-De-Rimouski and Rooer Boudreault of St. Jean De Cherbrourg, Que.

Gave up Seat

A. Bechard, another woodsman bound for Rimouski, gave up his seat on the plane at the last minute to one of the passengers who was killed.

Henri Durette, village taxi-driver, said he and Bechard assisted in removing the bodies and the injured from the ill-fated twin-engine aircraft which was bound for Rimouski.

Durette said that shortly after leaving the snow-covered Tarnack, the Anson Mark V did a "crazy little" dip but that the pilot appeared to have righted it.

"All of a sudden," he said, "it came straight down, nose first" into the 3.600-foot long airstrip. The pilot, mechanic and four of the passengers were dead when he and Bechard reached the plane, Durette said.

The cab driver estimated that the plane fell about 400 feet. He said he had not noticed any soluttering of the motors before the plane plummeted earthward. The crash happened about 4 p.m.

About 10 bush workers being flown from Anticosti island to the mainland were killed last winter when a plane crashed into the submit of a mountain in north Gaspe.

Racetrack Groom Acquitted On Murder Charge

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)—Vincent St. Lawrence, 24, has been acquitted of murder in the racetrack bludgeon death of George (Cowboy) Parker, 37, formerly of Calgary.

An assize court jury Wednesday night deliberated more than six hours before freeing the racetrack groom, known on the tracks as "Ginsberg." When the verdict was announced, St. Lawrence, arms outstretched, leaped to his feet in the prisoner's dock and shouted, "thank God."

Parker, a racing stable groom at Woodbine race track, was found at the track the night of Oct. 9 with skull fractures and other injuries. He died in hospital next morning. He had won a large bet at another track that day and, when trackmates found him beaten, about $200 of his winnings was missing.

The crown alleged that Parker had been beaten with a wooden bludgeon, described variously as a baseball bat and as the "twitch" or thonged stick which track workers use to lead unruly horses, and robbed of his winnings. The prosecution produced evidence that St. Lawrence was seen bending over the battered Parker and that later he gave another track worker $203 to hold for him because he was getting drunk.

The defence called no witnesses. St. Lawrence's lawyer, George Ferguson, told the jury no blood was found on the accused man's clothing although Parker had been covered with blood and the fence near which Parker was found was spattered. He said too, that St. Lawrence and Parker were friends and "a friend doesn't murder a friend."

Cornwall Man Inherits $2,500,000 From Second Cousin in Australia

Cornwall, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Notified he is one of eight heirs equally sharing a £5,000,000 ($20,000,000) New Zealand estate, 55-year-old David Marshall Telfer said today he plans to establish himself in business.

He said another Conadian named Telfer living in Montreal was also one of the eight who would share the fortune, but he did not know the Montreal man's Christian name or street address.

"I'm too old to lose my head over a thing like this," said Telfer, a naval architect and marine surveyor. "I plan to start in business as soon as my wife gets back from a holiday. It will be some sort of an engineering business—most likely ship repairs."

Mr. Telfer said today that he would receive about a $2,500,000 share of the estate left by a childless and intestate second cousin, Charles Telfer of Wellington, New Zealand. The estate is made up of both money and property of Charles Telfer who died in 1927.

Search for heirs lasted until December, 1947, and they were located in Canada, the United States and Scotland. Mr. Telfer said his share of the fortune is now en route to Canada from New Zealand.

A native of Glasgow, Scotland, David Telfer went to sea at an early age. He has been around the world twice on steamships. During the First World War he worked on naval construction at Malta and in the Second World War he worked in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax overseeing construction of tribal class destroyers.

Telfer has two sons, Reginald, 18, and Richard, 15.

Porter Will Open New Meaford School

Meaford, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Education Minister Porter will open a new $296,000 public school tomorrow in this Grey county community 20 miles east of Owen Sound.

WOMAN INJURED GOING THRU PARIS PICKET LINE, DIES

Nine More Arrested In Flare-up at Mill

Paris Feb. 3 (CP)— Coinciding with a fresh outbreak on the Penman Picket lines, Mrs. Charles Cardy, 45-year-old hosiery inspector and mender in the Penmans Mill, died today of injuries received Jan. 19.

Mrs. Cardy was injured while going through the picket line outside the mill, on her way to work on the second day of the strike called by the United Textile Workers (A.F.L.) to enforce wage and union security demands.

It was not immediately disclosed what injuries had caused Mrs. Cardy's death. Police intimated it would result in the most serious charge to be laid since the start of the strike.

Mrs. Cardy, who had been employed in the mill since 1928, is survived by her husband, one daughter, Kathleen, and two sons William and John.

When Penman workers were going on the job this morning, the pickets virtually ignored No. 1 and No. 3 mills and concentrated their efforts on No. 9 mill. As a result, Provincial Police also concentrated their force there.

A series of flare-ups merged into a free-for-all, and police finally arrested nine persons: Helen Murphy, 22, secretary treasurer of the U.T.W.A. Local in Paris; Mrs. Hendrika Bethune, 22, already summoned on another charge; Arthur Gignac, 24, previous arrested and out on bail; Robert W. Williams, 16; William Horsfall, 21; Charles Campbell, 26; Leo Hserman, 21; Wilbert Hilborn, 16, William Williamson, 23.

Pending the transfer of the nine prisoners to Brantford to be charged and have bail set, it was not known what the charges would be.

Says She Was Struck

Mrs. Bethune told spectators she was struck in the face by an Ontario Provincial Police officer after an employee's automobile ran over her foot.

Miss Murphy escaped from the milling crowd and was arrested by police who found her lying in the rear seat of a taxi.

Police formed a cordon to allow employees' cars to pass through the lines but were pushed against the cars by pickets. A window in a car driven by Edward Setter smashed and Setter was cut about the face.

CONVICTED OF FAILURE TO STOP AT ZONE

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)—Ernest Carriere, 34, had his driver's licence suspended for five months and was fined $20 and costs in traffic court Wednesday on a charge of careless driving.

Carriere was convicted of failing to stop Jan. 12 at a school saftey patrol stop sign, when he knocked down six-year-old Ann Ferguson of Ottawa.

Labrador's Great Iron Ore Deposits Will Bring Vast Sums of Money into Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)— Surface of the newly discovered iron ore deposits in Labrador and Northern Quebec has barely been scratched, W.H. Durrell, general manager of the Labrador Mining and Exploration Co., said Wednesday.

Addressing the Canadian Institute of Surveying, Mr. Durrell said exploration of the productive area is being pushed forward but will not be completed for many years—"perhaps 100 or 150 years from now."

Working this summer, the company proved the existence of more than 300 million tons of iron ore in an area of about one square mile. There were "thousands" of square miles of territory still to be explored.

"In Quebec-Labrador, exploration already completed discloses that the productive zone is 90 miles long, and so far is unexplored at both ends. The width of the Labrador trough in which the concessions are situated, varies from 10 to 60 miles.

Mr. Durrell also disclosed that newer and better aircraft which the company hopes to put into use will greatly lower the cost of shipment of materials from the seaboard into the development at Knob Lake. Until a railway could be built, all equipment had to be flown from the seaboard, from biscuits to bulldozers.

By the use of Dakota aircraft, the cost of bringing in such materials had been lowered from around 70 to 7 cents a pound. It was hoped that with the use of C97 aircraft—a cargo version of the B29—the costs could be lowered to two cents a pound.

The 360-mile, $100 million railway from Seven Islands into the development, necessary before production could begin, would take an estimated three years to complete.

Of an expenditure of $200 million necessary before production could begin, some $190 million would be spent in Canada, on the basis of the proposed initial production of 10 million tons of ore annually, United States funds so earned would equal approximately the combined value of the production of all Canadian gold mines, Mr. Durrell said.

Discussing markets for the production, he disclosed that New England interests are considering the establishment of steel plants along the Atlantic seaboard which would open up the possibility of marketing between 1 million and 2 million tons of ore a year. Both the Federal Reserve Bank at Boston and the New England Council had expressed interest.

Without a larger population Canada could take only about 2 million tons for domestic use. Eventually, it was hoped that the United Kingdom might buy another 2 million tons. However, the only large market available would be at Pittsburgh and the steel mills of the middle west.

Large power resources in the immediate area which promised cheap electric power also opened the hope that electric smelting plants might eventually be built in the area. However, at present the building of blast furnaces, open-hearth furnaces and rolling mills would require investments on the basis of $250 to $300 a ton of actual steel-making capacity. The company was not in a position to go into the steel-making business at present.

He stressed the importance of the St. Lawrence seaway development if the project were to compete against Lake Superior ores at Pittsburgh and the mid-west steel centres.

New York, Feb. 3 (CP)—Interior Secretary Julius A. Krug today proposed a federal power authority to cover the entire north-eastern region of the United States.

Speaking at the annual convention of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association, Krug said a power authority must cover an entire region, that it could not respect state lines.

"The entire northeast, including New York, could have very low-cost power if it ties in the St. Lawrence (power project) with other states," Krug said.

The St. Lawrence project now under consideration by the government calls for development of the St. Lawrence River as a navigational waterway and a source of power. This would be done on a fedreal level between the United States and Canada.

New York State, however, is pushing a plan to develop mainly the power project to alleviate the power shortage in New York and the province of Ontario,

St. Laurent Will BeUnaccompanied By Top Advisors

Ottawa, Feb, 3 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent, scheduled to visit President Truman in Washington Feb. 12 ,is not expected to take any of his top advisers with him, it was learned today.

This would be an indication that he does not expect to enter into any detailed discussions of the many vital matters of common interest to the two countries.

The attitude of the Prime Minister on this point is understood to be that as a guest of the President he will talk about whatever Truman chooses to bring up.

There seemed little doubt, however, that the two leaders will intimately reveal their views on the North Atlantic security pact, the St. Lawrence navigation and power plan, and trade.

Britain is Watching Far East Situation

London, Feb. 3 — (Reuters) — Defence Minister A. V. Alexander promised the House of Commons Wednesday he would take all practicable measures to defend Hong Kong should the colony be threatened by the southward spread of the Chinese Civil War. The British government, he added, is watching the situation in the Far East very carefully.

Ready to Sign Security Pact About Mid-March

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)—Negotiations in Washington looking to completion of a North Atlantic security pact draft, slowed a bit during the inauguration of President Truman and the shift that brought in Dean Acheson as new Secretary of State it was learned here today.

The government feeling here, however, is that the final draft will be ready for signature not later than mid-March.

Meetings at the ambassadorial level, at which Hume Wrong has been representing Canada, have been suspended for more than a week while working committees made progress with drafting.

The government here, it was learned, feels hopeful that Norway will enter the pact discussions eventually and possibly become a participant.

Commits Suicide With Stick Dynamite

The only clue to his identity was a bread wrapper from a bakery in Grenville, Que., found near the headless body.

CONFUSED ISSUE OF CONFERENCE AGAIN DEBATED

Failure Laid to Drew, Duplessis by Carson

Ottawa, Feb. 3. (CP)—The cotentious, confused issue of responsibility for the failure of the 1945-46 Dominion-Provincial conference bubbled up in the Commons Throne Speech debate again yesterday, but quickly subsided.

It was thrust into an otherwise serene discussion by Justice Minister Garson, a participant in the conferenec as Premier of Manitoba, as he sought to pin responsibility for the collapse of the conference of the Premiers of Ontario and Quebec.

A swift rejoiner came from John Diefenbaker, the Progressive Conservative Party's legal spokesman from Lake Centre, who said Mr. Garson had served only to confuse the issue further. Mr. Diefenbaker placed responsibility on the doorstep of the federal government.

The discussion served as a continuation of the sometimes bitter battle of words which developed oover the same question last week between Prime Minister St. Laurent and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader and a conference participant as Premier of Ontario.

When Mr. Garson and Mr. Diefenbaker had had their say, the debate returned to its former even trend. Speakers included A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte), Robert Fair (SC—Battle River) and E. B. McKay (CCF—Weyburn).

Allege Violation Of Treaty Rights

Winnipeg, Feb. 3 (CP)—Delegates attending the Manitoba Indian Association's convention — 17 chief and 20 councillors and members—yesterday protested alleged violation of treaty rights by the federal government. Object of the meeting was to choose representatives to a national convention scheduled to be held here about March 14.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 2 — (CP)—Synopsis A week disturbance moving eastward toward Lake Erie will cause occasional light snow in Ontario today. The modifying effect of the Great Lakes will cause somewhat more frequent flurries along the northerly shores of the lakes. Mild southerly winds will give maximum temperatures near 32 today in southern sections and close to 20 in northern sections. A major storm appears to be brewing over the Gulf of Mexico. It is expected to move slowly northward today as it continues to develop, and tomorrow give considerable snow to southern Ontario spreading throughout the province by midnight.

British Peer's 'Dream Girl' Real Person or Synthesis of Several?

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Feb. 3 (CP)—A nobleman's nostalgia got a guessing game going today. The question: Who is the peer's dream girl?

Lord Lucas of Chilworth, the blushing Peer in question, wishes he had kept his secret to himself.

In an off-guard moment Tuesday, Lord Lucas told the House of Lords that he had lost his heart more than 30 years ago to a screen star—his "celluloid fairy," he called her. She was tall and dark and lived across the Atlantic. He had never met her.

Parliamentary reporters wanted Lord Lucas to name the girl. He wouldnt. He said it wouldn't be fair.

The reporters checked record books and concluded that the 52-year-old Lord Lucas, who is married and the father of four children, must have slipped up on his facts. They couldn't find a screen star to fit his description.

There was Mary Pickford. But the Toronto-born former sweetheart of the screen has been married only twice.

Theda Bara still is married to the same man she wed 25 years ago. Norma Talmadge has been married three times and is not a grandmother.

Lillian Gish—not married. All so ruled out by the records are Gloria Swanson and Mae Murray.

Commented David Lewis of the Daily Express: "Is it just possible that the celluloid fairy is not a real person but a synthesis of several moulded through the years into a dream girl?"

Lord Lucas still isn't saying.

Hungarian Govt. Charges Treason, Spying Activities

First Catholic Cardinal To be Tried in Civil Court

Budapest, Feb. 3 (CP) —Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty told a Hungarian People's court today "I plead partly guilty, having committed the majority of those deeds I am charged with."

The Cardinal's former secretary Dr. Andras Zakar, also pleaded "partly guilty" but said he only followed orders of his superiors.

Mindszenty and six others are being tried on charges of treason spying and black market dealings.

As the trial opened, Mindszenty acknowledged that he wrote a letter offering to work for peace between the Communist-dominated government and the Roman Catholic Church and to resign temporarily as Prince Primate if his trial was put off.

Answers Question

The presiding judge of the 5-man people's court, Vilmos Olthys, put the question of guilt to the primate, and Cardinal Mindszenty answered in a firm voice:

"It is not my intention to mince matters. I must state that I cannot accept alll the conclusions contained in the indictment as a consequence of my activities.

"I cannot for instance, accept the charge which alleged that I organized or led a movement to destroy the Democratic system of this state."

In his letter —the Cardinal subsequently testified he wrote it of his own free will — he admitted what the court called "grave errors" and said he now authorized Hungary's bishops to come to a settlement with the state in the long-standing church state fight.

But the five-man court rejected the offer, after retiring briefly to make its decision. The trial went ahead.

The 56-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church in Hungary is charged with treason, plotting against the government spying and engaging in black-market money dealings.

Offered to Work for Peace

In his letter, the Cardinal offered to work personally for peace between the Communist-dominated government and the Roman Catholic Church.

The primate is the first Roman Catholic Cardinal ever to be tried by a civil court. At the outset the court rejected his request to separate his case from that of six others similarly charged.

The 56-year-old prelate wore the unadorned robes of a simple priest as he was led before the court. There was no visible change in his appearance despite almost 40 days in jail. He did not appear to have lost weight.

The presiding judge, Vilmos Olthys, opened the proceedings by reading the Cardinal's offer.

SALVAGE PARTY FINDS BODIES IN WRECKED PLANE

Pennsylvania Couple Dead in Wreckage, on Way to North to Fish

Barrie, Feb. 4. (CP)—A seven-man salvage party today found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Castelli of Library, Pa., in the crumpled wreckage of the aircraft in which they crashed on Lake Simcoe yesterday.

The party started out before dawn and were forced to wade through heavy snow to reach the plane half submerged in off-shore ice, 75 miles north of Toronto.

The metal fuselage of the four-seater plane which crashed during a snowstorm was jammed together like an accordian. Jerry Castelli, 41, and his 37year-old wife were flying from library, a Pittsburgh suburb, to North Bay. They planned to go ice fishing on Lake Nipissing with the husband's cousin, Albert Butti.

Darkness and a storm held up exploration of the wreckage last night. Police planned to remove the smashed plane from the ice today and search it for bodies.

When the beige-colored craft pancaked on the ice of Carthew Bay, three quarters of a mile from the northern end of Lake Simcoe and about five miles south of Orillia, the impact ripped the engine from its frame. Bits of wreckage were scattered for yards across the frozen bay.

Crashed With Thud

Harry Wrigley, a farmer on the north shore of Lake Simcoe heard the plane drone overhead then crash with a dull thud. He was the first person to reach the scene but broken ice prevented him from walking right up to wreckage.

"I went close enough to see that no one appeared to be alive" he said. "Later, I came back with my brother Bob, and we got to within four feet of the plane. It was so badly damaged that we couldn't see into it."

Castelli, wealthy owner of drive-in theatres in the Pittsburgh area, obtained his pilot's licence last May. He bought the plane, a Ryan-Navion with an all-metal body, three months ago and spent many hours in the air.

Following the crash, it was feared at first that two of the couple's four children had also been in the plane when it plunged into the lake. But Max Puncher, a close friend of the couple said in Library, Pa., that all four of the Castelli children were at home. They are William, 28; Gerald, 21; Melvin 16 and Gina 10.

LATCHFORD'S GROCERY STORE ON PONTON STREET ENTERED

A quantity of cigarettes, chocolate bars and gum was stolen from Latchford's grocery store, Ponton Street, some time early last evening when thieves gained entry by smashing one of the front windows.

Police reported that a carton of a dozen cigarette packets, three boxes of chocolate bars, and gum were missing from the store. A piece of ice was thrown to break the window, it was reported.

Grant Coulter, Evans Street, reported one of his basement windows broken with tracks leading away from the window in the snow. It was not known whether entry to the house had been made and a check by Mr. Coulter revealed nothing missing.

ONLY THREE CASES LISTED FOR TRIAL

Only three cases, two of which are divorce actions, are listed for trial at the Spring Assizes commencing February 7th at the county court building before Mr. Justice Kelly. One action is an automobile action claim, Elliott vs. Crawford.

Blood Donors Urgently Needed, Register Now

The Canadian Red Cross is urgently in need of blood donors for its newly formed civilian blood transfusion service. All over Canada people are being urged to donate blood from which is made the life-giving plasma.

Belleville, inconjunction with other communities, is being asked to contribute its share. Registrations are now taking place, and potential donors can register with Mr. M. Duff, president of the Belleville branch of the Red Cross, telephone 753, or Mr. J. E. Shortt, secretary of the Blood Donor Campaign, telephone 2153 These gentlemen can furnish all informatipon required.

The object of the new transfusion service is to provide hospitals and the patients they serve with whole blood and plasma. The small gift from others is the gift of life itself to someone whose life is in danger. The inconvenience to the donor is slight.

No greater gift can one human being give another than life itself Today blood is life.

Registrations are now taking place in this city, and all those who desire to contribute the life-giving blood are requested to contact the above - mentioned officials.

Eight Horses Wander on Track, Killed by Train

Brockville, Feb. 3 (CP) — Speeding south from Smiths Falls to Brockville Wednesday, a Canadian Pacific Railway pool train from Ottawa struck and killed eight horses which had wandered on the track at Bell's Crossing, 12 miles north of here. The animals belonged to Joseph O'Grady of Frankville, who had them on a nearby farm.

The election of the officers was conducted by Rt. Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, Stirling, Junior Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East. Wor. Bro. A. B. Charleton, Past County Master of South Hastings, conducted the installation of the officers.

Among the visitors were Rt. Wor. Bro. Rev. F. Beazer, Grand Chaplain and Rt. Wor. Bro. G. F. Reed, Grand Auditor, both representatives of Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East. A number of visitors from Central Hastings were also in attendance. An appreciable increase in the memberships for County of South Hastings war noted.

Following the election ceremonies, lunch was served by the L. O. B. A. of Belleville and Rt. Wor. Bro. Rev. F. Beazer was guest speaker, delivering an inspiring address to the gathering.

Health Minister Declines Comment On Statement

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)—Health Minister Kelly of Ontario declined today to comment on a statement made by the Ontario Medical Association that his department is "investigating the doctors of Ontario."

The statement, made in a form letter sent by the association to all doctors, outlines efforts of the association to obtain medical representation on a committee appointed by the Health Department to survey all Ontario's health facilities under the federal health grants.

The association statement said in part "the minister further states his main reason for declining association representation on the survey committee stemmed from the fact the doctors themselves were being investigated and he could not ask the association to investigate the doctors."

Mr. Kelly denied a charge made last night in Windsor by Dr. William Magner of Toronto that the provincial government refused to co-operate with the medical profession in preparing for the health survey.

Mr. Kelly said "we did not refuse to co-operate with the medical profession in preparing for the health survey.

Mr. Kelly said "we did not refuse to co-operate with the medical profession. We are quite prepared to co-operate."

Dr. J. C. Carson of Brantford, President of the Ontario Medical Association, said he did not know what Mr. Kelly meant when he said the Ontario Department of Health is "investigating the doctors."

"I don't know what he meant but he certainly said it," Dr. Carson said.

Parents, Friends and Interested Persons Attend 'Open Night' At the Collegiate Institute

The staff and students of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School were hosts to the general public, Wednesday evening when the annual "Open House" was held. An appreciable number of parents, friends and interested persons inspected the facilities of what is considered one of the finest secondary schools in Ontario and Ma and Pa found a considerable difference in education methods and equipment from the days when they learned their three R's.

Members of the Collegiate faculty were in their classrooms to meet the parents of the students and discuss progress or difficulties with them. Many of the students returned for the evening to demonstrate their skills in the various departments of the institution.

The displays which received perhaps the most attention during the evening were those of the Art classes, student and night school. A good representation of the scope and abilities of the students was indicated by sketches, paintings, pastel drawings, clay models, whittling, and many other examples of the fine artistic training received in the school.

Power Machines Operated

In the Vocational department, the skills of those students more mechanically inclined were demonstrated on the power machines of the machine and woodworking shops. A display of parts found in the modern automobile was featured by the motor mechanics department. The future stenographers and typists of the business world were on hand to demonstrate their adeptness on the typewriters and display their knowledge of office methods.

The advanced field of electricity and electronics was represented by a display under the direction of one of the night school instructors. The communicative range of the modern two-way radio was demonstrated by school army cadets using the popular walkie-talkies and field telephones. A glimpse into the intricacies of the human and animal body was given by a display featured by the biology class.

The hand that may rock the cradle in years to come was shown to be handy in baking a batch of home-made bread, preserving jams, or sewing and embroidering a dainty blouse or skirt, in the displays of the Home Economics and Household Arts departments.

Many Displays

The displays were many in number and received careful attention from the visitors, but the feature attraction of the evening was the program presented by the students in the auditorium. Clifford Summers, president of the Students' Council, officiated as Master of Ceremonies, introducing the entertainers in turn.

Miss J. Tickell, B.A., chairman of the Board of Education, expressed a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the Board. Barbara Joan Houston, well-known in this area as well in the school for her vocal talents, sung the tender love-song, "My Hero".

An interesting display was presented by the Household Arts department which could be classed as a tot and teens fashion show. Dainty little party frocks and play suits were modelled by rather stage-shy youngsters in the three to six years' group, after which a bevy of Collegiate belles modelled the latest in the Junion Miss styles for school and evening wear. The display garments were the handiwork of the girls, a tangible evidence of the quality of training received.

Capably Presented

The lilting, "Gypsy Rondo" was capably presented by Shirley Hermon, who was followed by Jim MacKay in a vocal solo, "Moonlight and Roses". Jim was accompanied at the piano by Mr. L. Read.

An entertaining note of the program was the one-act play presented by members of the Drama Society entitled, "The First Dress Suit". The comedy presentation featured John Luscombe, Nancy David, Gerald Staring and Marion Nevery. Director was Mr. L. Read. Following the play, the school band presented a number of selections for the enjoyment of the audience.

A valuable insight was obtained by many of the parents who attended the "Open Night" into the everyday routine of work and play in which their children participate as students. The latest scientific methods of educational training were exhibited, and tangible proofs of satisfactory results displayed.

All a Mistake

Bristol, Egland, Feb. 3 (AP) —A war scare which resounded through this seaside city like the crack of doom was traced to a navy clerk's error.

Seventy members of the naval reserve who had marched off to battle marched back to their loved ones and the old workaday grind.

The clerk meant to send them a routine notice to attend a regular drill night, the Admiralty explained. Instead, he shipped out 70 form letters yesterday saying:

"General mobilization this day having been ordered by royal proclamation, you are ordered to report immediately to the Flying Fox, Bristol, with full kit." It was all a mistake.

Shirley Williams Blonde Queen Of Carnival

Only blonde among the five contestants, Miss Williams was crowned carnival Queen Wednesday before thousands of spectators who braved sub-zero weather to watch the giant spectacle, highlighted by one of the largest parades of floats ever seen at the lakehead.

A husky young pulpwood cutter, Ludovic Cyr, 24, of Pellegain, Gaspe, Que., captured the northwestern Ontario log sawing championship by sawing through a 10-inch spruce log in 15 seconds.

HUNGARIAN GOVT.

"Did you write this letter?" Judge Olthys asked.

"Yes," the Cardinal replied. His answer came in a firm, loud voice.

When the court rejected the plea for a separate trial for the Cardinal, the proceedings began with Justin Baranayi, 67, professor of Canon Law at the Budapest University and a Royalist leader, in the dock.

All One Case

This is regular Hungarian procedure for a trial of this kind. The hearing of the defendants are separatte, but it is all one case.

The indications were that the Cardinal's case sooon would be called.

At the outset, a dramatic pause was caused when the letter was read. The court said it had been written by Cardinal Mindszenty.

The letter said Cardinal Mindszenty had hindered an agreement between church and state and offered to withdraw opposition if his trial would be adjourned.

Zilmos Olthy, the presiding judge, said the letter was addressed to Justice Minister Istvan Reisz. He read it in the tiny courtroom holding only about 100 persons, many of them resident newspaper men.

The letter said the cardinal admitted "grave errors" in his fight against a church-state agreement, that he would give a free hand to the Hungarian bishops to negotiate with the government, and asked the minister to adjourn the trial. It added that he "would withdraw himself for a considerable time" and asserted he could render good service to the Hungarian republic.

Judge Olthy and his four fellow lay judges immediately retired to discuss the request. After a few minutes they returned and announced that the request had been refused. The trial then proceeded.

The prosecution, Gyula Elapi, opposed the request for an adjournment.

The letter came into the case just one hour after the cardinal and six persons accused with him appeared in the door of the central court room.

Wears Robes of Priest

When the court called upon him to provide a personal history of himself, he announced in a firm voice, "Archbishop of Esztergom, cardinal and primate."

This was the first surprise of the trial. Although the Hungarian Republic, newly proclaimed a "people's republic" by its communist-dominated government, does not acknowledge any aristocratic titles such as prince, the cardinal never had failed before to sign himself "Prince Primate of Hungary."

He was followed to the dock by his fellow defendants, who gave their names, professions and property.

Duke Paul Esterhazy, member of a large old Hungarian family, said he possessed "roughly 3,000,000 florints" in houses and land, in Hungary and abroad in the Soviet zone of Austria. The sum is equal to about $300,000.

Other Defendants

The other defendants were Professor Justin Baranay; Rev. Ondras Zakar, the cardinal's secretary; Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of the lay organization, Catholic action; Rev. Bela Ispenky; and a newspaper man, Laszlo Toth.

The government read the indictment, accusing the cardinal of "leading an organization which aimed to overthrow democratic order of the state with treason and with speculation in foreign currency."

It accused him of royalist activities on behalf of the pretender, Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, and of maintaining "subversive connections with Tibor Eckhardt, Hungarian political adventurer in the United States."

Police Court

Carrying Place Brothers Guilty Of Entering, Theft

Two Carrying Place brothers, Donald and Theodore Genereaux, aged 21 and 19 years, pleaded guilty in county magistrate's court this morning of breaking and entering Trent Road cottages and stealing a quantity of clothing, jewellery and other articles.

The two young men were remanded for sentence with the understanding that they would undergo a mental examination.

Giving summary evidence Constable Herbert Fletcher of the O.P.P., stated that the cottage of A. S. Quick, and the home of Miss Dorothy Quick, Trent Road, had been entered on the 16th of January with two wrist watches, cigarette lighter, ball pen, men's shirts and summer clothing being stolen.

The two accused had been apprehended anr questioned, they later having admitted to entering the two houses. Some of the articles were recovered.

A charge of being a public mischief laid by provincial police against Maxwell W. Akey, Point Anne, was withdrawn by the Crown. The charge aganist Akey was stated by police to have involved the cashing of a cheque.

Objects to Charge

Alan B. Sprague, local solicitor, appeared for the accused and objected to the mischief charge being laid under the common law of England and indicated the hearing if pressed would be carried before judge and jury.

Jack Hill, Deseronto, pleaded guilty to "having" liquor, contrary to the provisions of the Indian Act and was assessed $25 and $5 costs. Police stated that when the accused was apprehended he had in his possession seven ounces of native wine.

"That was rather expensive." noted Magistrate T. Y. Wills as he assessed the fine and costs against the accused. "We've often heard of liquid gold, but $30 for seven ounces of wine is about the nearest approach a person could get."

Constable A. V. Hunter of the R.C.M.P., stated $25 fine was the minimum under the act.

Thurlow Grocer Fined

A Thurlow township grocer was assessed $10 and costs on his plea of guilty to overcharging for certain canned goods ana fruits. Cyril McBride, Wartime Prices and Trades Board inspector stated the overcharge had been discovered in a routine check.

A Foxboro resident was assessed $10 and costs on a charge of having liquor being an interdicted person, while his son, was assessed the same fine on a charge of having liquor in a public place.

Charles W. May, Trent Road, was remanded for one week on a charge of carnal knowledge. Mr. May appeared in court two months ago and was remanded to Kingston for mental observation.

Independent Phone Co. Wants Five-Minute Limit to Conversation

Brockville, Feb. 3 (CP)—Hereafter conversations over the lines of the Leeds and Grenville Independent Telephone Co., are going to be short and fairly snappy if its directors know anything about it. At the annual meeting at North Augusta, they were instructed by the shareholders to enforce a clause in its constitution limiting all conversations to five minutes.

MUST PAY STATE TAX

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3 — (AP) — Three Wisconsin daily newspapers would be compelled to pay a state tax of half a cent on each paper sold, under provisions of bills introduced yesterday in the legislature. Proceeds of the tax would go to the veterans' rehabilitation fund.

OBITUARY

MISS HILDA G. HUGHES
(Marmora Township)

Marmora, Feb. 3 (Special) — The death occurred early on Monday morning of a well known and highly esteemed resident of Marmora township in the person of Miss Hilda Genevieve Hughes. The deceased who was in her fifty-third year was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes, and all her life had been spent on the well kept farm about two miles north of Marmora, known as the Hughes farm.

Of a neighborly and kind-disposition she had a host of friends who sincerely regret her sudden death. Her illness was only of a few days duration. She was a devout member of Sacred Heart Church and always took a deep interest in all parish work. She was a member of the Catholic Women's League, the Altar Society and the League of the Sacred Heart.

She is survived by one sister, Mary, at home and one brother, Laughlin, of Marmora township.

The funeral was held on Wednesday morning from her late residence to Sacred Heart Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. H. J. Farrell.

Interment took place in Sacred Heart cemetery.

The bearers were: Joseph Murray, Charles Crawford, Everett Derry, Wilbert Jones, Bernard Hughes and Donald Cook.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP) —Base metals partially recovered yesterday's losses in dull trading on the stock exchange today. Golds and western oils were better and industrials moved in fractionally lower ground.

The exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials down .26 at 177.45, golds up .33 at 98.75, base metals up .75 at 104.23, western oils up .29 at 54.61. Volume for the first three hours was 482,000 shares, about 171,000 shares less than yesterday.

Smelters led the recovery attempt in base metals, gaining 1¼ at 109½. Noranda was ahead in early dealing but dipped ¼ to 57½ and Waite Amulet sagged from early steadiness. Pend Oreille, Labrador, Normetal, Sherritt and Quemont held early advances to partial reclaim yesterday's lost ground.

Senior golds bucked some selling pressure. Kerr Addison and Hollinger dipped from yesterday's strong gains and McIntyre rose ¾ to 54½. San Antonio, Leitch and Madsen were better in juniors.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)— Trade moved slowly with prices about steady on the livestock market up to mid-session today. Brought forward from yesterday's trading and added to today's light receipts were some 250 head of cattle.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 30, hogs 50. No receipts were reported on calves, sheep or lambs.

A few plain to medium weight steers sold at $16-$19 a hundredweight while plain to medium light steers and heifers moved at $17-$19. Cows brought $12.50-$15.25 cwt.

Hogs were steady at $30.50 for grade A and $30.10 for B1. Sows brought $22 dressed.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market remained unchanged today with large and medium grades in good supply. Other grades were short of demand. Country shipper quoted graded eggs, cases free; grade A large 42; grade A medium 41; grade A pullet 38-39; grade B 38-39; grade C 33. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 46-47; grade A medium 44-46; grade A pullet 42; grade B 41-42; grade C 36-37.

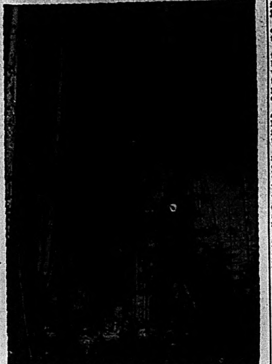
Butter solids unchanged. First grade 68, second grade 67.

HOGS

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)— Hog prices were down this morning at Stratford $30.35-$30.50 in markets reporting.

LUMBERJACKS MEET THE CHALLENGE

Swinging from the hips, Canadian lumberjacks have set an all-time record in winter logging operations to meet world paper demands that rocketed to new highs. In northern Ontario 40,000 men wound up the toughest winter season in 20 years with a production of 2,000,000 cords. High speed mechanical logging operations were given a first winter tryout at 50 degrees below zero temperature, and came through with flying colors. Fallers working hip-deep in snow cut trees on a piece work basis and earned from $10 to $1 a day. Automatic slashers (buzz saws) cut the logs into six-foot lengths. These were dumped on three feet of ice on lakes and rivers to await thaws and the trip downstream.



Down comes a jack pine to be cut into six-foot lengths and hauled to rivers. Thousands of logs on ice at Stevens, Ont., await spring thaw which will float them downstream.—Central Press Canadian

Norway's Own Interests to Be Deciding Factor

Oslo, Feb. 3 (AP)—Foreign Minister Halvard Lange told parliament today that Norway's own interests would be the deciding factor on any step she takes about joining a defence alliance.

The question will not be decided, he said, on "what other nations want us to do or not to do."

He added that Norway will have to make "further investigations" before making up her mind on whether she wants an invitation to join in discussions of a proposed Atlantic alliance of Western powers.

Lange put in a sharp attack, too, on Norwegian Communists, who, he said, were giving wrong information about Norway's politics to Moscow.

His discussion before parliament today followed an exchange of notes between the Russian and Norwegian governments on the Atlantic pact last weekend.

Ocean Floor Holds Treasures of the Ages

(From 'Answers', London

Three million three hundred thousand pounds' worth of sunken treasure...That is what they are going to try to recover from two wrecked ships lying off the coast of New Zealand. Six men from Sydney, Australia, have planned an expedition to bring up gold estimated to be worth £3,000,000 the wreck of the General Grant, which sank off the Auckland islands, 269 miles south of New Zealand, on May 14, 1866, and £300,000 from the skeleton of the Niagara off the north coast.

Tales of sunken gold and doubloons buried many a fathom deep beneath the restless waters have always fascinated adventurous Britons. Around coasts, for example, lie the vessels of the famous Spanish armada, dashed to pieces in the great storms of August and September, 1588. Many of these vessels were reputed to contain treasure.

• • •

The Spanish galleon Florencia was one of them. To escape the English fleet she entered the harbor of Tobermory on Scotland's wild west coast. Already shot to pieces by the English guns she sank at her moorings, taking with her treasure reputed to be worth a million pounds.

Since then all sorts of salvage has been brought to the surface in Tobermory harbor, including brass guns, ornaments and armor, but nobody has ever recovered the fabulous hoard said to lie in her holds. Three and a half centuries of strong tidal current have probably swept it away forever.

A once famous Whitstable diver named Gann heard some stories about one of the armada vessels which sank off Galway, Ireland. An old fisherman said he could guide anyone to the exact spot. Gann formed a partnership with this man and they dragged the area for weeks without result until at last their grapnels caught some obstruction. Out came the diving gear and down went Gann, to find gold literally piled in heaps.

Originally the coin had been packed in barrels, but the wood had rotted away, leaving the yellow metal in glistening piles. The proceeds from these golden dollars enabled John Gann to invest in a terrace of houses at Whitstable which he named Dollar row.

• • •

On the Goodwin Sands there is the accumulation of centuries of disasters and buried treasure, dating from the Norman conquest, all lying within an area of a few square miles.

Charts exist which mark the exact spot on the Goodwins were ships have gone down. In many cases the exact quantity and nature of the treasure on board is easily ascertained from existing records. The ships themselves are obliterated by sand. But at no very tremendous depth the sand gives way to a firm, hard bottom and on this most of the vessels probably rest. Being thus protected from the action of storms it is believed that many ships are intact.

One suggested scheme for the recovery of the Goodwin treasure was to sink a great tower in the sands near the largest number of treasure carrying wrecks. From the submerged base of the tower, tunnels would be run in any desired direction right up to the wrecks, the bullion being salvaged and brought back along these tunnels.

An estimate of the value of the treasure sunk in the Goodwin Sands gives the figure of £300,000,000.

Will the treasure of the ill-fated Lusitania ever be recovered? Sunk in 1915 by German torpedoes, she lies at a depth of 48 fathoms, 15 miles off the Old Head of Kinsale! The treasure aboard is said to be worth over £2,000,000.

But 48 fathoms 288 feet, is a great depth. Although new type diving apparatus was devised to bring up the treasure in 1935, no success attended the efforts.

Over £1,000,000 is estimated to be lying at the present moment at the entrance to the Zuyder Zee in the rotting timbers of HMS Lutine, lost in October, 1799. She was a 32 gun frigate, originally a French vessel, with bullion and specie to the amount of £1,175,000. Some of this has been recovered, the last attempt having been made in 1935 when a special apparatus, known as "Becker's tower" was used to suck the sand away. Strong tides and storms however, caused the attempt to be abandoned.

A century and half ago a French warship sank off the island of Terschelling north of Amsterdam. She had a million and a half sterling on board, and since 1800 many attempts have been made to recover the money. Like the Lutine she lies buried deep in sand.

Divers recovered £99,894 between 1801 and 1860 but an attempt in 1886 only resulted in £686. Here then, lies a fortune tantalizingly near to the shore and yet denying every effort to recover it.

But large sums have been raised. In February, 1885, a large Spanish mail steamer, Alphonso XII sank in 26 fathoms (156 ft), a mile from the shore of Grand Canary. She was carrying treasure worth £100,000.

The underwriters employed a diver named Alexander Lambert to attempt recovery of the treasure. After six months of hard work he forced his way into the bullion room and succeeded in raising seven chests containing £70,000 in gold coin. His reward was £4,500.

The Laurentic went down in living memory with £5,000,000 on board. Almost all of it has been recovered. It is only a few years since £700,000 was raised from the sunken Oceanic, and most of the P & O liner Egypt's treasure has been recovered after superhuman efforts.

Predicts Hydro Well Out of Woods By Year 1951

St. Thomas, Feb. 3 (CP)—A. W. Mamby, Assistant General Manager of Administration of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, told the annual meeting of districts 7 and 8 of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association here today that hydro would be pretty well out of the woods in the power shortage by 1951 and catching up with the tremendous backlog.

He said if natural water conditions prevail this year, the commission does not anticipate any cutoffs next fall and winter, but admitted restrictions on use of power would continue. By 1950 when half of Des Joachims power development is released and auxiliary steam generating plants are in operation the situation will be materially improved.

Great Meteor Fell in Siberia In February, '47

Twice in 23 years Russia has been bombarded from the heavens in what is literally a war of worlds. In February, 1947, one of the minor planets of the solar system on an erratic course, moving with more energy than an atomic-energy bomb, crashed into the earth in Siberia, near Vladivostok, according to reports to astronomers which have just reached here.

An earlier collision took place in 1924 in an uninhabited area in Yeniseisk Province, in central Siberia, near the Arctic Circle. There were no observers to record the details of this earlier cosmic collision but seismographs in various places recorded a peculiar earth disturbance but not of great magnitude. More than a year elapsed before explorers could reach the site and view a scene of devastation over a large area.

The recent crash took place in a relatively thickly inhabited region, near the village of Novopokrovka, a little north of the big city of Vladivostok, which is the Pacific terminal of the Trans-Siberian Railroad and is located on the Japan Sea near the northern boundary of Korea.

It is extremely remarkable that when two of the minor worlds that compose the most numerous portion of the solar system should crash into the earth they should follow each other in such rapid succession, and still more phenomenal that they should strike so relatively close to each other.

The four other such known events are all prehistoric. The two target points are in the eastern half of Siberia, separated by less than 1,500 miles. On a twelve-inch globe the places are separated by the length of the little finger.

Extensive eyewitness details have been collected concerning the recent celestial bombardment. The event happened about 11 a.m. and was seen by many persons over a wide area. An immediate study of the area was made by Dr. V. G. Feskinov who is known here as an eminent and reliable Russian astronomer.

Dr. Feskinov has been publishing a series of articles on the event in "The Russian Astronomical Journal". They have been read by Dr. Otto Struve, of Yerkes Observatory, University of Chicago, president of the American Astronomical Society. Dr. Struve attests the scientific reliability of Dr. Feskinov. According to Dr. Feskinov, the wandering world came in as a fiery meteor, a shooting star, many times more dazzling than the sun, accompanied by a tremendous roar.

Its approach was at a low angle. It hit the ground and bounced, going off at an equally low angle. At the spot where it hit the ground a narrow column of debris shot into the air to a height of 4,500 feet.

More than 1,000 tons of iron fragmnets have been weighed and their position charted. The total weight of the asteroid has not been estimated. It probably shattered in the upper air as it was in fragments when it struck the ground. Fragments cut trees in two before and after contact with the ground, making it possible for astronomers to calculate the orbit at which this minor world was travelling in space.

Many thousands of such cold, dark objects are flying in space between the orbits of the earth and Jupiter.

Bodies of this kind strike the earth at the high velocity of 50 kilometers (35 miles) a second, and accumulate tremendous energy. Taking its mass as one billion grams (1,000 tons), its kinetic energy at this velocity was 10,000 billion billion ergs. The amount of energy released per pound of uranium in the explosion of an atomic bomb is 300 billion billion ergs.

This incandescent mass of iron that struck Siberia hit, therefore, with at least as much energy as would be given off by the explosion of 33 pounds of uranium.

The amount of damage done has not been described. In the 1924 event an area of several square miles was devastated. The struck Vladivostok area has been made a national park.

Meteor Crater, in Arizona, was made by a prehistoric event such as occurred in Russia. Recent high-altitude photographs show the crater is a square, not a circle as heretofore believed, reports "Sky and Telescope". This indicates it might have been scooped out on a bounce and there are no buried meteorites in the ground within the hole.

A Gigantic Task

Heavy transport planes flying to the stricken areas of American western states where human beings and animals have been the victims of the worst snowfall in decades are a fair picture of the world of invention rising to the needs of the hour in carrying relief to men and beasts. The vast extent of the storms stretching from Mexico up to the boundary of Canada reveal a situation which nothing but modern invention can help so effectively through the use of planes in what is becoming known as "the hay lift."

Plows are digging out the snow-blocked roads to open up means of land transportation to try and save the stricken cattle and sheep on the vast ranges of the West.

That is a task in which a man will struggle with every inch of strength he possesses, it is one of those signs which does indicate the inborn worth of humanity and holds out the brightest hope for the human race. What man will do in a time of suffering of man and beast the world well knows — he reacts as only a human being can react and shows the greatness that is in him. An immense effort is being thrown into the relief of stricken people and creatures. It is such courage and fortitude that makes man proud of his fellows.

Forecasts Were True

At a meeting of the American Meteorological Society in New York 20 of the principal weather forecasters of the United States assembled and found before the day was out that the weather had them baffled. When they started out early for the meeting, rain and sleet were promised by midafternoon. Rain and sleet fell while they listened to addresses on the weather and tied up traffic.

When it came time to break up, it was found that fewer than one fourth had brought along overshoes or umbrellas.

Cleveland Plain Dealer defends forecasters against the howls of the superstitious "that not even the forecasters believe their weather predictions." The newspaper says "We who honor and respect these gentlemen, will yell back that it came true — no matter who believed it or not."

The Old Adage

On February second some adults as well as many children lived a sort of fairy tale as they thought of the bear and the woodchuck which according to ancient lore of the wilds crawl out of their caves, caverns or holes, at that time to get a look at the wintry world. All the stories of the nursery world are conjured up and even the grown-up takes delight in seeing visions of the prophetic bear or woodchuck who were supposed to be the weather forecasters of another age.

One of the happiest motives of the movies has been to produce at times those delightful pictures of the animal world which please young and old for the old are in heart very close to the believing children. Who does not think of the adage of the bear and the woodchuck seeing its shadow, sympathize with the poor animals out in the cold and yet be pleased when it is realized that winter is just half over and that when the next six weeks are past there will in reality be spring.

The innocence of that make-believe world is appealing to everyone and is a healthy hint of the future that lies ahead for the human race. The thought of the animals stirring out of their rest to take a look at the cold earth and to see if there are any shadows about is one of those old possessions of the human mind that clings to the make-believe of ancient lore as one of the rich pleasures of life, just as a book of fairy stories will charm every type of man or woman and certainly every child.

Man has always liked to think of talking animals and the parts they are represented to play. That's why they like the adage of bruin and the woodchuck or groundhog. Man likes this fairy story attitude even to the weather at this time and could only wish he had a similar faith at other seasons when the elements become unruly.

So it looks as if man and child will continue to summon up in their minds the proverbial bear and woodchuck or groundhog every year at this season. They like the fairy story viewpoint. That is natural and movie producers have created some amazing animal stories with that eternal charm that pleases the very youngest to the very oldest.

Anyway Candlemas Day, 1949, entered with a wintry aspect ,the sun shone at noon and in the afternoon there were traces of snow in the air.

CONFLICT

A headache was the lady's woe
And into a rage she flew,
But this is what she didn't know:
The clerk was troubled, too.

The lady thought that she should be Allowed attention kind,
But we are made that none can see
What's on each other's mind.

A headache is a fretting pain
That anger often starts,
But there are those who must remain
At work with aching hearts.

Oh lady, if you could have known
The hurt that salesgirl hid,
There is no doubt you would have shown
More patience than you did.

The people on Huff's Island, Prince Edward County, began work on their bridge this week; Hall Brothers have the contract to do the job and the material is supplied by the residents on the island. Mr. Stillman Root will superintend the work of the carpenters.

The Belleville junior hockey team went to Campbellford last evening and played a game with the team of that town. The final score was 4 to 1 in favor of the Campbellford team. The following composed the teams: Belleville — Burke, Matheson, Allen, Matheson, Carr, Gorman and Weller; Campbellford — Haig, Donald, Patterson, Rockwell, Kerr, Blute and Frederick. The referee was Charlie McKeown of Belleville and he gave satisfaction to both sides.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

HAPPINESS HAS TO BE WON

What is the worst thing in the world that one can teach a child?

The worst thing one can teach a child is that the child has a right to expect that life will be easy on him. If he gets this idea into his mind early enough, he will make himself the affliction of all those who have to be associated with him in the decades which follow. If his whole life is centred about the conviction that the pathway must always be kept smooth before his feet, he will bedevil wife and children, quarrell with his associates, and worst of all be continually on the outs with himself.

Life is a struggle, and let us never delude ourselves with any false teaching to the contrary. Above all, let us not ruin the lives of children by indoctrinating them with the idea that continuous happiness is their right. The Declaration of Independence put the matter cogently when it said that among men's unalienable rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The Declaration does not guarantee happiness, it guarantees men the right to pursue happiness, and this is a quite different matter.

Nobody can give us happiness. We have to go through birth agonies to achieve it.

Date of Election Few Months Away Says St. Laurent

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday smilingly told reporters the matter of a general election is receiving all due consideration but he intimated the date still is some months away.

Leaving the first party caucus of the present session of parliament the Prime Minister said he found all his parliamentary colleagues "happy and looking forward to an interesting session."

Questioned on the Wetaskiwin vacancy caused by the death of Norman Jaques, Social Credit member, Mr. St. Laurent said the question of a by-election would be considered shortly.

He said that if the by-election would mean the return of a new member on the eve of a general election it might not be worthwhile.

"However," he added, "it would seem that this parliament will be in session two, three or four or maybe five months and if the people there want representation they should have it."

Mackenzie's Column:

Sharp Rejection Given Stalin's Bid For Peace Talks

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Premier Stalin's second unofficial bid for a "peace" talk with President Truman in communist territory has met sharp rejection.

However, the manoeuvre has evoked a clear-cut declaration of American policy which should clear the air. And that is all to the good.

When Stalin makes a statement it receives universal attention. He is the dictator who speaks with final authority not only for the Soviet Union but for the whole Red bloc of satellites.

So the general publics of non-communist countries were anxious to learn what Stalin had in mind. Western capitals and close observers figured he was making a peace offensive to lull the western world into a feeling of security and so soften the increasingly effective drive against the reds.

In short, it appeared that Stalin was decidedly worried. This idea was strengthened when Stalin came through with his second unofficial bid.

Interesting Sidelight

It is an interesting sidelight that he specified Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia as the meeting place. He did this on the ground that his doctors wouldn't permit him to travel as far afield as Washington.

The second bid has brought a double - barrelled reaction in Washington. One is from the White House and the other is from the new secretary of state, Dean Acheson. Both were clear-cut and concise.

President Truman is willing to see Stalin in Washington, but has no intention of going abroad for a meeting. That's that.

Acheson in a press conference declared in substance that Stalin had raised no real issue for Soviet - American settlement.

The secretary further laid down this edict: the United States won't discuss with Russia or any other country alone any issues which involve other powers as well.

U. N. Problem

Acheson also pointed to Stalin's statement that Russia "naturally" would co-operate with the United States in reducing arms, and said this had been a U. N. problem for three years. A solution of this and of the control of atomic energy had been frustrated by the Russian veto.

The sum and substance of all this is that the United States isn't compromising with communism.

There are many who will regret keenly that the "peace" offers haven't panned out. However there will be general belief that a Trojan horse has not been palmed off — and Trojan horse it most certainly was.

FAIR PAY FOR CRIME

Whitby, Feb. 3 — (CP) — An Oshawa man and woman were today each sentenced to two years less a day, with four strokes of the strap added for the man, on conviction on a charge of robbery with violence.

Mrs. Florence Clarke, 44, and Raymond Norris, 20, were convicted of beating and robbing 50-year-old Peter Proskin on a lonely East Whitby road last Dec. 18. Evidence showed the incident followed a drinking bout in Oshawa and Proskin was left unconscious and robbed of $12.

BRIGHT VAN DYKE

Perreault Sent To Quebec Jail For Own Safety

Montreal, Feb. 3 (CP)—Donald Perreault, tall, bespectacled alleged accomplice of two police-killers, was sent to Quebec jail today for his own safety.

Donald turned king's evidence at the murder trial of Noel Cloutier and Douglas Perreault, unrelated to Donald. Both were sentenced to be hanged for the murder of two policemen during a bank holdup last September.

Police said the fact Donald was called "The Rat" by Cloutier from the witness box is representative of the way he is regarded by prisoners in St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary and Montreal jail.

They went so far as to say they would fear for his life if he were kept in detention in the Montreal area.

Donald's trial has been set for March 21, 10 days after the date set for Cloutier's hanging. Douglas Perreault has entered an appeal.

Canada Lodges Protest Against Cardinal's Arrest

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)— Canada has lodged a "strong" protest against the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Hungary.

Because Canada has no diplomatic relations with that Communist-dominated land, the protest was related through the Canadian Ambassador in Washington, Hume Wrong, to the Hungarian Minister there. No reply has been received.

External Affairs Minister Pearson yesterday read in the Commons the 250-word protest, which also deplored the "arrest" and "persecution," respectively of the Senior Bishop of the Lutheran Church and the Senior Bishop of the Calvinist Church.

The note said the government had learned that Cardinal Mindszenty had been arrested on charges of "treason, espionage and illegal currency transcations" which "do not command respect."

"That," Mr. Pearson told the Commons, "is diplomatic language for 'we don't believe you.'"

Trying to Curb Freedom

The note added that the Canadian government "wishes strongly to protest" against a policy which appears designed to destroy religious freedom in Hungary. It also referred to the article of the peace treaty with Hungary which provides that:

"Hungary shall take all measures necessary to secure to all persons under Hungarian jurisdiction, without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion, the enjoyment of human rights and of the fundamental freedoms, including freedom of expression of press and publication, or religious worship, or of political opinion and of public meeting."

The day after the Cardinal's arrest on Dec. 27 the Canadian government, as a signatory to the treaty of peace, tried to obtain all available information. The government planned to take any action under the peace treaty which might be effective in halting religious persecution in Hungary.

However, it was found that joint action "might have had an effect contrary to that which was desired."

The Canadian note followed.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

FEAR AND WORRY

Fear and worry are two of the most destructive twins in all creation. Rid yourself of both and you are sure of a calm, useful and happy life, no matter whether you have much or little. It is what you are in your mind and heart that charts your way in life.

A friend of mine wrote many years ago a little book that had a large sale. It was called "In Tune With the Infinite." Thousands must have gained serenity and peace from its reading, for it went into many editions. But can you imagine anyone beset with Fear or troubled with Worry whose mind and heart are in tune with the Infinite?

You can't get rid of Fear and Worry by trying to follow a set of rules to dispose of them. There has to be a change of heart — a re-arrangement of one's thoughts. Here is where religion comes in to bring happiness to so many. It takes one away from his self-made laws and lifts him onto higher ground where it is easier to think clearly.

Beyond this suggestion of religion, I can mention a very valuable plan, and I have borrowed it from the great Dr. William Osler, whose little book "A Way of Life" is a precious gem. Said he: "It is the practice of living for the day only, and for the day's work — Life in daytight compartments."

So many of our fears and worries are borrowed — and borrowed things are so difficult to return to their source. In fact these are things that no one wants returned! But if you have joys, an abundance of faith, and peace of mind, you may be very sure that their gift to anyone would be royally and happily welcomed, for none of these are tainted with either fear or worry.

Nothing in all recorded words can compare in beauty and inspiration to The Sermon on the Mount, as recorded in the New Testament. Wrap it all up in The Golden Rule and you have a remedy that will quench all fear and worry. You will be born anew!

VITAMIN B IS GOOD HEART TONIC

Beriberi, says Webster, is a disease occuring chiefly in the Orient, characterized by multiple inflammatory changes in the nerves, producing great muscular debility, a painful rigidity of the limbs, and cachexia.

Shucks, Webster has these words piled up right there on his desk, so why shouldn't he use 'em? Cochexia? You'll come to it in the next chapter, but if you can't wait I'll run ahead and find out what it means. Let's see, ka-kek—si-a, as it is pronounced, comes from Greek words kakos (bad) and hexis (condition), is defined as a condition of general ill health with malnutrition and wasting of the body.

Malnutrition? Now, see here, if you are trying to heckle me you won't get far—plenty of pikers have tried it on the bowing green to no articular purpose. We'll stipulate that malnutrition is faulty or imperfect nutrition, and nutrition, according to Webster, is the sum of the processes by which an animal or plant absorbs, or takes in and utilizes, food substances.

Although one would properly infer from study of the medical authorities of the past ten or twenty years that beriberi is a problem in India, China, the Philippines, Japan, the Malay Peninsula, Brazil, Paraquay and Uruguay, the disease doesn't happen here in America, where the scale of living is the highest in the world and all that familiar boasting.

The fact that beriberi is a disease of regular occurrence among adults in the United States now raises the question of the occurrence of this disease in infants and children. I am quoting this verbatim from a clinical lecture on Disturbance of the Cardiovascular System in Nutritional Deficiency, by Soma Weiss, M.D., and Robert W. Wilkins, M.O, at the Atlantic City session of the American Medical Association, 1937.

The diagnosis of beriberi cardiovascular disease, said Drs. Weiss and Wilkins, is facilitated by the frequent simultaneous presence of certain noccirnulatory manifestations of dietry deficiency, such as peripheral neuritis, psychosis, glossitis, diarrhea, dermatitis anemia, hypoproteinemia, dysphagia, hoarseness, dry cough . . . (can't wander off in all directions explaining what these terms mean—look 'em up in Webster if you are curious).

Then Drs. Weiss and Wilkins said that the most common cardiovascular symptoms of beriberi, in their experience, are dyspnea (shortness of breath) on exertion, associated with palpitation, tachycardia (rapid heart) and embryocardia (little appreciable difference between first and second heart sounds)... Gallop rhythm, prominent cardiac and epigastric pulsations and bounding peripheral pulses...

Beer drinkers are especially likely to develop beriberi because of their high caloric and now vitamin intake.

In Revista Argentina de Cardiologia (May-June, '39) Drs. Moia and Battle reported their experience in the use of vitamin B1, for precordial pain (pain in the heart region) other than true angina pectoris or coronary occlusion. In 100 such cases the pain disappeared completely in 40, temporarily in 38 and was apparently not affected in 8. Some of the patients had normal heart and arteries, others had hypertension, arteriosclerosis, mitral stenosis, syphilitic aortitis, or neurocirculatory asthenia.

Patients hospitalized with the congestive heart failure physicians call loss of compensation (exhaustion of reserve power of heart) recover compensation (efficient circulation) in shorter time when they receive an optimal daily ration of vitamin B complex than they do when they get only the vitamins present in food.

These are a few of the reasons why I believe vitamin B complex is a good heart tonic.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

In Sunday School

Your article "Why Does the Confirmed Drinker Drink?" will be practically the complete lesson for the next temperance presentation in our Sunday School class of 75 to 80 adults, as you covered the subject so fully. (Signed) ————)

Answer—I hope it may help a few parents, uncles, aunts, big brothers or sisters to teach growing children under their influence to take the pledge. The proportion of total abstainers among the younger generation today is pitifully small. I still believe that was the finest lesson my mother taught me when I was a boy, thanks to the Women's Christian Temperance Union of which she was an active member. It was a lot easier for a kid to keep the pledge in those days than it is now. The idea that it is smart, fashionable or polite to drink was not everlastingly hammered into the heads of boys and girls via the movies, radio, magazines, billboards, newspapers etc. in our time. Nor were there cocktail joints strategically arranged to catch the youngsters with their guard down.

No Socks

Is it healthful for a child of ten years to wear ankle socks with bare legs exposed in this climate during the winter season? (L. A. R.)

Answer—It is not a quetsion of health. It doesn't matter whether the child, or any one else, wears anklet socks or none at all. How much clothing to wear or leave off is purely a question of the individual's personal comfort. If the child is not an idiot he os she knows what is comfortable, in any season, whether or climate. Don't fash yourself about it.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

The War Office in London is one of the most higgledly-piggledly institutions imaginable. The words "War Office" suggest something grim, hard, streamlined. The shock, on entering it for the first time, may distort one's impression. My chief recollection of it is endless haphazard corridors lined with clothes lockers, filing cabinets, chests of every age and description from early Victorian up to modern khaki metal ones, all jumbled. A sort of what-not atmosphere prevails, amidst which civil servants bustle, and generals wander with the air of absent-minded professors.

The offices are small, crowded and dowdy, and there are shallow fire places in them in which you could build a fire about the same as in an old derby hat. When, guided by a civil service messenger in a little postman's coat, you enter one of these offices, the occupant always does his best, immediately, to persuade you you're in the wrong one.

This memory was roused in me this morning when I had occasion to visit the office of Canada's greatest corporation lawyer; and an hour later, the studio of Canada's greatest living painter.

The lawyer's office was a howling disgrace. His books were in a giant old glass-fronted book case that must have been made about 1860; its joints were spread; the books tumbling from it were frayed, battered. The great man's desk was worse; bulged old wire baskets filled with documents rode on top of dusty sheaves of papers and letters that, like last autumn's leaves and the foliage of the year before that, lay in random layers . . . Mr. and Mrs. C. Bushnell and family, of Sidney, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. DeMille.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dent, Thurlow, were recent guests of Mrs. Dent's mother, Mrs. Moore.

Misses Alix and Rosemary Robson, Herchimer Avenue, are spending a few days in Toronto, where they will attend the Ice Follies.

Mrs. John English and John Jr., have left by plane for Shotts, Lanarkshire, Scotland, to visit her sisters and brothers, who have recently been bereaved through the loss of their mother, Mrs. William Watson.

Mrs. Lindsay McKeown of Mt. Pleasant, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Miss Norma Mason spent the weekend in Springbrook, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Mason.

Mr. Charles Little, of Menie, who has been a patient in the Belleville General Hospital, has returned home.

Club Activities

KEEN AGE CLUB

The Keen Age Club of the Tabernacle United Church, held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Shirley Kelleher Foster Avenue, with a good attendance.

The President, Lillian Hall, opened the meeting. The Keen Age purpose and prayer were read in unison. The devotional was presided by Kit Cornish, the theme being "Love" pertraining to Valentine Day. The business of the meeting was discussed with the secretary and treasurer giving reports.

The program consisted of an auction sale of various donated articles.

It was decided to have a bowling party Feb. 8th.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Lelia Ledner and Clare Lathangue.

THREE CHILDREN BURN

Fairplay, Colo., Feb. 3 — (AP) Three children died yesterday from burns suffered when an oil heater exploded and engulfed their home in flames. The children's mother, Mrs. James Smith, suffered a severely burned hand while removing them from the burning house.

On Tuesday night in the church parlors of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church the Young Adult Fellowship entertained about seventeen pupils from the Ontario School for the Deaf at a delightful Valentine's Party.

The rooms were appropriately decorated for the occasion with red and white streamers, and colorful Valentines.

During the evening various active games were played by the boys and girls and the members of the group. The recreational period was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Max Lush. Great excitement was in evidence when under the leadership of Edna Jobson, a fish pond that produced prizes for the pupils of the school was held, and the fishing was good, every boy and girl making a good catch.

Mr. Joe Blackburn showed a number of movies particularly interesting to these young folks.

The highlight of the evening came when the whole group sat down to enticing refreshments prepared by the social convener, Margaret Hagerman, assisted by other members of the group.

Miss Nurse thanked the Young Adult Fellowship for their kindness on behalf of the boys and girls. Eric Nayler, president of the group expressed the pleasure of the Fellowship in being able to entertain the pupils in such a way.

Cars were ready to take the guests back to the school after the splendid evening. Howard Hall was in charge of transportation.

Immediately afterwards the members of the group held their regular business meeting with the president in the chair. The worship period was in charge of Kay Hall, and her topic for thought was based on The Lord's Prayer. Miss Edna Jobson rendered a very lovely solo. Bill Hales read the Scripture, and Mr Staples closed in prayer.

Women's Institute

HUNTINGDON EAST W.I.

Moira.— The Huntingdon East Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Milton Vanderwater, on Thursday evening. It was the Grandmothers' Meeting and Mrs. Frank Vanderwater received the prize for being the oldest grandmother present.

The President, Mrs. N. Welsh, took charge of the meeting. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Braine for an overseas parcel and the Produce Guild Magazine which she had sent was exhibited.

It was decided to donate articles for another parcel to be packed at the home of Mrs. Ellarby. Roll call was answered by "Something I liked about my grandmother". Mrs. Gilbert Thompson spoke on "Never Too Old to be Young". Readings were given by Mrs. W. McInroy and Miss Iva Thompson.

The sympathy of the members was extended to Mrs. Collins in her recent bereavement.

Refreshments were served.

Barbara to Sign When Proper Vehicle Offered

By FRED KERNER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York Feb. 3 —(CP) — "When is Barbara Ann Scott going to sign a movie contract?"

That depends entirely upon how soon a Hollywood producer comes up with the "right vehicle" for her says Morris Schrier, vice-president and general counsel of Music Corporation of America, Barbara Ann's agents.

"We could sign a contract with any one of a number of film producers now— we could have signed six months ago," he said. "But we are not going to put Barbara Ann into any picture. When the right story is offered, however, we will not hesitate to sign a contract."

Schrier said he is most enthusiastic over the reaction of the American theatre public to her professional debut here earlier this year.

"What we knew before now has been borne out," he said. "Barbara Ann is a model, wholesome girl. She is looked up to by other youngsters and by their parents as well.

"The fact that she is a world skating champion only enhances her charm and ability —but it is secondary.

"Her future lies in every field of entertainment— motion pictures and television particularly. But that does not rule out the fact that she is a skater, the finest skater the world has ever seen. And we are not going to stop her from skating.....

"No matter who wins the next world skating title —and even if the new winner turns professional —Barbara Ann now is an established entertainer. And she's already high in her field."

The big problem now Schrier says, is trying to squeeze all the many offers Barbara Ann is receiving into a workable schedule. Hundreds of requests for personal appearances have been turned down.

Canadians Fond Of Their Butter

Ottawa (CP)— Canadians ate 368,250,000 pounds of butter in 1948 an increase of 16,750,000 pounds over the previous year, the Bureau of Statistics reports.

This consumption level, an average of 28.68 pounds a head, compared with 27.93 the previous year, meant the Dominion cut sharply into her domestic butter stocks, since production for 1948 amounted to only 348,164,000 pounds, approximately 1,000,000 pounds below the 1947 output.

December production of 17,062,000 pounds, plus stocks on hand at the beginning of the month amounted to about 68,250,000 pounds, about 5,250,000 pounds less than the total supply in December 1947. Stock holdings totalled 37,250,000 pounds at Jan. 1.

'Making-up' Spare Bed Was Challenge

(By Grace Lockhart, in The Vancouver Daily Province)

I'll bet it was some man who got sick of helping to make the beds that invented the electric blanket. And, at that, bed-making is a much simpler operation than it used to be.

In the old days—it was not merely an operation—it was a challenge. There was so much bedding on each bed, the various articles ought to have been listed in the order of their appearance —or perhaps I should say disappearance.

Of course, in the old days there always seemed to be plenty of help. There were daughters and old maid dependents and, quite often, hired girls to do the job. I didn't mind helping make the ordinary bed—it was the spare bed that used to baffle me. By the time you got on the sheets and the blankets and the numerous quilts, ending up with the "Queen's Fancy" that was used as a spread—you were far from through.

• • •

There were the pillow shams on wooden frames that were used to conceal the pillows. Why, I don't know. There's nothing wrong with a good pair of pillows.

I still have a pair of Aunt Maggie's "shams", made of bleached factory cotton, with a stiff starched frill.

The pattern is worked in the centre of the sham in red tracing cotton, and is that of a pair of owls, looking anything but wise. In fact they're leaning drunkenly against one another and this is the pun they're putting over: "We're from the owl country."

• • •

One time, Maudie, who was as artistic as all get-out, decided that our spare bed should be dressed up, so she made a frill, or a valance, I think it is called, and strung it on a cord, clear around the bed. It really had a dual purpose. Besides being artistic looking, it was supposed to conceal anything under the bed.

This was all to the good until one night Grandma stayed all night, and when she was getting up she caught her feet in Maudie's draperies and fell smack on her face. Luckily she wasn't hurt. Lucky, also it was Maudie's idea, she always being the favorite on account of her housewifely virtues. That was once they nearly got her in wrong.

Another time, a journeyman minister stayed all night, and after a late breakfast, hours after the rest of us had eaten, he went on his way.

Mother sent me to make the spare bed, but I sneaked out of it. Maudie of course made it, and what do you think she found in the bed? A pair of the nicest little folding scissors you ever saw. Various attempts were made to get in touch with the minister, but we never heard of him again, and Maudie has her little scissors to this day.

After that, when anybody stayed it was a race to make the bed, but it never paid off again.

The most extraordinary bed I ever slept in, or more correctly spent the night in, was in Liege in France. Isabel and I had arrived late and were directed to our rooms in the hotel, by a sleepy concierge, who wasn't too sleepy to point out a most atrocious fountain in the lobby. It was a nightmare to look at. I found it had nothing on the bed.

• • •

This was high, and wide, but very difficult to sleep in. It was a very warm night in July and there were feathers below me and feathers above me. But what really wrecked me, was the bolster beneath the pillows. I threw the pillows out on the floor in desperation and then wondered what continued to break my neck. It was then I found the bolster. By the time I got that loostened and out, the bed looked like the Wreck of the Hesperus.

I wonder if that hotel in Liege still stands and if the concierge has thought of an electric blanket and one pair of pillows.

Woman Makes A Million For Older Workers

(By Malvina Lindsay in the Washington Post)

Last month there died in New York a 90-year-old widow who had projected herself intelligently and devotedly into the world she was leaving.

For 16 years Mrs. Florence A. Troughton had worked at making the bequest she was to leave render effective service when she was gone. In so doing she made a contribution to two problems of modern life, the constructive disposal of the vast wealth left in elderly widows' hands, and the financial struggle of the older woman who must earn her own living.

Mrs. Troughton when left a widow 32 years ago had an adequate but not large inheritance, and a spacious handsomely furnished Riverside Drive apartment. When some years later she began to think of how she would leave her small fortune, she decided to do one big constructive thing rather than parcel out what she had.

Becoming interested in the Salvation Army's Evangeline residences where students and working girls up to 25 years of age live inexpensively, she began an investigation of these and other endowed homes. She found that virtually none made provisions for older working women.

• • •

She decided to leave her money to the Salvation Army for such a home. A good business woman, Mrs. Troughton had been building up her legacy by sound investments. She became so interested in her project that she determined to leave a million dollars for it. She gave her beautiful furnishings to the Salvation Army for its Evangeline residences and moved into a simple hotel room where she could live more economically. She spent much of her time planning for her residence project and interviewed numerous older women on buses and elsewhere to determine their living needs.

As a result, her will leaving one million dollars for the home held definite provisions as to how the project should be operated. She stipulated that health care and vocational guidance be given in the residence, which will be built soon in New York, and which will offer accommodations to about 200 women.

This story is significant at this time when so much of inherited wealth is passing into the hands of women past 60. It is estimated that at least 80 per cent of insurance is payable to women. Probate records show they inherit the bulk of all estates—possibly because of feminine longevity.

It is true that in large estates public bequests are usually taken care of through foundations or trusts established by the men who amass the fortunes. And many bequests to women are left in trust funds. Yet in these days of small families and an increasing older population there is a growing surplus of elderly widows with small fortunes who have the disposal of these in their hands and who have no immediate heirs.

Often this wealth is disposed of by whim or accident with no sense of responsibility to society —from which it was derived. Few women—or men for that matter—are willing to devote the time and thought Mrs. Troughton did to determining what can be done most effectively with the substance they leave. Most take the easiest way of making gifts to prominent charities or to personal friends not needing such bounty.

• • •

In 1947 about 55 per cent of women between 60 and 64 were widows. These—and those older —have a large proportion of the 70 per cent of privately owned wealth reputed to be in women's hands.

However, for all their owning of stocks, bank deposits, insurance, women take little part in control of these. The 47 per cent of stocks they own seem to interest them only when dividends are due. Even the few who are on corporation boards—by virtue of large inheritances —leave things to the men.

Recently, however, a movement has developed among women stockholders to seek more voice in management. This is led by several outstanding women business and public leaders and is expected to get somewhere.

Similarly, Mrs. Troughton's devoted personal attention to the disposal of her substance may be indicative of a more responsible attitude on the part of all who have anything to pass on.

Make-Up and Dress Harmony

After making a careful choice of lipstick to go with the costume she plans to wear, Movie Star Janet Blair applies it with a brush

By HELEN FOLLETT

THAT the colors of the clothes one wears must direct make-up to a certain extent every woman with a discerning eye must have found out for herself. For instance the red hat, or the one with red facing, throws a glow upon the face, hence the synthetic blush must be dispensed with or applied with the light touch. A grey frock, draining the skin of natural coloring, calls for a more generous use of the commercial blush With the white frock the facial batik must be toned down; with black it can be a bit more vivid. The mirror should direct one. It will if the eye is color-trained.

The importance of the selection of powder isn't to be passed over lightly. The main choice is between the ivories, rachelles, flesh tints and those indefinable shades that remind you of the color of the tea rose, a pinkish yellow. Slightly darker than the natural coloring, the powder should be. If it is lighter, it will not give the complexion, that soft, gardenia appearance that is flattering.

Red Tints

Rouge runs through all the coral, rose, orange, red and raspberry tints. Avoid the old fashioned carmine; it is too lithographic, is definitely out these days when natural effects are what the beauticians order.

Between rouge and lipstick there must be a close color bond.

To apply rouge and powder directly after the soapy face washing is a mistake; the flesh should be conditioned. You can apply a light cream, if you wish, removing it with tissues, or you can play with a foundation cosmetic. The advantage of the foundation is that it makes powder stick.

As fashions in clothes change, so do fashions in faces. It's fun to march with the crowd, keep in step. For the sake of one's family one should never lag. The children are proud of their pretty mother, can't bear to have her look out of date.

LONG MASSED FLIGHT

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP)— Completing the longest massed flight of its kind on record, four United States Navy helicopters landed yesterday at the end of a 3,500-mile trip from Bridgeport, Conn. The aircraft were 15 days en route, making the journey in a series of daytime hops, but the total flying time was only 38.3 hours.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Suffix "Senior" not used after Father's Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
When a boy is named for his father, the boy uses the suffix "Jr." after his name . . . right? Therefore isn't it also correct that the father use the suffix "Sr." after his name, and signs his name, for example, "John Paul Jones, Sr."?

Reader

A boy whose name is exactly the same as his father's, and whose father is living is "Jr." . . . and he uses or writes this suffix (either 'Jr.' or 'junior') after his name.

But is is not correct for a man to use or to write "Sr." after his name. The father uses and writes his name "as is", with no suffix. As long as the father lives, he is "John Paul Jones", no suffix: and as long as the father lives, his son is "John Paul Jones, Jr."

(An accepted use of "Sr." because of its practical convenience is after the name of a widow, when she has a married son whose name is the same as his father's. To avoid any name-confusion, the widow may be addressed as "Mrs. John Paul Jones, Sr.")

Correct, Though Unusual, Form for Divorcee's Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
I will soon be granted my final divorce decree. I would like to ask you a question concerning a form of name I should like to use after my divorce. I have never heard of this being done, and I wonder if it would be correct. My maiden name (for example) was Mary Campbell Smith and the "Campbell", being my mother's maiden name, was particularly precious to me (my father never paid much attention to us children, and finally left my mother, making no provision for our care). My married name was Mrs. Arthur Robinson. Now instead of using my name as I understand I should use it, as a divorcee, Mrs. Smith Robinson, I should like to use my second baptismal name, Campbell: Mrs. Campbell Robinson. Could this be considered correct?

Divorcee-to-be

Yes . . . this form, although not often used by a divorcee, is considered correct. (However, this form of name is not as "identifiable" as the use of the maiden surname prefixed to your ex-husband's surname. That is, your circle of friends might more easily identify your maiden surname Smith, than your second baptismal name Campbell.) Another correct form (to indicate your first name) would be: Mrs. M. Campbell Robinson.

Is a gift necessary, or proper or expected?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
Is it necessary for a guest to bring a gift to a housewarming? Is it proper? Does the hostess expect a housewarming gift? Specifically I am asking about a housewarming given by the couple themselves: invitations were sent out reading "Housewarming, Sunday (then the date), 4 to 7."

M. R.

It is not necessary for a guest to bring a gift to a housewarming. It is a proper gesture if one wishes to make it, and particularly if it is more or less the custom of the community. But as to whether or not the hostess expects a gift . . . only the hostess could answer this!

Problem: To send or not to send a wedding present

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:
I am soon to be confronted with a problem on which I need your help . . . please. I believe that my boss is planning to be married quite soon, but I am not sure if I will be invited to the wedding. If I am invited only to the church ceremony, would it be necessary for me to send a wedding gift? On the other hand, if I am invited to the reception as well as to the church, would a gift be necessary in this case? If your answer is in the affirmative, to whom should I send the gift? And what sort of gift would be appropriate . . . should it be one that will be useful to both the bride and groom?

D. M.

There isn't any obligation to give a wedding present . . . no hard-and-fast "rule and regulation". Today's practical idea is that you give a present if you wish to, and needn't give one if you don't feel inclined to. It's quite natural for a member of either family or a relative or intimate friend to give a wedding present . . . but there's no must if one is a not so close friend or merely an acquaintance.

If you're invited to the church only, this would probably mean you're in the "acquaintances" classification, and certainly you needn't send a gift. If you're invited to the ceremony and the reception, you might like to send a gift as a bow of appreciation for this compliment.

Always the gift should be sent to the bride-to-be, even if one does not know her. And a wedding gift should be something for the new home: for example, something in linen, silver, china, glass.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters and Answers

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am 17, and am interested in a boy of 18. We go to school together every day and he has asked me out a few times but I have been busy.

My problem is that I like my friends to always look neat and clean but he is definitely not a shining example. I would like to know how I can help him without hurting his feelings or embarrassing him. I have dropped many hints, all of which he has picked up readily, but I am beginning to run out of gentle hints and don't want to resort to harsh ones. I would like to go out with him but not until he improves his appearance. He is very nice in all other ways.

"C.B."

Dear "C.B.":
I don't imagine the reason that you have not gone out with this boy when he asked you was because you were too busy, as you say. You probably would not have been "too busy" if he were all slicked up and looked as he should.

If you go to school together every day, you have many good opportunities to give him an idea about how you feel. My suggestion is that you do it by bringing up from time to time other boys that you both know, who look the way you'd like him to look. Naturaly, you won't draw any comparisons, but just talk enthusiastically about these other boys and say how nice they look. Admire the way they dress or, how neat they keep themselves. If you do it in the right way, he will probably get the idea, and take more interest in sprucing up.

This is a project with which you could really have a lot of fun seeing what you can do by indirect methods. If all these fail, however, then I think the next time he asks you out you would be perfectly justified in saying plainly that you would like to go, but you want him to look so nice that you'll be proud to be seen with him.

Fashion Flashes

EASY-TO-WEAR frocks are very much in the present and near future dress picture. Wool crepe in sand, aqua or nile green is the fabric chosen for an easy shirtwaist dress with double, stand-up collar with long pointed ends, rhinestone ball buttons closing the bodice, short sleeves with flared cuffs, slashed pockets on the easy skirt and a belt with pretty self detail.

LOOK-OUT for a terrific job on colorful silk shantung mixmates and separates, the sort of thing that has gone so well since late fall in wool jersey. Beautiful separates in gold, violet, green, coral, shocking and other rich colors are ready for assembling into pretty casual or afternoon outfits. Some blouses are plain, others have deep plunging necklines, tucking and other detail.

DOWN SOUTH, every woman from deb to dowager is going in for the coolie-shaped hat as a sun-protector. White straw with black velvet ribbons that tie under the chin is a favorite style.

Black Satin and Jet

By PRUNELLA WOOD

AMONG the attractive fashion revivals is that of the Polonaise, that dramatic swoop of fabric folded across the front of a skirt to meet behind in a swoosh of itself. The black satin gown above, which was seen at the Plaza recently, in New York, is beautifully drapped in this mode, and with its jet beaded bodice altogether presents a fashionable picture.

A stole or a short fur jacket (ermine would be handsome) is the most feasible wrap over such a draping, and the gown is a natural for extravagance in jewelry, whether the gems be real or mock.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

Complexions Need Lubricants

Neglected, the skin deteriorates. Teacher, is referring now to the epidermal coating of the face, neck, arms and hands. That portion of the body that is protected with clothing is free of harshness unless some skin disease is present. Normally, it stays young in appearance all through life.

The complexion does not lead an easy life; it needs a lot of comforting and petting. In the summer season it is subjected to strong sunlight that not only burns, but may change the character and texture of the skin. In the winter, it is flayed by climatic conditions and harsh winds. Always, it comes in contact with atmospheric dust that takes a toll, may put black deposits in the pores.

To combat complexion dryness, the best fighting agent is a good cream. Creams come in many forms, all sweetly scented, nice to play with. For cleansing purposes you can use the good old favorite known as cold cream, or a milky-white emulsion. The liquid offering seeps into the skin, softens pore blockades, if they are present, lessens the chance of having blackheads form.

In ancient times oils were used to keep the skin soft, smooth, healthy, immune to the effects of birthdays. Creams were compounded for the purpose of making oils more convenient to handle and apply. Cosmetic chemists have produced heavier emollients that are used for massage. They permit the fingers to get a better hold, so the treatment goes deeper. They tone the tissues, stimulate circulation and being soothing, have a medicinal effect.

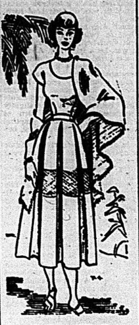
A good cream best combats complexion dryness

Use a light cream for cleansing, one of firmer consistency when massaging. You will save yourself some beauty griefs if you remain faithful to your complexion duties. The well-lubricated skin does not wrinkle early. The flesh laps up the oil, feeds upon it. The light manipulations necessary for the applications tend to keep firm and resilient those under-layers of adipose padding that give the face youthful contour. When these cushions go into a state of dissolution, the outer surface softens and sags, and lines appear.

It sometimes happens that even oily skins are benefited by creams though it is not wise to let them remain on over night if the sebaceous glands are overactive.

All times are good times for creaming and coddling your face. Use a little cream before applying make-up. Use it for removing rouge and lipstick. If you need a clean-up before dinner, and after a busy day, use a thin cream and start from scratch.

Colorful Cottons



Good Resort Frock

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

COTTON IN A TWEEDY finish, so woven that it doesn't crease readily, is the excellent choice for a good resort frock, one that packs well and looks well. The color is a vibrant lemon yellow with an inset band of orange on the pleated skirt. The shawl of matching yellow with orange facing lends itself to draping in many moods. The skirt is moderately full below a slim waist and the bodice has the popular scooped-out neckline.

The Experts Say . . .

By KAY REX

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa (CP)— Dried beans may be the poor man's meat and the rich man's treat, but it can be a delicious and economical main course at any time.

Baked beans have long been the Saturday night special in the Maritime provinces and indeed right across Canada. Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of agriculture have pepped up the old-fashioned recipe into a tasty dish of savory beans, equally welcome either for dinner or supper.

Ingredients: One pound dried white navy beans (two cups); one tablespoon salt; one cup sliced onion; two tablespoons fat; one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon dry mustard; one tablespoon molasses; one teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; 2 1-2 cups canned tomatoes; one half cup grated cheese.

Wash and soak dried beans overnight in four cups colds water. Drain and then cover with boiling water. Add one tablespoon salt, cover and simmer until tender(about two hours.) Drain.

Saute the onions in the fat until tender and then blend in the flour. Add mustard, molasses, salt, pepper and tomatoes. Mix the latter with beans and simmer, uncovered, for five minutes. Sprinkle with cheese. Yield: six servings.

While the above recipe is for top stove cooking, the beans may also be cooked in a casserole. The mixture may be reheated one-half hours before meal-time.

Ingredients: one package spaghetti; eight small Spanish onions; one pound veal steak; one large can tomatoes; two carrots; two parsnips; one tablespoon flour; one tablespoon butter; pepper, salt and paprika to taste.

Put spaghetti in salted water and boil rapidly until tender. Drain and wash with cold water. Slice onions and fry, and then fry meat (cut in small pieces) in same grease in which onions have been fried. Heat tomatoes and pour over meat and onions. Boil carrots and parsnips. When tender cut in slices.

Make a brown gravy to which has been added butter, flour and seasoning. Pour this over all the ingredients which have been mixed together.

Egg nogs are excellent drinks for the child with the finicky appetite, and also for the convalescent.

Ingredients: three quarters cup milk; one egg; one tablespoon sugar; one half tablespoon vanilla; salt.

Beat egg and then add sugar, salt, vanilla and milk. Blend thoroughly. All ingredients should be well chilled before combining.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.-L.A.

West Huntingdon.—The regular meeting of the W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, West Huntingdon, was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Thompson and Mrs. Harold Thompson.

Mrs. John McEnroy, the new president, was in charge of the meeting. The Scripture lesson and comment on the keyword was read by Mrs. D. Haggerty. The Roll Call was answered by the keyword "Guidance".

A poem "Facing a New Year", was read by Mrs. J. B. Haggrty. Mrs. Milton Shaw sang a solo accompanying herself on the guitar.

Mrs. Harold Thompson gave a paper on the Mission Field, telling of the work of the deaconesses.

Mrs. M. Haggerty read a poem "The Forgotten Man".

Mrs. Milton Shaw was presented with a life membership. Mrs. W. H. Walker read the address and Mrs. John McEnroy made the presentation.

The first chapter of the new study book, "Enter China" was given by Mrs. Harry Thompson. Mrs. Milton Shaw gave a report of the Presbyterial meeting held in St. Andrew's Church, Belleville. The business meeting was then held.

Some Observations on Florida

Editors Note: Dr. Lily B. Mathieson, who has recently returned from Florida, has written an interesting story of her observations during the trip.

The State of Florida, viewed as a whole, is a land of magic. I had thought to find Florida similar to California because both are in warm climates and both grow citrus fruits. But the similarity goes no further. East state is different to the other in many things which make up each entity.

Florida is a surprisingly large state, well settled in the east coast, much less so on the west coast, a part of which lies on the Gulf of Mexico. The centre of this vast state, for the most part, is only in pioneer infancy. Great areas are yearly being developed, but one can drive for miles on good roads through land uncultivated and unsettled. It will not be long so. The grey, sandy earth upon which a jungle grows, easily will, under cultivation, produce several crops yearly. The type of crop varies with the district, perhaps, not only for suitability of climate and earth, but for commercial handling.

Tourist Centre

The east coast has, for more than a half century, been a messa for tourists and travellers. Beginning with Jacksonville in the north, which is so near the border of Georgia that the atmosphere savors of both states, there are a series of cities and towns well known for their winter charm. St. Augustine, then Palm Beach, and most southerly is Miami. Among these larger cities, well known however, are many other centres such as Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale and I heard 'Hollywood,' which is south of Fort Lauderdale, mentioned often.

The west coast, slower to develop in general, is quieter, and has a conservatism which wears well. Perhaps, it is more old fashioned. But that particular word does not fit St. Petersburg whose lights are not a whit less brilliant than Miami. Bradenton and Sarasota with the good beach outside Bradenton and the famed highly-developed Lido Beach not far from Sarasota offer variety and good bathing with the joys of beach life.

"Sleepy Lagoon"

It seems to me, I can recall a song, whose crooning music fits the words "Sleepy Lagoon." Driving down from Bradenton, missing Sarasota, we turned left to cross a half-mile bridge and found a lagoon well named "Sleepy Lagoon." On one key is a clubhouse. The road to it was planted with cocoanut palms. Some of the nuts were fallen on the ground.

By another bridge we crossed to the other key to view the ruin of an uncompleted palatial hotel. Mr. Ringling, of circus fame, abandoned this project after an outlay of two or more million dollars. Some dispute arose as the bridge connecting the main roadway being a lift-lock bridge and so incensed was he at being unable to thwart the government plan that he quit building, leaving equipment for hundreds of bathrooms to be taken away by any vandal. That was shortly after World War I. Today, a narrow jungle road branches from the main key road to lead one to view the great building which lies in silent ruin on one side of Sleepy Lagoon.

Lavish Spender

Mr. Ringliny spent other money fabulously in this area of the west coast of Florida. Presumably, his choice was this part of the state on the Gulf of Mexico. One must agree it is peaceful and beautiful. He designed and built a Moorish residence, opulant and furnished in palatial style. Nearby, he built a museum and it houses in the many rooms about fifty to seventy percent original paintings of great value. The whole, indeed, cost seventeen millions and it is well worth seeing. Very often Mr. Ringling competed in world markets for some great picture, and with a keen knowledge of art, his purchases are a great and valuable gift to the state.

On this drive to see the ruined hotel project, we drove further out along the key which is not too wide but affords room for residences on both sides and which have fine beach accommodation. It is but sparaley settled. Evidence of the great storm of last year which swept the south of Florida was shown in the broken trees, whose bark-denuded trunks and branches glistened in the warm sunlight a white and dead wood.

Fine Highways

Everywhere in Florida development is heralded by good paved roads. These bring in those who like to drive down from the north when the first shadow of winter appears. They usually stay until the green mantle of spring has hung in the north a welcoming to their liking. People live in hotels, houses, private apartments and tourist camps. Of the latter it is said that one in Bradenton is the largest in the state — a settlement of three thousand trailers. They have a distinct community with a loud speaker service to convey messages from the office.

Fort Myers Attractive

About a hundred miles southward on the Gulf is Fort Myers. Two weeks ago it was seen, a grey, quiet city, with much less activity since the end of the war. The navy, during that time, had a large station and gave color and brilliance to the local scene. Food was well served and abundant in this old town which boasts that Edison chose it for his home in the south. That home is now being converted to a museum in his honor.

So much indeed of the life of these coastal cities depends on the people who come down from the colder northern areas, to bask in the warm sun and enjoy the luxury of southern existence. One is impressed many times by a parallel between the old south and the new. Early suggestions of parasitic life were made interesting and rich by slave labor. And it needed much and many efforts to bring the land from jungle to cultivation, so there is some reason for the southern dependence in early days on slave labor.

Living Can be Expensive

Today, the abundance and ease with which the northern sheckles are uncomplainingly given, complete the picture. Left to the popular fashion of easy-come and easy-go, living is expensive, but not entirely without a bow to luxury toward the visitor whose gold provides so many year-round residents with their currency.

There is, however, no greater fallacy than that a great amount of money is needed to live in Florida, and that unless one speaks early, all accommodation is taken. Let any person choose the place he wants to visit. He can find numerous commercial hotels which correspond, in various price ranges, to those of his home district. From this safe haven, it is possible to find satisfactory accommodation in abundance to fit his means.

Good Variety Food

Food is not more expensive than at home in Canada. The variety is better. Meats were choice and good. Such choice fish as Pompano sea-bass, though I preferred our small mouthed black bass, and lobster and shrimps were not without the support on the menu of lamb, pork and beef in various cuts and preparations.

Fowl such as chicken, roast Long Island duck, a thick-set bird and turkey, appeared often. Eggs were never absent, in some form, from breakfast or lunch. On the breakfast menu a favorite southern dish was of corn beef hash, fried in a generous slab and served with butter fried potatoes. Once or twice I strayed to this corn-beef-hash accompanied, as it was, by a fried egg. And once, I was lured by the tempting odor of my neighbor's griddle cakes, accompanied by sausage and syrup. But only once. It was too rich. Every meal hot breads in some form were served. Muffins, coffee, cakes and slightly sweetened hot breads such as Johnny cake, were most tempting ang good, not for one's figure, but for the palate.

In general, the northern visitor is charmed by the well-preserved art of southern cooking which to bring contentment in the polite easy atmosphere of repose in which he finds himself. All this makes the extraction of money less than painless — or nearly less.

Leisurely Life

On the beaches, life can be lived most days in shorts, if desired. Fishing is a major sport. The city of Clearwater is north of St. Petersburg, and is the scene of any summer resort population. Along the narrow nine-mile water-bordered and paved road which connects Clearwater to the far outskirts of the more southern Tampa, people were lucky in their catches of fish, both in day and the night fishing.

It was in Tampa I visited an antique shop. Never did I see one so well kept, or showing china and glass so choice in design and decoration. And I found that to carry the desired fantasy of old southern luxury it was necessary to shop as far north as Boston, New York State or in Vermont. Little of the southern antiques remain. Time and poverty of the old south have dissipated, except in rare instances, such treasures as are often found in our northern homes.

Shell Gathering Popular

On some of the beaches with their wide, firm, white sands, glistening water-wet from the outgoing tide, one may gather shells, as I did, at Bradenton Beach. However, commercial shell gatherers are out early and often spoil this pleasure. Further south, out in the ocean, from Fort Myers, lie two islands famed for their large and brightly colored shells. One must go by ferry and is expected to patronize the hotel for meals and possibly stay over night. The hotel, though simple in furnishings, belongs to the Purple of Royalty. Someone said, in conservation, the cost of staying overnight would be thirty dollars. I did not do it. Perhaps some time I might. At least, I can hope, can I not?

Some of the Inducements

With all this tourist influx and the great revenue so derived, one is apt to speculate on the fate of the steady inhabitants should money tighten in the north, as in depression. Florida has known that blight in the past. But the places mentioned on east and west coast are so little in area compared to the great central part of the inland state, much of this is yet to be settled. What does it offer?

I saw evidence that this naturally grey, jungle-type landscape made more dismal by the grey, hanging moss and wilder by close-to-earth small thick clumps of shrub palms, can, when cultivated, produce marvelous vegetables and flowers.

Some Observations

One recalls Cinderella in rags and poverty and whose unspoiled heart, opened for her a castle and life with her Prince Charming. The grey sandy land of Florida naturally bears, in the more northern parts and middle area, evergreen turpentine trees. There are for beauty, palms of a number of varieties, as well as flowering ones which bring charm to the landscape. The finest of the palms is a tall clean-trunked tree and is called the "Royal Palm." There are various flowering trees most of which bloom in the spring.

Not Well Informed

The country is easiest seen from an automobile. However, if the car is left behind, then one is dependent on friends, a paid chauffeur, or bus, for transportation. It was a matter of surprise to find from hotel or chamber of commerce, and even travel agency, one could find it difficult to gather pertinent facts on travel to a place not a hundred miles distant. All these agencies, in Bradenton, were tried for information on Fort Myers. Little of help, even as to accommodation there, was to be obtained. Possibly in the northern states and Canada, we are better organized in regard to the travelling public or possibly it is desired to detain the traveller. This last does not sound reasonable. But the fact remains that information about other places was found difficult to obtain in more than one centre.

Vast Acreage Tomatoes

Driving to Lakeland, one hundred-odd miles north, and slightly west in the interior, we drove through Plant City Area, which specializes in tomato growing. Two or three very large packing houses, on railway sidings, testified to the vastness of this particular crop. The season, for the present shipment, was just closing.

Further north, in the Lakeland district, we were reminded of the beginning local strawberry crop by strawberry shortcake served at our restaurant. A particular fried cornmeal bread-stick was a good tasting accompaniment to our meat and vegetable course.

Not far from Lakeland and some miles separated, are two famous beauty spots. The first, "Cyprus Park" or gardens, is a cultured swamp park visited by means of small boats. Girls in beautiful old crinolines modestly disport themselves and add color to the wealth of flowering shrubs, trees and varied-leaved tropical trees.

Bok Memorial Park

The other beautiful park was a gift from Edward Bok, a former Ladies Home Journal editor, who wished to leave a memorial of his gratitude for his happy success in his adopted country. He was a Hollander. This park is kept up by a two and a half million dollar foundation fund. It is a many pathed park-land of tall trees centred with a pints marble bell tower of more than two hundred feet high.

Lush azaleas and other shrubs bloomed with millions of flowers along the way. Birds were sheltered in this fifty-three acre sanctuary. The scene lovely and peaceful on this height of parks-land becomes an enchanting spot when the bell music is added to please the senses. We were fortunate enough to hear the three o'clock concert played on the chimes.

One sees, that though flowers are results in general, of cultivation, the growth and bloom is phenominal, the result of fine sunshine, plenty of water, and good soil.

Rainy Season

Rainy season is in August, and September. It is necessary where land is cultivated, that large and deep ditches be dug to carry away the deluge of surface water, else the crop would be drowned. One must in this connection, remember that much of Florida is, or tends to be, swamp land.

I saw large areas of citrus groves. Right now after the frost and snow damage in the upper part of California, the Floridians have set themselves, even more earnestly, to cultivate and increase their marketing of citrus fruits. It was said they would try to capture the permanent market in which California led.

Delicate Fruits

There are some fruits too delicate for shipment. One is the papaye, a choice tree fruit like a melon. It is served in juice form as well as in pieces and is a bland melon-flavored fruit larger than a cocoanut. The seeds please the taste in their contrasting hot flavor.

Another fruit is a tangeloe, larger and more juicy than a tangerine. It is to my thinking the choices of all citrus fruits. Either for delicacy or for fragility reasons it is not shipped.

Two other major sources of income are developed. First is the great tobacco industry. Cigars are exported to Cuba and the other states of the country. This industry as well as the great cattle herds, is far greater and important in a national way than is generally known. Cattle and beef are largely shipped to Cuba and paradoxically as it may seem, to South America.

Cross-Bred Cattle

On many miles of ranch land I saw herds usually with a Braham bull introduced to improve the stock. When the native stock is crossed with the Brahmin the hump of the latter breed does not appear in the new stock. One of the reasons for this crossing is the ability of the Brahmin to withstand the tick pest. Also the cattle produced are large, and as well, good dairy cattle.

Florida has some chemical industry based on sulphur and Potassium.

It is impossible to forget the possibility of growing beautiful flowers in this splendid climate. Large acreages are given over to horticulture. Gardenias are grown for cutting ,but it was too early in the season to see many. Orchids, too, and rare lilies, are grown. Chrysanthemums were ready in fields of many acres for cutting. So were gladioli. These are sent by air to New York markets. I saw evidence of the increased importance of growing gladioli. Many times near Bradenton new land was being broken to be used for cultivation of this easily-shipped flower.

Bright-Colored Flowers

Walking any morning in the sun one saw various flowers such as blue morning glories and flame vines clambering over garages. Hibiscus and poinsettia with others vied with foliages for beauty and attention to such display.

All in all, Florida is an enchanting not fully developed land offering rest and luxury to the visitor and abundant return to the settler and one thinks gratefully of its charm. To a northerner, Ontario remains nothing less by contrast. It is a solid good land. And to one who knows California that lovely state is not outdistanced. The world has many beautiful places for homes of which we are not aware. Each offers a special charm.

Annual Congregational Meeting

ST. MARK'S CHURCH

Bonarlaw.—At the annual vestry meeting of St. Mark's Church held in the parish hall on Wednesday evening, Mr. Everett Heath was elected People's Warden. Owing to the illness of Mr. R. A. Brown, rector's warden for 1948, he was unable to be present, and the rector, Rev. J. M. Brownlie, announced that he would make the appointment of rector's warden for 1949 at a later date.

There was a splendid attendance, Rev. Mr. Brownlie acting as chairman and W. J. Barlow as vestry clerk.

People's Warden, Everett Heath, presented reports of both wardens showing a substantial balance on hand with both.

All receipts amounted to $1,330.19 and expenses $1,189.51. On hand $140.68.

The report of St. Mark's W.A. was given by Mrs. J. M. Brownlie and St. Mark's Sunday School by Mrs. A. V. Brown both organizations being in a healthy condition.

MT. CARMEL CHURCH

Brighton and Murray. — The annual congregational meeting of Mt. Carmel Church was held in the church on Thursday evening, Jan. 20.

The different departments reported a year of progress.

Mr. Sunter gave his report on the membership of the church, and his regret that sometimes so few were present. Some memberships had lapsed, though not taken off the roll; some had gone to another branch and some were non-resident.

Information re salaries was then given members for their consideration.

Officers for the coming year were elected with few changes.

Mr. Sunter thanked those who co-operated during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Sunter were given a vote of appreciation and thanks for their faithful services.

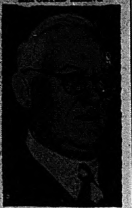
REPORTED AILING



Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vyshinsky (above) is "gravely ill from a nervous disorder," according to a member of the staff of a Soviet army sanatorium at Karlsbad, about 70 miles west of Prague, Czechoslovakia. The statement added that Vyshinsky was unable to concentrate on anything and was not allowed to have any visitors.—Central Press Canadian.

UNITED CHURCH AND S.S.

Wooler.—Despite the inclement weather, there was a good attendance in the Sunday School room of the United Church, on Monday evening for the annual congregational and Sunday School meetings.

Immediately following a bountiful supper, Rev. W. G. Fletcher opened the meeting with a short worship service.

Mr. F. A. Dorland read the minutes of the last meeting. Mr. Fletcher reported a membership of 210; baptismals 26; marriages four and burials six. A moment of silence was observed in memory of those who had passed away.

Envelope secretary reported $1,044.75 given by envelopes and treasurer's report showed the total receipts to be $2,465.49. M. and M. receipts were $372.15. The re-decorating of the church cost $1,067.81. The total receipts of the Woman's Association were $1,708. The Afternoon Auxiliary, $150, and the Evening Auxiliary, $388; the Sunday School $154; Trail Rangers $39; Choir $250, and Wooler Mission Band, $15.

Mr. C. D. Cole reported sending 17 cards to sick and bereaved.

Officers

Elders, stewards, ushers, organist and choir leader were reelected.

Officers of the Sunday School

CONFUSED ISSUE

At the House opening, External Affairs Minister Pearson disclosed that Canada has sent a "strong" protest to Hungary against the arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty and the persecution of other church leaders in that country.

Private Bills Read

The Chamber gave first reading to two private bills providing amendments to the Dominion Elections Act and to a third private measure to outlaw so-called crime comic books.

In the Senate, the Throne Speech debate was opened by Senator Thomas Farquhar (L—Ontario), who described the Geneva trade agreement as the "greatest advance" towards freer trade ever taken at any time. It should be a "great boost" to Canadian farmers and Canadian business men.

In the Commons debate, Mr. Garson said two men were directly responsible for the failure of the Dominion-Provincial Conference—Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Mr. Drew, as the former Premier of Ontario.

Mr. Duplessis, he said, never had indicated to the conference how much Quebec wanted for the rental of its tax fields while Mr. Drew asked for rentals which totalled $50,000,000 more than all of the province's pre-war revenues from all sources—an estimate which Mr. Drew never had challenged.

The Justice Minister denied that the surrender of tax agreements to the Dominion would centralize power in Ottawa. On the contrary, it would recentralize power because the rental payments received from the Dominion would enable the provinces properly to exercise the rights granted them under the constitution.

Experience Favorable

The experience of all provincial treasurers during the period of the wartime taxation agreements had been favorable. All of the provinces showed surpluses during those years and it could not be argued that the provincial treasuries had been "prejudiced."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Drew's interest in the Dominion-Provincial issue was to see that the spirit of Confederation was observed in law, in spirit and in fact. The government, on the other hand, had sought to interfere with the rights of the provinces under the doctrine of emergency.

Now, under a so-called doctrine of defence needs, the Dominion awain was trying to invade the Provincial field.

Swinging to other subjects, Mr. Diefenbaker called for an immediate statement on the outlook for Canadian agriculture, prompt payment of the 20-cent participation certificates on wheat delivered from 1945 and 1948 and a reduction on income taxes as they applied to farmers.

He expressed regret that the throne speech contained no reference to irrigation projects for Western Canada, despite government "promises" of irrigation development made in the federal by-election in Rosthern, Sask., three months ago.

Complains About Low Prices

Mr. Fair complained about the low prices at which Canadian wheat has been sold to Britain under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and said all Canadians—not the wheat producers alone—should share in the cost of providing Britain with cheap bread. This could be done through the treasury.

Mr. McKay bespoke the concern of Prairie farmers about the price they will receive for their wheat in the future. They did not want to return to the price uncertainties which had developed from trading in wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Mr. Stuart, who recently visited Greece, said that if the members could see conditions in that strife-torn country they would not hesitate to do everything in their power to help its people. Greece was the only barrier between Communistic Russia and the Mediterranean.

From 29 Branch Laboratories located in the cities and towns identified above, AO Belleville-made lenses are distributed to the opthalmic professions.

AO'S THREE-WAY PARTNERSHIP

To the people of Belleville, our new lens plant probably stands as a complete unit in itself but American Optical Company Canada Limited is much more than a plant in Belleville. American Optical is also 29 Branch Laboratories strategically located throughout Canada.

If our Belleville plant is the heart of AO's organization, then the Branches can be considered the hands and eyes. From the Branches come the lens orders that mean production and work for AO Belleville people. In other words, factory and Branches are dependent on each other.

AO's Branches serve Belleville as sales and servicing centres .... they provide our contact with professional men who utilize Belleville-made lenses in correcting defective vision. For, as you know, professional people constitute our customers.

This vital two-way street — the flow of orders to us from our Branch organization and the return to them of the high quality lenses that have built our reputation — is not the whole story. There is more .... much more.

American Optical Company Canada Limited is also the skilled technicians who produce our lenses .... the sinews of AO if you will. And again, AO wouldn't be AO without the people and merchants of Belleville who provide the many services without which our lens plant could not operate. We are thinking of the people who provide and maintain our telephone service .... who sell us electricity .... office supplies .... water .... the mail and freight services that feed us communications and raw materials .... the banking facilities so important to any business enterprise .... and the hundred-and-one other major and minor facilities any industrial plant must have.

It is this three-way partnership between our lens factory, our Branch organization and the people of Belleville which makes it possible for us to produce superior lenses .... and aid the cause of better vision.

American Optical COMPANY Canada Limited

CONSTANTLY ENDEAVORING TO BE A GOOD CITIZEN .... A GOOD NEIGHBOR.

Harris Denies Paper Reports Of His Statement

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 3 — (CP) — According to the Brantford Expositor report of the Jan. 21 address by Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to the prime minister, Mr. Harris "foresaw the possibility of war with Russia" when the North Atlantic Security Pact was signed.

The Expositor next day quoted Mr. Harris as saying to a Brantford Liberal meeting:

"The crux will come when that treaty is signed. If the Russians feel they must make war it will be at that time."

In its introduction to Mr. Harris' statement, the Expositor said:

"He foresaw the possibility of war with Russia when the treaty was signed. This, he indicated, would likely take place within the next three months, as the Soviets were reported to 'view with apprehension' the conclusion of such an agreement."

The Toronto Star report, mentioned by Conservative leader George Drew in the House of Commons Tuesday, said that Mr. Harris said war with Russia may be an outcome of the signing of the pact. It went on to quote Mr. Harris as saying: "If the Russians feel they must make war, it will come at that time."

In a 200-word statement issued Tuesday night, Mr. Harris said: "Far from suggesting that war might come, I stressed the fact that the signing of the Atlantic pact would be the most effective step that Canada could take to protect herself against aggressors and to insure the peace of the world . . . I said that I did not believe we would have war."

Mr. Harris did not issue a prepared text of his address at the time.

Senate Launches Debate on Speech From the Throne

Ottawa, Feb. 3 — (CP) — The Senate launched its throne-speech debate yesterday, heard a salty tale from a 73-year-old newcomer and got into a procedural squabble over an attempt to make haste.

Moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Senator Thomas Farquhar (L—Ontario) gave high praise to the Geneva trade agreement, family allowances, the veterans charter and other legislation.

Seconding him, Senator Joseph William Comeau (L — Nova Scotia), voice of Nova Scotia's Acadian French in the provincial legislature for 42 years, called for immediate action to improve breakwaters on the Fundy shore and lauded regulations for grading fish.

But he got his best attention when he began telling the story of his ancestors. The first Comeau reached Nova Scotia in 1604, he said, to take part in the founding of Port Royal, the first white settlement in Canada.

His maternal great-grandfather, one Francois Lambert Portneuf was heading for brazil in 1812 when a British ship intercepted a French merchantman off Newfoundland, killed 17 men in a skirmish and made him a prisoner for three years at Halifax. He escaped, was recaptured at Shelburne, escaped from a British ship by getting the officers drunk and walked overland to join the Acadian French.

In time, he joined Joseph Howe in the battles that brought responsible government to Nova Scotia.

The procedural wrangle erupted after Senator Wishart Robertson, House leader, got approval for a motion asking the House to approve the sessional committees the day the slate was presented.

Senators Arthur Roebuck (L — Ontario) and Ian Mackenzie (L—British Columbia) took exception to the haste and the latter engaged in a battle with the acting speaker, Senator A. B. Copp (L—New Brunswick) to have his say.

Senator Robertson finally promised he'd make sure next time that the Senate got notice.

STIRLING

E.D. Ketcheson Named President Of Bowling Club

Stirling—The annual meeting of Stirling Lawn Bowling Club was held in R. A. Patterson's store on Wednesday afternoon with president Walter T. Elliott presiding. The treasurer's report was presented by R. A. Patterson and Dr. E. A. Carleton acted as secretary.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—E. D. Ketcheson.
Vice President—R. Earl Fox.
Secretary—Dr. E. A. Carleton.
Treasurer—R. A. Patterson.
Representative to P.L.B.A. District meeting, F. R. Mallory and E. D. Ketcheson.
Games Committee, E. A. Carleton and R. E. Fox.
Membership Committee, the executive and all active members.

Commitee Named

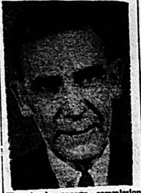
A discussion took place on ways and means of raising funds to liquidate the deficit which resulted from the capital expenditure for a new lighting system and a committee was appointed to interview the executive of the ladies club.

As the club is now in a position to accept many new members, it is hoped that many of our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity and will come out and enjoy themselves this coming summer.

It is a good clean, healthful sport and recreation. No other sport offers "so much for so little."

MANPOWER

Thomas Topham, a professional strong man, could lift his horse over gates, crush a metal tankard with his bare hands, and break a coconut against his head.



The atomic energy commission has appointed Dr. Walter F. Colby, above, ex-university of Michigan physics professor, its director of intelligence. Colby's chief duty will be to supervise a world-wide intelligence system designed to guage the standings in the hectic global race for atomic energy.—Central Press Canadian.

MORALS AGAIN

Booked again on a morals charge, Bill Tilden, 55, once America's No. 1 tennis ace, attempts a smile as he leans on counter at Los Angeles jail. A 16-year-old Inglewood, Cal., youth told police he was picked up in a car by a man who made improper advances. The lad gave a description plus license number. Tilden served six months in 1947 on a similar charge, and was out on probation.— Central Press Canadian.

Then, read below in the entry form why Canadian women prefer FAB and check off the one reason that you think is the most important one why women prefer FAB.

Next, send your entry form—along with a FAB boxtop or facsimile—to FAB, TORONTO, 8.

That's all—it's so easy—yet you may win a year's supply of Colgate's FABulous FAB Suds!

100 WINNERS

The first 100 correct entries drawn from all entries received by April 1st., 1949, each win a year's supply of FAB —Colgate's new washing discovery that washes everything faster, cleaner, easier than any soap on earth. The reason chosen by the majority of entrants will be considered as the correct entry for the purposes of this contest. Each entry must be accompanied by a FAB boxtop or reasonable facsimile. Decision of judges is final.

You may win a year's supply of FAB simply by checking off the reason you think is the most important and sending it, before April 1st, 1949, to FAB, TORONTO, 8.

☐ FAB, in hardest water, does twice as much family wash as any soap!
☐ FAB washes everything! You need no other laundry soap!
☐ FAB gives more suds—longer lasting suds—than any soap known!
☐ FAB has a pleasant perfume—gives your clothes that sweet, "fresh-air" fragrance!

U.S. Will Not Allow 'Peace Manoeuvre' to Disrupt Unity

Priest Suffocated, 30 Persons Escape Sanitarium Fire

Two Nurses Make Heroic But Futile Effort at Rescue

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Feb. 3 — (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest was killed while some 30 other persons fled to safety from a fire which swept St. Joseph's Sanitarium here early today.

St. Joseph's Hospital, which administers the adjacent Sanitarium said the lone victim was Rev. Joseph Thomas Barry of Cleveland.

Father Barry was found in his room. He apparently had been suffocated.

The fire broke out about 1.30 a.m. and 25 patients and five Nuns escaped into the near-zero cold, hospital officials said. They were cared for at the hospital.

The fire was brought under control at 2:30 a.m.

All the fire equipment of this little city fought the blaze, limiting the damage to an estimated $15,000.

Fire Chief Clayton E. Dubay said the blaze was apparently due to Father Barry's "careless smoking." The priest's bed in his first-floor room was destroyed.

Two nurses, Mrs. Marguerite Curlett and Mrs. Priscilla Mayhew, told of forcing their way into Father Barry's smoke-filled quarters.

But when they tried to open the door, they said, Father Barry, apparently panic-stricken, pulled in the opposite direction.

As the smoke thickened and the heat grew "so intense we couldn't stand it," the nurses groped their way out. Firemen later found Father Barry's body.

The priest's room was a ruin.

The ornate 50-year-old sanitarium is operated as a rest home by the Sister's of Charity of Cincinnati and in the summer season accommodates 130 guests.

CANADIAN-BRED CATTLE MAKING MARK IN WORLD

29.516 Holsteins Bought Last Year by Breeders in 16 Foreign Countries

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)—Canadian-bred dairy cattle are making their mark both in world trade and in the herds of far-away countries.

G. M. Clemons of Brantford, secretary-manager of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, said Wednesday that 29,516 registered Holsteins were bought last year by breeders in 16 foreign countries to raise the standards of their herds.

Association members, meeting at their annual convention here, also learned from J. M. Fraser of Streetsville that most of these cattle went to the United States and did their bit in keeping U.S. dollars coming into Canada.

Mr. Fraser, retiring president of the Association, said exports of the Holstein breed alone had helped improve Canada's trade balance with the United States. Demand had never been so great and average prices had never been so high, he said.

A total of 54,702 Holsteins were registered in Canada last year and 61,539 transfers of animals among Canadian herds were registered.

Change Standards

Canada's beef breeders, also meeting in Toronto, were told that beef shows should change their judging standards to give recognition to the commercial-type steers, rather than to the sleek, well-rounded animals.

He felt that the ideal animal would be one that keeps production costs down and returns up.

Meeting separately, Canadian Hereford breeders decided to maintain the size standard of their breed. They voted to continue the ban on registering calves of a female born before the animal is 27 months old. However, calves of 24-month-old heifers imported into Canada were eligible for registry provided that age complied with regulations in the country of origin.

Aberdeen - Angus breeders learned at their meeting that 1948 was one of the best years of their history and that their organization was enlarging its program of sending out literature on the Angus breed.

Directors of the Angus Breeders include: Thomas Henderson of Guelph and A. C. McTaggart of Aurora.

Calfhood Vacination Will be Considered

Guelph, Feb. 3 (CP)— Wellington County officials are considering the institution of calfhood vaccination to prevent the spread of Bang's Disease in cattle. Officials said the disease had attained epidemic proportions throughout the county and was hindering the sale of cattle.

Selke Counters With Offer To Buy Four Leafs

Selke said the Leafs players Canadiens would like to get are Harry Watson, Bill Ezinicki, Max Bentley and Garth Boesch.

The Canadiens' general manager made his offer in a telegram sent to Hap Day's hotel here where he is staying with the Leafs prior to their scheduled game with Canadiens tonight.

Deadlock Only Thing After Three Years of Discussion by Top Brass

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 3 — (CP) — Three years ago today, the Big Five's top brass began discussions in a back room on formation of an international army.

This military staff committee meets every other Thursday at the United Nations headquarters in Manhattan. It comprises the chiefs of staff, or their representatives, of the five permanent members of the Security Council: Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China. It meets secretly and its members are sworn to keep their discussions secret unless all agree to make them public.

The M.S.C. last issued a public report Nov. 1. Four lines long it said merely that the committee was meeting regularly and had not finished its work.

The committee was meting regularly and had not finished its work.

The committee was formed in London in 1946 to assist the Security Council on all military matters. As far as is known, it is still working on the problem of forming an international armed force.

U. N. army, navy and air force is provided for in the U. N. charter — one of its main points of difference from the covenant of the League of Nations.

But the Big Five can't agree on how the force ought to be formed.

Russia insists that each country make the same contribution of forces.

Britain, the United States, France and China want the major powers to contribute what they are best able to give.

Closest the U. N. has come to forming an international army is the group of 50 unarmed guards sent to Palestine last summer. Their places in Palestine have since been taken by military observers from France, Belgium and the United States.

RUSSIAN PRESS DEVOTES SPACE TO WEST REACTION

Says Stalin's Answers Cause Much Confusion

Moscow, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Prime Minister Stalin's statement yesterday that his doctors would not allow him to undertake a long trip is the first time his health has been referred to, directly or indirectly, in the Soviet press for many years.

There seems to be a unanimous opinion here, however, that any tendency there may be abroad to conclude on the basis of his statement that Stalin is ill or in weak condition probably is badly wrong.

The Soviet press and radio told the Russian people today of Stalin's statement about a meeting with President Truman — but no mention was made of State Secretary Acheson's Washington statement in answer.

The press again devoted a large amount of space to reaction from abroad on Stalin's original statements.

One dispatch said his answers had created "complete confusion in the camp of the imperialists." Another said the answers were an "exploding bomb" in the camp of "the war-mongers, creating a complete panic."

SEVEN KOREANS KILLED

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 3 — (AP) — At least seven South Koreans were killed today and the police station at the northern border town of Paekchon was burned by a band of raiders. The government said the raiders were North Koreans, from the communist-ruled part of the country. Korean army reports placed the number of raiders at 200 and said the raiders took back across the border some 40 prisoners liberated from the jail.

Expects Only Nine UK Film Studios Open by Weekend

London, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — Tom O'Brien, general secretary of the National Association of Theatrical and Kine Employees, said last night that by the end of this week only nine out of 26 film studios in Britain will be at work. The others will be closed.

O'Brien said he would see J. Arthur Rank, British film magnate, to seek further postponement of notices to be given to nearly 300 employees Friday. He felt the notices should be deferred until after a scheduled meeting between Rank and Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade, early next week.

No statement was issued after a private meeting here yesterday of the British Film Producers Association, which represents both the big combines and the small independent companies.

Alarm at reports that film actors were willing to discuss salary cuts was expressed by an official of British Equity, the actors association.

"We dissociate ourselves completely from these particular statements," he said.

Learn Tomorrow If Cost of Living Downward-Bent

Ottawa, Feb. 3 — (CP)—Canadians will learn Friday whether the cost of living really is on its way down.

At 3 p. m., EST, the Bureau of Statistics will release its cost-of-living index and disclose whether this official barometer of living expenses actually is on the downward path. The index will cover price trends in the holiday season period from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1.

The last report, issued Jan. 5 and covering the period from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1, showed the first break in the index in 23 months, with a drop of seven-tenths of a point to 158.9. It had been the first decline of any consequence since the immediate post-war period of September, 1945.

Since then, Canada's economists, and the little man who foots the bills, have been awaiting the report covering the following month — December — to see whether the November decline was a flash-in-the-pan recession.

Unofficial speculation here is that the index will either remain unchanged or show a further small decline and that, in any event, it won't be up.

It was the food group, the drive force in the 23-month rise which provided the lever for the November drop.

The index is calculated on the basis that living costs in pre-war 1935-39 totalled 100.

Six Smallpox Cases Reported at Guelph

Guelph, Feb. 3 (CP)— Six cases of smallpox have been recorded in this city, a weekly medical report released yesterday said. Dr. L. M. Stuart, medical health officer, said only one case had developed during the last week.

Butter Production Next Year Not Likely to Increase

Regina, Feb. 3 (CP)— Butter production in Canada is not expected to increase much in 1949, the Saskatchewan Dairy Association was told Wednesday night.

D. B. Goodwillie of the federal government's grading and inspection services said there will not be much improvement in butter production unless "there is a sharp curtailment in the manufacture of other dairy products."

The association urged the Dominion government to remove the ceiling price on butter before May 15.

Another resolution advocated support of the dairy farmers of Canada in asking the federal government to appeal the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada on margarine to the Privy Council.

More Beer Made, But Less Spirits

Ottawa (CP)— Canadian breweries last year exceeded 1947 production, but distilleries' output showed a slight decline, the Bureau of Statistics reports.

Stocks of distilled liquor at the end of the year were about 11 per cent higher than at the end of 1947, while the amount of new spirits bottled including imported liquors, showed a small gain.

The year's output of beer amounted to 180,780,000 gallons, compared with 171,600,000 in the preceding year. Production of new spirits totalled 25,070,000 proof gallons, compared with 26,790,000.

Year-end stocks of distilled liquor totalled 69,810,000 proof gallons, compared with 62,750,000 a year ago, while the spirits bottled amounted to 8,300,000 proof gallons, compared with 8,040,000.

GOT STALIN REPLY

International News Service manager in Europe, J. Kingsbury Smith (above) received the statement from Premier Josef Stalin in which the Soviet leader declared he is willing to meet with President Truman to achieve a "pact of peace." Stalin also declared he would discuss the possibility of implementing the pact with measures of co-operation including "mutual disarmament."— Central Press Canadian.

BRITISH LABOR MEMBER RESIGNS SEAT FOR SOWERBY

Previously Resigned His Ministerial Office

London, Feb. 3 (Reuters) — John Belcher, former Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, today resigned as Labor member of parliament for Sowerby. He earlier had resigned his ministerial office after giving evidence before the Lynskey tribunal which investigated corruption in government circles.

The tribunal report said Belcher had performed services for business men in exchange for gifts. It said that he had received gifts but no money had been paid him.

The report charged Belcher decided, due to favors from a stateless alien, Sidney Stanley, to withdraw Board of Trade prosecution of Sherman's football pools. Harry Sherman was charged with violation of paper regulations.

Test Early Closing Of Gasoline Stations

St. Thomas, Feb. 3 — (CP) — St. Thomas' early closing bylaw for gasoline service stations, which went into effect on Feb 1 will be tested in courts. Today Chief of Police McKeown laid informations against four operators, charging them with selling gasoline after 7 p. m. on Feb. 2 without a permit.

Three Former GI's Will Go on Stand At Axis Sally's Treason Trial

Washington, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Three former United States soldiers today were scheduled to follow a Canadian and an American officer who testified yesterday at the treason trial of "Axis Sally."

Prosecutors arranged to put the three on the witness stand to tell about a visit by Mildred E. Gillars to a Paris hospital to obtain messages from wounded prisoners for broadcast back home to the United States.

The indictment alleges that these messages were used as an integral part of a Nazi propaganda broadcast. Miss Gillars' broadcasts became known as the "Axis Sally' program.

Those called to testify today were identified by prosecutors as Gilbert Lee Hansford, Cincinnati; John T. Lynskey, Etna, Pa., and Paul G. Kestel, Detroit.

Yesterday the two former officers, one from Hamilton, Ont., told of recording messages for Miss Gillars.

The Canadian, Harvey Crosthwaite, a former artillery captain, and the American, Grover Cleveland McKinney, a former lieutent, told substantially the same story.

They said Miss Gillars came to the hospital in Paris after their capture and greeted them with: "Hello, boys, would you like to communicate with home?

They said they talked it over and decided to go ahead.

Crosthwaite said he learned later that his message was included in a propaganda broadcast. This, he said, made him biased against Miss Gillars.

Crosthwaite said in his message that he was being treated "fairly well."

McKinney said some of the wounded would have nothing to do with Miss Gillars. He mentioned a British major and a Lieutenant Harrison in this connection.

The Lieut. Harrison mentioned at the trial is Lieut. Hugh Harrison of Hamilton. He was in the next cot to Capt. Crosthwaite in a Paris hospital when the accused made her visit in August, 1944. Lieut. Harrison married an English girl and now is living in England.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harrison, recalled receiving a letter from him during the war in which he said Axis Sally had come to the hospital.

Will Make No Side Deals At Expense Of Other Countries

Stalin's New Offer Greeted With Reservation in London

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The United States served notice on the world today that it will allow no Russian "peace manoeuvre" to disrupt the growing unity of the non-Communist western powers.

That was the real significance seen by diplomatic officials here in State Secretary Acheson's rejection of Premier Stalin's latest declaration of his willingness to hold a meeting with President Truman.

American diplomats in western as well as eastern Europe were expected to make the most of this new and detailed statement of Washington's determination not to make any direct side deals with the Soviet Union at the possible expense of other countries.

World Broadcast

The government's official "Voice of America" radio broadcast was beaming Acheson's 2,500-word statement of the United States position all over the world.

The Secretary of State at a press conference Wednesday turned thumbs down on Stalin's latest proposals.

He did it in such a way as indirectly to accuse Stalin of playing international politics with his statement last Sunday. That statement expressed a willingness to meet Truman for the purpose of considering a Soviet-American "pact of peace."

Acheson also renewed the American charge that the present state of the world is due to Russia's "obstructionism" in the United Nations and in other international forums where the great problems of the world are supposed to be solved.

Acheson's statement was the first detailed official reaction here to the answers which Stalin released last Sunday to four questions put to him by the International News Service.

The secretary commented on all the questions in a manner which officials said was designed to make clear (1) Where the responsibility for failure to get peace lies and (2) Why the United States believes that no lasting results could be obtained through a Truman-Stalin conference.

Acheson said the Russians had frustrated every effort in the U. N. to achieve disarmament, control the atomic bomb and create a U.N. police force.

Two Purposes

Officials here believe that Stalin had two purposes in mind in making what they consider a propaganda move.

One purpose was to try to manoeuvre the United States into a position where it would be split off from the other western powers such as Britain and France, and would stand willing to make deals on outstanding world issues directly with Russia.

The others purpose, if the Russians could not accomplish the split, was to present the United States to the world as a country unwilling to talk peace wth Russa n contrast wth Russa's expressed willingness to deal with the United States.

London, Feb. 3 — (AP) — Prime Minister Stalin's new offer to meet President Truman was greeted with reservations in the Western World.

From behind the iron curtain, however, came the expected approval of the Russian leader's statement.

State Secretary Acheson's statement in Washington, saying the heads of the United States and Russian governments would not meet alone on matters concerning other countries, appeared to coincide with the British view.

Two London newspapers said a meeting between Stalin and Truman might be a good idea, but suggested some groundwork was needed.

The influential, independent Times of London said a meeting might "have advantages if the ground were first carefully prepared." The newspaper said the Berlin blockade should be lifted and "it would be more prudent to complete the Atlantic pact and western union" first.

Berlin Test of Sincerity

The conservative Telegraph said: "Berlin is the obvious test of Russian sincerity. The Western Powers have already proclaimed their readiness to discuss anything once the duress of the blockade is removed."

Vilem Novy, chairman of the Czechoslovak foreign affairs committee and chief editor of the official Czech Communist newspaper, said Stalin's new proposal "will prove to the world who in the world is for peace and who is not."

The London Daily Express proposed a London Truman-Stalin meeting. It said: "In matters of this kind, where the services of a diplomatic middle man are required, Britain has long experience and an old tradition."

The Austrian government offered Vienna for consideration.

Six Persons Left Homeless In Kingston Fire

Kingston, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Six persons were left homeless this morning when fire gutted a frame house in suburban Dovercourt. Residents were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Connor, their three children Garry, 5, Douglas, 4, and Sheila, 18 months, and Stanley Esson, uncle of Mr. Connor.

Both Mr. Connor and Mr. Esson had left for work when fire was first spotted by Garry who was sleeping in a back room on the ground floor with the other two children.

Mrs. Connor threw on her overcoat, took her three children and rushed from the house.

Firemen managed to confine flames to the interior of the building. Two adjoining dwellings were in danger for a while.

Within a couple of hours a committee of neighbors circulated a petition for money to aid the homeless fire victims.

FREED ON SECOND TRIAL

Nevada City, Calif., Feb. 3 (AP) — Lois Hunt Hardy, once condemned to die for a "sex lure" murder, was acquitted last night after a second trial. Her husband, Joseph Hardy, previously was sentenced to life imprisonment. The two were accused of murdering James W. McLain after Mrs. Hardy had enticed him into a thicket.

Canada's Dollar-Saving Austerity Program Brings An Upsurge in Smuggling

The government's dollar-saving austerity program, with its bans on imports of United States goods has brought an upsurge in smuggling. Prosecutions under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act have increased and several measures have been implemented to tighten the battle lines.

The R.C.M.P., in its 1947-48 report tabled in the Commons yesterday, said the dollar-saving legislation, leaving the average person no legal means of importing U.S. goods, has "greatly increased the incentive for smuggling by persons who would not otherwise engage in these pursuits."

One immediate result, the report said, was the illegal importation into Canada of expensive new model motor cars. The force broke up car smuggling rings at Windsor, Ont., and Montreal, recovering 19 new cars stolen in the United States and arresting eight persons.

Another facet of the austerity program was the smuggling of Canadian and U.S. currency out of Canada. The R.C.M.P. conducted 1,233 investigations for the Exchange Control Board and launched 148 prosecutions. There were 146 convictions and two dismissals.

The smuggling of cigarets into Canada continued to provide the greatest number of custom seizures, with 3,104,200 confiscated in the 12 months ended March 31, 1948. This traffic was heaviest across that portion of the International border adjoining Quebec Province and the force warned that it appeared to be on the increase.

Dealing with customs seizures generally, the report said there was reason to believe "we must look forward to a period of greater activity both with respect to smuggling and the manufacture of illicit liquor."

Bottled Liquor Seized

Seizures were confined to bottled liquor concealed by the crews of vessels arriving in Canadian ports. Illicit liquor seizures dropped to 458 from 503 in the preceding year.

The force made a number of seizures of Canadian-grown raw leaf tobacco involving the illegal sale by farmers of tobacco to individual purchasers. Government regulations provide that a grower may sell his crop only to a licensed manufacturer who, in turn, must account for the excise tax applicable.

The report noted a 29-per-cent increase in prosecutions under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act in the 1947-48 fiscal year compared to the previous year.

It said that through co-operation with United States authorities "plans have been made whereby it is hoped to intensify our efforts to curb the flow of Mexican brown heroin through illicit channels from the U.S."

Opium had ceased to be a major factor in prosecutions.

Opium Major Factor

Opium had ceased to be a major factor in prosecutions.

In October, 1947, at Vancouver the force made what was believed to be the fourth largest opium seizure ever made in North America. It was made on a Netherlands freighter and consisted of 373 pounds of raw opium, believed picked up at Calcutta.

The report singled out the Dugald, Man., train disaster of Sept. 1, 1947 as an example of a case of mass death in which police "must quickly institute emergency traffic control, organize and carry out certain rescue and search operations and take other fundamental steps."

Thirty-one persons died when an excursion train crashed into a transcontinental train. Most were charred beyond recognition.

The report recalled a whole web of R.C.M.P. orders and activities from the first call for assistance to the acting of Mounties as pall-bearers at the mass funeral.

Norway to Seek Security With Western Powers

Oslo, Feb. 2 (AP)—Norway has politely but firmly informed Russia it is necessary for Norway to seek "increased security" through defensive co-operation, such as ties with the western powers.

The Norwegian reply to a Soviet note asking about Norway's position on the Atlantic Security Pact reassured Russia, however, that Norway would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers unless she is attacked or threatened with aggression.

The United States State Department said the Unites States hopes Norway soon will be brought into discussion of the Atlantic pact, which would link the defences of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Norway said she will study the possibilities for joining a regional defence alliance with the Atlantic powers. The reply pointed to Norway's—interdependence with the west and the fact that she borders on the Atlantic Ocean.

Answer Given Russia

The Norwegian reply, delivered by Foreign Minister Halvard Lange to the Russian ambassador in Olso yesterday, said Norway had hoped the United Nations would provide the strength necessary to maintain peace and security for the world, but this had not materialized.

Concern for her security had convinced Norway of the necessity to seek increased safety through regional defensive co-operation.

Attempts to create a defensive alliance of the three Scandinavian powers—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—failed, the note pointed out.

"Norway will make further studies to establish under which forms and conditions Norway possibly could participate in a regional security system," Norway said.

Norwegian newspapers approved the government reply to Moscow, commenting that it was a "clear, concise, unquivocal answer."

The government's position is expected to be further clarified tomorrow when Lange is scheduled to address the Norwegian parliament. A foreign-policy debate is generally expected to follow his statement.

Pastor Acquitted

Barrie, Ont., Feb. 2. (CP)—Ernest H. Rothenbush, former pastor of the Apostolic Mission at Orillia, today was acquitted of a charge of having carnal knowledge of a 16-year-old girl.

Mr. Justice A. M. Lebel, directed the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal and told them he believed the girl's story but that under the law it would have to be corroborated by an independent source.

The girl testified she became pregnant and last April procured an abortion.

New Drug May Aid Alcoholics

Toronto, Feb. 2 (CP)— Research has started in Toronto of a new drug which it is believed makes a patient allergic to alcohol.

The drug, called antabuse, was imported specially from Copenhagen, where it was discovered recently by accident. It is being used by the University of Toronto Pharmacology Department with the co-operation of a city foundation for the study of alcoholism.

Experimental work began last week for the first time in Canada.

University officials termed antabus "dangerous" and declined to release information on the form of treatment or results expected.

"Much work is necessary before its place in the treatment of alcoholics is fully assessed," said War Smith, pharmacology lecturer who is working on the drug.

NEW GUIDED MISSILES

The U.S. Air Force has been experimenting with two new guided missiles in connection with the new program for training air force crews. They are the Consolidated Vultee 774, which you see at the top as it was fired by Air Force technicians at White Sands proving grounds, New Mexico, and the "Nativ," built by North American Aviation, Inc., which you see below roaring up from the launching tower at Holoman Air Force base, New Mexico. Each is powered with a liquid-fuel rocket motor and each resembles the German V-2. The 774 is the larger, being 45 feet long. The Nativ is 13 feet long. Both missiles attained supersonic speeds in tests.—Central Press Canadian.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the depressed moods, the listless, tired air, the pallor, headaches, fickle appetite—the crying spells—so many daughters exhibit during those years when they are passing into womanhood.

If her health at this stage is not maintained by a sufficiency of good rich blood, all kinds of weaknesses may arise to make her later life unhappy.

So should you notice any of these disturbing signs in your daughter, lose no time. Get some Dr. Williams Pink Pills at your druggist. They are wonderfully effective in helping to build up iron-impoverished blood and have helped to transform thousands and thousands of sickly, pale daughters suffering from simple anemia into happy active girls full of vitality and high spirits, hungry for meals, glad to help with the housework, attractive to others. Right now simple anemia may be undermining the strength and resistance your daughter needs so badly. Don't wait—get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

Back Hurt, Limbs Ached

Nervous, Couldn't Sleep

Got Bad Headaches, Dizzy Spells; Felt Sick, Rundown. Found Grand Relief Taking Syntona, She Says.

Mrs. Chris. Sandeff, 229 MacNab Street North, Hamilton, Ontario, is glad to pass her experience along to others because she knows what it means to get relief from rheumatic pain that kept her awake nights, as well as suffering from stomach disorders for several years.

Here is her experience:

"I was rundown and had so many things wrong with me I hardly know which was the worst. The backache and rheumatic pains in my joints and muscles were a constant source of misery. I would get headaches and dizzy spells, and many days I was afraid to eat a meal because I suffered so with gas, indigestion and heartburn. My nerves were always on edge. I couldn't get to sleep at night and in the mornings I felt awfully fatigued and worn out.

"But since I have been taking Syntona Herbal Compound, I have had more relief from my troubles and feel better than I did in several years. I can eat my meals once more and I do not suffer with gas, sourness or indigestion as I did before. Headaches and backache do not trouble me now and I have found relief from the pain and soreness in my joints and muscles.

"Also my nerves are calmed down, so I sleep soundly at night and I awaken mornings feeling more rested and refreshed. I can highly recommend this medicine to other people who suffer as I did."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how how it can help you too.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

The picture there was a gay one and Rosalie felt her heart beat high with anticipation. The dance floor was already filled with young couples. Laughter rippled over the room and the music quickened her pulse. Rosalie loved to dance, but she soon saw that apparently she was the only girl alone. She sat down in one of the big chairs that lined the wall and felt herself growing more lonely and smaller by the moment.

The moment she chose to cross her knees, coincided with a roll of the ship and a young man was practically precipitated into her lap.

Rosalie hadn't seen him coming. She had thought to give himself a wide enough berth.

He clutched the arm of her chair, righted himself and said,—"Frightfully sorry!"

Rosalie said, "It was my fault. I'm afraid."

He straightened and stepped back, taking under his heel a square of Rosalie's skirt. If it had been the whole skirt, he couldn't have looked more stricken.

He was not too tall, and he was slight. He was, Rosalie said later, "fair - complexioned" and quick color flooded his cheeks now below very bright blue eyes.

"Now, I have done it!" he said.

"It's all right." Rosalie said it with laughter in her throat. "I just wanted an excuse not to wear it again."

He didn't look any happier. "You'll let me do something about it, won't you?"

"Can you think of anything?" Her smile denied that her words expressed any practical solution.

She was thinking! He's awfully babyish. English, I think. As unlike Norman as he could be, but I hope he doesn't go away.

Both his silence and embarrassment seemed to root him to the spot. At last Rosalie said, "If you are alone, you might dance with me. I don't think the loss of a small square of chiffon will make very much difference."

He answered at once. "If you don't mind, it would be a pleasure."

It wasn't a pleasure. He was a very poor dancer and he had nothing to say. Finally Rosalie said, "I'm afraid it rather looked as if I deliberately tripped you up."

..He stopped then and looked a her, his face flushing again. "Not at all," he murmured.

After that Rosalie gave up. When the music ended, she said, "Thank you so much," and fled to her cabin.

There was a slender little slice of new moon riding in the dark sky and Rosalie stared at it disconsolately, leaning across the wash-basin, resting her arms on the uncomfortable frame of the open porthole. The thought of Norman Carteret brought a wave of loneliness and she wondered how soon she could return to New York.

And immediately remembered that she had not run away from Norman for a few weeks. She had run away for good.

She addressed the girl in her mirror with some disgust. "The orchids and your pretty clothes, my good girl, do not make a glamour girl. You're still Rosie Bates from Elmford and some day you have got to go back to Elmford and be content there."

Hunger woke her the next morning. Breakfast over, a tour of the ship brought her to the sundeck where the sun sparkled and laughter rippled over the tennis courts, the deck games. Unconsciously her eyes sought the fair-haired boy who had so embarrassed her.

"Hello," she said. "Not afraid to venture near today?"

He laughed. He looked older in his flannels and tweed - coat. He was, she thought, about her own age. "Not a bit," he said. "I've been rather looking for you, hoping you weren't still angry about my taking you to bits. If I hadn't been staring at you, I might have avoided it."

He had been staring at her? Rosalie laughed a little. She said, "Then I'm glad it happened."

"Look here, how about a bit of ping-pong?"

"Good." Now where, Rosalie wondered, had she picked up that word.

She wasn't very good at ping-pong, but they were alone in the tea lounge and Cecil — he told her his name was Cecil Ramsley — didn't seem to mind. They got along very well with no more conversation than was necessary to the play. They'd finished their twelfth game when he said, "How about a swim before lunch?"

Rosalie said a swim before lunch was what she wanted most . . . And after their swim he said, "I've got a bit of work to do, but how about cocktails at the bar before dinner. Sevenish?"

"Sevenish," Rosalie agreed.

Of course he wasn't a bit like Norman, but it was fun to be invited to a date and Rosalie fussed over the selection of her frock. Finally she decided upon the yellow crepe.

With her dark hair the yellow pointed up the delicate coloring of her skin, the blue of her eyes, and when she went to the elevator to meet him, she was pleased with herself, with her progress. He wasn't nearly as impressive as Norman, but he had a kind of charm and Rosalie felt that she was doing very well indeed.

She felt it until she went to the bar and found he was not there. "Sevenish," he had said. But surely he would have said "Seventhirtyish," if that was what he meant. Rosalie waited, feeling completely jilted, finally got up and went to the elevator where she pushed the bell angrily. It was then she saw the plan beside the elevator. There were, she was surprised to see, four bars on the boat.

She found him in the gayest of them all on B Deck. Saw that he was anxiously watching the door for her appearance. Saw him get up from a group of people. And saw at once that the eight in his group were eight of the most attractive people she had seen on the boat.

Panic seized her when he came to her, smiling, and saying, "I was getting worried about you. I want you to meet my friends."

Rosalie said "How do you do" eight times. Frank and Deborah, she found out later, were honeymooners, last name Contrell. There were the Kendrick twins and a Frances and Lucy Van Alstyne, and Johnnie and Joan Mabee "dashing to Bermuda between Europe and the start of the season in New York."

Sipping cocktails, only because it was the thing to do, Rosalie sat in their midst, taking stock of them and of Cecil. She took stock of the number of diamond bracelets, the cut of Parisian frocks, of silver foxes and hair-does. Of young husbands who, unlike all the men she had ever known, apparently did not work. Of conversation about country clubs, about flying, about speedboats, about servants, about "amusing" things, about deep-sea fishing and hunting in Africa. About everything she had never heard about before.

She took stock of Cecil Ramsley, about whom she knew nothing, save that there was a hole in the sole of his shabby evening shoe, that his dinner jacket was of a cut that, unfamiliar as she was with the last word in men's fashions, was of a kind she had never seen — and that, more importantly, every man and girl in that party knew, liked and deferred to him.

And later in the evening, when they had brought her along to the Cantrells' suite for a nightcap, and when Joan Mabee said, "If you haven't any place already selected, you must stay at the Sussex. We're staying there and we want you." Rosalie felt that at last she was living.

The big ship seemed scarcely moving as it glided slowly between the reefs. It was like a gargantuan top placed in a blue glass sea. It was the bluest blue Rosalie had ever seen. Her eyes, a darker blue than the still waters, sparkled with excitement.

Terry came into her thoughts. Terry who believed that all the beauty in the world was to be found in his own New England hills. It was the first thought she had given to Terry since she had said good-bye to Elmford.

"Look! The islands!" There was excitement in Cecil Ramsley's voice. His arm tucked companionably in her pressed her side.

Rosalie forgot Terry. Her gaze swung to the right and for a long time she was silent, her eyes fixed on the moss - green hills washed with sunshine.

"You'll love Bermuda."

"I know," she murmured. And a little later, "I can't believe it. Cecil, nothing could be as white as those roofs. And, look, a pink house! . . . And a blue one!" Her voice was high, quick, unbelieving.

"Is everything as exciting to you as this?"

Rosalie smiled at him. "These days everything is. I'm beginning to feel as though I were Alice and I'd stepped through the looking-glass into an enchanted world . . . Now I know how Columbus felt when he discovered a new land of promise. Or was it?"

"I'm not up on much of your history, but I think I know what you mean."

No, he wasn't much up on Rosalie's history, that much Rosalie knew. And other things about him, too.

She'd discovered them late the night before and, waking early in the morning, hours before they were due to dock, she'd found herself thinking about him, rearranging her impressions of him. She was honest enough to admit that, while she had thought him a nice boy, she wouldn't have been quite so impressed if Lucy Van Alstyne hadn't told her about him.

She'd sensed something unusual about him, about the way the others deferred to him when first she met them with him. Something that didn't go with his rather shabby appearance, and his handkerchief tucked in his sleeve.

But if Lucy hadn't packed her cold cream and come across to Rosalie's stateroom to ask for some of hers, Rosalie wouldn't have known —

"I love your yellow frock. Where did you get it? Mind my asking?" Lucy asked, settling back for a cigarette.

Cecil had said, rather shyly, that she looked like an English primrose in it. And she had asked him what he knew about English primroses. Then he told her he was an Englishman, told her about English countryside, and an English summer. He'd talked until late up there under the stars and the new moon and Rosalie, much to her surprise, found that she hadn't once thought of Norman, had found herself listening with pleasure to the swift modulation of his English tongue. The compliment had pleased her.

PICTON

Hospital Board Appeals To County Council for Aid In Running the Institution

Picton — A strong appeal to county council to come to the aid of Prince Edward County hospital with a substantial grant, was made at the annual meeting of the hospital, Tuesday night.

Last year the hospital had an operating deficit of $8,309., secretary - treasurer R. B. Small revealed. This was $13,407 in accounts receivable, and difficulty in collecting them was reported.

County council members, Warden A. E. Bowerman, Reeve Norris Whitney, Ameliasburg and Reeve Hugh MacDonald, Bloomfield did not believe county council would favor a mill on the tax rate for hospital purposes, but that request for a grant would be favorably received.

"I think rates might be increased. Someone must pay accounts and if all efforts at collecting them fail, the county must do so, Warden Bowerman said. He asked that all cards be placed on the table before action was taken by council.

Use Collecting Agencies

Collection agencies, police officers and others have been used in an attempt to collect overdue accounts, declared board chairman Robert Cockburn, who said placing matters in the hands of the court had proved unsatisfactory. He declared he had been a hospital critic before being appointed by the council to the board. He felt county council should be enlightened.

Director Howard Leavens declared: "We are running the hospital with merchants' money by not paying their accounts. Until some adjustment is made in government grants to small hospitals the county must help."

Dr. J. H. Walmsley said some new equipment is needed for the hospital and Dr. G. C. Coughey gave details of a gas-oxygen machine and a new X-ray machine.

Dr. Gerald Allison stressed the growing need for hospital accommodation as a result of health schemes. The day is coming when we must build a new hospital here and we should plan now.

Directors H. B. Tully, W. T. Pope, E. B. Purtelle and a charter member, Mrs. W. H. Bedell, also stressed the need of support for the hospital.

Elect Directors

Directors elected were R. Cockburn, W. T. Pope, H. R. MacDonald, Howard Leavens, H. B. Tully. Mr. Cockburn was elected president with Mr. Pope as vice-president and R. B. Small as secretary treasurer.

Mrs. F. Owens gave the report of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

In her report, Miss A. Arnold, hospital superintendent, said the local hospital is listed as one of 28 beds, with ten being public ward and it is on the latter government grants are paid. Actual bed capacity is 38 adults, 5 children's cribs, 5 bassinettes.

During last year there were 1,557 cases admitted. A record of 406 births was reported. Average number of patients in hospital daily was 38.3. All time high for one day was 60 patients. One evening, eight patients were admitted between 3:45 and 9 p.m., and three operations had been performed, four babies born before 11 p.m. and another patient treated. By midnight four other operations had been performed. After midnight, two more babies were born, for six in one night.

Expectant Fathers Kept Busy

Expectant fathers didn't have a chance to pace the corridors as we kept them busy assisting in moving beds and other duties, the superintendent revealed.

A shortage of graduate nurses added to difficulties experienced, it was reported. During the year, there were eleven nursing assistants graduated.

Miss Arnold Compared the hospital to private business, stressing the fact that it must render service 24 hours a day and seven days a week.

Will Ask Support

Support of the Ontario Department of Highways is the repaving of main street following the installation of a sewerage system, will be sought, it was decided at town council Tuesday night. The street is part of the provincial highway. The mayor named a committee composed of himself, Reeve J. C. Cooper, Deputy Reeve Frank Dunning, Councillors R. Gibson and H. J. McFarland to meet the minister to discuss the topic.

A letter from the engineering firm revealed that cost of installation of sewerage will not exceed the previous estimate of $625,000. The work is nearing completion.

Period of daylight saving time observance was set from April 24 to Sept. 25.

A bylaw was passed whereby hawkers and peddlers must secure a licence.

A bylaw was passed providing penalties if snow is dumped on streets.

The rest room committees suggestions for improving Benson Memorial Park and the rest room were adopted.

Mr. Ewart Harns it is expected will return home earlythis week following a two week's convalescence in hospital at Picton. Many from this way have called on his during his illness.

Friends in this district will be pleased to hear of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Doucette (nee Joyce McRae) of Kingston, also to learn that Mrs. McRae, following a prolonged illness in Kingston General Hospital, is able to be about in her own home again.

Vancouver Has Tough Winter

(From the Edmonton Journal)

The dictionary defines an ocelot as "an American leopardlike cat (felis pardalis) of a prevailing yellowish or reddish gray, with black-edged blotches." To this now may be added the further information that it doesn't like cold weather.

Vancouver's only ocelot—in the Stanley Park Zoo—has just died of pneumonia as a result of the current cold spell at the coast.

It is not alone in its suffering. The bears in the same zoo have responded to the weather exactly as they would in the Rockies: they have started to hibernate.

Human beings, too, are reacting just as they do in colder latitudes; they are taking it out on the fuel industry. According to the Vancouver papers, the city is convulsed by a terrible feud between the sawdust dealers and that portion of the public which heats its homes with sawdust burners. As near as we can make out, the consumers feel that the dealers should be hanged from the nearest spruce for not having more sawdust available, while the dealers consider that the public is getting a deserved punishment for not ordering its supplies earlier. Substitute coal for sawdust, and it all sounds very simple.

Vancouverites have also been bothered by a strange meteorological phenomenon. As always, moisture has been coming down continuously on the city, but instead of the usual rain, it has taken the form of a peculiar white substance, which travellers from foreign parts say is snow. This has been lying around and refusing to melt, with the result that the power company's reservoirs are running dangerously low and a blackout may be necessary.

Residents were even more startled a few mornings ago when they woke up to find that a sheet of some glassy material — later identified as ice — had formed over the Fraser River. This has practically stopped boat traffic.

To add insult to injury, some of the smaller fry have allowed themselves to be photographed skating on Lost Lagoon in Stanley Park, without the slightest regard for Vancouver's reputation or the feelings of the tourist bureau.

Altogether it has been a painful time for a region which prides itself on its balmy winters It may even stop our friends at the coast telling is in midwinter that roses are blooming in Victoria and that someone in Vancouver has been bitten by a butterfly!

MOIRA

Moira—Mrs. Charlotte Vanderwater has gone to Shawinigan Falls to visit her daughter, Mrs. H. Rutherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Vanderwater and Billy, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Vanderwater.

The flu is prevalent in Moira, particularly among the younger people.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ketcheson and Mr. and Mrs. James Vanderwater, visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster in Belleville, on Sunday.

A wood bee was held for Mrs. Archie Jones on Wednesday.

New PURITY "Apple Queen"

. . . is a wonderful dessert

You'll make it again and again and, of course with Purity Flour. So scrumptious, such a tangy sweetness atop a feathery cake . . . and per serving so economical.

PURITY "Apple Queen" CAKE

3 tablespoons butter
¾ cup brown sugar
3 or 4 medium sized apples
8 red or green cherries
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups sifted Purity Flour
1 cup milk

First—Melt butter in 7 or 8 inch square baking dish, add brown sugar and spread the mixture evenly over the bottom of the dish. Pare and core apples and cut each one in sections lengthwise. Set in rows in the butter-sugar mixture. Place a cherry in each corner and one in the middle.

Now—Cream shortening, add vanilla. Gradually add sugar and blend well together. Add well-beaten egg. Mix Purity Flour, baking powder and salt and sift together 3 or 4 times, then add alternately with the milk. Pour this batter over the apples in baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 40-45 minutes. Invert to serve. Remove from the dish as soon as baked. Serve hot as is or with a sweet sauce, or serve cold with whipped cream.

Best for all your baking . . . that's Purity Flour. Women who bake and bake depend on Purity for uniform results. It's the flour that's milled from Canada's fine hard wheat and sold everywhere.

Red Wings Roll Merrily Along Victory Trail; Whip Hawks 6-4, Boston Cools off Rangers

(By The Canadian Press)

That Detroit's high-ying Red Wings, a club with a well-balanced offence and defence, are headed for the National League championship, looks like a solid bet. The Wings seem to pick up momentum as the season rolls along and now boast a comfortable 10-point margin at the top of the heap.

Wednesday night Detroit ran up a 4-0 lead on Chicago Black Hawks in first 28 minutes, then turned back a determined Chicago challenge in the last half of the contest for a 6-4 victory. In the other fixture, Boston Bruins drove from behind a 3-2 deficit to gain a 5-3 home-ice triumph over New York Rangers.

A three-goal performance by reliable Ted Lindsay — the third marker his 100th in a five-year N.H.L. career — gave Detroit their victory before 13,421 Olympia fans.

The other Detroit goals went to Jimmy McFadden, Max McNab and Marty Pavelich. Big gun for the Hawks was league-leading scorer Doug Bentley who pulled the trigger twice, while Jim and Roy Conacher accounted for single tallies.

14 Penalties Dished Out

Chicago's temperamental Bep Guidolin and big Leo Reise of the Wings staged an old-fashioned slugging bee in the third period. Guidolin swung his stick at a heckling fan during the mixup, but the fan was out of danger behind a wire screen. Referee King Clancy dished out 14 penalties, all minors.

Boston had to come from behind twice to sink the battling Rangers before 13,100 Beantown fans. New York led 1-0 and 3-2, but couldn't withstand the third-period onslaught by the Bruins.

It was the first Boston victory in three games since goalie Jack Gelineau took over the netminding duties.

Jimmy Peters, Pete Babando, Woody Dumart, Johnny Pierson and Fernie Flaman scored for Boston. The New York marksmen were Nick Mickroski, Don Raleigh and Alex Kaleta.

Two games are on tap for tonight, Detroit play Chicago a return engagement in the Windy City while the bitter Canadian rivals, Toronto and Montreal, meet on Canadiens' ice.

Cornwall Calumets Rally in Overtime To Defeat Army

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)—The powerful Cornwall Calumets Wednesday night rallied in overtime play to score a 7-5 victory over Ottawa Army in the first of a best-of-seven semi-final series for the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League title.

The soldiers will protest the game to league officials, alleging that Cornwall took on Bob Scarlett, former Verdun Rams netminder, after the time limit for taking on new players had expired .

Defenceman Doug Webster, big gun —for the Calumets, chalked up a three-goal effort as he started the rally for Cornwall mid-way through the second period.

He tied the score 5-5 with just two minutes and 10 seconds to play in the third stanza and then whipped —in one of Cornwall's two goals in overtime play.

Ottawa Army opened strong. Johnny Gagnon slammed in the first Ottawa goal. Then Gardner tallied for Cornwall and Creighton scored giving the Soldiers a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period.

Scoring his second of two goals, Gagnon broke through the Cornwall defence line early in the second frame and Tresidder followed through for Army, before Webster started the Cornwall come-back.

Cornwall's Gardner scored his team's second overtile goal. Peter Long got the other Calumets pointer. Darrh was the only other Army soorer.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

If Ken McNaught's junior Rockets have sufficiently recovered from the Battle of the Turkey which they won hands down on Tuesday night at the comfortable Lanthern, they should give a wide-open demonstration of their favorite sport in Memorial Arena tomorrow night against the starry Queen's University junior "Bees". The students while not leading the loop are said to be a fast clever crew with plenty of scoring ability. They defeated the Aces on Tuesday night and hold a 3-1 victory over the fast Kingston Navy squad.

• • •

The Rockets will be at full strength with the exception of centre Ronny Trussell who will be out of the game still suffering with a fracture of the left arm. Ronny is recuperating at his home and hopes to be back in action by the time the playoffs roll around.

• • •

The rest of the team is in fine fettle. Joe Nolan the kid with the calliope pipes who seems destined for an operatic career, if any scouts of the Metropolitan Opera ever get an earful of soulful warbling, will be on the defence with Milligan and Tommy (Two-Drumstick) Schreider. The regular snipers will be up front in the attacking division with Bill MacKay starting between the pipes.

• • •

The Rockets are as yet undefeated in their Junior "B" group and they will go all out tomorrow night to keep that record intact. However they're not selling the Tricolor kids short and the game should be productive of some high-class hockey.

• • •

What the Rockets actually need is some solid support from the fans. They're a better than average junior "B" squad with an average weight of some 175 pounds, and right now they are rounding into playoff form. Empty pews in Memorial Arena have been conspicuous during the last few junior tilts and this should not be. The youngsters are deserving of all the support, moral and otherwise, the fans can give them. They, like their big brothers of the CNR Diesels, also undefeated in their group, are carrying high the hockey torch of the city. Lets get out and cheer the kids to another victory.

• • •

The CNR Stores team which has been playing consistently good games in the Belleville Service Darts League loomed up this week as a dangerous contender to the champion Army, Navy Air Force Veterans squad. The Stores defeated the 9th Anti Tank Regiment 9-2 to grab first place in the league with a five-point advantage over the ANAFs. The Vets have 25 while in order follow Follwell Supply, 23; Hasty Pees, 20; CNR Vets 17 and the 9th Regt. 17. Stores have 30 points. Results of the games played this week are: CNR Stores 9, 9th Anti Tank 2; Follwell Supply 6, CNR Vets 5; ANAF 7, Hasty Pees 4; Follwell Supply 6, CNR Stores, 5.

• • •

Secretary Ken Edgecomb of the Darts League announced recently that the loop is in sound financial condition. New boards have been or will be purchased while the remainder of the club finances less expenses, will go to the second annual get-together which will be held at the finish of the season.

• • •

Secretary W. A. Hewitt, of the Ontario Hockey Association issued a warning to all clubs under his jurisdiction, that the final date for registering players is February 10th. At a meeting of the executive it was decided to hold a sub-committee meeting on Feb. 8 to arrange for junior "A" series playoff games. Player Dunham of the Sarnia junior "B" club was suspended by President J. J. McFayden for an attack on Referee Binns at St. Thomas on Jan. 28th, pending further investigation by the OHA executive.

• • •

President Don Thomas of the Central Ontario Baseball League has announced that the anndal meeting of the executive will be held here on Sunday, Feb. 6th. Regular business will be conducted and the 1949 slate of officers elected. Last year Peterborough, Kingston, Oshawa and Batawa were the participating teams but it rumored on Grapevine Row that there is a possibility of two or more additional teams entering the 1949 race.

• • •

Alex Nickerson, Sports Editor of the Halifax News Chronicle, reported recently that if the Maritime Big Four hockey league wasn't the highest paid 'Amateur' hockey outfit in Canada, the only other outfit that may surpass them financially would be the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Says Alex: "At one time it was reported that the Sydney Millionaires had a weekly payroll of $2,300.00. Payrols in Glace Bay and Sydney average $1,600.00 weekly."

Alex added that most players average $100.00 a week. If the senior group can match these figures then they must certainly stand as the top paid amateur circuit in Canada, and would compare favorably with several professional American clubs.

• • •

Trenton Flyers made their hold on the top perch of the Intermediate "A" ladder in this district more secure last night when they whipped the Cobourg-Port Hope Combines 9-5 in a rousing battle with everything but cocktails served. It was a wide-open struggle with both goalies standing out and the boys of both teams appearing willing to toss the enemy in the general direction of Montreal or Toronto, it all depending on which way they faced. The handful of fans were treated to plenty of hockey excitement as both teams surged up and down the ice in frantic efforts to score with both goalies having hair-breadth escapes from visiting forwards.

• • •

Tonight the miners from Belleville go at the hockey wars again in the second game of their two-games goals-to-count series. The Belleville Gunners Midget "B's" take on the kidlets from the neighboring town in the curtain raiser while the Rockets Juveniles tangle with the Trenton juves in the night-cap. Both teams have commanding leads in goals and unless something of a drastic nature occurs the city teams should win the right to meet Brockville in the first round of the playdowns. The young fellows, the stars of tomorrow, play a fine brand of hockey and fans of the city and district should get out and give them some much-needed support.

Marmora Swamps Warkworth Under 21-3 Deluge

Marmora—Trent Valley Leaders obtained a runaway victory over Warkworth on the new Marmora rink on Monday evening, the score being 21-3 in their favor. The visitors were not at full strength due to injuries yet they played doggedly without incruing one penalty.

The few meted out to Marmora were for minor in fringements. Brooks played in goal for the homesters in the place of Borland, the regular goalie and saved well. Warkworth brought off a few scrimmages in the closing moments but failed to add the finishing touch.

Three Marmora players got 4 goals apiece, the Trumble brothers and McInroy. The attendance was down to the five hundred mark.

The Teams

Warkworth — O'Halloran; defence, N. Dudley, J. Greenly; centre, Weatherson; wings, Welsher, Makepeace; alternates, Laver, Edwards, A. Dudley, E. Greenley.

Marmora—Goal, Brooks; defence, G. Leonard, E. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Lavender, K. Trumble; alternates, E. Trumble, McInroy, Goodchild, Kerr, Nicholson.

Most hockey leagues now have about a month to run before swinging into the playoff grind and this kindles a thought about all-star teams.

The next few weeks, predicts Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamini, will have everyone who has seen more than three games selecting his mythical roster. To start things off, Bob has boldly listed a "picked at random" sextet for the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.

For the all-important netminding chores, Bob nominated Russ Dertell, veteran goalie with Calgary Stampeders. For defence he named Pete Slobodian, player coach of Lethbridge Maple Leafs and Edmonton Flyers' Bud McPherson, whose brusing play earned him a recent tryout with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Rookie Honors

Also giving a tentative roll on the drums, Lorimer (Lethbridge Herald) Fenwick suggests that Jack Evans, Lethbridge rearguard stalwart playing his first year in the western loop, should walk off with "rookie of the year" laurels.

As for the league's most valuable player, Lorimer said he will cast his vote in favor of the veteran Sweeney Schriner now making a great comeback in senior company after retiring from the N.H.L.

The Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Chicago's punch duo of Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher fattened their scoring averages Wednesday night when the Hawks dropped a decision to Detroit. Each collected three points and Bentley now leads his clubmate, 51-49 in points. Detroit's Sid Abel and Bud Poile, and Jim Conacher and Gus Bodnar of the Hawks each garnered one point to move up in the race. Bill Mosienko added two assists to break into the select circle.

Trenton Flyers Strengthen Lead in Int. 'A' Group Beating Cobourg-Port Hope by 9 to 5

Trenton RCAF Flyers consolidated their grip on first place in the district Intermediate "A" race in Memorial Arena last night when they defeated the Cobourg-Port Hope Combines in a wide-open free-wheeling game by a 9-5 score.

It was a rousing battle from start to finish with both squads using the body with telling effect. Actually it resolved itself into a game of goalies with Keays of Flyers getting the nod over Austen of the Combines. At that, two of the Flyer goals were of a more or less fluky nature, one resulting after a lobbing puck had bounced over the ice from the blue-line to park itself behind a surprised Cobourg goalie.

On the other side of the ledger the first Cobourg goal also resulted from a blue - line shot that caromed in the net of the Flyers' goalie's skates.

In the heavy checking that featured all three periods, nine penalties were handed out by Referee Ken McNaught, four of them going to Pelissier, a newcomer to the Flyers ranks. He offset this somewhat by scoring a goal and getting an assist although he showed too much energy at times in willingness to mix matters with the opposition.

Score First Goal

Cobourg fired home the first goal on the deflected shot but Flyers roared back into the picture to score a brace of markers from big Al. Middleton and Pelissier.

Cobourg's L. Cane evened matters early in the second heat but the Flyers paced by Bullock, who scored two pretty goals rammed home three tallies, the other one coming from Jackson via Sherman to give them a 5-2 lead going into the third session.

Eight pucks slithered, thundered and slipped past the respective goalies in the third heat with Flyers scoring four and the Combines one less. Keays played more or less sensationally in this period when the desperate Combines rallied all their power in an effort to whittle down the lead.

Combines scored two of their three period goals in the latter part of the stanza and were going all out when the gong rang to end the festivities.

Al. Middleton was one of the best men on the ice for Flyers, sharing that honor with Keays. Bullock, Miller, Lawlor, Sargent, Ault, Sherman and Jackson turned in a fine job for the winners with Bulger, L. Cane, Ashby, Haynes and Forbes going well for the Combines.

The teams—

RCAF Flyers: goal, Keays; defence, Bullock, Grey; centre, Sargent; wings, O'Meara, Pendergast; subs, Lawlor, Jackson, Pelissier, Ault, Millar, Hughes, Anderson, Middleton, Sherman.

Golf King Hogan Severely Injured In Auto Crash

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 3 — (AP)— Tiny Ben Hogan, who fought illness and fatigue along golf's weary tournament trail for more than a decade without being knocked from his pedestal, even won out over a bus. But it will be a long time before he's his same fighting self again.

The golf world heard today that little Ben, severely injured in a traffic accident, will probably play once more, but it will be some other golfer who will be king of the links in the coming year.

Hogan, National Open and National P.G.A. champion, leading money winner and golfer of the year in 1948, Wednesday suffered a fractured pelvis, broken collar bone, possible fracture of a rib and other injuries yet to be determined in the barren country near Van Horn, Tex., when his car crashed with a Greyhound bus.

The durability of the 137-pounder was emphasized as the bantam of the links had to wait two hours for medical aid. An ambulance made a wild dash over the 152 miles from Van Horn to El Paso to bring Hogan to a hospital here. Some five hours later a bulletin was issued that Ben would make it, but would be out of competition on the links for a long, long time.

His pretty brunette wife, Valerie, suffered minor hurts but was able to smile last night as she said: 'It's tough but we're both lucky to be alive."

Hogan was on his way to his home in Fort Worth. After playing in four tournaments, he had quit the golf trial and said he did not plan to resume play until the Augusta, Ga., Masters in April.

Because the 36-year-old star sought to protect his wife by throwing himself across her when the crash occurred was the reason his injuries were not worse than they turned out to be. It threw him out of the way of the steering wheel, which was jammed into the back seat.

Where Are Those Brother Acts?

Not so many seasons back the National Hockey League rosters were studded with brother combinations. During the last few seasons they've gradually dwindled down until today there is only one brother act left in hockey's big tent, and that's the Bentleys, Doug of Chicago Black Hawks and Max of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Last year two other brother combos besides the Bentleys operated in the N.H.L. There were the Metz boys, Nick and Don of Toronto, and the Morrisons, Rod and Don of Detroit Red Wings. The Metz freres were split up this season when Nick retired to his farm in Saskatchewan and the Morrison laddies failed to exhibit the class expected of them by the Detroit board of management, and are currently campaigning at Indianapolis.

New York Rangers had their share of good brother combinations during the years. There were the Cooks, Bill and Bun; the Patricks, Lynn and Murray; and the Colvilles, Neil and Mac. The Cooks and Colvilles comprised two-thirds of two of the best lines the Rangers ever iced.

Remember the Cooks?

Other outstanding brother acts playing in the N.H.L. at the same time that the Cooks and Frank Boucher were flying over the icelanes were the Thompson boys, Paul with Chicago and "Tiny" of Boston Bruins. Paul was a sharp-shooting left wing, while the older brother "Tiny" was a four-time winner of the Vezina Trophy as the league's goaltender with the best goals-against record, while guarding the nets of Boston Bruins.

Canadiens had a durable duo in Sylvio and George Mantha at this time. Sylvio was a big rugged defenceman while George was a fleet forward. Detroit had the Kilreas, Hec and Wally, a pair of exceptionally fast forwards. Then there was the Conacher clan of Lionel and Charlie. Although they didn't play on the same team together, they were both powerful figures in the league. Both were selected to the first N.H.L. All-Star team in 1933-34, Lionel as a defenceman from Chicago and Charlie as a right-winger from Toronto Maple Leafs. Lionel and Charlie are the only brothers in history to be named to an N.H.L. first All-Star team the same season.

Besides the brother acts already mentioned there were such formidable pairs as Odie and Sprague Cleghorn, Harvey and Art Jackson, "Mud" and Eddie Bruneteau, Joe and Frank Jerwa, Bill and Bob Carse, Terry and Kenny Reardon and Grant and Billy Warwick. The Cleghorns played together with Montreal Canadiens, while the Jackson boys played together for Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins, and also against each other. The Bruneteau brothers played for Detroit; the Jerwas for Boston; and the Carses for Chicago. Terry Reardon played against Kenny every time the Bruins clashed with Canadiens. The Warwick boys were with Rangers during the short time they played together in the N.H.L.

Last but by no means least in hockey's famous brother acts of the past were the Bouchers, Frank, Billy and George, all three top N.H.L. performers. There is a strong possibility that Detroit Red Wings will have an outstanding brother act within the next couple of seasons when Max Quackenbush, presently starring at Omaha is brought up to play with older brother Bill with the Wings.

ST. LAWRENCE ON THE RAMPAGE

The St. Lawrence river went on the rampage and marooned 200 residents of Longueuil, Que., who had to be rescued. Hundreds of tons of ice smashed against houses when the river overflowed. Police and firemen used boats in the rescue. This car stands by inundated houses in Longueuil.—Central Press Canadian.

Hamilton Tigers Pull Upset By Defeating Marlies

(By The Canadian Press)

The veteran Hamilton Tigers have no intention of fading out of the playoff picture.

Wednesday night they pulled an upset by defeating the second-place Toronto Marlboros 4-3 in an Ontario Hockey Association senior A tilt. The win left the Tigers in third place, nine points behind the Dukes.

In junior 'A' warfare, Windsor Spitfires came up with a double win. They defeated Barrie Flyers 4-2 in the last part of a suspended game and then defeated the Flyers 6-2 in their scheduled tilt. In other games, Guelph Biltmores took over sixth place by defeating the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 4-1.

Stratford Kroehlers battled to a 5-5 overtime tie against St. Catharines Teepees. The tie moved Stratford into second place, and gave the Teepees a fourth-place deadlock with Oshawa Generals.

The Bengals outscored the Dukes in the first period and outplayed them in all three stanzas. Bobby Laurent scored the first goal for Hamilton and set up the second.

The Tigers moved into a 1-0 lead in the first period, held a 2 - 1 margin at the end of the second and outscored the Dukes 2-1 in the third. Other Hamilton marksmen were Frank Liscombe, Brian Robertson and Ab Conick. Flash Hollett and Johnny McCormack tallied for the Marlboros.

Provide All Goals

Big Lorne Ferguson provided all the goals as the Biltmores downed the Irish. He got his first early in the first period, one in the second and then two in the third. Don Rope got the Toronto goal in the third period.

Netminder Tom Shea played a steady game in the Toronto nets. He made 16 saves in the first period and a total of 34 during the whole tilt. Jimmy Beasely in the Guelph nets stopped 28 shots.

After being held to a 1-1 tie in the first period, the Spitfires moved into a 4-2 margin in the second, and then poked in two goals in the third to move nine points ahead of the second-place Kroehlers.

Glen Skov paced Windsor with two goals. Bruce Giesebrecht Larry Wilson, Francis O'Grady and Doug McGinn got one apiece. Gord Pennell and Hal Hopper were the Barrie scorers.

Stratford held a 2-1 edge at the end of the first period but was outscored 2-1 in the second and then split two goals in the final frame. Bibber O'Hearn was the spark for the Kroehlers with three goals. Penalties were thick. St. Catharines' Tom Buck drew six of the 20 meted out.

Other Stratford scorers were Joe Markle and Neddo Bragagnolo. George Sullican, and Bob Evans each got two for St. Catharines while Bill Buschlen got one.

No games are scheduled tonight. Tomorrow night Owen Sound Mercurys meet the Tigers and the Dukes clash with Stratford Indians in the senior A loop. In the junior 'A' division, the Irish meet the Flyers and the Kroehlers play the Teepees.

Maurice Richard May be Wearing Toronto Sweater

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP)—The black-browed visage of Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadiens' ace hockey forward, glared at Toronto citizenry today from atop a Toronto Maple Leaf sweater.

Whether the Rocket of the icelanes ever would wear such a sweater was extremely doubtful. The Leafs entrained Wednesday night for Montreal and Coach Happy Day said he had authority to offer the entire leaf bankroll for the services of the All-star rightwinger. Earlier Montreal club spokesmen had said he was not for sale at any price.

Coach Day hadn't given up on the deal when he led the Leafs on their trek for a game at the Forum Thursday night. He said Canadiens' manager Frank Selke had agreed to meet him Thursday morning.

MEMBERS ROPED OFF

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP) Carpenters Wednesday built a corridor around seats of the two Labor-Progressive members in the Ontario legislature.

There now is a corridor between the Labor-Progressives and the six Progressive Conservatives who had seats adjoining. Another division separates the two L.P.P. seats from the Liberals.

New seating arrangements had to be worked out after C.C.F. leader E. B. Jolliffe told the speaker at the last session that it would be "very unpleasant for the government" if the C.C.F. and L.P.P. sat together.

Ottawa Senators Team to Beat In Quebec Loop

Montreal, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Frank Boucher's Ottawa Senators appear to be headed for a repeat performance in capturing the Quebec Senior Hockey League championship.

Winners last season, Senators are atop the league standing with 31 wins and one tie in 40 games to date. They hold a three points margin over Sherbrooke St. Francis, a new entry into the seven-team circuit this season. But they also have three games in hand over the second-place squad which has won 29 games, lost 12 and tied four.

The Q. S. H. L. has produced three Allan Cup winners and may be headed for their fourth with Ottawa as the standard bearers. Senators have one of the most experienced units in the circuit, with the average age 27 years.

Montreal Royals are in third position, eight points back of the St. Francis team. The Royals have 24 victories, 11 losses and 4 stalemates for 52 points. Valleyfield Braves trail in fourth place, Quebec in fifth, Shawinigan sixth, and New York Rovers are in the cellar with only six victories in 41 outings.

In the Junior Amateur Hockey Association, which is divided into a northern and southern section, Montreal Royals are the hottest squad with 32 wins in 42 games. Royals, in the five - team northern section, lead Three Rivers Reds by 18 points.

Montreal Canadiens follow in third-place with 43. Valleyfield is fourth with 29 and Verdun Maple Leafs are in the cellar with only two victories in 40 games.

Montreal Nationals lead in the four-team southern section with 52 points. Next are Quebec Citadels with 42 points. Verdun Cyclones follow two points behind the Quebecers while Victoriaville Tigers are at the bottom of the ladder with 33 points.

John Bromwich Will be Member Of Aussie Team

(By The Canadian Press)

John Bromwich won his stubborn fight with the Australian Lawn Tennis Association Wednesday when he was chosen with Billy Sidwell and Frank Sedgman to challenge for the Davis Cup in 1349.

Bromwich, world-ranking star for more than a decade, refused to play on last year's Aussie team because it was insisted that he fly to the United States.

The team chosen Wednesday, it was announced, will do all its travelling by boat, first competing in all-England championships at Wimbledon before going to the United States to challenge in the North American zone.

At Hamilton, Alan McFater, young Toronto lightweight, Wednesday night added another victory to his amateur string when he scored a fourth-round technical knockout over Joe Agoston of Windsor. Referee Jackie Brace finally stopped the fight after 1'52 of the fourth round when Agoston was hanging on from a terrific right uppercut.

The world's amateur hockey tournament will be staged in the United States next year, it was learned at New York Wednesday night. Cities bidding for the event are Boston, St. Paul, Minn., and Lake Placid, N.Y. Walter A. Brown of Boston, vice-president of the Amateur Hockey Association team of the United States, will fly to Stockholm next week to attend a meeting of the International Ice Hockey Federation. He will accept the 1950 tournament formally at that time. This year's championship will be decided in Stockholm, beginning Feb. 11.

The Dewitt Brothers—Bill and Charley— purchased controlling interest in St. Louis Baseball Browns from Richard C. Muckerman, Wednesday. No official sale price was announced but it is believed that the Dewitts paid close to $1,000,000 for the 56 per cent of the stock which Muckerman owned. The Dewitts already held two per cent of the American League Club's stock.

Lanky Russ Christopher can pitch one more season for Cleveland Indians but he'll have to take it easy because of a bad heart, the tribe management said Wednesday night at Cleveland. For Christopher, the world champions said, that will mean: pitching only a few innings in any one game; skipping Spring training; physical check-ups every six weeks by specialists hired by the club and no "violent exercise".

New York Yankees Wednesday signed their first Negro baseball player—outfielder Luis Marquez of Baltimore Elite Giants—and became the sixth major league club to hire a Negro athlete. Marquez, 23-year-old centre fielder, is hitting "about .330" with the Aquadilla Club of the Puerto Rican Winter League. He will report to Newark Bears, a Yankee farm, next month at their Haines City, Fla., Spring training base.

Buffalo Bisons Put on Best Show of Year

(By The Canadian Press)

The Buffalo Bisons put on their best show of the year Wednesday night as they smothered Cleveland goalie Johnny Bower with pucks for a 11-3 upset victory and their first triumph over the Barons in American Hockey League play since Jan. 4, 1948.

Rookie defenceman Tommy Johnson and Floyd Curry paced the Bisons with three goals each. Joe Lund, just acquired from Indianapolis, and Murdo McKay each connected twice. George Pargeter notched the other goal.

Cleveland scored twice in the second period, with Roy Kelly and Pete Leswick tallying. From there on in, it was all Buffalo.

Providence Reds, who reign over the eastern division, fought to a 2-2 tie with Indianapolis Capitals of the eastern loop. Rod Morrison and player-coach Ott Heller scored to give the Caps a 2-0 lead in the second period, but Jack McGill got one back before the stanza ended and Johnny Chad, right winger, tied it up for the Reds in the second.

Hershey Bears defeated Philadelphia Rockets 5-1 with Phil Maloney scoring twice and Mark Marquess, Arnie Kullman and Frank Mario getting the Hershey goals. Phil Hergesheimer scored the Rockets' only goal.

Sid Smith's last period goal gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 1-1 stalemate with the first-place St. Louis Flyers in the western loop. Paul Gladu tallied for the Flyers.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)— In its first three New York shows, the Coaxial A.C., commonly known as the Tournament of Champions, has unveiled three newcomers to the local fight scene...First it was Rusy Payne; then Fritzie Pruden of St. Catharines now tabbed "The New Miracle of 34th Street:" (Pruden never had a big-club main bout until he hit Manhattan Centre) and last night Humberto Sierra. Next week Don Lee is due for his first appearance against Walter Cartier ... that looks like real competition for the 20th Century's "new faces" program especially since Lee once beat Harry Markson's newest drawing card, Vince Foster. On the other hand, Don was flattened recently by J. T. Ross, a tall California middleweight who will only get a tryout at St. Nick's ... Incidentally, a lot of the fight mob say that Ross may be the best prospect of them all.

TWO SYDNEY HARBORS

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — There are two Sydney harbors in Sydney. The second is a 73-year-old retired master mariner who came from England to join his sister here. His first visit to his namesake was made in a windjammer in 1890.

DICE GAME BROKEN UP

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)—Six police cruisers backed up morality officers last night in a raid on what police said was a dice game in the Hotel Barclay in downtown Toronto. Police arrested 22 Toronto men on charges of gambling.

Police said they seized chips from the three tables representing a gambling value of $1,500. David Yakowbitz, Joseph Shapiro and Allen Saltzman were jointly charged with operating the game, which followed a stag dinner party at the hotel.

MAJOR SALVAGE JOB

Valetta, Malta — (CP) — The Royal Navy has recovered from Malta Grand Harbor a large floating dock sunk by enemy bombers in 1940. The dock was 960 feet long, 180 feet wide and 70 feet in depth, and will provide about 27,000 tons of scrap metal.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

No man is born with a bidding system that fits his partner. A bridge pair unifies their bidding minds by learning the same things. This state is attained by experience or study.

It matters not how brilliant he may be. Nor that his aptitude for cards is better than others. Nor that his instinct is amazing. He and his partner must find out the meaning of their bids.

Then is when he can be an individualist. Then is when he is in a spot where he can follow his own intuition. He can do anything his little heart desires without consulting the thoughts of partner.

Such a player was south at six hearts in this deal:

Opening lead from west was a club. The danger was easy to see when dummy hand spread. A trump and three diamonds may be lost. These are three tricks more than declarer can afford.

Losing no more than one diamond may be considered. It is with a plan that has a 50-50 chance. Even if it works, loss of a trump will kill the contract. So, saving a trump is a must.

Trick one went to a south club top. Queen of trump was led toward dummy. Ordinarily, this should be finessed. But this declarer hopped right up with the ace. The king dropped from east.

A small spade from dummy was successfully finessed with the ten in south. When this worked, too, declarer was in. His next plays were the cashing of two more trump rounds and spade queen.

A diamond to the ace entered dummy. Both top spades in that hand were led. On them were sluffed two of the small south diamonds.

Some have what others only hope to get.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 3 (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, my favorite grouch, now comes up with a definitive list of his pet peeves.

Bogie is usually beefing about something, whether it's Warner Brothers or San Francisco or women. I pinned him down on the "Tokyo Joe" set for a cataloguing of his favorite hates. Stand back, everybody, here goes:

"Radio shows that go in for exploitation of any human being for the amusement of other so-called human beings.

"Columnists who use slanderous gossip and call it news.

"Motion picture producers who draw big salaries and couldn't operate a brownie.

"Any organized group that picks on Hollywood for the publicity.

"Book jackets—they get in my way.

"People who come up and say 'remember me?' and never tell you their names. You say, 'yeah,' and they answer 'no, you don't.'

"Women who demand equal rights, but won't accept equal responsibility.

"Professional nationalists — professional Irishmen, Englishmen, etc.

"People who don't like me."

Sweetness And Light

For some sweetness and light take Kathryn Grayson, who finds the bright side in Hollywood's current condition.

"We used to start a picture without a finished script," she said. "And the actors used to trail in late with all kinds of dreamed-up excuses. Finally, the time came when they didn't even bother to make an excuse."

There have been some changes. Her current "That Midnight Kiss" started with a finished script, the actors rehearsed it for two weeks, and Miss G. has been as punctual as a bookkeeper.

Students Will Study Urban Geography

Hamilton, Feb. 3 (CP)—Officials here are wondering why this city is expanding faster to the east tha nthe west. Some 88 students from McMaster University will attempt to answer this and many other questions when they launch Hamilton's first city-wide survey. Originated by Prof. J. W. Watson, the survey will be conducted by students of urban geography and sociology.

Schulz had not seen Honey since she was eight months old — in 1934. At that time he was associated with the Hagenback Zoo in Hamburg, Germany, and sold Honey to the Brookfield Zoo.

Iowa City, Ia.—Eugene Coon, a university student, made his bed and lay in it—outdoors in 15-below-zero weather.

Coon's dormitory mates of the keep-the-window-tight school suggested that Coon, who likes fresh air while he sleeps, move outdoors.

Out he went with his bed, six blankets and a sweatshirt. Later he added four pairs of socks, another sweater, a pair of trousers and more blankets.

After his outdoor snooze one night, Coon said he probably wouldn't try it again.

Des Moines—Mrs. Grace Grodt, 52, who said she broke out in hives when she was around her husband for an evening, was granted a divorce yesterday from John Grodt, 61.

Mrs. Grodt told Judge Tom K. Murrow she couldn't continue to live with Grodt because it made her nervous to be around him.

"My stomach seems to tie in knots," she testified, "and I get nervous and hives come out."

Recapitulation Of Stalin Attitude To Truman Meet

(By The Canadian Press)

You get a better idea of the tenor of Prime Minister Stalin's attitude toward a meeting with President Truman when you couple the two statements he has issued this week on the subject.

Here — in pharaphrase stripped of diplomatic niceties — are the combined questions and answers:

Q. Would you consider issuing a joint declaration with the United States asserting neither nation intends to war on the other?

A. We'd consider it

Q. Would you join the United States in measures carrying this out and leading to gradual disarmament?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you end the Berlin blockade if the Western Allies postponed plans to set up a separate Western German regime, pending a foreign ministers' conference to consider German problems?

A. Yes, if those conditions are observed and the three Western Powers lift their restrictions in Germany.

Q. How about meeting President Truman at a mutually suitable place to discuss such a pact?

A. No objection.

Q. Where?

A. Preferably in Russia, even in Czechoslovakia or Poland; not in Washington, on account of my health.

Inspection Drubs Machine Shop 4-1 In Northern Electic Loop

The Inspection team of the Northern Electric hockey league rang up another impressive win in Memorial Arena last night, defeating the Machine Shop squad by a 4-1 score.

The winners' attack was paced by Lupinette who scored two of his team's goals and also garnered an assist. Cliff Howie and Baker were the other marksmen for the Inspectors. MacDonald got the lone score for the Machine Shop crew.

The game was close in the first period with neither team being able to dent the twine. MacHine opened the scoring early in the second but Inspection raced back with a pair before the period ended. Maintaining their attack they racked up two more in the third period to put the game on "ice."

McDonald, Chipps and Long were the best for the losers while John Lupinette, Cliff Howie, Lorimer and Baker were the pick of the Inspection team.

The teams:

Machine Shop — Goal, O'Sullivan; defence, Chipps, O'Brien; centre, Thrasher; wings, Little, Long; subs, McDonald, Joe Lupinette, Belliveau, Crene, Trear, Halsey.

Inspection — Goal, Lepp; defence, Balford, Kaye; centre, Wood; wings, Howie, Lupinette; subs, Baker, Lorimer, Wilkie, Hutchings. Officials "Porky" Yorke and Bush.

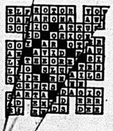
Answer Yesterday's Puzzle



Little Benny's Note Book

I was looking at my new comic book, and pop said, Dont you think it would be a constructive idea to get your homewerk done and then tackle those comics.

But G, pop, didn't you use to reed the comics before you did your lessens? I said, and he said, That was different. In those jolly times the comics were known as the funnies, and they were festive and gay, and they put me in a good humor for my homewerk. But in this atom age the comics are grim and serious and coldly scientific. Their inhabitants dont spend their time playfully cracking other people over the head just to make them see stars, like the simple honest folks in the old funnies, he said.

Do you mean if I read the comics ferst, they mite make me take my homewerk too serious? I said, and pop said, Well, in a way. Even the most important things, or I should say especially the most important things, shouldn't be taken too seriously. Your school werk should be attacked earnestly but light heartedly, he said.

Then I know what to do, I said. It's just time for the Merry Mundeys on the radio, and I'll tern them on and do my lessens at the same time. They're funny as anything, pop. Ma Mundey is always berning things in the kitchin and setting the house on fire, and Mike Mundey is always getting mad and funny at the same time, and Maxie Mundey is always getting things wrong and falling down stairs. You can listen too, pop, and it'll help you injoy the bad news in the paper, I said.

I'm afraid I'm not gifted with your uncanny powers of concentration, pop said .One job at time is all I can take on, [illegible]d.

The result being I did my homewerk in my own room while I lisened to the Merry Mundeys on my Junior Midget Set.

FEAR MOUNTS AS EARTH CRUMBLES IN SAINT JOHN, N. B.

Earth subsidence is causing larger and larger subsidences to appear in Saint John, N.B., where the river bank collapsed, leaving a chasm 60 feet deep. Here residents watch on the cliff beside the bank area. They have been anxious ever since area started to sink but city officials say there is no immediate danger of a huge movement. One barn was virtually swallowed up in cavity.—Central Press Canadian

Community Centre Assoc. Reports Year of Progress

4th Sidney — The Fourth Line Community Centre Association held their annual meeting on Friday night in the hall. About 75 sat down and enjoyed a sumptuous supper prepared by the ladies.

Later, the chairman, Mr. Hugh Gray, called the gathering together and after a few words of appreciation to the directors for their co-operation, to Mr. Ernest Phillips for trucking, and all others who had helped so faithfully during the past year, he asked the secretary treasurer for the report of the year's business.

New Floor Laid

Mr. F. Tucker gave a review of the work accomplished. It was through the efforts of the association that road signs to protect the children were erected by the township council. A new hardwood floor was laid in the all, all work being done by the association members. Later, a cement verandah was built at the entrance. With the help of the pastor, a public address system was built.

Mr. F. Tucker, in giving the financial report, stated thot over $600 had been raised during the year.

The pastor, when asked to say a few words, expressed his pleasure at being able to report a fine community spirit prevailing throughout work or play.

Mr. A. B. Woods, a former resident of this community, brought greetings and wished the association many more happy evenings together.

During the election of officers Mr. Farley Vermilyea was elected a director for a period of three years.

Mr. P. Flagler and Mr. Buchanan of radio station CJBQ were present and recorded some of the music and conducted interviews which they will use in a broadcast also spending some time explaining the working of the recorder to an interested group.

Square dancing, with Mr. K. Jones, Mr. Keith Roblin, Mr. A. Calvert and Mrs. F. Vermilyea furnishing the music and Mr. Geo. LaBrash as "caller" was enjoyed by old and young.

A lareg number from the Aikens and Centenary Home and School Club were guests and helped make the evening a decided success.

An invitation was accepted to visit the A. and C. Home and School Club on Feb. 8th.

The following are the officers of the association for 1949: Chairman, Mr. Hugh Gray; Vice Chairman, Mr. Farley Vermilyea; Secretary Treasurer, Mr. Frank Tucker; W. A. Representative, Mrs. Geo. Read; Stone Church Trustee Representative, Mr. Clarence Vermilyea.

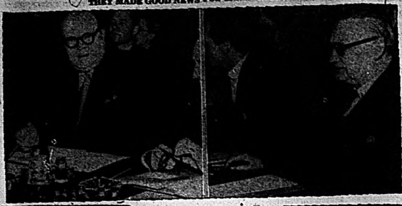
THEY MADE GOOD NEWS FOR ISRAEL AND EUROPE



Here are four of the five representatives of the western European Union powers as they appeared at the consulative council meeting in London at which it was decided to give do facto recognition to the new state of Israel. Having made this much progress, the conferees were encouraged to score an encore; so they gave Europe its first home of real unity by deciding to establish a "council of Europe" in answer to Russia's tightened political and economic controls over her eastern satellite powers. Murderer's Plea That He Had Been Involved in Killing 'By Chance Medley' Fails

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 3 (CP)— The Court of Criminal Appeal has ruled that the modern Englishman depends on the police for protection rather than on his skill with a sword.

Because of this ruling a murderer's plea that he had been involved in a killing "by chance medley" failed. The order for his execution remained unchanged.

George Semini walked past an hotel in Newcastle-Under-Lyme, Staffordshire, accompanied by a young woman, last Oct. 11. Three men, including Joseph Gibbons, stood nearby and one of them made a comment about the woman which Semini resented.

Semini struck one of the men and evidence showed Gibbons incited the man who had been struck to fight Semini. Two bystanders tried to restrain Semini but he broke away, produced a knife and in the subsequent scuffle Gibbons was stabbed in the heart.

Lord Goddard, Lord Chief Justice of England, read the court's judgment on Semini's appeal against sentence of death. He said the main contention for the appellant was that the facts revealed killing by chance medley.

The judgment continued that the expression "chance medley" now has no place in the law relating to homicide. It used to apply only where the killing was in defence of a man's person or property on some sudden affray. The law would attach some blame for the killing in such a case, but would excuse it.

At a time when society was less secure and settled in its habits, when the carrying of swords was as common as the use of a walking stick now, and when duelling was regarded as involving no moral stigma if fairly conducted, it was not surprising the courts took a view more lenient towards provocation than was taken today. Life and property now were guarded by an efficient police force, and social habits had changed.

Semini had struck the first blow and his subsequent use of a knife was "a dreadful and cowardly act of revenge."

FRANKFORD

Boys of Sunday School Class Visit Toronto

Frankford — A group of nine boys from the Intermediate Class of the Frankford United Church Sunday School, spent an enjoyable weekend in Toronto as guests of the Metropolitan Church. Previous arrangements had been made by Mr. Sidney Martin, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Cars left Frankford about 7:00 a.m. Saturday and arrived at the Bank of Commerce Building, first stop on the tour of the city, about 10:00. There, the boys were divided into groups of three, each with an adult leader. Ray Scott, Mr. Martin and Gene Lohnes each had charge of a group.

From the top balcony, most of the boys got their first real view of Toronto. They were very fortunate as the visibility was the clearest it had been for some time. They were able to see the shoreline for miles, even into New York State.

Next stop was one of the large department stores, which was also greatly enjoyed. Laden with parcels, they piled into the cars an hour later for the ride to the Royal Ontario Museum. There, as planned, they met the group of Trail Rangers from the church, with their guides.

This group of Trail Rangers, (an organization similar to the Boy Scouts) is led by Miss Peck and Allan Hunt. Both are Sunday School teachers in the Metropolitan Church and are very active in all branches of church work. Allan is studying for the ministry and will be ordained next year. They are very capable leaders and the Trail Rangers are very forunate in having them in their midst.

Mrs. Campbell, a guide in the museum, led the two groups through one wing of the museum, giving a very interesting commentary as they went along. After a couple of hours all went to the church house. The boys spent some time bowling on the alleys in the church recreation building. The church is equipped for almost every kind of indoor and many forms of outdoor sports and recreation.

A delicious supper was served and the boys and leaders of the Toronto and Frankford groups had a chance to become better acquainted.

Following the repast everyone hurried around to get ready for the hockey game in Maple Leaf Gardens. It was the first time some of the boys had seen a big league game so it was quite a thrill and experience for them. For the boys who did not have a lodging place in the city, billets were arranged by Miss Peck and Allan.

Sunday, the groups attended morning service in the great church and Sunday School in the afternoon.

After bidding farewell to their friends in the church, the Frankford boys drove to Casa Loma for a tour of the castle. Led by a charming guide, they were shown through the huge building.

They stopped at a restaurant on the Danforth for supper before starting the homeward drive.

The boys arrived home Sunday evening, tired, but well satisfied with their holiday and very grateful for the hospitality and fellowship enjoyed with their new friends in Toronto. It is hoped that it will be possible to have the boys from Toronto down for a return visit this summer.

Party Organizers Preparing For Election Before Next Year

Canadian Press Staff Writer
By JAMES McCOOK

London, Feb. 3 (CP)— Government spokesmen who ought to know say there will be no general election before 1950, but party organizers disregard this assurance. They tell their supporters to be ready for a vote this year.

The election date may be decided by voting in local elections in April and May, when county, municipal, parish, urban and district council members are elected.

In the important municipal elections, last held in November, 1947, Labor was badly beaten with a final score of 695 seats lost and 43 gained, compared with the Conservative record of 643 gains and 18 losses.

Labor received another pounding in the urban and rural district council elections last April when the party had 260 losses and 101 gains compared with the Conservative's 286 gains and 21 losses.

Results a Shock

These results shocked Labor adherents, still jubilant over their overwhelming general election victory in 1945. They weakened the confidence felt by the party after a long series of successes in holding Labor Commons seats in by-elections.

The political correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch (Independent) said Herbert Morrison, as government house leader, may ask Prime Minister Attlee to recommend dissolution of parliament in July "if there is not a sensationally heavy anti-government vote" in the local elections.

Nationalization Issue

Labor sources said the prospect has been that Labor will fight the general election on issues already plain, such as the nationalization program. A leading issue on which the voters will decide is whether the bill nationalizing the iron and steel industry will actually be implemented after 1950. If the Conservatives are elected, it probably never would be used.

Stalin Reported Willing To Attend 4-Power Parley

Action Would Meet U.S. Objections of Bilateral Talks

Moscow, Feb. 4. (Reuters)—Well-informed sources here said today they believed Marshal Stalin is willing to take part in a four-power conference with President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Premier Henri Queuille.

This would meet objections that the United States is not prepared to discuss bilaterally with the Soviet Union matters of interest to other countries in the absence of their representatives.

Feature Truman Refusal

All today's Russian newspapers carried a 112-word New York report from the Soviet Official News Agency, Tass, under the double column headline: "Truman refused peace pact between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

Truman's comment yesterday that he would be glad to welcome Stalin to Washington but discussion of the world situation would have to be done through the United Nations was printed by several papers in extra large type.

The Tass report said State Secretary Dean Acheson, at his press conference, "spoke negatively regarding both a peace pact and other questions dealt with by Mr. Kingsbury Smith (American newspaper correspondent) in a letter to Mr. Stalin."

"Several hours later President Truman at a press conference joined in Acheson's opinion," Tass said.

Would Contradict Policy

"In local circles it is suggested that the negative attitude of Truman and Acheson is explained by the fact that a peace pact would be in contradiction to aggressive plans in the organization of an Atlantic bloc".

The Russian press also gave considerable space to a London meeting at which John Platts-Mills, independent Leftist member of parliament, said Attlee should have urged Truman to meet Stalin and asked to accompany him.

Snow Slows Up Traffic, Curtails Travel by Air

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—A heavy snowstorm which centred over Toronto at mid-morning was moving eastward today at about 25 miles an hour and the storm centre was expected to reach Ottawa at about 7.30 this evening.

As the storm moved east, reducing traffic to a crawl and curtailing airline flights, only light flurries followed in its wake. At 7.30 a.m. six inches had fallen on Toronto during the previous 24 hours but the snowfall was expected to become light early in the afternoon. At Windsor 3.7 inches had fallen, 3.5 inches at London, 3.6 inches at Wiarton. Forecasters predicted more than 10 inches would have fallen on Ottawa before the storm moved on tonight and petered out over the Atlantic seaboard.

The fall was lighter in the north where only one to three inches fell. No serious traffic accidents had been reported despite poor driving conditions.

Some rain was reported along the south shore of Lake Erie, while rain was mixed with snow along the north shore.

Forecasters say it will be colder. In the north readings of 30 below were recorded.

Ask Lower Taxes, Increased Exemption In Lower Incomes

Calgary, Feb. 4 (CP)—Alberta Liberals were on record today as favoring an "immediate and substantial" reduction in income taxes.

A resolution calling for income tax reduction and increased exemption for lower income groups was passed by more than 200 delegates yesterday at the final session of the annual convention of the Alberta Liberal Association.

During the two day gathering, delegates were warned by their provincial party leader, J. Harper Prowse of Edmonton, to prepare immediately for a federal election. He said he had been advised by Prime Minister St. Laurent to have his candidates ready in two months for an election.

T.B. Death Rate Foreseen Record Low in 1948

Winnipeg, Feb. 4 (CP)—Canada's tuberculosis death rate in 1948 is expected to be lower than in 1947—a year which established a record low—Dr. G. J. Wherrett of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, said yesterday in an interview.

Dr. Wherrett, on a western tour, said that a 1948 figure it should be below the rate of 437 deaths for 100,000 population which prevailed in 1947.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—Synopsis: A complex disturbance covering the eastern United States and most of Ontario will move eastward today to the coast and lose itself in a deepening low that is moving up the Atlantic seaboard. It will continue to give snow over southern and central sections of the province today mixed with some rain along the shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario. It will be much colder air over Ontario tonight and Saturday. Snowflurries are expected in most sections of Ontario on Saturday.

Canadian Freight Cars Help Develop Manganese in S.A.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 4 (CP)—Canadian railway freight cars will help Africa develop its deposits of manganese, used in manufacture of certain types of high-grade steel.

The shortage of rolling stock has delayed exploitation of extensive manganese finds near the country's southern limits, around Postmasburg in the Cape Province. The 6,000 cars on order from Canada, together with cars obtained elsewhere, are expected to overcome this difficulty by the end of the year.

South Africa is the second-largest potential supplier of manganese—Russia is the largest. One ton of manganese steel will do the work of 10 tons of ordinary steel.

CARDINAL RECANTS LETTER WRITTEN BEFORE ARREST

Says Confession Would Come from Weakness

Budapest, Feb. 4. (CP) — Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty recanted in court today a letter he wrote before his arrest saying that if ever he admitted his guilt to government charges against him it would be "because of weakness of the flesh".

The Cardinal, being tried on treason, espionage and black market charges to which he has pleaded partly guilty, rose from his seat in the dock and said:

"I wrote this letter sometime in November, 1948, with instructions that it be forwarded to the bishops and archbishops of Hungary on the day I was arrested.

"That is what happened.

See Things Differently

"Now I want to state that I see things differently from when I drafted this letter, and I want to repeat what I said yesterday—that I regret my error.

"I want it to be considered that that letter is null and void."

Later, the primate rose again. He said he wished to repay the Hungarian government in full the damage he had caused it through the illegal sale of thousands of dollars which he had received from the Vatican and the United States.

Cardinal Mindszenty testified, as his trial with six other defendants entered its second day, that the court had not hindered him in his defence, and that he had access to his lawyer at all times. He said the letter written before his arrest had nothing to do with the present court.

Judge Vilmos Olthys, presiding over the five-judge court, remarked that the letter had "hurt this court".

Others Admit Guilt

The Cardinal's statement was read after a one-hour court recess which followed pleas of guilty to treason and black-market money dealings by the last of his six co-defendants.

As the trial of the Primate of Hungary and six others before a so-called "People's Court" entered its second day.

Duke Paul Esterhazy, one of pre-war Hungary's richest men, admitted black-market dealings in dollars with the Cardinal.

Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of the lay organization, Catholic Action, pleaded innocent to treason charges but confessed to deals in foreign money;

Luszlo Toth, a Roman Catholic journalist, pleaded guilty to treason charges;

Rev. Bela Ispenky, a priest, admitted himself guilty of treason and of espionage—allegedly for the United States.

Esterhazy told the court he considered the Cardinal, chief of the defendants, to be the 'head of Hungarian Royalists", who wanted to see the Communist-dominated Republjic overthrown and the monarchy restored.

Cardinal Mindszenty himself pleaded "partly guilty" yesterday, as the trial began before five judges, to the charges against him. The government prosecutor accused him of seeking American assistance to break jail and flee the country by plane in order to escape trial for treason, spying, plotting against the government and engaging in black-market activity.

North Recluse Wears Flouncy Skirts, High Button Shoes, Flowery Shawls

Tomstown, Ont., Feb. 4 (CP)—Nellee was a lady or is he?

In long foluncy skirts, high-button shoes and flowery shawls, 86-year-old Northland recluse Nellee Jessee Reid looks like the "little old lady" of tin pan alley. Even when he served in the Boer War he donned kilts so he wouldn't have to break his life-long habit of wearing skirts.

"But I am a man," Nellee insists in a fog-horn baritone. "I was the sixth successive son of a mother who yearned for a break in the male-issue monotony."

His mother clothed him in short skirts when his playmates wore short pants and later lengthened the dresses when other boys donned long trousers.

"I've never been able to break the habit," he says.

Lives Alone with Cats

Nellee lives alone with his 32 cats in a tar-papered shack on top of a hill in this hamlet, three miles from Englehart and some 40 miles south of Kirkland Lake. The walls of his ill-heated home are covered with catalogue clippings of pin-up girls wearing latest lingerie modes.

His version of his exploits as soldier, seafarer and miner belie the impression he spent all his years knitting.

Born at Hickson, near Woodstock, he says he made his debut into the entertainment world as a 10-year-old bagpipe player everyone mistook for a girl. Later he joined a circus.

While travelling with the circus he met Margaret and married her. Margaret was his "greatest joy and greatest sorrow." After an "ideal married life" she was killed in a Grand Trunk train crash in Northern Ontario. A 56 year old daughter teaches school near Omaha, Neb.

Canada Must Maintain, Protect Her Position On Street of New Air World

—Chevrier

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said today Canada must maintain and protect her position "on the main street of the new air world."

But the government does not intend to allow considerations of national prestige to involve it in an uneconomic program of international air service expansion, the Minister added in a speech prepared for delivery before the International Chamber of Commerce.

In current strides, Canada's development of air traffic facilities is unmatched by any country other than the United States, Mr. Chevrier declared.

"We feel that there is a need for certain international air services but those services should, generally speaking, be justifiable on an economic basis and have a reasonable chance of supporting themselves.

"They must, moreover, be operated on an efficient basis in a highly competitive market. As far as present experience may be relied on we are satisfied that the carriers we have selected can do this job and compete on reasonable terms with the airlines of even more powerful and richer countries.

"In fact Trans-Canada Air Lines has already done this in competing with airlines of other countries which are in receipt of substantial subsidies."

T.C.A. and in the Pacific, Canadian Pacific Airlines, were Canada's "chosen instruments" for operation of international air services.

T.C.A. had added 5,000 miles of new routes in 1948 for a total of 16,000 miles but no larger route extensions, beyond some small additions, were foreseen in the future.

He said T.C.A. in size now is one of the first dozen airlines in the world and "in achievement and record it deserves an even higher rank."

Churchill Liked Wartime Post Best of All Offices of State He Writes in His War Memoirs

New York, Feb. 4 (AP)—The post of wartime Prime Minister of Great Britain "was the one I liked best" of all the offices of state he held in his long political experience, Winston Churchill says in his war memoirs.

Writing the second volume of the memoirs, being serialized in Canada by the Montreal Standard, Churchill says: "Power, for the sake of lording it over fellow creatures or adding to personal pomp, is rightly judged base."

"But power in a national crisis, when a man believes he knows what orders should be given, is a blessing," he says.

Despite the exhilaration afforded by his wartime job, Churchill found his first days in it filled with discouraging events—the German invasion of the lowlands and break-through into France, the virtual collapse of the French army, and Dunkerque.

At this time he wrote to President Roosevelt warning that it was possible for the British fleet to fall into German hands if Britain "was left by the United States to its fate."

The former Prime Minister writes admiringly of Roosevelt, whom he describes as "a very great man..a warm-hearted friend and the foremost champion of the high causes we served."

Churchill blames both his own country and France for not placing stronger military forces at the Ardennes, the point on the Franco-Belgian frontier at which the German panzers smashed into France in 1940.

"It would have been embarrassing and unpleasant to argue the matter out with the French in the winter of 1930-40, he says, because the French would have asked why Britain did not send more troops of her own and handle a wider sector of the front.

Merchants Want Lighting For Store Windows

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 4 (CP)—A resolution asking the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission to grant retail merchants an increase in their hydro quotas so they can have normal window lighting after six p. m. was passed here Thursday by members of district 7, Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

The Association, composed of Public Utilities Commissioners and managers, held its annual meeting Thursday with district 8. District 7 includes Western Ontario from Chatham to Woodstock while district 8 includes Chatham and Westward.

This resolution will be forwarded to the annual meeting of the entire O. M. E. A. in Toronto in March and to the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The district 7 delegates also resolved that no publicity should be given to announcements of improved hydro conditions nor abolition of quotas, to keep the public conscious of voluntary conservation.

P. R. Locke of St. Thomas was returned as president of district 7 together with executives J. R. Henderson of Woodstock and R. W. D. Lewis of London.

W. P. Bolton of Windsor was elected president of district 8, with vice-president Thomas Cada of St. Clair and executive G. H. Fuller, Windsor; Tom Scott, Tecumseh; and Leo Sylvester, Belle River.

DISMISS APPEAL

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—Toronto's Court of Revision today dismissed the appeal of the Ontario Jockey Club against a $500,000 increase in the municipal tax assessment of the Woodbine race track. D. L. McCarthy, counsel for the Jockey Club, said he will appeal today's decision to the Ontario Municipal Board. Originally assessed at $7,500 the buildings at the race track last year were reassessed at $508,500.

Mrs. Ruth Paige Jumped from Car Jury Decides

London, Ont., Feb. 4. (CP)—An inquest jury decided last night that Mrs. Ruth Paige, 28, suffered fatal injuries early Jan. 23 by jumping or falling from a moving automobile. The verdict blamed no one for her death.

Witnesses said the woman attended a public dance, and the fall was said to have occurred on her way home, while she was being given a ride in an automobile driven by William Edmunds, 30. Dr. John Fisher, pathologist, called it "fantastic" that Mrs. Paige's varied and severe injuries could all have been caused by a fall from a vehicle. The injuries included a fractured skull and ruptures of the stomach and diaphragm.

Coroner A. P. Routledge suggested that the woman perhaps fell on her head, arose stunned and then fell forward on the frozen shoulder of a road covered with large stones .

Dr. C. A. Bright and Dr. Hugh Wilson, psychiatrists who treated Mrs. Paige in 1945, said she was of the metal type that might leap from an automobile without warning. They said that in 1945 she spent brief periods in two hospitals here.

The woman's husband, Jack Paige, 40-year-old Utilities worker, said he asked her what was the matter but she went to bed in the living room with the reply that she would tell him all about it in the morning.

When he arose in the morning, he could not rouse her, Paige said. He had her taken to the hospital, where, without regaining consciousness, she died in about 12 hours following an emergency brain operation.

SUSPEND SENTENCE

Windsor, Feb. 4 (CP)—Albert Bassant, 18, a newcomer from England, yesterday was given a two-year suspended sentence after pleading guilty to stealing four shotguns, five rifles and a revolver from a hardware store. He said the arsenal was to equip a "gang" so they could steal from the rich and give to the poor.

COMMONS CANNOT GET AWAY FROM VEXING QUESTION

Dominion-Provincial Relations Creep Up

Ottawa, Feb. 4 (CP)—The Commons swung from agriculture to trade to the St. Lawrence waterways scheme yesterday but, try as it did, it couldn't get away from the vexing, clinging question of Dominion-Provincial relations.

Swiftly becoming a bat-ball between the Liberal and Progressive Conservative ranks, the constitutional issue was tossed into the lumbering Throne Speech debate by Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) and then was flipped back to the opposition benches by David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina).

Their bristling side-debate constituted a flash-back on what had been said on both sides in the three occasions in which the question has bobbed during the first days of this new session.

Mr. Fleming, stepping along the Progressive Conservative line took another swing at the government, charging that Prime Minister St. Laurent apparently has made up his mind not to call any more Dominion-Provincial conferences.

Mr. Croll, pursuing the government's tactics, levelled the customary blast that Ontario wrecked the 1946 Dominion-Provincial conferenc with its attitude of "you pay my price or else I won't play." Ontario must not "squeeze the last dollar out of the rest of Canada."

Many Speakers Heard

But if the government and opposition could not find agreement on that question, they reached it in another quarter —the more solid substance of the projected St. Lawrence scheme.

John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport) and Rev. Dan McIvor (L-Fort William) joined in the hope that the waterway and the power projects embodies in it will be carried out.

Other speakers included Robert Fair (SC-Battle River), Rodney Admason (PC-York West, Joseph Bradette (L-Cochrane), F. S. Zaplitny (CCF-Dauphin) and Herve Brunelle (L-Champlain).

Canadian Seamen Given White Cross

Hull, Yorkshire, England, Feb. 4 — (CP) — To Stewart Curen, 38-year-old Canadian seaman now at sea with the steamship Harmac Westminster, goes the White Cross of St. Giles, highest award of the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals.

Curen and Walter Hartley, British railways policeman, received the award for trying to save a mongrel dog jammed between the Harmac Westminster, 10,000-ton Canadian - owned ship, and the Hull dockside.

They released the dog by using wooden beams as levers. Curen climbed down a rope to rescue the dog from the water, but fell in. The dog died.

Former Montrealer, One of Navy's Frogmen, Now Insurance Executive

London, Feb. 4 (CP)—Swimming along the bed of the ocean in a thin rubber suit, grappling with highly explosive magnetic mines might not seem like good training for running an office. But Leslie Harries, formerly of Montreal, has made it so.

Today he holds an executive post in the London office of a Canadian insurance company housed in what used to be Canadian military headquarters, Trafalgar Square.

Yesterday he was one of the Royal Navy's intrepid frogmen, diving in the wake of the invading allies to refuse enemy mines in French, Belgian, Dutch and German waters. For this he received the George Cross and Bar and other decorations.

Specially trained for this highly dangerous work, the frogmen defused mines by touch only; they had no lamps to guide them in the dark green depths; carried oxygen containers on their backs and were unattached to the vessels from which they jumped into the sea.

Harries was working in Montreal when war broke out. He joined the Royal Canadian Navy and came to England where he was later loaned to the Royal Navy as a mines minesweeping frogman. His preparation for this work was defusing landmines around the coast of Britain during the blitz.

As D-Day approached, the navy formed a company of frogmen composed of 40 officers and 300 ratings, promoted Harries to lieutenant-commander and put him in command.

As a commander, Harries was as active under water as above it. He received an O.B.E. for minework at Antwerp and the United States navy awarded him the Legion of Merit for his exploits at Bremen.

Britain, U.S. Ban All Motor Freight Into East Germany

Applies To Shipments Of Western Countries

Berlin, Feb. 4 (AP)—Britain and the United States tightened their counter blockade on the Russian zone tonight by banning all motor freight traffic into eastern Germany from neighboring European countries. The embargo becomes effective Sunday.

It applies to all highway shipments which heretofore have travelled across the American-British zones into the Soviet zone from such countries as Belgium, France, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark.

In Retaliation

The official announcement said it was ordered because of restrictions placed by the Russians on travel.

Up to now, although Britain and the United States have closed their borders t othe Soviet zone to goods from western Germany, they have allowed shipments from neighboring countries to pass.

The move was another effort of the west to tighten the economic squeeze on the Soviet zone in retaliation for the blockade on Berlin.

Officials said the effect on traffic would be "considerable." They declined to elaborate.

F.D.R. Suffered First Stroke in '38, Fourth Fatal in '45

New York Feb. 4 (AP) — President Roosevelt suffered three strokes one of them as early as 1938—before the fourth and final one ended his life in 1945, says Dr. Karl C. Wold.

In the first medical case history of the late president ever published, Dr. Wold wrote that Roosevelt suffered the first in a series of strokes while visiting his son, James, at the Mayo Clinic in 1938. The seizure was light, however.

But the second attack, in December, 1943, was serious and two of a group of physicians who examined the ailing President doubted that he could live another six months, Dr. Wold declared. Their opinions were not made public at the time.

Dr. Wold's disclosures were made in his recent book "Mr. President,How is Your Health?" Excerpts from it are printed in the current issue of Look magazine. The book is a collection of medical facts dealing with all the presidents.

TO HOLD MOTOR SHOW

New York, Feb. 4 — (CP) — The first international automobile show, a $1,000,000 display of the first comprehensive collection of foreign-made automobiles, will be held here from Feb. 5-10.

The exposition will present nearly 100 motor vehicles ranging in value from $300 to $30,000. Products of Britain, France, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Austria will display models.

4 NEW ARRESTS IN PARIS STRIKE, PICKETS INJURED

One Picket Has Been Taken Into Custody Three Times Since Start of Strike

Paris, Feb. 4 (CP)—Four new arrests marked fresh disturbances today on the Penman picket line. Two women pickets were injured in scuffling about the entrance to Penman mill No. 9 as the wages and union security strike called by the United Textile Workers (A. F. L.) went into its 18th day.

So far there have been 27 arrests in the strike which began Jan. 18.

Mrs. Leta Morrison, 35, was knocked down by a car when she backed into its path while stepping away from the side of a provincial police car. She had just spoken to Joseph Porter, the first man arrested, after the police had put him in one of their waiting cars.

Police and pickets were crowded close around an employees' car as it was approaching the mill gate. She failed to see the car as she backed into its path. The front of the slowly moving car struck her and knocked her to the ground.

Mrs. Morrison was taken in a provincial police car to receive medical attention.

Found on Ground

Gladys Jenner, 23, was also injured during the line melee. After police had arrested William Horsfall and Gordon Bonney in a confused jumble of pickets and police, Miss Jenner was found lying on the ground, holding her stomach. Fellow pickets claimed she had been kicked in the stomach by one of the police officers.

Val Bjarnason, Ontario director of the U.T.W.A. helped others on the picket line to carry her into a nearby home.

The fourth arrest this morning was that of 22-year-old Helen Murphy, secretary-treasurer of the U.T.W.A. local in Paris.

Miss Murphy was also arrested yesterday morning, and released on bail at 4 p.m. yesterday after being charged with assaulting police.

Today's arrest was the third for William Horsfall. In the early days of the strike he was arrested and bailed. Yesterday he was arrested on a charge of obstructing police, and was again bailed.

Pending the transfer of the four prisoners to Brantford to be charged, it was not known what the charges would be.

Today's picket line violence was almost a repetition of yesterday's, which sent nine pickets to the police cells.

Building By-Law To be Given More Consideration

At a recent meeting of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board held in the Chamber of Commerce office, attention was drawn to the new by-law to be presented February 7th for the second time to the Sidney Council which would prohibit the erection of any building in Sidney township having less than 600 square feet of floor area. It was recommended by Mr. J. Ransom that this by-law be withdrawn until consideration and approval is given by the board. A motion was carried by the meeting to withdraw the by-law No. 1246 until such time as the board could draw up a by-law on the subject, taking into consideration all the physicial features of the properties concerned.

In the election of officers for 1949, J. Trudeau was named chairman of the board, with H. Harrison elected to the office of vice chairman.

Bright Future for Canada

Guest speaker at the evening meeting was F.W. Collins, Industrial Manager, Canadian Pacific Railway. He noted that Canada is still only on the threshold of a tremendous industrial expansion period. In his European tour he had the opportunity to meet many leading industrialists who signified their intentions of coming to Canada at an early opportunity.

Incoming industries will require certain requirements for industrial sites, many of which this area can easily supply. Railway facilities are an important factor in such cases, and the speaker noted that planning boards should allow the provision that land within 800 feet of a railway should be set aside as industrial sites. The committee which will reap the benefits of the modern industrial boom are those providing attractive sites with utilities and railway service lines.

Proper Planning

A second speaker, Mr. A. B. Smith, Industrial Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, stressed that areas next to any railway should be left for heavy industry first, then light industry and commercial companies. To permit housing adjacent to tracks was a waste of a valuable facility, encouraging slum areas and lowered property values resulting in decrease of tax revenues.

Mr. J. Allen made reference to Chatham which has attracted more new industries than any other city of its size. An area was laid out between the CNR and CPR lines, served by team tracks from each which private companies build their own sidings.

A vote of thanks was moved by Alderman Armstrong to the speakers, after which the chairman adjourned the meeting.

Bailieboro Home Burns to Ground

Bailieboro, Ont., Feb. 4 — (CP) —Fire early today levelled the two storey frame farm house of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Howson, Bailieboro, 14 miles south of Peterborough. Damage is estimated at $8,000.

On Thursday night a chimney fire broke out and Mr. Howson kept watch until midnight to ensure that it was extinguished. When he believed the hazard had passed he went to bed.

He and his wife were wakened at about 3.30 a.m. by their son Wayne, 10, who smelled smoke while sleeping downstairs.

By the time Mr. Howson began to call on neighbors for assistance the roof was ablaze and flames were visible for several miles.

44 Passengers Escape, Pilot Killed in Crash

London, Feb. 4 — (CP) — All 44 passengers, British service personnel and their families, escaped with cuts and slight injuries in the DC-4 crash at Castel Benito, near Tripoli, today, it was learned here.

Only the pilot was killed. Five other members of the eight - man crew were injured.

Injured personnel were moved to sick-bay quarters of the R.A.F. station at Castel Benito airfield.

The accident occurred in the dark with heavy rain falling. The plane crashed 400 yards from the airfield control tower.

The plane was chartered to the British war office by Skyways Limited. It took off from Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Newspaper Circulation Hits New High in '48

New York, Feb. 4. (AP)—Editor and Publisher magazine says daily and Sunday newspaper circulation in the United States hit another all-time high in 1948 for the eighth consecutive year.

These figures released Thursday will appear in the Editor and Publisher 1949 international year book scheduled for release later this month:

Circulations totalled 52,285,297 daily and 46,308,081 Sunday at the end of 1948. This represented a gain over 1947 figures of 1.2 per cent for daily circulations and 2.7 per cent for Sundays.

There were 12 more dailies as of Dec. 31, 1948, than there were at the same time in 1947. This brings the total to 1,781, making a gain of 37 dailies over the low mark in 1944.

The increase in number of papers was entirely in the evening field.

PICTON

Fathers' Night Observed By H. and S. Assoc.

Picton—A panel discussion featured the February meeting of the Home and School Association. It being fathers' night, Judge E. H. McLean presided for the questions on various phases of education. Public School Inspector A. F. Brown was in charge of the program which included piano duets by A. A. Beriore and W. C. Hicks and a piano solo by Russell Attersley. It was reported that a projector donated to the school by the association was little used as many class rooms cannot be darkened for its use and there is no auditorium. Discussion revealed a serious overcrowding at Mary Street School, with as many as 45 pupils in a single class.

PUBLIC GOES BUGS

Wellington, N. Z. — (CP) — After advertising for 15,000 beetles at 25 cents a dozen, a wood borer research laboratory sent out a frantic appeal to the public to stop. In the first few mails more than 64,000 live borer beetles arrived, filling all available storage space.

Magistrate Defers Judgment On Charge of Theft

Judgment was deferred Thursday afternoon by Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a theft charge against Gerald Ellis, Trenton, inmate of the Hastings county jail, who is charged with the theft of $25., the property of the county registry office.

Evidence on the case was heard first in county magistrate's court on Tuesday with the hearing being enlarged until yesterday to hear additional witnesses. Following completion of the evidence yesterday, the case was further enlarged to February 15th to permit argument by counsel.

Whether or not the registry office could own property that may be stolen was the basis of the argument by defence counsel John Davis on which the case was further enlarged Thursday. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan claimed the right to amend to the charge to read that the accused had stolen the money "from" the registry office. Argument on the technical point will be heard on Feb. 15th.

Had Access to Vault

Ellis, who is serving a three-month sentence in the county jail following conviction on an assault charge in Trenton, is charged that he stole $25 from a cash box in the vault of the county registry office on January 7th. At the time Ellis had been detailed as janitor at the registry office and Crown witnesses stated he had access to the vault where the money box was kept.

Witnesses called previously included R. J. E. Dewar, county registrar; Miss Margaret Fairbairn, and Jack Andrews, both employees of the registry office, who stated they had seen Ellis in the office on the day in question. A former prisoner of the jail testified he had seen a $20 bill in Ellis' hand after the alleged theft had taken place, while a sister of Ellis stated she had received a $20 bill from her brother when she had visited him at the jail.

Shown $20 Bill

Yesterday, Jack Cole, also an inmate of the county jail, stated that on the evening of January 7th Ellis had shown him a $20 bill. He testified that Ellis had asked him to say that he had seen the $20 before January 20th.

Miss Jessie Hart and Miss Marilyn Donovan, both employees of the registry office stated that on the afternoon of January 7th, Ellis had given Miss Hart a $5 bill to buy cigarettes.

With Everett Sunderland, jail guard, on the stand, the Crown established that it would be impossible for a prisoner to bring money into the jail, when he was admitted. Under cross examination however, Mr. Sunderland admitted that as janitor of the registry office Ellis would have the opportunity of contacting friends outside the jail.

Defence Witness Heard

Defence witness Gordon Anderson, former inmate of the jail, stated that he had seen Ellis with $3 in bills on a date which was later shown to be January 12th. Francis Donaghue, inmate of the jail on January 1st, told the court that on that date he had seen Ellis with a "roll of bills."

In reply to evidence given by Anderson, the Crown called Jail Governor Scott to the stand. Mr. Scott fixed Jan. 12th as the day on which Ellis and Anderson had helped to repair the furnace at Shire Hall. It was at this time that Anderson said he had seen Ellis with $3 in bills.

Charged With Murder Of Eskimo in Alaska

Anchorage, Alaska, Feb. 4 (AP) —Two United States Air Force sergeants last night were charged with murder in the brutal slaying of Bertha Sickles, 29-year-old Eskimo, whose battered, nearly nude body was discovered in a culvert by dogs near the outskirts of town yesterday. The accused soldiers were Lester L. Armagost, 23, and Thomas M. Bashine, 27

Body of Man, Missing Since October, Found

Madoc (Special)—Missing from his home at Flinton since October 20th, 1948, the body of Peter James McNulty, was found in the woods northeast of Moore's Corners near Tweed late Thursday afternoon. Three men, Vincent Rashotte, Oakley Turcotte and Joe Latone were cutting wood in Latone's woodlot and when a tree was cut down the branches blew the snow away and the body of Mr. McNulty was discovered encased in the ice of the marsh.

The party immediately proceeded to Queensboro and the provincial police were notified as well as the coroner, Dr. R. S. Beatty of Madoc. The body was brought to Belleville, where a post mortem was conducted by Dr. J. B. McKay but the results have not been released. It is believed that the man wandered off in the bush and was overcome either by a heart failure or exertion.

The late Mr. McNulty was born in Belleville 75 years ago the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McNulty and he spent practically all his life in the Flinton district. He was a farmer but bushed from timber limits in that community.

He was a member of St. John's Catholic Church at Flinton and surviving are three brothers: Michael, John and Charles McNulty of Flinton and two sisters, Mrs. Joe (Rose) Bouchard, Crogan, N. Y., and Mrs. Frank (Alice) Ribbeau of Carnduff, Sask.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Belleville Golf Retains Lead In Major 'A' League

The Belleville Golf team still leads the Major "A" Bowling League although last night's scores created a shake-up in the standing of the remaining squads.

IN MEMORIAM

ASSELSTINE—In loving memory of my dear mother Emily Asselstine who passed away Feb. 4th., 1946.

A beautiful memory dearer than gold
Of a mother whose worth can never be told,
Alone, unseen, she stands by my side
And whispers, don't grieve, death cannot divide.
For deep in my heart her memory is kept,
Of one still love, and can never forget.
And though the years may be many or few,
I will always be thinking dear mother of you.

Lovingly remembered by her son Burton. F4

RUTTAN—In loving memory of James Adrian (Jimmie) Ruttan, son of Mrs. Audrey Ruttan, who passed away Feb. 4th., 1947, age three years, one month.

Gone from us, but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger,
While upon the earth we stay.

HEAVY FINE LEVIED

Sudbury, Feb. 4 (CP)—A railway news vendor, Marc Golub, 35, of Montreal, today was fined $225 with an alternative of three months in jail on a charge of bootlegging across three provinces.

Ontario provincial police arrested Golub on a Winnipeg-Montreal train last Jan. 26 between Cogama and Folyete, Ont. Police testified Golub's locked wooden suitcase, containing 10 bottles of Quebec whiskey was found in the baggage compartment.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 4. (CP)—Industrials weakened from early firmness to continue their downward trend on the Stock Exchange today. Golds dipped under mild selling pressure and base metals held form in dull action. Western Oils were in a one-day downward movement.

The Exchange's 1 p.m. index showed Industrials down .77 at $176.69, Golds down .86 at $97.79, Base Metals up .07 at $104.64, Western Oils down .34 at $54.54. Volume for the first three hours was 586,000 shares about 105,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Industrials opened on a fractionally stronger tone but sagged toward noon. Prices moved in a narrow range with a few stocks attracting some attention.

Golds moved quietly with Seniors easing from yesterday's strong gains. Juniors were steady in a narrow range.

Base Metals appeared to be continuing their recovery attempt of recent losses. Smelters gained 3-8 at 111 1-4 and Pend Oreille, Golden Manitou and Falconbridge were better.

PRODUCE MARKET

Churning cream unchanged. No. 1 74 cents F.O.B., 78 delivered. Butter prints unchanged. First grade 70 1-2; second grade 69 1-2.

Trade was quiet in Grade A Large on the egg market, but other grades were in strong demand. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A Large 42; Grade A Medium 41; Grade A Pullet 38-39; Grade B 38-39; Grade C 33. Wholesale to retail: Grade A Large 46-47; Grade A Medium 44-46; Grade A Pullet 42; Grade B 41-42; Grade 36-37.

Butter solids were unchanged. First grade 68; second grade 67.

Button and Dream Convicted Killer

Edmonton (CP)— The wilderness of Canada's northland during an era when the Indian was still a menace and lawlessness still held sway was recalled here by the recent death of K. F. Anderson, one of Canada's oldest surviving members of the North West Mounted Police. He was 82.

Born in Iceland, Mr. Anderson came to Canada as a youth and "joined the force" in 1889. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 1903 and retired in 1920 with the rank of inspector.

A number of his exploits were recalled by a former associate and friend, Ernest Brown, a retired Edmonton photographer. One of the most notable was the capture of a murderer and his ultimate hanging in the first great murder trial in Edmonton.

"It was in the summer of 1905 when two trappers, King and Mayward, left for the north," Mr. Brown said in an interview. "One night Indians encamped near Lesser Slave Lake observed an unusually large fire.

"Next morning on investigating they found some trouser buttons in the ashes of a deserted camp. Reporting the incident to Sgt. Anderson, who was serving in a detachment in the area, the remains of the murdered victim were found after a careful sifting of the ashes."

Mr. Brown went on to say that Anderson immediately set out in pursuit and after following the trail for several days, caught up with the killer, King. After searching King, Anderson found Hayward's gold watch in his possession. Following several weeks of arduous travel, Anderson brought his man to Edmonton.

"A peculiar feature of the trial was the admission of a dream as evidence," Mr. Brown recalls. "It has never been known before or since in Canadian jurisprudence.

"A brother of the murdered man, while still living in England, saw the murder act and the complete murder scene in a vision. Brought to Edmonton soon after, he testified at the trial.

"His accurate description of how the murder happened was ultimately proved correct and greatly assisted the police in getting enough evidence to convict King. He was hanged later in the year at nearby Fort Saskatchewan."

Weekly Livestock Review

Toronto, Feb. 4 — (CP) — A small cattle run this week helped to speed up sales on the local livestock market. All classes of killers with the exception of weighty steers sold readily at steady prices. Hogs lost 50 cents.

A fresh cattle run of 3,990 head was added to 300 left over from last week. Weighty steers sold slowly at $20-$20.50 with a few choice steers at a top of $21. Good light steers and heifers were $19-$20 with plain downward to $17 and boners at $14-$16.50. Good cows were mostly $15-$15.50 with plain cows downward to $12.50. Canners and cutters were $9-$12. Good bulls were mostly $18-$18.50 with plain lights selling as low as $16. Choice fed yearlings were $22-$23 with mediums at $18.50-$19.50. A few plain to good stockers sold at $16-$18. Some 400 head were sold for export.

Calves totalled 1,027 head. Choice vealers were $30-$32 and plain to medium kinds sold at $17-$28. Some 200 head were exported.

Hogs were only 2,049 head. Prices were down 50 cents with Grade A closing at $30.50 and Grade B1 at $30.10. Packers were bidding $30 for Grade A. Sows held steady at $22, dressed.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 455 head. One car of good Western lambs sold at $25.25 with good locals at $25. Culls and mediums sold from $16-$21. Good light sheep were $10-$12 with culls from $5-$8.

City Council Accepts Offer Of Two Contractors for 100 Lots in County Home Property

City council in special meeting Thursday evening recommended to accept offers of the Mayer Construction Company and of the Tatham Construction Company for the purchase of approximately 100 building lots in the former County Home property north of Dundas Street East. Price of the lots to the construction companies was set at $300 per lot.

At the January 31st council meeting council tentatively approved of a plan for sub-dividing the property into 150 separate building lots with provision for the construction of a number of apartment dwellings and for inclusion of a shopping centre.

Housing Committee's Report

In making their report to city council at last night's meeting the housing committee headed by Alderman H. Armstrong with Aldermen Liddle and Harry Allen as members, asked council to consider the capital investment of taxpayers in connection with the acquiring of the County Home property and also asked for consideration of prompt development of the sub-division which would bring immediate revenue from the sale of land.

It was pointed out that homes erected on the greater portion of the sub-division at an early date would be returning taxes to further meet the obligation of the debenture issue.

"The demand for homes in Belleville is still sufficiently heavy to encourage insurance companies to advance financial assistance to build homes but this demand may be reduced by changing conditions in the next one or two years."

It was further pointed out that obtaining authorization from the Municipal Board for expenditures for servising the sub-division with water, sewers, sidewalks and improved roads, requires proof of revenue from taxation to justify the board's approval of the development. Thus the greater number of homes to be constructed in this sub-division in 1949-50 would strengthen representation to the Municipal Board regarding obtaining approval for the expenditure.

Sale of Lots

The lots to be sold to the two construction companies for the purpose of erecting homes are in the interior of the sub-division. The balance of the lots in the unit will be offered for sale to the general public.

In connection with the development of the sub-division, the engineering firm of Gore and Storrie was authorized to prepare plans, specifications and estimates of the cost of sewer services and to submit their report to council as soon as possible.

Also it was recommended that an Ontario Land Surveyor prepare the necessary plans for the sub-division with the necessary certificate for presentation to the Department of Planning and Development for approval.

C. of L. Bonus for 1949

The permanent salaried staff employed by the city was recommended a cost of living bonus of $12.50 per month for 1949, while men employed by the City Works Department will be given a cost of living bonus of $12.50 per month on the basis of hourly paid employees working 208 hours per month. The cost of living bonus to hourly paid workers will thus take the form of an increase in the hourly rate.

The salary of Mr. George Whitman as welfare administrator was recommended increased to $2,700 for 1949, plus the cost of living bonus granted to all city employees.

The offer of Rex Bridge, local trucker, to collect city garbage for the fiscal year at a price of $22,000 was accepted, the contractor to provide a bond acceptable to the city solicitor.

Bonds Recovered, Two Under Arrest After Break-In

Napanee, Feb. 4 (CP)—Arrested by provincial police Corporal W. E. Smith after being held for questioning by Kingston police, Sidney Roberts, Kingston and Jay Patterson, 58, no fixed abode, are in jail here today.

The pair are in custody in connection with the robbery of $6,000 in bonds from the vault in the office of Sheriff J. L. Haycock at Napanee court house Wednesday night. They will be remanded today and later charged with breaking, entering and theft. All the bonds and certificates have been recovered.

Kingston police, at the request of Napanee officers, detained the pair Thursday and Corporal W. E. Smith and Constable J. A. Morden of Napanee had a warrant issued to search Roberts' house. The bonds were found in two separate brown paper packages in a snowbank at the side of the house. A check-up showed that the full total had been recovered.

Sees Possible 'Oleo' Restrictions in Ont.

Chatham, Feb. 4 (CP)—R. W. Morrison of Alvinston, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said here that oleomargerine may be placed under some restrictions in Ontario. He gave this information during a speech at the first annual party of the Kent Federation of Agriculture.

"The government and opposition parties are definitely interested and are trying to get a logical solution," said the speaker. "They would like to forget it entirely, but we will not let them."

More than 350 farmers and their wives attended the function.

Rumors Churchill Invited to Israel Are Given Denial

Rehovoth, Israel, Feb. 4 (Reuters) — An authoritative source at President Chain Weizmann's home here yesterday denied reports that Winston Churchill had been invited by the president to visit Israel. Rumors of a visit by Churchill flared up with the arrival in Israel a few days ago of Walter Elliot, Conservative member of Britain's parliament.

CARDINAL RECANTS

The only charge to which he professod innocence was that of trying to destroy the country's "democratic system"—the most serious charge against him.

Only one of the seven defendants to plead innocent to all charges was professor Justin Baranyay, a young priest and teacher of church law.

(The Magyar News Agency, a Hungarian servine, sent a dispatch to London quoting Esterhazy as saying in court today that one of the black-market money dealings involved a cheque from Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.

(It was officially announced in London that Britain today sent a note to Hungary expressing "grave concern" at Budapest's refusal to permit a British-legation representative to attend the Mindszenty trial).

Long Court Session

The court room was half empty when the five judges marched in at 9:10 a.m., to begin the second day of the trial after a recess of only about 11 hours. The court did not adjourn last night until 10 p.m.—after a 13-hour gruelling session.

Cardinal Mindszenty walked in quietly and with his usual dignified manner. He bowed to prosecutor Gyula Elapi and chatted with his lawyer, Kalman Kicko.

Duke Esterhazy, called first before the court, pleaded guilty while his wife, a former ballerina, stared desperately from her seat on the last bench in the court room.

Tall, blonde and broad-shouldered, the Duke said he had 200,000 acres of land in Hungary which was distributed among the peasants in 1945 by the government. He said he still has 100,000 acres in Austria and 1,200 acres in Bavaria but these lands now are administered by Soviet and American occupation authorities. He said he also owns two big apartment houses in Budapest and other valuable houses and vineyards. His palace in Budapest was destroyed during the war.

Purchased Dollar Cheque

Testifying as to the charge of engaged in black market dealings he said he purchased a dollar cheque of about $8,000 from the Cardinal. He thought he overpaid even the usual black market rate for the dollars.

(The Magyar News Agency, a Hungarian service, in a dispatch to London quoted Duke Esterhazy as estimating that altogether about $29,000 in dollar cheques were purchased from the Cardinal, and as saying that one of the cheques was from Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York).

He considered the Cardinal the "head of Hungarian Royalists" and declared that "of course" he wanted to support the Cardinal.

He admitted that he himself was a Royalist, but belonged to no political party. His family had been connected with the Kingdom for centuries and "there doubtless was some possibility that in ease of a Hapsburg restoration part of my confiscated estate would be returned."

Accused Questions Duke

Cardinal Mindszenty was allowed to put one question to Duke Esterhazy. It was: Had the Cardinal or any member of his court ever requested financial support from the Duke?

Duke Esterhazy's answer was "no."

The Duke admitted he had smuggled $29,000 out of the country to Vienna in a suitcase with a false bottom. He said he had a valid Hungarian passport which he could have used to leave the country in 1947 and 1948 but but did not use it to seek refuge abroad.

Ondras Zakar, the Cardinal's secretary, pleaded "partly guilty" and Professor Justin Baranyay pleaded innocent yesterday.

The other defendants are Rev. Miklos Angy, secretary of the LA organization Catholic Action Rev. Bela Ispenky, a priest and Luszlo Toth, a journalist.

The cardinal bore himself calmly and firmly yesterday. But just before adjournment for the night he made a muttered reply which the court said was an admission he had tried to flee the country.

The "People's Court" Prosecutor(Gyula Elapi, with an air of quiet drama, produced a letter which he said Cardinal Mindszenty had written nine days ago to the United States minister, Selden Chapiin, asking the diplomat to furnish a plane for his escape and saying he would pay $4,000 to the pilot.

"Will you admit you wrote this latter?" presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys asked.

The cardinal spoke indistinctly, and the judge said he would accept the relpy as meaning "yes."

(Chaplin, in a telephone conversation with the Associated Press correspondent in Prague, said "not only did I never receive such a letter, but I never knew it was written."

(Still to be clarified was whether the government claimed to have —intercepted the letter before it reached Chapin.

"Informed Vienna sources with connections in Hungary said Dec. 31 that the cardinal had told Hungarian bishops before his arrest Dec. 27 that if they heard he had confessed or resigned they should consider the act void because it would be the result of "human frailty." The British Roman Catholic weekly, the Tablet, said recently Communist police planned to give the cardinal drugs when he went on trial).

Chapin has been named in the Hungarian government's "yellow book" on the Mindszenty case as one with whom the cardinal had anti-government dealings.

In his questioning yesterday, the cardinal acknowledged he had Royalist sympathies, said he regretted writing to foreign diplomats and churchmen in an attempt to have the ancient crown of Hungary's kings lodged in Rome instead of Bugapest, and promised that in the future he would bow to the sovereignty of the Hungarian Republic.

FIGHTING FOR DEMOCRATIC ITALY

Maria Roman Catti de Gasperi (above) daughter of Premier de Gasperi of Italy, as president of the social welfare organization "La Nuova Crociata" (The New Crusade), is conceded to be one of Italy's most effective workers in the campaign to win Italian Communists over to the western conception of democracy. Her organization, rather than dispensing cash to the needy, supplies them with shelter, food and clothing. The unique organization has a rigid system of control and investigation which guarantees that help goes to those who really need it, regardless of political belief. Married for nearly two years to engineer and wartime partisan Piero Catti, Maria is keeping stride with her premier father in the fight to make Italy a healthy and democratic country.—Central Press Canadian.

Triplets and Twins Will be Baptized At Mass Ceremony

Brockville, Feb. 4 (CP)— Emmanuel Anglican Church, Portland-on-Rideau, will be the scene of a mass baptismal ceremony Sunday, April 24. Rev. Randolph H. Braman will baptize the triplet sons of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Prey, now in hospital at Smiths Falls, and the twins, a son and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manford Jones, also of the Portland community.

Man Now in Jail Will be Charged

Napanee, Feb. 4 (CP)—Harold F. Davis of Deseronto, now in Belleville jail, will be charged with breaking, entering and theft from the sports goods store of John Porter at Odessa last fall. Provincial police have recovered a quantity of fishing tackle which has been identified by John Porter.

WESTERN CANADA LIKELY SOON FREE OF 'GAS' IMPORTS

Tremendous Increase in Petroleum Production is Noted in Review

Ottawa, Feb. 4 — (CP) — The government's current statistical review cautiously repeats an observation that Western Canada soon may become free of gasoline imports from the United States.

Canada in 1948 noted a "tremendous increase in petroleum production — 57.3 per cent by volume above 1947 and 16.8 per cent above the previous record year of 1942."

Canada's total petroleum production in 1948 came to more than 12,000,000 barrels, valued at $36,859,000; in 1947 the total was 7,692,000 barrels valued at $12,098,000.

Value of all metals in 1948 advanced, the review notes, but output was by no means "the greatest ever recorded."

For instance Canada produced 3,495,000 fine ounces of gold in 1948; in 1941 it produced 5,300,000. The 1948 output of copper was 479,760,000 pounds; in 1940 it was 655,600,000. Canada produced 257,742,000 pounds of nickel last year, in 1943 it produced 288,000,000.

When final figures are computed, the review believes value of the 1948 mineral output will exceed $806,000,000, an increase of almost $200,000,000 over the previous record year in 1947.

This increased value has helped the Dominion ease her dollar problems. Much of Canada's metal production, particularly gold, copper, nickel, zinc and lead goes to the United States.

These exports are paid for in American exchange.

New Paint Job May Offer Clue In Armed Holdup

London, Ont., Feb. 4 (CP)—Police said today that an auto with a conspicuous paint job may offer the main clue to Tuesday night's armed holdup of a service station near Woodstock, and a similar robbery of a man and wife in London Wednesday night.

The 1931 coach model car is black and brown in color, and has yellow wheels. Owned by Cyril Stewart, rural resident, it was stolen from a factory parking lot here. The 1949 licence number is 93-S-97.

Two slightly-built men held up "Dad" O'Brien at his station at Bond's Corners, and bandits answering similar descriptions robbed Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hassen in their London home.

Gratitude Train

France's expression of gratitude for the American Friendship Train which toured France last year with its gifts of food for the French people is now in the United States, the Gratitude Train, known to the French as the Train de Reconnaissance. It consists of forty-nine box cars and sprang spontaneously from the profound feelings of the French people, stirred by the U. S. people's gifts.

The French train bears 250 tons of rare gifts. It is being routed to various parts of the United States and will follow as closely as possible the original itinerary of the Friendship Train. One car will be dropped in each state and one in the District of Columbia. The New York car was unloaded at once on the train's arrival on the French freighter Magellan and brought to Manhattan for ceremonies taking place in the city, which included a parade and a reception at which the car was presented to the city. The cultural and historic objects will be put on public display at this weekend.

One of the precious articles brought on the Gratitude Train is a letter written by Benjamin Franklin to John Paul Jones in 1780 when both were in France. It was one of the gifts contributed by the French people.

Such a demonstration of good will puts another link in that strong chain which binds the French and American Republics and has ever kept their hearts closely bound in the tie of friendship.

Both peoples are generous races and understand the gestures and symbols of friendship.

Traffic Creates Problems

How modern traffic is changing conditions which have existed for long years is indicated in the problem which is facing most cities and especially the larger cities of this Continent. An association in New York has made a survey of forty-four of the largest U. S. cities and the New York Times says that "it is apparent that while procedures vary in different municipalities the cities for the most part have yet to find the perfect formula for applying available means to suggested plans and producing completely satisfactory traffic regulations."

At present it is pointed out most American cities are being prevented from keeping pace with modern commerce because of inability to finance capital improvements for traffic and parking purposes by undertaking long-range improvements for eventual growth. It says that stop-gap measures are being used for limited immediate relief. Such steps are one-way-street systems, and stagger lights. The paper adds, "truck-loading restrictions, angle-parking prohibitions and other halfway measures are poor substitutes for the costlier expressways, parking garages and central bus and freight terminals." Some of these will not apply to the smaller cities but they show the nature of the problem to be faced by large cities with their eye on expansion. In New York the suggestion is made that with the greater U. S. cities it will face the prospect of decentralization as an urban centre if it does not find a way out of its traffic morass.

Health of People and Soil

The Milwaukee Journal told recently of a test rehabilitation project carried out in the deep South by the Rockefeller Institute. It went into a district of red clay land, used for tobacco and cotton, where the shiftless people were plagued with disease. They were rated as just plain lazy. The Institute built comfortable homes with sanitary equipment, new schools, churches and got civic improvement projects underway.

Nothing much happened. The scholastic achievements of the spindly-legged youngsters remained low. So did the ambition of the parents. Then the managers of the project attacked the land problem. They started to restore fertility to the soil. They found that food grown on the depleted soil lacked the minerals needed to build healthy bodies. People could eat tons of such food and still be inadequately fed. When the Rockefeller people restored the essential elements to the soil, the people began to show improvement. School standards jumped, the people were more active and disease was reduced.

There is the fundamental factor in living standards—the health of the soil. — Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Say: blue or brown or gray—
Beggars that privilege lose—
To work is the way.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the City Council last night the question of the purchase of the waterworks system by the city was considered. The members of the committee present were, Mayor J. W. Johnson and Aldermen Doyle, Starling, Bogart, Hungerford, Taylor, Hanley and Robinson. Mr. H. Corby, M.P., Mr. U. E. Thompson and Dr. Sprague were present as representatives of the Water Works Company It was learned that the original cost of the works was in the neighborhood of $199,000.00. Valuations of the works have been made by the following recognized authorities: Messrs. Rust and St. George. $177,351.00; Mr. Chipman, $165,840.00; Mr. Bolger, $184,794.00. The works were purchased by the company in 1894 in order to keep the plant in operation. In answer to the question as to what the company would take for the plant, it was stated that the company felt that they should receive not less than 180,000.00. It was decided to consider the matter further at a later date.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

LOSING LIFE AND FINDING IT

Many years ago a teacher of English, who in his youth had aspired to write, decided to give up all ambitions along that line and concentrate on training young writers. He had students who seemed so much more promising than he that, in a quite selfish fashion, he decided he would serve the cause of literature best by training his students and forgetting about his own career.

It happened some time later that he decided to write an article setting forth an idea that had become very vivid to him. When the article was finished, he was aware that he was writing on a new and higher plane.

He had given up his own ambition, renounced selfishness, centered his life in the careers of others, and behold, something had happened to him. Now he wrote with a power he had never known before.

Today he is considered the outstanding writer in his field. His books sell in immense numbers. This unselfish English teacher who renounced a career and found a better one is illustrative of the declaration of Jesus that if we try to save our lives we lose them and if we lose our lives we find them.

Govt. Has Made No Statement On Argentine

Ottawa, Feb. 3 (CP)— External Affairs Minister Pearson today said "no statement has been made by the Canadian Government or any of its agencies regarding the soundness or unsoundness of the Argentine situation."

The minister was replying to questions on a report that a Bank of Canada officials had cautioned that Canadian exporters would be taking a chance if they shipped to Argentine just now and expected cash payments.

The attitude of the government is that the Bank of Canada, similar to the Canadian National Railways although created by the government is an independent body and cannot speak for the administration.

Mackenzie's Column: Moscow Fails To Intimidate Norwegian Govt.

(Associated Press News Analyst)

Moscow thus far has failed to intimidate small but sturdy Norway and so keep her from considering the idea of joining the projected North Atlantic Alliance now being discussed in Washington.

In reply to pointed Russian inquiry, Norway has stated that she finds it necessary to seek increased security through defensive co-operation.

Security from what? Well, the Olso government didn't say, but there's only one wolf pack running in Europe today. That's the Reds.

The United States and the other prospective members of the alliance—Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—are pleased at Norway's display of courage. And well they may be, for that rugged Scandinavian county is an important—perhaps vital—link in the anti-Communist defences of western Europe.

The Washington conferees are expected to give Norway quick support in her resistance to Moscow's pressure.

Old Friend

This development holds special interest for your columnist, because Norway is an old and tried friend.

I've always liked Norway and her hospitable, straight-talking folk. I like her more now. It takes courage for a land of a few more than 3,000,000 people to tell mighty Moscow where to head in. This is particularly true since the two countries have a common frontier in the north. A fact to which Moscow has called Oslo's attention.

Norway is meeting this problem in the light of harsh experience.

At the beginning of the last war she was a staunch neutral. On April 9, 1940, she learned to her dismay that neutrality isn't worth a tinker's dam when a powerful aggressor goes on the prowl. Hitler invaded and quickly overran her.

Hitler got badly-needed, high-grade ore from Narvik, in northern Norway.

Not Much Satisfaction

The Russian inquiry to Oslo asked whether Norway intended to join the North Atlantil alliance and, if so, whether this would obligate her to grant bases to foreign powers. Oslo replied that she was examining the possibilities of an Atlantic security arrangement but didn't intend to grant bases unless she was threatened with attack.

Naturally that answer can't give much satisfaction to Moscow. It seems obvious that if Norway joins the Atlantic alliance she will create bases of her own which would immediately be made available to her Allies in event of aggression and would become a major link in the defences of the western powers against the Communist offensive.

It's easy to see why Moscow is showing worry and asking questions. And why Stalin has been making unofficial offers to meet President Truman for a "peace" parley—in Communist territory.

Running a Newspaper Hazardous Business

(Ottawa Journal Editorial)

Seven months after it appeared as the sucressor to Marshall Field's PM, the New York Star has died. Worth noting, this, by the good people who, willing to admit their deficiencies in other fields, are quite sure they could run a newspaper.

PM was folnded eight years ago by Marshall Field, Chicago multi-millionaire. Heralded by a glittering prospectus, and with Ralph Ingersoll as its editor, it would be different. When Captain Fitzgerald, a noted British character, wrote the prospectus for the old Pall Mall Gazette, he said it would be a paper "written by gentlemen for gentlemen". PM would be a paper for intellectuals written by intellectuals. There would be no advertising; no comics; none of the "features" which made ordinary newspapers "deplorable". Here would be a journal which would print the 'real news", which would appeal only to intelligence, suenching the thirst of people for politics, and philosophy, and the arts and science.

Seven years and 74,000,000 afterwards, PM died. Worse than that, it died ingloriously. Mr. Ingersoll and his "intellectuals" discovered, and Mr. Marshall Field's bank account as well, that running a newspaper was not so easy; discovered also that the number of people who wanted a news paper filled with discussions of politics and philosophy and science was not as great as they thought. As their education progressed they forgot some of their ideals, came down off their pedestal to solicit advertising.

Too late. For the adfertisers were not anxious to advertise in a paper with a circulation steadily falling because it was an incredibly dull paper—little more than a daily pamphlet carrying propaganda for this cause and that, and being bad-mannered in the progress. Even when Mr. Marshall Field got rid of Mr. Ingersoll and his leftist "intellectuals," decided that it was not the job of a newspaper to provide a "sure for souls" but simply to present brightly the news, and to interpret it fairly and decently, it made no difference. PM ruined beyond recall, passed into night.

Mr. Marshall Field made a final effort. He sold his controlling interest in PM to Mr. Bartley Crum a California lawyer who was interested in world affairs and had written a book on Palestine, and Joseph Barnes, a former New York —Herald Tribune foreign correspondent.

Messrs. Crum and Barnes and their Star (the new name for PM) lasted seven months. And understandably. For the Star was continued not as a newspaper giving the news and understanding what news was about—in wide measure the small troubles, sorrows and joys of mankind—but imagining that most people get up in the morning to start y'icultfbW mtadiaCtort worrying about what is going on in Bucharest or Ankara, or even in their ow national Capital.

Running a newspaper is not as simple as that; involves far more than a bank account of eaen the size of that enjoyed by Mr. Marshall Field, or a notion that most people are not interested in things homely and simple. A great thing it might be if all of us were educated to the point where our tastes ran to the arts and sciences, to the good and true and beautiful. Alas, it is a more earthly world we live in. So long as it is that job of running a newspaper must remain—especially in our present world of pyramiding newspaper costs—a tricky and hazardous one.

FOOD, ACIDITY AND ULCER

Assays of restaurant food by Nagel and Harris Jour. American Diet Ass'n., 1943, 19, 23) indicated that 20 per cent of the vitamin B1 in the food is lost in the cooking, 25 per cent of it is dissolved out in the cooking water (probably thrown away, sometimes used in making soup) and 25 per cent is lost by oxidation between the time of cooking and serving. So, by the time the food is ready for the customer to eat it is as inadequate in the essentials of nutrition as it is in natural flavor.

If baking soda, saleratus, baking powder, bicarbonate of soda, sodium bicarbonate is used in cooking, the destruction of vitamins is all the greater. If the restaurant people think you are dumb enough to prefer that they preserve the color rather than the vitamins in vegetables, they'll serve 'em with soda — soda is cheap enough.

Not only vitamin B1 but vitamin C is lost in cooking.

Take mashed potato, for instance. Take it, I said, and — well, keep it out of my sight and maybe we can get on amicably—it gives me no noticeable pain to say that mashed potato and creamed potato lose 29 per cent of their ascorbic acid (vitamin C) during steaming and 95 per cent after preparation and standing on the steam table.

Take new potatoes, on the other hand. Steamed, baked or roasted in their jackets they retain most of their vitamin C and may take the place of a citrus fruit in the diet.

The use of soda alone or combined with other medicines as an ant-acid is even more objectionable than its use in cooking. People who acquire the habit of taking bicarbonate of soda every time they feel "that gas" or have what they call "sour stomach" or gastric acidity often develop a vicious circle—the reaction of the soda with any acid in the stomach produces considerable carbon dioxide gas, which produces the desire to belch, which makes the poor geek think he needs more soda to relieve that acidity, etc.

Peptic, duodenal or gastric ulcer may seem more common today than it was when you and I were young, Maggie, but perhaps that is only because the doctors today more frequently make the diagnosis of ulcer in cases which, when we were young, the doctors would have called "acid dyspepsia", indigestion, nervous stomach and the like. Then, too, perhaps the doctors today tag too many cases of functional disturbance 'ulcer". It is a fairly familiar observation that excessive smokers will present all or most of the symptoms of peptic or duodenal ulcer but no signs of ulcer in the X-ray films. Finally, on the third hand, if I may make this three-handed, some of the most experienced clinicians assert that the patient with hyperchlorhydria or ulcer symptoms whether the diagnosis of ulcer is confirmed by X-ray or not, must discontinue smoking, period.

You pay your money and takes yer choice.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

How'll You Have Your Eggs?

Kindly inform me which is the best way to eat eggs—raw, soft boiled, hard boiled, fried or scrambled? If hard boiled, does it make any difference whether one eats them hot or cold? (M. J. H.)

Answer—Anyway you like. Only advantage of raw or very soft boiled egg is that if invalid is too ill to eat egg he may still drink it. Otherwise egg is most nourishing and most digestible cooked as the individual likes it.

Hair Thinning Out

I am nineteen and my hair is thinning out. Older brothers 26 and 33 already growing bald. There may be some inherent factor, but I want to save my hair if I can. (G. W.)

Answer—Go without a hat. Do not wet your hair—if necessary use hair oil instead, oil of animal or vegetable origin, not mineral oil. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for booklet The Hair and Scalp.

Doctor gives me benzedrine sulfate. Weighed 267 two weeks ago. Lost 20 pounds so far, must take off 40 pounds more, doctor says. What's your opinion. (B. E. A.)

Answer—Yours is a good doctor. He knows best about the treatment you need.

Less Drowsy

I want to thank you for suggesting the Iodin Ration. I feel much less drowsy now and more like doing things than I have for a long while. (Mrs. H. D.)

Answer—Common manifestation of iodine deficiency. For instructions for Taking the Iodin Ration send stamped self addressed envelope.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

The question cannot help but occur to us: "Why can't a garage man make our new car run as slick as the battered old rattle trap he himself drives?"

You rarely if ever see a good mechanic possessed of a new car. Probably a good mechanic doesn't trust new cars. He has good reason not to. What he likes is a good old car, all of whose defects have revealed themselves over the years, and one by one, been attended to by a competent mechanic.

A new car, like a new human being, is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward. Under its beautiful paint, beneath its proud bonnet, unforseeable vices lurk. The incidents and accidents of an active life all lie before it. Its metabolism is unstudied: the inter-relation of all its parts in combining sparks with gasoline to make it a balanced and harmonious engine. Time and trouble alone will tell.

For a wife, a man wants a young, beautiful woman: and is willing to risk the fortunes of love despite his common sense, and often despite the warnings of his friends or even of his own intelligence. But in a servant, a man wants character references as well as written recommendations of the applicant's experience and talents.

Most men buy a car the way they marry a wife. It's love.

"The way I look at it," says the old mechanic who is right now having trouble with my beautiful blonde baby, "a car is a servant: and when I see one of my neighbors letting out a perfectly good, husky, tidy, competent cook-general in favor of one of these bobby soxers, I just naturally grab her.

"Especially," he adds, "if only lately I have installed new lungs, liver and lights in her!"

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

KEEPING FAITH WITH ONESELF

There is no quality to character quite so great as that of integrity—having certain self-made ideals to live up to, and never departing from them, no matter what the temptation is to do so. How many great writers there have been who would not stoop to writing something just for monetary gain. Usually, however, they nearly starved, or died poor — but with their integrity intact.

William Randolph Hearst once wrote an illuminating editorial about Charles A. Lindbergh. He told of offering, with associates, $500,000 to him just to allow the filming of a picture depicting his life. This was right after Lindbergh had made his amazing solo flight to Paris from New York. But the young flier had previously said that he would not appear in pictures. Mr. Hearst tried to argue him away from that decision, telling him what an inspiration it would be to youth.

"I wish I could do it if it would please you, but I cannot, because I said I would not go into pictures," Lindbergh replied. "All right," replied Mr. Hearst, "but you tear up the contract; I have not the heart to do it." Lindbergh who was then standing before the fireplace in Mr. Hearst's home, tore up the half-million-dollar contract and threw it into the fire! That was an act of integrity that few men could ever do. But that one act proved the mettle of the man who did something that no one else had ever done as he did, up to that time.

One can sleep peacefully at night time who, during the day, has kept faith with himself. It is always a courageous thing to do under every circumstance. You can almost read the sign on some people's faces — "Not for Sale!"

There are many trade-names worth millions of dollars alone merely because they reflect the integrity of the firms back of them. Many of them today are household names. The best security that any bank can ask for is the integrity of the borrower. Keep faith with yourself and you will not want for other to have faith in you.

Senate Leaders Clash Over New Wheat Agreement

Ottawa, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Two party leaders in the Senate hooked up yesterday in a clash over the four-year Anglo - Canadian wheat agreement.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, charged that the people of Canada generally should pay back to western farmers the $500,000,000 he believed had been "stolen" from them under the pact.

Senator Wishart Robertson, Liberal leader recently back from Europe, retorted that 'something hurts when you come back from that devastation to a country where, despite wonderful prosperity, some people are saying 'We should have more, more, more.' "

Their throne debate speeches singled out the agreement for particular attention.

Senator Haig recalled he had said three years ago it was "the rottenest deal I ever heard of" and said he would go further now if parliamentary laws would let him.

Britain Never Wanted Pay Claim

Further, he predicted that Britain would never repay Canada the dollars she borrowed to finance the deal and that there never would be a final settling up, as promised by Britain, to compensate the Canadian farmers for their losses.

He considered that hundreds of millions of dollars had been stolen from the farmers because they were forced to sell wheat at prices well below those available in the world. He had "no criticism of Britain for the position she's in, but the people of Canada should make this good."

Senator Robertson said that nearly every commercial commodity had been affected by war and post-war controls. Producers of lumber and other goods could just as legitimately demand the difference between the foreign prices they were allowed and those they might have got elsewhere.

The government, in the interests of all, had denied certain foreign markets to Canadian goods in the general effort to keep domestic prices low. The western farmers and Canadians generally were in a sounder financial position than ever before.

The Senate adjourned until Tuesday.

Court Grants Adjournment

Toronto, Feb. 3 — (CP) — Because Austin Ross, counsel for William and Mary Shortt, charged jointly with assaulting their two-year-old child, failed to appear in court today, a day's adjournment was granted in the hearing. The case will proceed tomorrow.

In court yesterday Shortt and his 23-year-old wife listened impassively as Crown witnesses told how the baby had been beaten so severly the night of Jan. 20 that its head was misshapen. Mr. Ross pressed witnesses to admit the possibility that the bruises about the child's head might have been the result of a fall.

Two Russian Air Officers Glad To Be in the States

Westover, Mass., Feb. 4 (AP) — Two Russia air force officers who escaped from the Soviet Union by plane landed here today — delighted to reach the United States.

They took off for the United States Wednesday from Rhienmain, Germany, in a United States Navy transport plane.

They had a message from American Communists.

Speaking through an interpreter, the fliers, Peter Pirocov and Anatole Barsov, said:

"Instead of making all their noise they should volunteer to go to Russia for one month. They would be glad to return here and resign from the Communist party."

They expressed the belief that Permier Stalin offered to meet President Truman because the cold war "had gotten to a point where it might become serious. Stalin doesn't want war this soon any way."

Soviet authorities, they added, believed that any Russian who thinks well of the United States is "morally unstable."

The officers said they had planned their escape for a year after hearing "pleasant things" about Americans from Russian officers who had contact with United States soldiers during the war.

The thing that finally spurred them to fly out of Russia was news of the escape of Madame Oksana Kasenkina from Soviet authority in New York.

They said their flight for liberty began at Kolombia airbase in the west Ukraine and ended in Austria.

A sergeant, who accompanied them but was not in on the plot, returned to Soviet custody.

The visa they obtained in Germany grants them a year's visit in the United States but they were not certain whether State Department officials would limit it.

Their trip here was sponsored by United States military authorities.

Ghost Govt.'s Chance in China Not too Bright

Nanking, Feb. 3 (AP) — The chances of acting President Li Tsung Jen's ghost government for national peace and continued American economic aid were none too bright today.

Li was given almost no chance of arranging a national peace with the Communists. At best he might succeed in surrendering Nanking, Shanghai, Hankow and the lower Yangtze river valley.

Li's government is scattered and ineffective. His cabinet officers headed for Canton, where they are supposed to reopen for business Saturday. But Li plans to hang on here, maybe even daring everything on a flight to the Communists to beg for peace.

New Methods Being Devised To Fight Thieves

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 4 — (CP)—New methods of fighting thieves who prey on the railways are being put into effect at London's key Euston station.

Pilferage of this type costs millions of dollars yearly, some of the thefts being from shipments destined for Canada. Counter - measures include:

1. An emergency warning system by which police may be summoned within 10 minutes.
2. Provision of specially-trained dogs for patrol duty on out-lying sidings.
3. Establishment of flying squads in radio cars.
4. Hour-by-hour watch from factory to consignee of goods in short supply — textiles, wines and liquors, clothing, nylons and silk stockings, cigarets and food.

B. W. Richards, chairman of the railway police committee, says the emergency warning system will be operated through code numbers known only to railway employees.

"When the system is started, it will be controlled from Euston station," he said. "If we find that it is successful there, it will be quickly extended to Leeds, Birmingham and other big cities."

Spot checks by Scotland Yard officers also helped out thefts.

FLOATING LIBRARIES

Oslo — (CP) — A nation-wide drive to obtain books for "floating" libraries aboard Norwegian merchant vessels has brought in an estimated 100,000 volumes. A total of 200,000 volumes is required.

St. Laurent Urges Removal of Relic Of Colonial Past

Ottawa, Feb. 4. (CP)— Removal of "another relic of our Colonial past"—the necessity of going to London for constitutional amendments—is proposed by Prime Minister St. Laurent as a final step toward Canada's status as an adult country.

In a CBC broadcast last night the Prime Minister advocated this move, but warned that it would not be an easy thing to do.

He did not elaborate on the steps necessary for Canada to reach autonomy with respect to the constitution, but declared he was convinced the United Kingdom government would co-operate.

He dealt briefly with the North Atlantic Security pact now being negotiated in Washington and scoffed at the opinions of those who believe that Canada "lying right between the two greatest powers on earth" could remain aloof from world affairs.

"Certainly my colleagues and I do not believe it and we are not going to pretend we do," he said.

"That is why we want a North Atlantic Security Pact."

The Prime Minister told of the government bill now before parliament to abolish appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council—another step toward complete sovereignty.

"No nation that has to go to the courts of another country to settle its domestic disputes is fully autonomous or completely independent."

"Every time we Canadians want any change made in the British North America Act we have to go through the form of getting a change made by the parliament of the United Kingdom," he said.

"As a Canadian, I do not like to have to do that. What is more, I feel sure the United Kingdom parliament does not like it either.

"I believe we Canadian should work out a method of making our constitutional changes right here in Canada."

Prime Minister Favors Rights Of Two Languages

Ottawa, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday night declared the strongest safeguard of both English and French speaking rights in Canada were "the good faith, the mutual tolerance and the common understandinig which are in the highest glory of most Canadians of both races and both languages."

In a broadcast address, Mr. St. Laurent referred to attacks on him for his interpretation of the British North America Act indicating his belief that legality of French as an official language in parliament could be ended by a majority in parliament.

"I know the people of my province have been told and told repeatedly that I recognize no written safeguard for the use of the language of my father and the language of my family," he said.

"Well, I think the people of Quebec know that my attachment is to the language of my father and they also know my attachment to the language I learned from my mother. I think most people everywhere in Canada know that too.

"Still, no later than last night and this morning, a young member of the Quebec legislature is getting highlights over the radio and headlines in the newspapers for repeating that silly story."

P M. Attacked in House

(In the Quebec legislature Wednesday Daniel Johnson (UN-Bagot) attacked Mr. St. Laurent for his interpretation of constitutional language rights as set forth in the Prime Minister's speech in the House of Commons last Friday).

"Does anyone think I have the power by myself to change the constitution?" the Prime Minister asked.

"Or does anyone think I should be untruthful about what the Constitution really means?

"I want to say once and for all that I favor the strongest possible constitutional safeguard anyone could devise for the historic rights of Canadians, both English-speaking and French-speaking.

"But there is something stronger than any constitutional safeguard and that is the good faith and the mutual tolerance and the common understanding which are the highest glory of most Canadians of both races and languages."

Earlier Mr. St. Laurent advocated Canada taking unto herself the power to amend the Constitution without reference to the United Kingdom and commented that any such amendments should safeguard use of the two official languages.

Sees Canada At Last on Verge Of Vast Growth

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Federal Deputy Minister of Mines and Resources, hinted Thursday at increased Canadian immigration, when he said "Canada is at least on the verge of period of vast development."

Speaking to the Empire Club of Toronto on the subject of Canadian immigration policy, the former external affairs under secretary of state, said "Canadians now are ready for the responsibilities of a great nation."

He said Canada's post-war immigration policy had not all been easily carried out. Some economic and social groups in the country had objected the free movement of peoples into Canada.

However, he said "an expanding economy at home, is the surest guarantee of an expanding movement of immigrants from abroad."

Will Fly to Switzerland To Attend Conference

Toronto, Feb. 3 (CP)— Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, secretary of the general council of the United Church of Canada, leaves tomorrow by air for Bosse, Switzerland, to attend the first meeting of the new executive committee of the World Council of Churches. The meeting opens Feb. 8 and continues until Feb. 12.

Dr. Sisco is the only minister from North America on the executive of the world council. He is the only Canadian representative, being appointed to the post at a recent council meeting in Amsterdam.

DOES THIS CHEQUE belong to YOU?

Nearly 40,000 cheques — worth some two million dollars — covering last year's Compulsory Savings Refund for 1942, are still unclaimed. They belong to Canadians who have changed their name or address, or both, since 1943, and failed to notify the Government.

This year, cheques, which are going begging — worth up to as much as $15,000,000 — should be going out this March to as many as 200,000 Canadians for the return of 1943 and 1944 Refundable Savings. But proper names or addresses are lacking.

Do any of these refund cheques belong to you?

Have you changed your name or address, or both, since 1943 and haven't notified the Government? If so, we urge you to fill in a Change of Address Card and mail it as soon as you possibly can. You'll find these cards at any Post Office.

"MY BANK" TO A MILLION CANADIANS B of M

WHEN YOU RECEIVE YOUR REFUND . . . why not put that money in a savings account at the B of M? It's money already saved . . . you won't miss it . . . you'll be glad of it in meeting emergencies or opportunities in the months ahead. Thousands of B of M customers have built up a tidy sum this easy way.

Miss Doris Pollock gave the topic based on "Fellowship".

Mr. Frances Wrightman read an appropriate poem, and Miss Ruth Linn sang "The Lord's Prayer".

An invitation was received from Wellman's to attend a skating party at Hoard's in the near future.

Mrs. Linn and Ruth served refreshments.

Viscountess Allenby Is Granted Divorce

London, Feb. 4 (Reuters)—Viscountess Allenby yesterday was granted a divorce decree against her husband, Viscount Allenby, nephew of Field Marshal Viscount Allenby who was conqueror of Palestine and leading figure in the middle east during and after the First World War. The second Viscount Allenby succeeded his uncle in the peerage in 1936.

SALARY INCREASES PASSED

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—Salary increases for Toronto's public school teachers totalling $140,000 this year were passed last night by the Board of Education. The approximate cost of the increases over 10 years will be $995,000. The increase gives the same minimum and maximum salaries to both men and women teachers, despite the protests of the Toronto Public School Masters' Association, representing some 600 men teachers. They claim they do more work than the woman teachers.

Women's Christian Association Hears Reports on Activities for Past Year

The 69th annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held at the home of the President, Mrs. J. W. Imlah, Tuesday afternoon. Report of the various committees for 1948 were heard and the officers of last year were re-elected for the coming term.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. W. C. Mikel honorary president, following which the minutes of the last meeting were read by recording secretary Mrs. T. R. Dolan. Reports heard during the meeting were the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. E. Hickey, the corresponding secretary's report, given by Mrs. C. W. Burr, the indigent committee report, given by Miss H. Lynch, and the home board management report given by Mrs. H. A. Thompson.

Tribute to the President

In presenting her report of the year's activities recording secretary Mrs. T. R. Dolan, paid tribute to the efforts of Mrs. Imlah in opening her home for the meetings and giving much of her time and energies to business pertaining to the transfer of the hospital to the city. Recognition was given to efforts of advisory board, board of governors, Mr. A. Sprague, and others who had given helpful advice during the year. Appreciation was also expressed to Miss H. Lynch, chairman of the Indigent Committee, and Mrs. G. H. French who looks after the home funds.

During the year six regular monthly meetings and several committee meetings were held. Deeming it to be in the best interests of the citizens of Belleville, the Women's Christian Association in conjunction with the Board of Governors of the Hospital offered the hospital to the city. On June 1st, 1948, 62 years of management by the W.C.A. were terminated with the acceptance of the hospital by the City of Belleville.

Handicapped by Loss

The Belleville Home for the Aged efforts on behalf of the aged of this community were hindered by the loss of the Home by fire. Inmates of the home were provided with shelter and care in homes in the city.

Mrs. Dolan's report acknowledged donations of $100 to the Home by the late Mrs. Louise Canning, and also a legacy of $500 left to the W.C.A. by the late Miss Ida Jack.

During the year Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Stewart celebrated their Diamond Wedding Anniversary and many members were in attendance at a reception held in their honor, presenting Mrs. Stewart with a W.C.A. pin as a remembrance of 52 years of active service in the W.C.A.

With reference to the rebuilding the Home for the Aged, Mrs. Dolan's report noted that "It has been the earnest desire of the W.C.A. to rebuild the Home for the Aged, but without the financial aid this is impossible. After consulting with the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare it was learned that Government grants are given only to city and county owned Homes for the Aged, and not to privately owned homes.

"At the present time the City of Belleville is negotiating with the County of Hastings for bed space in the new County Home."

"The future plans of the W.C.A are indefinite," commented Mrs. Dolan, "but it is our earnest hope that we will find some worthy cause to sponsor for the benefit of our community."

Many Difficulties

The report on the Belleville Home for the Aged as prepared by Mrs. H. A. Thompson, Chairman of the Home Board of Management, indicates many difficulties being encountered by the widespread placement of aged wards throughout the area, due to the fire which destroyed the former Home for the Aged. Nine persons are under the care of the organization, seven men and two women. Five are located in the County Home for the Aged, two in Cannifton, and two at the Home. Mr. Whalen who had been in hospital since the fire was taken to the nursing home of Mrs. Brook, Marysville, in December.

Considerable discussion has been held on the problem of a new building. The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow of the Ontario Welfare Department visited a meeting of the organization and spoke on the subject, outlining the views of the Department.

Mrs. Thompson's report noted that the health of the wards was on the whole very good, with the exception of Mrs. Buttwell, who has been a bed patient for the past seven months.

Donations

Donations made at Christmas were acknowledged in the report. The Corby Estate, $30., plus a credit for $27.70; St. Julien Chapter, I. O. D. E., $30; Argyll Chapter, I. O. D. E., $1, card and candy to each inmate; Ladies of Moose Lodge, fruit and cake baskets; Mr. and Mrs. H. McCabe, gifts to Messrs. Ralph, Pelkey, Fulton and Hook; Eastern Star, Minerva Chapter, wool gloves to Messrs. Fulton and Hook; the late Mrs. Cotton, home knit socks; each inmate was presented with a Christmas present by the Home Board. The committee appointed to distribute the gifts reported that each man received a pair of trousers, sweater, socks and candy, with an extra grocery basket being given to Messrs. Ralph and Pelkey. Further distributions included a nightgown to Mrs. Buttwell; Miss Bradford, money and candy from cash donations received from St. Julien Chapter, I. O. D. E., and Corby estate. In concluding her report, Mrs. Thompson expressed her appreciation to the president and the members of the Home Board for their efforts and co-operation which aided in the success of the Board's management for the year.

After the reports had been heard, Mrs. Imlah expressed her appreciation to the members of the executive and the Association for their co-operation during the year, giving special praise to the efforts of Mr. H. A. Thompson, whose task as chairman of the Home Board of Management has been preatly increased by the widespread distribution of the Home residents following the fire.

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE UNITED W.A.

The Tabernacle United Shurch Woman's Association meeting for February was held in a gaily decorated Sunday School room in keeping with St. Valentine's Day. Streamers of black, red and white, with hearts and cupid-forms, and a decorated arch formed the background for the tea table. Lover's knots with heart-flecked streamers on the pillars. The tea table was resplendent with its hand crocheted ecru cloth, a large cupid-form was the centrepiece with small cupids and red candelabra. Mesdames G. Gorsline and George Ashley, former presidents of the Association, poured tea from the gleaming silver services.

The very delightful program was presided over by the President, Mrs. Wm. Judge, who expressed her happiness for the grand response from the women who attended in so great a number and commended Mrs. Jerome, and Mrs .Harbock, on the decorative arrangement. She introduced the entire executive of the W.A. and said "these ladies are ready and waiting to serve you, and ask for your fine cooperation that we may all work together for God's Kingdom and build here a finer fellowship in our church community. We are putting forth every effort to make our year a successful one," and she also introduced the five group leaders who were asked to stand with the members of their group.

Mrs. F. R. Harback, in her usual charming and informative way, gave "The Objectives of the Church and the Objectives of the Women's Association". She paid tribute to the work the women had accomplished and stated that the women's groups of Tabernacle United Church had raised over $3,000 last year, and she was heartily encouraged by the finer spirit of co-operation between the various groups.

Mrs. F. B. Jarrell thanked Mrs. Harback and stated that the women of the church had wonderful leadership in their minister's wife, and it was just impossible not to be successful.

Mrs. M. P. Duff was responsible for the very fine musical program which consisted of three banjo selections, beautifully rendered by Mrs. Dorland Houston, "Sylvia", "I Dream of Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair", and "Living for Jesus". Mrs. R. W. Moorehead sang in her lovely contralto voice "After the Rain, the Roses" and "Danny Boy". Misses Phillys Kane and Loreen May played "The Witch's Flight" as a piano duet.

Mrs. H. Brodie voiced the thanks of the Association to Mrs. Duff and the ladies who entertained the gathering so graciously.

Mrs. G. F. Lent social convener and her assistants Mesdames E. Schlievert, J. Brennan, R. E. Nelson, G. Cornish, H. Brodie, F. Isard, B. McMillan and N. Robb served tea and delicious cookies.

Mrs. R. Lockyer, secretary, enrolled the new year's members.

JUBILEE EVENING AUXILIARY

The February meeting of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary was held on Tuesday evening at six o'clock with a large number of members and guests in attendance.

After an excellent supper served by Mrs. Russel Woodley's group, Mrs. R. D. Arnott, the president ,welcomed the guests and introduced them to the members. Mrs. Arnot conducted the business of the meeting. Reports were read and adopted.

The sympathy of the society was expressed to several members who are ill, and especially to Miss K. Daly, the treasurer, who had the misfortune to break her arm.

Mrs. Herbert McCabe's group had charge of the program.

Mrs. McCabe conducted the devotional and then called on Mrs. G. E. Harron for a lovely solo.

Miss Florence Down, Christian Stewardship convener, gave the address. She spoke of the fact stating that "like the British flag, the sun never sets on the work of the W.M.S. This year our budget calls for one million dollars and yet the organization is run chiefly by voluntary work. We have just ten full time paid workers and two part-time in the office in Toronto.

"In our Home Mission work we have 58 centres with 178 workers. One of our workers is in the Church of All Nations in Toronto, where services or meetings are being held every day of the week with people of many racs and languages.

"One important branch of our work is at the ports of entry for our immigrants. Here our workers meet the people at the docks and help them through customs and see them on their way to their destinations.

"We have our work also in mining centres, our hospitals, our summer camps for children, and our work among Canadian Indians.

"Our share of the million dollar budget for this year is $620. If we, as members of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary, give our time, our abilities, and material possessions in God's service for the benefit of mankind we will have reason to be proud of our achievements in 1949."

HOLLOWAY ST. W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the Holloway Street United Church W.M.S., was held in the church parlors on Tuesday with the President, Mrs. Wilson, presiding for the opening and business period.

Reports were brought in by the conveners of the different branches of the organization.

Mrs. Wilson then reminded all psesent of the World's Day of Prayer, to be held in Bridge St. Church on March 4, stressing its significance and urging all to attend.

Following the roll call, Mrs. Cordes and her group took charge of the devotional period. The them of which was "Thy Kingdom Come, Through the Work of the Christian People".

A Psalm was then read responsively followed by a prayer of "intercession for China" by Mrs. Leavens.

The Worship service concluded with a Chinese song, "I Will Not Be Afraid" by Mrs. J. Jefferys.

Mrs. Bell presented a chapter of the Study Book dealing with the great accomplishments achieved by the doctors and nurses in Western China in spite of sacrifices made and hardships endured.

During the war and even now the hospitals are lacking in proper facilities and adequate accommodation for the nurses training school.

Regardless of all obstacles, these medical missionaries go bravely on healing both body and soul.

At the conclusion of the Study Book refreshments were served and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

SCOUTS LADIES' AUXILIARY

The January meeting of the 8th Belleville Scouts Ladies' Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. A. Haire, 14 Green Street, Monday.

Mrs. F. Cooke, president, opened the meeting with the "Mother's Promise".

After the business period, a general discussion took place regarding Scout Week, and it was decided to hold a special meeting on Monday, Feb. 7, at the home of Mrs. Kane.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Haire.

Annual Congregational Meeting

ST. PETER'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There was a surprisingly good attendance at the Congregational supper and annual meeting of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc.

Following the supper everyone enjoyed hearing a letter which the minister, Rev. M. W. Heslip, had received from Rev. E.W. Mackay of Vancouver, the minister of St. Peter's fifty years ago. It brought back many happy memories to the older members of the congregation, and reminded the newer members of the great heritage.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the forty-sixth Psalm, and prayer, emphasis was laid on the importance of the Sabbath observance.

The splendid co-operation of all organizations was much appreciated and sympathy was expressed to the many homes that had been bereaved.

W.M.S.

The reports of the Women's Missionary Socity were read by the secretary, Mrs. David Blakely, and the treasurer, Mrs. Fred Curry, and showed much good work done and money and supplies sent in.

The recently organized Mission Band was reported by Norman Derry, secretary, and Miss Carolyn Reid, treasurer. They won applause when it was announced that the Mission Band had won the banner for the Presbyterial for 1948.

The L.A.

The Ladies' Aid was reported by Mrs. H. Sharpe, and revealed that many improvements had been made on the manse and that they had given a subsantial sum to the managers.

The Y.W.C.

Mrs. William Nayler reported the splendid activites of the Young Women's Club, their improvements in the manse and especially the installation of the "Memorial Chimes" in memory of the soldiers of the two World Wars. The report of their treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Symon, was read by Mrs. Arnold Gaebel, and showed how successful they had been financially.

S.S. Report

The Sunday School report was read by Mrs. K. Nicol in the absence of the superintendent, Mrs. Mabel Clarke. One special feature was that they had carried on during the summer and that the average attendance had remained very high. With a very capable staff of well-trained teachers the Sunday School is making good progress.

Miss Betty Yearwood, the secretary treasurer, gave the report of the choir showing another year of faithful and appreciated service.

Most Successful of Years

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. George West, who has been the treasurer of the congregation for many years. He reported that 1948 had been one of the most financially successful years in the history of St. Peter's. The new oil heating furnaces were proving a great comfort.

The appreciation of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. Heslip was expressed in the tangible form of a unanimous vote to increase the stipend.

After thanking the ladies for the delicious supper the meeting was closed with prayer.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Three Questions on Manners in Public

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

There are three questions that have arisen in our group of friends. Will you please answer them for us?

1. When a man and a woman walk together on the street, isn't it proper for the man to walk on the outside at all times?

2. When a man and a woman enter a restaurant or theatre, does the woman precede the man, or is that only when there is an usher or a waiter?

3. Does a man put on his own coat first, or does he first help the woman with her coat?

N. H.

1. The man usually walks on the outside, nearest the traffic. However, if he is of the school of thought that considers that the position of honor is always on one's right hand, he may, and correctly, walk at the woman's left.

2. The woman is "supposed" to precede the man into the restaurant. . .but I am 100 per cent for having the man precede the woman ,the man following the headwaiter or hostess or whoever is directing them to their places. This sequence is more practical and sensible, I think, since it means that the man is "in position" to give the order for the table to the headwaiter or hostess, and also, if there is a possibility of choice of tables, to suggest the one in a more desirable location.

In a theatre or in the movies where there is an usher, the man usually allows a woman to precede him down the aisle, following the usher. But if the man must look for the usher, or if there is no usher and so seats are to be found, the man should be on the alert to go first to find the most desirable places available.

3. The man should help the woman with her coat before he puts on his own coat.

A hope chest isn't that important

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My boyfriend and I have been going together steadily for two and a half years. We aren't yet financially able to be married, and it will probably be another year before we will be able to consider ourselves engaged, then another year before marriage. I would like to have my boy-friend give me my hope chest now, so that I can began to collect my linens, etc. He would very much like to do this. My parents approve. . but his definitely do not. They insist that the hope chest comes after the engagement is announced and the engagement ring received, not before. (I think they are worried that if anything happens to our friendship, he would be the loser.) So it narrows down to: Is it proper for the boy to give the girl a hope chest before the diamond.

Anxious

Why put so much emphasis on having a hope chest? It certainly isn't worth being "anxious" about, if it is going to upset the young man's parents. Fatten up your piggy-bank and buy your own hope chest, or have your parents give it to you as a birthday or other-occasion gift, or begin your collection in an ample box-on-wheels under the bed, or buy an unpainted chest and paint it your favorite color. The latter containers you might consider your "hope for a hope chest", the contents to be transferred to the real thing after your engagement has been announced.

A Carry-All Gets Around

By PRUNELLA WOOD

WHO'S A DIPLOMAT? Is a question with a variety of answers these days. One good patriotic friend whose only portfolio is the one she (or he) buys as luggage on the trip to foreign parts, is often as helpful though unsung an ambassador as a bigger shot with more privileges. Not to belittle any career worker, but to mention that a nice person, with a nice way, is a good American person abroad.

The portfolio, or carry-all, photographer here is a ladies' accessory far from expensive, and a complement to inter-global or shopping tours. Made of canvass, leather or plaid woollen to go with sundry costumes or budgets, the giant handbag of dispatch case importance and capacity has a centre part big enough to take a magazine, gloves, nightrobe, etcetera, including a bathing suit (even wet, as it is waterproof lined) with two other outside, roomy compartments.

CARMEL

Mr. and Mrs. S. Homan and Mr. John Huffman of Gilead were in Eldorado on Monday afternoon and had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Empey.

Mrs. Frank Whitney and daughter, Mrs. E. Dawson, were both on the sick list last week but both are improved.

Mrs. W. Dafoe has been confined to the house for the past three weeks with a broken bone in her ankle.

Mrs. A. Porter called on Mrs. C. Brintnell on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. D. Simmons, Foxboro, has been a guest of Mrs. F. Sullivan for a few days.

Little Miss Nancy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams, celebrated her first birthday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Patterson. The guests included Mrs. Alex Maguire, Mrs. C. Howie and daughter Mary Gail of Belleville, Mrs. R. Sine, Mrs. F. Tummon, Patti and Clarke of Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wannamaker, West Huntingdon were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Homan and Clare on Sunday.

Misses Ruth Brintnell and Muriel Homan were in Melrose hall on Friday night at the meeting of the Women's Institute, speaking in the interest of the Quinte Folk School to be held in February.

Treat a Cold In the Cooler

Johannesburg, (CP)— When people catch influenza or a cold they go to bed and stay warm. J. P. Viljoen, worker in a Rand cold storage works, enters the freezer and stays there for half an hour, with the temperature two to five degrees below zero.

"I never catch cold inside the cold room. I catch them from other people in buses and trams" says Mr. Viljoen. "Ordinary people going in there with a cold would die of pneumonia, but the cold fixes a cold with me.

"I catch more colds in hot weather than in cold weather. It is just a case of what you are used to."

FEAR FOOD SHORTAGE

Johannesburgh — (CP) — A severe drought, which will probably mean a shortage of food in 1949, has affected the corn-growing regions of the Transvaal. The ranching areas are also dangerously dry and citizens of all denominations have been praying for rain.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A case of father-in-law trouble

Mother-in-law trouble is a common complaint on the part of wives, but father-in-law trouble is something less frequently heard about.

Within the past few days, however, two cases of the latter have been laid before me in letters from wives who find themselves at a loss to know how to solve the problem.

One, from a woman who has been married 20 years, says that these years of married life "would have been wonderful ones if it wasn't for my father-in-law. He has caused arguments between my husband and me, due to the fact that he spoils my four children, teaches them to lie and do things without my consent. The children are 3, 4, 8 and 16. My husband loves his father so much that he can't see where he is at fault."

The strain of this situation has been such that, some years ago, this wife suffered a nervous breakdown, and now, in her middle age, the nervous condition has recurred.

"I have been thinking it over for some time," she says, "and have decided that the best thing to do is to put my children in a home where they can be cared for while I am away recovering from my nervous condition. I thought that I should leave my husband with his father. Through such an arrangement, my children will learn to be good and be brought up in the right manner.

"Do you think I am right, or should I keep my family together and put up with everything I have in the past years?"

"A.S.", as she signs herself does not say whether it is absolutely imperative that she be separated from her children for a while and go away because of her health or whether she has just thought that up as a simple solution of her problems. Perhaps there might be a possibility that if she and her husband could come to some amicable agreement on the point about which there has been so much friction between them for so long, a great deal of her nervousness would disappear and she would find herself capable of carrying on.

That, it seems to me, would be a far better solution, if it could be brought about, than for her to break up her family and completely separate herself from them even temporarily.

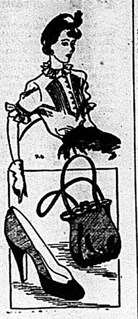
I would suggest either of two plans. The first would be that she try to tell her husband, without quarrels or arguments, just how she feels, and ask him if he could help her get back her health by telling his father as diplomatically as possible to refrain from interfering with the children for a while. If the father could be persuaded to do this, even temporarily, he might gradually form the habit of minding his own business. I assume from this woman's letter that her father-in-law lives with herself and her husband, which of course is very unfortunate. If this is true, and some other arrangement could be managed financially, then I think the husband should go even further, and explain to his father that his wife is not well, and that the confusion of having so many people in the house is bad for her, and it would be better if he lived elsewhere for a time until she gets back her health. Living independently also might become a habit with the father-in-law so that he would not be a problem in the home at all after a time.

If, however, she feels that she will get nowhere talking the whole thing over with her husband, then I suggest that she get in touch with a family welfare service in her community, and discuss the matter with one of the sympathetic people there who are thoroughly familiar with this type of problem. I will be glad to give her the name and address if she will send me her own name and address so that I can write her.

The second plan that I might suggest is that if there is any member of her family, or other relative, who could come and take care of her children in their own home while she goes away for a little rest, that might help. I think it would be a mistake to put the children in a home if any other arrangement can be worked out.

These are some things for her to consider, and I think one of them might be the answer to her difficulties. I hope she will write me further and let me know.

Wardrobe Fresheners



Accessories for Winter blouses

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

NEW BLOUSES, bags, gloves and shoes all help to give more than just a hint of Spring to tired Winter wardrobes. Ther is plenty of fine detail in this pretty blouse of white batiste. The crisp fabric is set off by narrow insets of lace used for the front which is marked by groups of fine tucks on either side of the pearl buttoned closing. Lace is also used for the sleeves detailed with a flounce like that of the round collar. The modified pouch bag is of navy suede and is draped to a rigid base. It has a silver frame and double handles. The pump has a navy suede vamp and heel and the heel quarter is of beige kidskin.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

Slimming down the hipline

Mrs. Fashion seems to take it for granted, when designing lovely frocks, that every member of the universal sisterhood has the ideal figure. So far as she is concerned, there is only one anatomical type: the woman with the small waist, not much spread amidships, a normally developed bust and long legs. When she started putting bunches of fabric on the hips and peplums on bodices, the plumptitudinous contingent broke down and wept.

Maybe she is kind in her cruelty. Maybe she is an inspiration that leads the heavyweights to do something about their over-curves. After all, there is no sense in lugging excess baggage when one can be rid of it. One can go about the business slowly, suffer only the slightest deprivations as far as appetite is concerned, and be all the better for it.

Rapid reducing is dangerous It does no good to the face. To get a young body and an older face is not a bargain.

While it is wise to cut down on fats, starches and sweets, hip-reducing is achieved mainly by exercise. Any muscular activity that trims down hips, also slims thighs and takes up the slack in abdominal muscles.

Heavyweights are slow moving.

If calisthenics are better medicine to a woman, the chances are she will not progress very far in her efforts to ragain smooth, slender lines. But, if she will make a start and keep on for a few weeks, she may become interested, especially if the tape measure reports even a quarter of an inch deleted. Exercise is good fun, really. It gives one a sense of well-being. It arouses the spirits through circulatory stimulation.

The heavyweights are slow-moving bodies, as a rule. It is a chore to convey excess tonnage around so they are inclined to take things easy. Well, we'll give them a workout that isn't tough. Here it is:

Lie full length on the floor on the back. Lift the arms, stretching them to the limit. Stretch the legs at the same time. That's to tune up for the real effort.

Place the hands under the hips for support. Lift the legs slowly, higher and higher ,until you are fairly standing on the back of your neck. Lower them slowly. At the slightest feeling of fatigue, relax, take several long, deep breaths, then at its again.

Still on the back, lift the right leg, roll to the left, stretching the leg, touching the floor with the toes. Six times with the right leg, six with the left and repeat. These movements crush fat cells that have formed fleshy panniers on the hips.

Charter Recognizes Silver Cross Women

Hamilton, Feb. 4 — (CP) — A charter presented Thursday recognized the Silver Cross Women of Canada as a national organization. The group, formed two years ago from individual associations scattered throughout Canada, seeks to assist widows and mothers of members of the armed forces killed in the Second World War.

The association Thursday decided to petition the federal government to give a cost-of-living bonus to dependent mothers as well as widows. It also will ask the government to arrange the transportation to Europe of all Silver Cross members desiring to visit the graves of sons or husbands.

Mrs. H. W. Jacobs of Toronto was elected president. Vice presidents include Mrs. C. J. Heimrick, Kitchener; Mrs. P. H. Ludlow, Brantford. Mrs. C. E. Hayes of Kitchener was named treasurer.

Provincial president for Ontario is Mrs. A. E. Speakman of Hamilton.

Detroit Wings Sting Hawks Again as Toronto Maple Leafs Hand Canadiens Third Setback

(By The Canadian Press)

While all other clubs have played a little better or worse than .500 hockey all season, Detroit Red Wings are the one team in the National Hockey League with a healthy won-lost record. The ramping Wings bounced Chicago again Thursday night, 4-2, and now lead second-place Boston by 12 points with 25 victories and four tries in 44 games.

Every club except Detroit has had two or more losing streaks during the campaign. The Wings only had one—early in the season when Ted Lindsay was sidelined for three weeks. Lindsay was out for a couple of games with a bad shoulder injury after that, but Detroit's all-round balance pulled the Redshirts through.

Lindsay Thursday night connected once as the Wings downed the Hawks for the second time in two nights. Wednesday night he scored three times.

In the only other fixture Thursday night, Toronto Maple Leafs handed the hated Montreal Canadiens a 4-1 licking right in the Habitants own back yard. The triumph moved Toronto into fourth place ahead of the slumping Hawks.

Had Easy Time

Detroit had an easy time beating Hawks before 15,931 Chicago stadium fans. Sid Abel, Gordie Howe, Bud Poile and Lindsay punched home tallies for the Wings before Jim Conacher and Gus Bodnar connected for the Hawks in the final eight minutes to rob Harry Lumley of his fourth shutout.

The Leafs looked better than they have all season in chalking up their impressive victory over the deflated Habitants.

The game was costly for the Habs who lost the services of winger Norm Dussault and defenceman Kenny Reardon through injury. Reardon hurt his shoulder muscles and will be sidelined for weeks, while Dussault wrenched a knee and will miss the next game at least.

The Leafs grabbed a two-goal lead in the opening frame on a pair of goals by Max Bentley and coasted home on that margin. After a scoreless middle session, Harry Watson sent Toronto three-up before Maurice Richard hit the target for Canadiens. Joe Klukay put the issue beyond doubt with a goal in the 17th minute of the period.

Kingston, Oshawa Eliminated From Tankard Play

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)— Rinks from Orillia and Thornbury today tackled Toronto Royal Canadians and Hamilton Thistles in semi-final play in the Ontario Silver Tankard, southern Ontario curling classic.

Veteran Stan Sargent and Bev Hewitt skipped the two Orillia rinks which knocked out Kingston fours led by J. W. G. Sands and Bob Elliott in elimination play yesterday.

The Tankard and its associated trophies —the Burden, Governor-General's and Globe and Mail —is played on a double-rink basis with aggregate scores deciding the outcome.

Semi-finals in all four events were scheduled for Toronto this morning with finals later in the day.

Toronto Royal Canadians got into the Tankard semi-final by defeating Peterborough and Agincourt at Oshawa yesterday. Hamilton Thistles won their chance recently in elimination play at London.

The Kingston pair Sands and Elliott won their their way into the Burden trophy, consolation to the Tankard. They defeated Elmvale rink. Brampton also moved into the Burden semi-finals and so did Oshawa rinks led by A. J. Parkhill and Paul Michael. Galt has the fourth pair in the Burden, qualifying at London.

Toronto club rinks led by Nicol MacNicol and W. J. Wipe went into the semi-final of the Governor-General's event by besting Hamilton Victorias entries led by Cliff Shuttleworth and S. Dubal Max Butcher and J. Merkley led Orillia rinks past Flesherton and Gravenhurst to gain a semi-final slot. At Oshawa A. McFie and H. Melvin won over Bobcaygeon and Agincourt. The 4th semi final position was won by Kitchener Granites.

In the Globe and Mail event, consolation to the Governor-General's K. Betts and G. McTavish of Flesherton won in elimination play in Toronto yesterday from Elmvale and went into the semi-final. At Oshawa, W. E. Mark and A. E. Wollard won for Agincourt against Oshawa rinks. Galt won a recent playoff at Guelph to qualify too.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMP — George "Rockabye" Ross, 24-year-old farm boy from West Bay Road, N.S., who is Canadian middleweight title holder, is undefeated in 34 professional bouts in Canada and the New England states. He turned pro after winning the Cape Breton Golden Gloves in December, 1945. In his most recent bout he flattened fellow-Cape Bretoner Joe Pylo of New Waterford in three rounds. (CP Photo)

256 Young Curlers Competing In Guelph Spiel

Guelph, Feb. 4 — (CP)—Ontario's youthful curling enthusiasts began the second day of their full-scale invasion of curling arenas in Guelph and Galt today as they slid and swept their way towards the finals tonight in the two main events of the second annual Ontario Schoolboys' Bonspiel.

Some 256 eager young curlers from points as far north as Hornepayne and as far east as Smiths Falls and Gananoque met in the first round of eliminations yesterday.

Tonight the finals for the main event, the Esso Trophy, will be held in Guelph while the winner of the second event, the Gore Trophy, will be decided at Galt, some 10 miles south of here. The three-day spiel will end on Saturday with finals in the consolation event.

Thursday's curling showed up two rinks which oldtimers at the rinkside predicted would stand up against the best competition here.

One was skipped by Harvie Robinson of Orillia, winner of last year's meet, who carried off his first two games yesterday in good style. He is the only surviving member of last year's winning rink since the others have graduated from junior ranks.

Robinson probably will meet his toughest competition in his first game today against Lawrence Skitch of Lindsay, son of one of Ontario's best - known curlers, Percy Skitch. Skitch also won his two games Thursday and experts are already calling one of the two to go the distance in the main event.

Oter thear

Other rinks who came through strongly Thursday in two games to continue their quest for the Esso Trophy were skipped by C. Hanthorn of Fenelon Falls, Bruce Jardine of Galt, Bob Lauderdale of Hamilton Central, Stu Ogg of Guelph, W. Pridham of Peterborough, R. Goldberg of Hornepayne and C. Trussler of Kirkland Lake.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Tonight Queen's University Junior "Bees" form the opposition to our Rockets Juniors, and it should be a joust worth glimpsing. The McNaught-Cook kidlets fully recovered from a night battle with a twenty-four pound turkey earlier in the week are feeling their hockey oats and are rarin' to get out there and "do or die" for dear Ole Mars Cook and his cohorts. The Rockets have been working out hard since their game a week ago when they barely eked out a one-goal win over the Kingston Barons, and are fully confident they can extend their undefeated string at the expense of the Tricolor students.

• • •

A few of the ubiquitous wise-cracking rinkside referees were in evidence at the Trenton Flyers-Cobourg Port Hope Combines the other night, and they weren't averse to slinging their not-funny jibes at the officials. They weren't getting any laughs from the crowd in the immediate vicinity so they decided to lay it on a bit thicker. Referee McNaught stood it until a particularly vicious remark went sailing over the parapet. He skated to the offender and warned him in a low but very firm voice that he would have him tossed out of the rink if the slurs continued. Referees have enough troubles without being subjected to personal slurs from the rinkside gladiators, the most of whom don't know a legal offside from Prince Aly Khan's wardrobe. And they are perfectly within their rights and authority to have offending fans tossed out of the arena on their figurative ears.

To settle that wager—The second game between Midland and Belleville was played here on February 22nd, 1922. The Belleville team won the game 12-3 and the round, 17-7, the Belleville squad having nosed out the Midlanders 5-4 on their own ice. In the game played here , "Gunner" Arnott scored seven goals and was credited with three assists so says the official record of the game. Oldtimers will recall the episode connected with the first game between these teams when Jim Barry missed the train in Toronto, drove to Victoria Harbor and crossed the ice in a cutter.

Bill Lougheed, a Shannonville boy is thought highly of as a hockey player by the student body and other players of McMaster University. Rated as one of the college team stars, Bill played with the squad last night against the University of Toronto. On Saturday he travels to Ann Arbor, Michigan where McMaster plays an "across-the-border" game with the University of Michigan.

Phil Hergesheimer of the Philadelphia Rockets in the American Hockey League, one of the finest players to every play in the circuit, won the award as the Philadelphia Player of the Month for December. For the honor, Phantom Phil was presented with a beautiful gold wrist watch by the Rocket Rooters Club.

Bill Moe, defenceman of the New York Ranger ice hockey team, was a boyhood pal in Minneapolis of Bob Sweiger, halfback for the New York Yankees in the All-American Conference. Moe never played football.

Bill, in the Stanley Cup playoffs last March, suffered a double fractured vertebrae. In October, he was in an automobile accident with four Ranger mates and had to have 24 stitches taken in his scalp but was back in the lineup six days later. In November, Chicago's Doug Bentley crammed his stick into Bill's mouth, lacerating his palate, knocking out a tooth and loosening five others. The next day he was back at practice.

But Moe never played football.

"That game," he declares emphatically, "is too rough!"

If you are one of these golfers disgusted with your drives you may find a note of cheer in the news that a plastic ball being readied for market will add 60 yards to your distance.

But there's some bad to go with the good. An English research addict has figured that only 26.8 per cent of the energy generated in driving a ball 200 yards goes to the ball itself. The rest, he asserts, is absorbed by the follow-through, frictional losses at the club face, sound and vibration.

So the next time you find yourself standing too close to the ball after you hit it, blame it on that foursome.

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—What's wrong with hockey? The answers you can get to that one, brother, are just as numerous and varied as the multi-colored lines cluttering up the playing surface. They range from "nothing" to "everything."

Ralph (Toronto Evening Telegram) Allen thinks that "aside from a few minor flaws... the most glaring cause of the game's degeneration is its studied and systematic disregard of the rules as they stand.

"The people who run the N.H.L. have forgotten what it is that makes hockey special and unique among all team games," he writes. "Those things are the game's unmatched speed and its unmatched opportunities for crowding a great variety of plays into a short space of time. Anything that dilutes or impairs either of these qualities does a fundamental hurt to the game itself.

"The most inmportant... restrictions still stand in the rule books. But no consistent attempt is being made to enforce them— and that's about all that's wrong with hockey. In the first two periods of last Saturday's Chicago-Toronto game, time after time a promising play was mothered in its infancy when an attacking puck carrier or a potential pass receiver lost a stride because some enterprising foe leaned briefly on his shoulder, plucked companionably at his sweater, or gave him a neighborly half spin...

"It is still, fortunately, a very exciting game—even when it's not half so exciting as it might be."

Read 'Em And Weep

Above the roar of the hockey fans Britt (North Bay Daily Nugget) Jessup hears the plaintive bleatings of N.H.L. coaches and managers.

Here are a few:

"Jack Adams, Detroit Red Wings: 'Richard deliberately tried to injure Lindsay and the referee ignored it.'

"Dick Irwin, Montreal Canadiens: 'Everybody's trying to get Richard.'

The Big Seven

(By The Canadian Press)

Detroit's Sid Abel collected a goal and an assist Thursday night to take over sole possession of third - place in the National Hockey League scoring race. Chicago's Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher, the league-leaders with 51-49 points respectively were held scoreless. Another Black Hawk, Jim Conacher, tallied once to move into a fourth-place tie with Montreal's Billy Reay, who was held scoreless against Toronto. Bud Poile, Detroit, and Gus Bodnar, Chicago, each scored a goal to hold their positions on the ladder.

Sweeney Schriner Out of Action For Three Weeks

(By The Canadian Press)

Veteran Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, star leftwinger of Regina Caps of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League, will be out of action for at least three weeks, it was learned Thursday night at Regina. The former N.H.L. star crashed into the goal post in last night's game against Calgary and suffered a cracked shoulder bone.

The W. R. Cruikshank rink, representing the Charlottetown Curling Club, Thursday night won the Prince Edward Island Curling title at Charlottetown and the right to enter Dominion championship at Hamilton.

The Cruikshank rink made a clean sweep of the provincial series, defeating the Dr. W. MacDonald rink 11-7 in the final. It was the fifth time Cruikshank shipped a rink to the provincial title.

At Halifax, a Halifax Curling Club rink skipped by H. P. Webb, Thursday night won the right to represent Nova Scotia in the Dominion championship bonspiel at Hamilton.

Running up an early lead, Webb's four defeated a quartet from the Halifax Mayflower Club led by Hugh Little, 11-6.

Kenny McKenzie, owner of the New Westminster Royals in the Pacific Coast Hockey League, has refused $50,000 for his club. Frank Welters, president of a Vancouver Construction Company, disclosed Thursday at Vancouver that he had made the offer, first $40,000 and then $50,000 cash, but was refused.

Lloyd Mangrum, shooting one of his best rounds of 1949, Thursday took the first-round lead in the $10,000 Tucson Ariz., open golf tournament with a six under par 64. One stroke behind were Chick Harbert, Eric Monti and Johnny Bulla. Within easy striking distance were 11 contenders with cards of 66.

From Prague comes word that Jaroslav Drobny, Czechoslovakia's versatile tennis and skating star, will not play in the coming world amateur ice hockey championships, despite pressure from some Communist quarters. The official list of 17 players to represent Czechoslovakia in the hockey tournament to be held in Sweden was announced Thursday night and Drobny's name was not on it. His presencee on the squad had been demanded by some Communist sports editors, who felt the Davis Cup star should be doing more for his country than playing tennis.

Allan Stanley of Timmins, rookie defenceman for New York Rangers, may return to action in the National Hockey League, Saturday or Sunday, a club spokesman said Thursday at New York defence until recently, was sidelined with a sprained ankle, Jan. 22. Coach Lynn Patrick said he would be taken on a road trip which carries the Rangers to Toronto Saturday, Chicago Sunday and Detroit next Wednesday.

Casey Stengel, new manager of New York Yankees, said Thursday at New York that Boston Red Sox and not the defending champion Cleveland Indians, are the team to beat for the 1949 American League pennant. Furthermore, the outspoken Stengel said his own Yankees are potentially as good, if not better than the tribe.

Denis Compton, cricket player, has been voted Britain's "sportsman of the year" for 1948, it was announced at London. Compton also topped the country-wide ballot in 1947. He currently is playing cricket in South Africa for the Marylebone Club touring team. Next in line was Britain's light-heavyweight champion of the world, Freddie Mills.

Williams Will Defend Title Against Bolanos

New York Feb. 4 (AP)— Ike Williams, fighter of the year in 1948, will defend his lightweight title at Los Angeles against the No. 1 contender, Enrique Bolanos, for only 7 1-2 per cent of the gate, to help the Costello Junior Foundation.

The 15-round bout, scheduled for Los Angeles' Wrigley Field, April 21, was scheduled yesterday when Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Williams' manager, accepted the virtually-unprecedented low percentage.

Only in wartime, when champion Joe Louis came out of service to donate their entire purses to war relief funds, have champions fought for less.

Palermo said he was unable to get Bolanos' manager to agree to the same figure, so the champ finally took the low man's slice of 7 1-2 per cent. Bolanos, the Mexico City challenger who lost a split decision to Ike last May 25, will get 17 1-2 per cent.

Lou Costello and Bud Abbott, the comedians will promote the show for the benefit of the Lou Costello, Jr., Foundation.

It was founded after the death of Costello's one-year-old son a few years ago.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York Feb. 4 (AP) —Although owning a baseball club can be classed as a risky business there never seems to be a shortage of guys who are willing to invest their dough ... within a few days Bill and Charley Dewitt who should know the risks involved, and Fred M. Saigh, Jr., who may know, have bought controlling interests in the two St. Louis clubs ... in each case the reported price was about $1,000,000 ... Larry MacPhail, Branch Rickey and Bill Veeck have proved that it's possible to make more than a living out of baseball, but other owners have lost enough shirts to keep a laundry working on a double shift.

Strike Out

Ernie Lanigan, the baseball historian, comes up with this story about the time Honus Wagner was made player-manager of the Adrian, Mich., team of the old Michigan State League ... Wagner didn't know he was to manage the club until he reached Adrian and at the same time he found all the team's pitchers had mysteriously developed sore arms ... Honus heard of a Negro battery, Johnson and Gray, who were working for an industrial team and hired them ... Johnson pitched and won the first and third games of the opening series. Wagner moved from short to the mound and won the second and fourth... after that the ailing hurlers suddenly recovered.

E. Moore with 777 was high for the ladies. L. Ashley 758, J. Mulvihill 738 (295), Teresa Wardhaugh 639, D. Diamond 638 (294) also turned in good efforts.

I. Durphy was high for the men with 719, followed by T. Pappas 695, W. Moore 691 (297), P. Dixon 635, H. Myles 623, G. Seeley 618.

Shortage of Ice Temporarily Cramping Style of Barbara Ann

By GEORGE RONALD
Canadain Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 4 (CP)—If Barbara Ann Scott were the complaining type, her big beef these days probably would be the shortage of ice.

That's the one angle of professional figure-skating that has temporarily—but not seriously —cramped her style.

At the Chicago theatre, for instance, where the Olympic and world champion starts a two-week engagement tomorrow, she'll perform on a "rink" 20 feet by 24 feet. It's smaller than the tiny 30-by-40 slab of ice she had for her pro debut at the Roxy Theatre in New York.

New Challenge

But the cramped quarters present a new challenge which she says she enjoys— even if it does mean plenty of hard work.

Osborn Colson of Toronto, former Canadian champion who dreamed up the choereography for her Chicago show and put her through a stiff one-week rehearsal here, says she's doing fine.

Her daily practice sessions here lasted 5 1-2 hours. They were in a roped-off corner of the big Chevy Chase Ice Palace, home of the Washington Figure Skating Club. Colson is the club's pro.

Old Friends

Miss Scott and Colson are old friends, although the teacher-pupil set-up is fairly new. She has taken individual lessons from him in the past but the Washington routine was the first time Colson trained her for a specific performance.

Judging from the favorable reaction of the Washington railbirds, Miss Scott's Chicago show should be a hit.

After the Chicago Theatre show comes a role in a charity attraction sponsored by a Chicago newspaper (Sun-Times). Miss Scott was enthusiastic about that, too, although she had no details.

NEW BRITISH HOUSES

London — (CP) — More than 200,000 permanent dwellings were constructed in Britain last year — a new record. Since the post-war housing program started in April 1945 more than 406,000 houses have been completed.

St. Paul Saints In First Place Of Hockey Loop

(By The Associated Press)

A slam-bang attack, good for 25 goals in four games, has put St. Paul Saints in first place in the United States Hockey League's northern division.

St. Paul defeated Kansas City 8-3 Thursday night at St. Paul to take the top spot for the second time this year. The Saints have 58 points in the standings and Kansas City has 57.

The Pla-Mors didn't have a chance last night. St. Paul started with three goals in the first period and got three more in the second while Kansas City got one. The Saints eased up for two Kansas City scores in the third period after running the score system to Ontario and Canada as a whole and detailed the benefits which would come from to 8-1.

Moe Young and Lloyd Grondsdahl gave Tulsa a 2-1 victory over Minneapolis at Tulsa.

Young drove in an unassisted tally early in the third period, and Gronsdahl came back with another score on a double pass from Jim McAtee and Alex Ritson.

COMMONS CANNOT

At the House opening, Resources Minister MacKinnon announced that 125,414 immigrants, including 46,057 from the United Kingdom and 7,381 from the United States, entered Canada in 1948. The 1947 total was 64,127.

Justice Minister Garson said the Dominion understands the Prince Edward Island government plans to amend the much-criticized labor bill which outlaws unions with national or international affiliations.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the agricultural prices support act has been continued in force by government order to March 31, 1950. A further extention will be considered before that time, as provided under the act itself.

The Senate heard Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, charge that $500,000,000 had been "stolen" from Western farmers under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement and urged that it should be paid back by the rest of Canada.

Must be Together

In the Commons, Mr. MacNicol expressed doubt that the United States Congress would pass legislation for power development of the St. Lawrence alone, as suggested last week by Prime Minister St. Laurent. It would have to be power and navigation together, not one or the other alone.

He outlined the advantages of the Great Lakes Waterways the St. Lawrence deep seaway.

Mr. McIvor said the people of the head of the lakes regard development of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project "absolute necessities." President Truman was doing all he could to see that they were brought to fruition.

He called too, for reduction in taxes and the inauguration of a national contributory old-age pension plan.

Says Dangerous Action

Mr. Adamson criticized the government for "tying" Canada's currency to that of the United States, terming it a "dangerous" action, and urged that the foreign exchange control board act be allowed to lapse on its expiry date of March 31. The government's currency policies had placed Canada's exports of raw materials in a most vulnerable position.

Mr. Brunnelle said he hoped there would be a "considerable" reduction in income taxes and, touching on margarine, said he believed the butter substitute was here to say. By continuing its ban against margarine, the government had protected the farmers for a half-century.

Wants Floor Prizes

Mr. Fair urged the establishment of floor prices under farm products and provision for the extension of international food agreements. The Social Credit Party favored the continuation of the Canadian Wheat Board.

Mr. Bradette appealed to members of all parties to refrain from making election "promises" in the forthcoming Federal contest and charged that the Progressive Conservatives in Ontario had "dipped deeply" into the Ontario treasury in last year's provincial election.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The casualties in bridge bidding used to be appalling. Most of the offenders were nature-fakers. They were the fellows who thought their natural instinct could decide when it was safe to bid a slam.

A few of us made an attempt to reduce this crime wave. Here and there somebody popped up with a guide to safer slams. Most of them were not worth the ink they were printed with.

But all of them contributed to better methods. If in no other way, they were good for comparison to decide what not to do. From these sprang methods with various degrees of merit.

My Alderwood convention was the first wholesale ace and king shower. This gave Culbertson the germ idea for his four no-trump. From four no-trump as an asker blossomed The Kibitzer replies.

Evidently influenced by The Kibitzer replies came the variant known as Blackwood. Sparked by a combination of these is a slightly different asker known as the four club convention.

Each of these has its host of followers. The ones most widely publicized got a quicker start. But this does not prove which is best. Only fair comparisons by open minds could decide.

You can always frame a hand or pair or deal to prove that any convention will help it. This is no criterion. A convention is good only if it applies best to the greatest majority of hands.

Several current conventions will apply to a majority of hands. Of these, which is the best? There can be but one answer. It is the one that will do the most good in the greatest majority.

See the pair of hands shown here:

There will be an inclination in this pair to investigate chances for a slam. Make use of the convention you favor. See where it lands you. Make it a soft spot.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 4 (AP)—It looks as though Betty Hutton will stick to the violent screen roles that shot her to fame.

Right now Betty is getting the full treatment in "Red, Hot and Blue"—pie-throwing and everything. Despite all the vehicles that have been announced, her next likely will be "Little Boy Blue," a night club yarn. Only other set for the cast as yet is Billy DeWolfe.

There's good reason for Betty's hewing to knockabout roles. "Dream Girl," in which she played a wistful Walter Mitty, was not among her best-selling pictures.

People's Plans

Montgomery Clift still has no picture plans. He's in Switzerland on a vacation. He is reported mulling "Lorna Doone" for Edward Small in England, but nothing has been set. At any rate, Hollywood won't be seeing Monty for some time, unfortunately.

Peter Lawford will take his father and mother to England this summer, for their first return to the homeland since they left in 1937. They'll leave as soon as Pete finishes "Storm Over Vienna."

Star Notes

Dorothy Lamour is in Palm Springs nursing torn ligaments in her leg...

Reports here are that Lana Turner will be back sooner than expected. She's eager for work, friends say...

Jose Iturbi, Kathryn Grayson and Johnny Johnston are planning to join for concert dates in Europe this spring...

Mary Astor is a regular student at Hollywood Art Centre, where she's studying ceramics and sculpture...

CONVICTIONS UPHELD

Toronto, Feb. 4 — (CP)—Convictions of six men involved in connection with a fight in a Lindsay hotel, were upheld in appeal court Thursday but the sentences were reduced.

All six were originally sentenced to three months imprisonment following conviction last June. Gerald Tracy Thursday had his sentence reduced to a $100 fine, while the other five — Lionel, Leo and Earl Tracy, John Hopkins and Lorne McGee — will serve 30 days and must post $1,000 bonds to keep the peace.

In the scuffle a police officer suffered a broken hand and rib.

MIDWINTER FLOOD—Sixty Longueuil families were forced to leave their homes by unreasonable flooding of the St. Lawrence River this week. The flood in the south shore community opposite Montreal was caused by an ice jam two miles down the river. Here is one of the flood victims making a tour of the area in a rowboat. (CP Photo)

Adam's car stalled at a crossing as he drove to work yesterday. Train No. 17 of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad was approaching, but fast.

Adam, 27, who is a railroad brakeman, grabbed his brakeman's lantern and flagged down the train. The big diesel engine slowed and just nudged Adam's car. Total damage was a dented fender.

Chicago wholesale florists were asked to send flowers after cold weather destroyed much of California's flowers grown there in open fields.

Baltimore — (AP) — 23-year-old gypsy fortune teller came up with a new wrinkle in future gazing — but was pinched by it.

Not finding any bumps on a customer's head, she read the wrinkles on his forehead.

The customer turned out to be a member of the vice squad. The gypsy was found guilty yesterday of illegal fortune telling.

San Fernandao, Calif — (AP)—Five years ago Donald Meyer was reported missing in Germany. The war department subsequently listed him as dead and for four years his wife has been receiving a pension.

Recently the government informed Mrs. Meyer it had learned her husband was not dead but had been in several British hospitals undergoing treatment for severe shell-fragment wounds and shock.

Finally recovering his health and mind, he came home.

Mrs. Meyer had been unbelieving until her husband walked into their home. So elated were the two they sought out Judge H. A. Decker and were remarried.

"It was the most pleasant duty I ever performed," the judge said Thursday.

Govt. Lodges New Charges Against Pembroke Jeweler

Pembroke, Feb. 4 — (CP)—The federal government has lodged new charges against two Pembroke jewelers for non-collection and non-payment of the revenue department's 25-per-cent luxury tax on retail sales.

George J. Simpson, already convicted on 10 counts of failing to collect and pay the tax, yesterday received a summons to appear in magistrate's court on a 11th count. The court opens Thursday.

Howard E. Woolcock, convicted last Thursday and ordered to pay fines totalling more than $800, will face a new charge of railing to pay or collect tax in the amount of $176.84 during the two-month period from Oct. 14 to Dec. 14. 1948.

Simpson will face his 11th charge for failing to collect of pay the tax during the one-month period Dec. 15, 1948 to Jan. 15, 1449. The amount involved is $2,177. On the new charge Simpson faces a minimum fine of $2,302 or in default a jail sentence of not less than one month and not more than one year.

He has yet to pay court fines arising out of the previous charges of $2,177 plus $100 court costs.

Unlike Woolcock who pleaded bookkeeping errors as the reason why he did not file weekly returns on tax collections, Simpson said the 25-per-cent tax collections were unconstitutional.

He would appeal, he said, "on the grounds any law that orders a man to do a large amount of work without one cent payment or for expense involved is contrary to the letter and the spirit of our Canadian constitution."

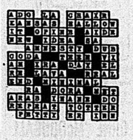
Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle



Little Benny's Note Book

Satturday morning ma was in her room trying to make things look even neeter, and I said, Hay ma, can I go to the special all Western show at the Little Grand this afternoon?

Some day you'll learn in the school of hard nocks that life doesn't consist exclusively of asking and being given, ma said. You'll suddinly find out that plezzure isn't free. In other werds it costs money and you'll have to werk for it, she said, and I said, Maybe somebody will leave me a big fortune in their will.

It wont be anybody around here, by present indications and future prospects, ma said, and said, Well okay, ma, I'll do some werk around here this morning. What do you want me to do for you, ma? I said.

Oh, anything helpful, it's the principal of the thing, ma said, and I said, I know what, ma. I'll make you a lot of fudge to hand around wesnday when the bridge ladies play here. Thnk of all the money and expense it'll save you. So how about it, ma? I said.

I'm afraid not, though no doubt it's quite a brilliant idea, ma said, and I said, Then why are you afraid not, ma?

One reason is, it would be stale before Wensday, and I wont go into the other reasons, ma said, and I said, Then G, ma, suppose I take an exter bath? That would seem like werk, I said.

I'm going to mix some icing for a cake this morning, why dont you suggest licking the bowl? ma said, and I said, G, ma, are you serious?

What do you think? ma said.

Meening no, and the result was I fixed up my room and shined my Sunday shoes.

Lakefield Beats Frankford Team By 7-5 Score

Frankford — Frankford-Batawa Combines dropped their third straight game in Lakefield Wednesday night by a 7-5 count. The Combines were without the services of several of their star players, including Forester, the Masons and McKee. They led until well along in the third period, but hard playing took its toll and the boys tired badly. It was a well-played game, clean hockey all the way, and a well earned victory for Lakefield.

Tuesday night saw a twin bill in the Frankford District Hockey League. In the opener, Bethel-Zion Combines blanked Centenary 5-0, little Johnny Robson chalking up his second shutout of the season. From the drop of the puck it was B-Z all the way, and except for a magnificent job of net minding by the Centenary goalie it would have been a considerably higher score. In the nightcap Glen Miller took a 5-2 decision from Frankford. Frankford matched the visitors almost play for play, but fell down badly defensively and on chances around the Glen Miller net.

A meeting was held in the Frankford arena following the games Tuesday evening to discuss a complaint laid by three of the league teams that Glen Miller was using a number of players who were ineligible for the league. Rule No. 1 in the league regulations reads as follows: "No player is eligible if he plays in any other organized league, excepting juvenile or shop leagues. (Shop league refers to inter-departmental teams in a company, such as Bata Shoe, or Northern Electric.)

A list of names was submitted with the teams on which the Glen Miller players were playing in Trenton. All told, at least nine of their players are also playing with Trenton teams.

Manager H. Campbell of the Glen Miller club, stated that at the time the players were signed for his team none of them were playing in other leagues, and they promised faithfully that they would not, while the Frankford District League was in action. However, after playing for some time in the Frankford league they signed up with other Trenton teams without notifying Campbell in any way. If this is the case the guilty players pulled a very raw deal on Manager Campbell and Coach George Wickens. Both have worked hard in organizing the team and have spent considerable money out of their own pockets to help them along.

After some discussion it was put to a vote as to whether Glen Miller should be permitted to remain in the league. They were given permission to remain, provided they would drop four players from their team. Glen Miller refused the compromise, which was the final decision.

This now leaves six teams in the league who will carry on for the balance of the schedule. The standings of the six teams will not be changed, since Glen Miller were undefeated.

Frankford Juvenile Hockey Club lost a close one to Wellington Juveniles Wednesday by a score of 3-1. Ashby got Frankford's only counter. Hanna and Moran broke through several times on nice solo efforts but were unable to beat the Wellington net minder. In the other end of the arena, Appleby turned in a very good performance for the Lions. Two of the three goals scored were on screened shots, which gave Jim no chance at all.

Rev. Fred Lane, Helen and Kenneth of Wellington, attended the Wellington-Frankford juvenile game Wednesday evening.

In the Frankford - Trenton mixed bowling league Wednesday night the Spark Plugs of Trenton strengthened their league lead by taking five points from the second place Egg Graders. Ed Moore rolled league high single to date with 326. The Petunias took five points from the last place Shmoos in the other game.

Rockets, Gunners Defeat Trenton To Win Groups

Belleville minor hockey teams won their groups handily at Memorial Arena last night with the Rockets juveniles defeating Trenton by a 7-1 score and the Gunner midgets taking the Trenton kids into camp by a 10-0 count. The games were the second of a two-game goals-to-count series.

The Gunners midgets meet Peterborough in the first round of the OMHA Midget "B" playoffs the first game to be played in Peterborough on Tuesday night with the second here on Thursday. The Juvenile Rockets trek to Brockville on Tuesday for their first clash in the playdowns and also play their return game here on Thursday next.

Gunners 10—Trenton 0 . . . . . .

The speedy Belleville kids playing one of the best games of the season had little trouble in turning back the plucky Trenton youngsters. They whipped home five goals in the first period; three in the second and as the visitors tightened their play, got two additional markers in the third beat.

Carey and Lally were the sniping stars for the winners, the former scoring three goals and being credited with three assists and the latter also got his hat trick together with four helpers. Wee Davy Jones, Allen, Hull and Green got the remaining markers.

Five penalties were handed out by the officials, three of them going to the visitors.

The teams:

Gunners: goal, Barclay; defence, Milligan, Green; centre, Barrett; wings, Carey, Jones; subs Allen, Lally, Elliott, Hull, Thompson, Schrieder.

Trenton: goal, Wanamaker; defence, Webster, Beale; centre, Wilson; wings, Scaletta, Watts; subs, Bassin, Campney, Childerhose, Deshane, Jeffery, Quinn.

Rockets 7; Trenton 1

The fast - improving Rockets juveniles opened the scoring after forty seconds of play in the first period when Brown fired home the rubber from Strahan's pass. Play ranged up and down the ice for the next fifteen minutes and then Strahan gave the homesters a two-goal lead when he whacked home Gilmour's pass. Gilmour made it 3-0 thirty seconds later on a pass from Brown.

Rivett and Brown counted in the second period on passes from Nolan and Strachan and in the third Gilmour and Rivett scored to give the Rockets a six goal lead. Trenton scored its lone goal in this period when Demill beat the Rockets' goalie on a pass from Carswell.

Brown, Gilmour and Rivette scored twice each for the Rockets with Strachan getting the odd goal. Six penalties were handed out by the officials, four of them going to the Rockets.

The teams:

Rockets: goal, Green;; defence, Carmichael, Garvin; centre, Brown; wings, Gilmour, Strachan; subs, Muirhead, Hatfield, B. Brown, Lupinette, Nolan, Rivett, Dolan.

Trenton: goal, Arment; defence, Scott, Carswell; centre, Robertson; wings, Beale, Brown; subs, Allen, Mitts, Fox, Deshane, DeMille, Quinn, Ferguson, Chounard.

Hunters Still Seem Eager For Fox Bounties

Peterborough, Feb. 4 (CP) — Hunters still seem eager for fox bounties. Thursday 86 pelts, a record number for any week since the bounty became effective were brought into the office of the county clerk and treasurer.

This makes a total of 333 pelts which have been identified and marked and on which the $3 bounty has been paid since Jan. 1.

First claims for wolves since before Christmas was made this week. Matthew Didero bagged two of them while looking for foxes in Otonabee.

Leading marksman was Don Taylor of Curve Lake who shot 12 foxes second was Mark Lonsberry of Dummer who shot nine and trapped two.

Belmont had the highest number of wolves this week with 20, it was followed by Otonabee with 17 and Douro and Harvey with 16 each.

MARMORA

Marmora Juveniles Defeat Campbellford 7-2

Marmora — Marmora Juveniles were at home to Campbellford Juveniles on Thursday evening in the first of a home and home series in O.M.H.A. playoffs in O.M.H.A. playoffs in which goals are to count and Marmora won the score of 7-2 The margin would have been less but for the fine showing of Sweet in Marmora nets, some of his saves being breathtaking. Ingram in the Campbellford goal also turned in a good game. The game was fought clean and was characterized with some good combination by both teams. The second game is in Campbellford on Monday. The winner of the series is to meet North Hastings at Bancroft in the next round.

The Teams:

Campbellford: Goal, Ingram; defence, White, Revoy; wings, Moore, Anderson; alternates B. Darrah, Andrews, Bennett, Beggs Kemp, Gumnio, Jeffs, Hay.

Spare goalie—J. Dooker.

Marmora—Goal, Sweet; defence Gray, Smith; centre, Forestell; wings, Darrah, Johnston; alternates, Shannon, Leal, Mumby, Mantle, Brown, Brooks, C. Trumble, Eggett.

Referee, B. L. Robinson, Campbellford; linesman, E. Cousins, Deloro.

ANNUAL RACE HELD

Toronto, Feb. 4 (CP)—The traditional sports event of the University of oTronto's winter team—the annual inter-faculty chariot race—was held yesterday to the accompaniment of bomb explosions and brass bands. In keeping with tradition, the race was won by its originators, the School of Practical Science, but not before the winning team had been snowballed, swamped with freezing water and harassed with smoke bombs.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

What Would be Good News?

By ROY L. SMITH

The Gospel has been called good news. That gives us a right to ask what it promises to the world.

The Communists have restricted religion, declaring it promised "pie in the sky, bye and bye," but did nothing about the stern and grim facts of this life.

All this makes it reasonable to ask a simple question. "What would be the best news this world of ours could hear?"

Christianity Began With Social Concern

It is highly significant that one of the earliest Christian utterances preserved for us in the New Testament is Mary's song in which she rejoiced, before the birth of Jesus, that the poor were to have a new chance in this world.

> The Sunday School Lesson for February 6: "Jesus' Early Teaching and Healing." Mark 1:14-15, 21-45; Luke 4:16-30.

It is also highly significant that in the preaching of John the Baptist there was large emphasis placed on the importance and basic necessity of social justice. He rebuked the soldiers who racketeered their way among the people, and he insisted that those who had much must share with those who had little.

Again and again in the preaching and teaching of Jesus this doctrine of Godly concern in behalf of the undeprivileged appears.

God Have Mercy on the Church

A Roman Catholic priest, writing in a popular magazine some years ago, put the matter bluntly and effectively. "God have mercy on the Church," he said, "when the poor cease knocking at its doors."

There is a profound sense of uneasiness in many quarters lest modern social work may have gotten too far away from the Church and the gentle influences of religion.

We have become very efficient in dealing with problems of poverty, maladjustment, and relief; but we are in grave danger of overlooking the basic spiritual factors of life out of which the really deep issues arise.

We have learned to write up records, apply techniques, psychocase histories, investigate, keep analyze, and publicize, but we have let the mournful go on mourning because they have not discovered those inner resources which stalwart the soul.

It was a tragic day for all concerned when the Church, which stands for the gospel of mercy, allowed itself to be divorced from the works of mercy.

The Church and Economics

"Let the Church be the Church," was the easy phrase which rested so tremulously on the lips of the critical and unthinking only a few years ago, as if there was one field in which the Church might work and another (and a wide one at that) from which it was forever alienated.

It is perfectly true that Jesus said man could not live by bread alone, but it is not true that he ever said man could live without bread. It is the business of the Church to strike out against any aspect of modern life which results in poverty, disease, suffering, or deprivation. Economic systems as well as individual sinners must be converted.

The Gospel of Good News

To some people the best news they could possibly hear would be a calm and confident assurance that they could be delivered from their fears. The psychopathic wards are filled clear across the land. The Christian Church must preach a Gospel that assures men there is a deliverance available which will free them from these houndings and harryings which are reducing life to a house of horrors.

To other people the best news they could hear would be the assurance of help in their struggle after a certain decent self-respect that comes with an honest self-support. The Church makes a mistake whenever it espouses the cause of a loafer, a wastrel, or a defaulter; but it is doing the work of God when it takes its place alongside the discouraged, the exploited, the diseased and the underprivileged.

In appraising the Christian Gospel as it is preached today in modern pulpits, it might be well to ask ourselves: "What would be the best news the world of today could hear, and what is the Church doing to make that good news true news?"

Girl Victim Of Accident Will Not Lose Leg

Toronto, Feb. 4 — (CP) — Helen Billson, pretty 19-year-old dress model, will not lose her leg after all.

Doctors who had feared they would have to amputate Helen's leg as the result of a traffic accident last Sunday in which her 21-year-old fiance, William Miller, was killed, reassured her today. She will not require further transfusions.

The couple were struck down as they left a dance just east of the city The motorist failed to stop. Virgil Barkman, a Toronto barber, later surrendered to police. He is charged with manslaughter and leaving the scene of an accident.

Miss Billson said today: "That's wonderful. I haven't said anything about my fears but I have been thinking for days how awful it would be to lose my leg."

AMMONIA FROM HORNS

Ammonia once was distilled from the horns and hoofs of animals and was known as spirit of hartshorn.

SHANNONVILLE

Shannonville — Mary Isobel Vivian of Albert College, Belleville was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Vivian.

Mr. Will Walker has not been so well these past few days. It is hoped he will soon be feeling much better.

At the Sunday evening service at Holy Trinity Anglican Church Rev. E. M. Caldwell took his text from 1 Titus verse 5 and spoke on the subject "For this cause left I thee in Crete."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherry, John and Jimmy of Belleville, were recent guests of Mrs. Sherry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. MacFarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wilson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs Fred Galbraith of Camden East.

Barbara Caldwell recently entertained some of her friends on the occasion of her birthday. Present on this special occasion were Norma Sager, Betty Marion, Ethel-Reda McCann, Lynda Marion, Ruth and Patricia Angevine.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Klinsteper on the recent arrival of their son. Mr. and Mrs. H. Elmy were across the bay on Sunday to visit their first grandson. Mrs. Klinsteper will be remembered as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmy.

Mrs. R. Kincaid and her granddaughter, Mary, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McCarthy.

Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Caldwell were hosts to the recently-formed Women's Auxiliary of Herchimer Avenue Anglican Church this week. Mrs. Caldwell is the president of this new group. The Study Book, based on Missions, was followed for the meeting's program. It was decided to hold a bake sale at the market square on Saturday February 19th. The hostess served delicious refreshments which brought a very interesting meeting to a close.

Start Hearings For Deportation Of Sam Carr

New York, Feb. 4 (CP).— The United States Immigration Department has started hearings for deportation to Canada of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carr.

Mrs. Carol King, counsel for the Carrs, made the announcement.

Details were not available from immigration service headquarters.

Presumably the hearings are being held at Ellis Island, immigration detention centre where the Carrs were taken last week after their arrest in New York City.

Mrs. King said the deportation proceedings are continuing "along normal lines, but perhaps a little faster than usual."

Carr, former organizer for the Canadian Labor-Progressive party and a key figure in a post-war spy inquiry, had been sought for three years by Canadian authorities before his arrest here by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mrs. King said that, as legal adviser to the Carrs, she is not trying to halt or delay the deportation order.

She said that the Carrs appearance Tuesday before a federal grand jury investigating Communist activity in the United States will be their only appearance before a United States inquiry body.

Mrs. King did not expand this comment. Apparently it means the House of Representatives Committee at Washington has given up any idea it may have had of calling Carr as a witness.

The immigration service has charged Carr with illegal entry, Mrs. Carr with over-staying her visitor's permit.

Will Generate Power At Chatham by Steam To Ease Scarcity

Chatham, Feb. 4 — (CP)—Announcement was made today that 10,000 kilowatt hours of electricity will be generated here by steam for Ontario hydro to help the power situation. The new plant will be the second largest in a system of 15 steam and diesel generators being set up in western Ontario auxiliary system, and will be operated from the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company plant.

SUSPEND SENTENCE

Windsor, Feb. 4 (CP)—Albert Bassant, 18, a newcomer from England, yesterday was given a two-year suspended sentence after pleading guilty to stealing four shotguns, five rifles and a revolver from a hardware store. He said the arsenal was to equip a "gang" so they could steal from the rich and give to the poor.

OLIVER
"77"

A New Model of a Famous Tractor

Oliver begins its second century with the introduction of a new fleet of quality farm tractors—including the new 2-3 plow "77", a tractor with advanced farm features that make field work faster and more efficient than ever.

The smooth, brisk valve-in-head engine of the "77" is a six—and you have a choice of three types for the fuel you prefer: high compression for gasoline, "KD" for tractor fuels, and a diesel that will be available later.

The "77" will set a new performance mark in the operation of power take-off machines with its direct drive unit . . . a new economy record with its 6-forward-speed transmission in the Oil Miser case, Fuel Miser governor, and the basic interchangeability of Oliver's full line of tractor-mounted tools with all other new Row Crop models. Wheels on Row Crop models are interchangeable, too—with a choice of cast iron or stamped steel.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

She told Lucy where she bought the frock. It was an expensive shop.

Lucy wanted to know where she lived, where she went to school, Had she ever been in England?

No, Rosalie said she hadn't, — why?

"Oh, I thought you might have met Cecil abroad. That's where Frannie and I met him. At his brother's place. He's Lord Somerville, you know."

Rosalie said she didn't know. But she thought about it for a long time afterward. And she could not place the shy, stammering boy as such. If she had known he was Lord Somerville's brother, she would hardly have dared to ask him to dance with her.

Bringing her gaze back now from the white roofs she looked at his profile, at the aristocratic contours of his face beneath his fair hair blowing softly above a poetic forehead.

There was something fragile, boyish about him. She could see him framed by a wide hall in a great castle. In that castle there would be beautiful tapestries and huge hearths. The walls would be hung with portraits of great ladies and gentlemen. They would all look slightly like Cecil. Eton, Oxford, Westminster at coronation cast shadows that she could see back of him quite plainly.

She wondered what he would think if he knew she had come by her fortune as she did.

"Look here, you aren't going to the Sussex, are you Rosalie?"

She looked at him helplessly. "Shouldn't I? I really don't know what to do, Cecil."

The rather awful thought struck her that she shouldn't have said she would go to the big hotel where the others were staying,—shouldn't have accepted their suggestion so rapidly. It would look to them — and to Cecil — as if she were too eager.

"It'll be an awful crush. And the same sort of things I imagine you've been doing in New York. It's chi-chi." Rosalie had no idea what chi-chi meant. "You'll be dressing for this and that and dancing and being formal and all that."

Rosalie couldn't tell him that was exactly what she had come for; she couldn't bring herself to saying it without betraying herself.

"But isn't that what one comes here for?" she asked experimentally.

"Some people," he said.

"Then what do you think I should do?"

"Come to Somerset," he said promptly. "You'll love it. It's completely English, like English country. You won't have tourists falling all over you, and bicycles running you down. It's quiet and peaceful, and beautiful."

Rosalie set her lips firmly. Quiet and peace was the last things she wanted. And apparently every man she knew yearned for quiet and peace.

"And I want you there."

Rosalie found suddenly that quiet and peace might have their virtues. She said, "Are there any big hotels there?"

"No, but there's the loveliest estate in Bermuda. It's Oxford Gardens, and I know you'll love it. That's where we're going to be."

We're?

Who were they? Visions of Lord Somerville, and possibly a Lady Somerville rose in Rosalie's mind.

"Come along," he said boyishly. "You and I are getting to be very good friends and I shouldn't be able to see very much of you if you stay in Hamilton."

"Why not?"

"It's quite a distance . . . and I may not be able to get away frequently."

Rosalie thought it over. She thought it over while they docked. And at lunch, after she had seen the little cruiser that Cecil pointed to, saying "That's our boat," she decided that she would go to Somerset.

"Tell me about Oxford Gardens," she said. "Can I manage without reservations?"

And Cecil went off at once to telephone and returned to tell her that her reservations were made.

"It'll be all right for you to come over on our boat," he told her. Rosalie thought the English had a peculiar way of putting things.

The others — the Mabees, the Van Alstynes, the Cantrells and Kendricks — saw them into the little boat and told her to ring them up when she was coming back to Hamilton. Feeling quite adventurous, and a little regretful, Rosalie waved good-bye to them and promised she would.

Front street in Hamilton beckoned to her as they sped away. It looked so gay, so exciting. It was boat day and the streets were filled with people in bright-colored clothes, walking and riding bicycles. The busy throngs, the white buildings, the gala carriages, those were the things that she was being whisked away from and she wanted to see them slowly and be part of them.

But the boat ride was exciting, too. Cecil told of the points of interest they passed.

She began to anticipate Somerset. Somerset and Cecil. As they drew near, she saw the white coral roads, the dark cedar trees and the bright flowers and she thought of the rising moon and the clop of horses' hooves on the road. And Cecil sitting beside her, telling her more of England. And, perhaps, of Cecil's family—

It was a small boy, about twelve who waved in reply and shouted, "Hi, Bum!"

"Hi, yourself!" Cecil returned, and peered anxiously behind the figure, up the winding road, seeking some one.

"Is this our stop?" Rosalie asked.

"What? Oh, yes, of course." Cecil guided her up the narrow gangplank. As if he had forgotten her, she thought.

The small boy, hands in pockets, watched the removal of their luggage without further comment.

"Where's Angela?" Cecil asked him.

"Gone to St. George with Tubby Reid."

"Did she know I was coming?" There was almost pleading anxiety in his voice. Rosalie heard it and felt that the sun had gone behind a cloud.

"Nobody really knew. Angela wouldn't tell the Mater anyway. She's sore as a toad. Said she told you to come last week."

Cecil's brow was furrowed. His voice, when he turned back to Rosalie, was penitent, but she could read into it his anxiety to be away!

"Rosalie, I'll have to send you to the Gardens in a carriage. The driver knows where it is. I'll try to get over to see you this evening. Or tomorrow."

Rosalie Bates was riding in a carriage for the first time in her life and her feeling was one of elegance. All too soon the horses had covered the road from the dock to Oxford Gardens. And Rosalie found herself deposited before a cottage net in a great garden of tropical trees and plants and vivid-hued flowers. Her heart slipped downward as she contemplated it.

"This," she thought, "is like a New England summer place. Whatever shall I do here?"

What a little fool she had been to leave Hamilton and its gaiety behind her. She marched — she didn't walk — up to the screen door and let herself into a dining-room.

"Miss Bates?"

It was good to hear her own name; she felt a little less lost. "Yes," she said to a very attractive young man.

"My name's Russell. I'll have your luggage sent to your cottage, and I'll take you up."

She began to wonder about the others at the Gardens, and somewhat dolefully eyed a group of elderly women knitting on the porch.

Would Cecil be able to find her? "Tonight or tomorrow" he had said casually. She amended the word casually. Cecil had not been casual. Cecil had been disturbed. Who was Angela? And who was the she who was "sore as a toad"? And who was the boy? And why hadn't Cecil introduced him?

Czech General Kutlvasr Arrested As Conspiracy Head

Prague, Feb. 3 (Reuters)— The ministeries of national defence and interior in a joint communique today announced the arrest of Gen. Karel Kutlvasr as leader of a group of alleged conspirators held since December.

The group were arrested on charges of planning terrorist activity and co-operating with a "spy centre of a western power."

NORTH RECLUSE

Thorns Sratched Legs

When he was in the Boer War the "wiggle waggle" of his kilts pleased him, but they weren't as satisfactory as long dresses because "thorns used to scratch my legs."

When he returned to Canada from South Africa he worked in an Ontario copper mine and with two timber companies. Just how falling trees and Nellee's skirts didn't tangle, he doesn't say.

But when he became a "demon fireman" on various railroads serving the north, he compromised for a long apron instead of his usual dress.

"I'm a dressmaker by trade," he informs his rare guests.

He spends hours on creations for himself, so he doesn't have much extra time to drum up trade. Occasionally he does dressmaking for neighbors.

Tomstown residents have a genuine affection for the lonely old man. Instead of being considered a curiosity, he is liked for his cheerful disposition and friendly acceptance of everyone. His grocer uses the utmost tact by addressing him both as Mr. and Mrs. Nellee has never indicated which appellation he prefers.

Goes On Spree

Once a month when his $30 pension comes in, Nellee goes on a spree. He curls his long white hair, dons his silk stockings and bustle, mounts his 1890 model woman's bicycle and rides into town for groceries.

He lives off his pension —and rabbits.

Another of his prides is a drawer full of finery. For really dress-up occasions he pulls out peek-a-boo waists, Gibson-girl blouses and lacy bits of women's lingerie.

"Women's clothes today are more practical, more comfortable and easier to work in than they were a century ago," comments Nellee.

But the modern miss can have the "new look" as far as he is concerned—Nellee is still the muscular belle of the '90s.

"Hard Sentence" Demanded By Hungarian Prosecutor In Trial of Catholic Primate

Budapest, Feb. 5 (AP)—The government prosecutor today demanded a "hard" sentence for Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty — meaning death.

Hungarian prosecutors never ask for life or death sentences. But when a prosecutor asks for a "hard" sentence it means the most severe possible—death by hanging.

A verdict "hard and inexorable, labelling tyranny and exploiting" was demanded by prosecutor Gyula Tdapi not only for Cardinal Mindszenty but for all his six co-defendants as well.

"The verdict should stigmatize the traitors," he added.

In a summation for the cardinal ,the court-appointed defence counsel, Kalman Kicko, asked for a "wise and lenient decision" by the five-man "People's Court" which will decide both the question of guilt or in offence and the penalty.

Difficult Task

"My task was difficult, but I did the best I could for the defendant," said the defence lawyer. "I remind you that all of you in this courtroom will likely be mentioned in world history and your deeds will be judged through the next century."

Soviet Zone in Bad Way, Economic State Worse, Anti-Reds Back West

By THOMAS A. REEDY

Berlin, Feb. 4 (AP)— Tightening of the western Allies' counter-blockade of Soviet occupied Germany brought a bleat today from a Russian-licensed newspaper that this was "the Anglo-American answer to Stalin's peace initiative.".

The Berlin Zeitung, which carried the headline, also predicted further hardships, now would be inflicted upon the already hard-pressed Russian occupation one.

A British information survey said the Soviet zone is in a bad way economically and probably will get worse.

Berlin's anti-Communists have endorsed the Anglo-American action which prohibited any highway freight traffic between western Europe and the Soviet zone from crossing the British and American ones. Rail traffic was shut off last fall to counter the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Meanwhile the Soviet official press announced conclusion of a trade agreement between the Russian zone and Denmark providing for an exchange of goods worth 18,000,000 Danish kroner from each side.

The west's counter blockade is pinching off what was left to eastern Germans after the "vacuum cleaner" of Russian reparations got through.

This counter blockade has chopped more severely into eastern Germany's industries that the Russians dare admit.

Latest move was the ban on truck freight across the combined British and Aemrican zones to Soviet Germany announced last night. The trucking prohibition affects neighboring countries especially Holland, which ran a big line to Czechoslovakia, across western Germany.

Canada Displaces United States As Britain's Chief Supplier

London, Feb. 5 (CP)—Treasury officials said today that Canada made history in 1948, displacing the United States as Britain's chief supplier.

Britain's largest trade deficit with any country last year was with Canada.

Detailed trade figures are still to be published by the Board of Trade but its is understood that 1948 imports from Canada are valued at £216,600,000 ($866,400,000) and United Kingdom exports to Canada at £69,600,000, plus re-exports of £1,600,000—a total of £71,200,000.

This made the trade deficit £145,400,000.

Canadian sales to the United Kingdom in 1947 totalled £230,300,000. Canadian purchases from the United Kingdom in that year were £43,300,000.

Rigid economy in dollar purchases have reduced Britain's purchases with the most sever reductions applied against the U.S.

In 11 months of 1943, imports from the United States were valued at £172,600,000, compared with £278,400,000 in in the same period of 1947. Exports to the United States in the same 11 months were valued at £60,700,000, compared with £43,000,000 in the same period of 1947.

The treasury said Canada was fifth among the six chief export markets of the United Kingdom.

Australia was the biggest single export market. Canada was a leading customer for woollen textiles, with 1948 purchases valued at £18,300,000, and fifth largest for cotton textiles, valued at £6,600,000.

In 1948, Canada became by some margin Britain's largest supplier, whereas both in 1947 and 1938 the nited States had been Britain's biggest supplier by a considerable margin, with Canada second.

DREW SLAMS BACK AT HIS CRITICS IN THE COMMONS

Defends Himself Against Several Govt. Charges

Ottawa, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Under unremitting Liberal fire for a week, George Drew slammed back at his critics in the Commons last night.

In an unexpected re-entry into the throne speech debate that threw the House into frequent uproar, the Progressive Conservative leader defended himself from a succession of government charges on his attitude on the Atlantic pact, Dominion - Provincial relations and family allowances.

He struck back with allegations that the government is playing politicism on defensive alliance and on the issue of revising Canada's constitution.

His belligerent plunge into the debate for the second time in a week was punctuated by sharp clashes with his old enemy, Justice Minister Garson, and by turbulent outbursts of mingled cheers and jeers from a House suddenly jolted out of a humdrum debate.

It was the Commons' first taste of the slam-bang tactics for which Mr. Drew, former Ontario premier, was noted before moving to the federal field.

Needled earlier in the day by External Affairs Minister Pearson on the ground Progressive Conservatives had not discussed the Atlantic pact at this session, Mr. Drew said their attitude would be made unmistakeably clear when legislation on the alliance comes before the House.

Mr. Pearson had asked if the Progressive Conservatives were "playing politics with peace," but Mr. Drew alleged it was the minister who was playing politics.

Says P.M. Not Fair

He accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of not being "frank and fair" in reading an excerpt from a 1944 speech quoting Mr. Drew as calling the baby bonus a bribe to Quebec.

Mr. Drew, taxed by the Liberals with helping wreck the Dominion-Provincial financial conferences, read a quotation from Premier Manning of Alberta placing responsibility on the "uncompromising rigidity" of Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, then Liberal finance minister.

35 YEARS G.T.R. AGENT

Brantford, Feb. 5 (CP)—William J. Hurley, for 35 years Grand Trunk railway agent at Dumfries Siding, died Friday at his home in St. George. He was 87. Mr. Hurley was born near Dublin, Ont., and had resided in St. George for 36 years.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 5 (CP) — Synopsis: Light falls of snow have been occurring over Southern Ontario most of the night. Another storm is headed this way. At present it is centred over eastern Wyoming. By Sunday morning it will have moved into Iowa and snow can be expected to reach the western regions of Ontario at that time. In southwestern Ontario snow may become mixed with rain later in the day.

Moscow Proposals Should Be Treated With 'Cool Analysis' Rather Than "Easy Optimism"

—Pearson

Ottawa, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Parliament today pondered a warning from External Affairs Minister Pearson to treat Moscow conciliation proposals with "cool analysis" rather than "easy optimism."

While declaring it would be folly and worse to reject any sign of friendship from Soviet Russia, Mr. Pearson told the Commons yesterday that the door to co-operation should be kept open—but not for "Trojan horses."

The minister, making his first appearance in House debates, drew universal applause until he jibed at Progressive Conservatives who had spoken in the throne-speech debate for not talking about the North Atlantic security pact.

He suggested the official opposition was "playing politics with peace." This was greeted with some sharp denial from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

Throwing the charge back at its author, Mr. Drew said the minister has given reason why Progressive Conservatives had not mentioned the pact. Mr. Pearson had said he assumed that later in the session there would be a debate on external affairs and on the North Atlantic security pact.

And, amid jeers from Liberal benches, Mr. Drew added:

"That is precisely the reason that I omitted to discuss a pact that is not yet before this House, a pact that no member has seen except the government, a pact, in fact, that would be most improper to discuss until the minister has tabled it in this House."

He said the pact should be discussed with a knowledge of the details.

"Let me tell , my honorable friends that when the pact is before the House it will be discussed in a way that will leave no doubt about the stand of my party or myself," said Mr. Drew.

Mainly An Appeal

Mr. Pearson's speech was mainly an appeal for universal approval of the North Atlantic Security Pact, now being negotiated in Washington.

He offered the pact as one great hope for preventing an immediate aggression and offering a breathing space in which the dangers to world peace may be dissipated.

Shah of Iran Slightly Wounded, Accused Assailant is Dead Of Injuries at Hands of Mob

By SULEIMAN SHAMLOO

Tehran, Iran, Feb. 5 (AP) — Iran's Leftist Tudeh Party was outlawed today and one of its members blamed for trying to assassinate Shah Mohammed Reza Pahelvi Friday night.

The accused assailant, Fakhr Raiee, a newspaper man, died in a hospital Friday night of injuries suffered at the hands of a mob which seized him after five shots were fired at the Shah. Two bullets hit the ruler, but he suffered only minor injuries.

Subsequently this capital of oil-rich Iran was placed under martial law and the Leftist Tudeh party outlawed. Raiee was described in parliament as an active member of the party.

The acting Interior Minister, Manouchehr Eqbal, said Tudeh organizations throughout the country would be dissolved. The party's central club already has been occupied.

The five shots were fired at the 29-year-old Shah as he entered Tehran university to take part in an anniversary celebration.

An official communique said his condition is excellent.

The young ruler of Iran, formerly called Persia, less than three months ago divorced Princess Fawzia, sister of the king of Egypt.

Iran has been torn by political dissension as a result of its oilfields, reputed to be the largest single oil pool in the world.

Leftist political factions have favored granting oil concessions to the Soviet Union, which borders on the north. Mohammed Saed Maraghei, made premier last November, firmly resisted Russian demands for oil leases.

The British-owned Anglo-Iranion Oil Company is the only one now drawing oil from the Iranian fields.

C.C.L. to Establish 30-40 Weekend Institutes in Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 5. (CP)—Between 5,000 and 6,000 trade Unionists will take part in the Canadian Congress of Labor's 1949 education program, President A. R. Mosher said today.

From 30 to 40 weekend institutes will be established in various centres across Canada.

A team of prominent labor officials will tour the county to conduct the institutes, which will include lectures and discussions of labor, social and economic topics.

30-Month-Old Girl Spends Time Picking Up Tunes off Radio

Kitchener, Feb. 5 — (CP) — There's a blue eyed blonde here who thinks singing is more fun than anything. She is Linda Ott, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ott who started talking at 10 months and now is an accomplished vocalist.

The young music - minded miss who tips the scales at 37 pounds, sits in her rocker in front of the radio and picks up tunes one after the other with amazing ease.

BUILDING STRIDE IN JAN. DOUBLE THAT OF 1948

Residential Contracts Alone Total $30 Million

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

Canada is hitting a building stride more than double that of last year with housing in the lead.

Whether or not it continues that way remans to be seen, but present indications are that it will keep up with the record pace set last year.

MacLean Building Reports, Limited, states than January contracts were $72,792,400 compared with $34,162,400 in January last year.

All types were up, as follows (1947 figures in brackets): residential $30,300,000 ($15,000,000); business $18,100,000 ($10,600,000); industrial $9,200,000 ($6,000,000); engineering $15,100,000 ($2,500,000).

All areas gained, with the West showing the biggest increase due to three large jobs.

Large awards include a $1,000,000 power house and dam near Orillia for the Orillia Water, Light and Power Commission.

The figures show not only a continuation of the high activity of last year, but the big part that housing is playing in the total.

Especially interesting are the projects for apartments, or rental housing, one of the most serious problems for Canadians seeking a place to live.

Some, at least, are being put up under the government rental insurance plan which calls for a rental of not more than $20 a room, considerable under current rentals for new apartments.

Total building in 1948 was $954,000,000. Last year started with a slight hesitancy, but soon went into a steep climb, to reach a top of $139,000,000 in May, in the normally-high spring season, and dropping off to $56,000,000 in December.

14 Sanctuaries For Black Bass Are Established

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Establishment of 14 sanctuaries for smallmouth black bass in Georgian Bay between Honey Harbor and Bayfield Inlet was announced Friday by Lands Minister Scott. The areas, closed to fishing, will provide spawning and feeding grounds for the bass.

Mr. Scott said he expected the sanctuaries would gradually improve bass fishing. But all anglers could help by "fishing deep" in the open areas until July 15 and avoiding plug-casting along the shore while bass still are in spawning beds.

The minister reported on winter supervision of the province's fish and game resources. In northern sections, game wardens are making aerial patrols to curb poaching and illegal hunting.

During January, the department obtained 132 convictions for varying offences. Thirty-three were for hunting without a licence; 13 for hunting deer out of season; 10 for hunting in prohibited hours and 10 for illegal possession of furs

Polish Govt. Arrests Scores For Plot Activities

Report Says Time Bomb Found Near Govt. Building

Warsaw, Feb. 5 (AP)— Polish security police today announced the arrest of "several scores" of former members of the home army who, it said, were plotting against the lives of government chiefs.

An unconfirmed report said authorities found a time bomb near a government building where the council of ministers meets.

Those arrested were charged with planning acts of terror. Names of the leaders—who police said were marked for death — were not made public.

The Ministry of Public Security said "other groups" working with officers and soldiers of this group had collected arms and explosives to assist their planned activities.

The Ministry added that "the organization was liberally assisted with dollars from abroad."

Number Not Disclosed

The exact number arrested was not disclosed, but police said they had all the ringleaders. The term, "several scores", used extensively by police authorities, may mean anything from just under 100 up to 200.

Polish Communists and left-wing Socialists in mid-December gave Moscow-backed Communists absolute control of Poland.

The Council of Ministers, reported to have been threatened by the time-bomb, is composed of President Boleslaw Bierut and six other officials, who rule Poland by decree. All the council acts have immediate legislative effect and are approved at succeeding sessions of parliament.

The roundup was the biggest announced by security authorities in more than a year.

Police said that in raids on the homes of former home army members they seized weapons, hand grenades, a large quantity of explosives, detonators, ammunition, two military radio transmitters and a "large amount of gold and paper dollars."

The government assertion that those arrested were financed by dollars follows a long-standard accusation, either direct or implied, that the United States is responsible for Polish internal troubles.

LEAGUE MEETING POSTPONED

Watertown, N. Y., Feb. 5 (CP) — Club owners of Border League baseball teams will not meet here Feb. 5-6 to arrange their 1949 playing schedule as originally planned.

John G. Ward of Ogdensburg, president of the league, said Friday it was necessary to postpone the meeting until next weekend in order to give some of the league members additional time to make arrangements to continue this year.

Ward said league officials are anxious to have an eight - club circuit this season. Corning is ready to enter the league, but Cornwall is not expected to enter this year. Ithaca may seek a franchise.

COST-OF-LIVING INDEX RESUMES ITS UPWARD PACE

Registers Gain of 7/10 of Point to Return to All-Time High of 159.6

Ottawa Feb. 5 (CP)— The cost-of-living index is hitting the stardust trail once more, sweeping into the economic stratosphere again after a one-month breathing spell.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday that the index resumed its upward pace during December to register a gain of seven-tenths of a point between Dec. 1 and Jan. 3 and return to its all time high of 159.6. It had dropped in November from 159.6 to 158.9.

The bureau reported that part of the December rise was seasonal More than half of the advance, it said, developed from changes in service rates, including health, personal care, laundry and fuel gas which are adjusted only periodically.

The major portion of the gain resulted from price increases which had accumulated during a period of some months rather than one month alone. The index covering this group —the miscellaneous index —rose from 124.6 to 126.6.

The main index is calculated on the basis that living costs in prewar 1935-39 totalled 100.

Price trends in the United States which usually set the pattern for Canadian economic movements, are on the downgrade, with the U.S. official cost-of-living index for December again lower at 171.4 for the third consecutive monthly decline.

Food Index Out

Back in Canada, the bureau reported that the food index rose slightly during December —going from 202.0 to 202.2 —with lower prices for eggs and fruits again serving to off-set general firmer rates for other foods. Declines in eggs and fruits were the propellant for the November drop in the main index.

The clothing index advanced from 181.5 to 181.9 and home-furnishings and services from 166.2 to 167.0. The rentals index held unchanged at 121.7.

One of the drawbacks of a sailor's life on the Great Lakes—the necessity of seeking another job during the winter layoff—has been eliminated for crews of the Imperial Oil tanker fleet, now laid up at Sarnia. After two weeks' vacation with pay, plus a month off, also with pay, to compensate for Sundays and holidays worked during the summer the men are employed at fitting and main tenance work on the idle ships until spring. At left, Junior Hooper, deckhand from Dresden, finds part of his winter work day aboard a tanker is taken up with job safety training. Here he shows George Henderson the correct way to rig a block and tackle. At right are seven Imperial Oil tankers tied up in Sarnia's winter basin.—Jack Carroll.

Attendance Slim On Local Market, Prices Steady

Attendance was slim on the local produce market today as considerably fewer farmers than usual turned out. With the exception of a few trucks the outside market was practically deserted.

Prices were steady on the inside market with eggs selling at 45 cents for first, and 43 and 40 cents for mediums and pullets. The fowl offering was small with mature fowl selling at 45 cents, roasters at 48 cents and top grade fowl up to 55 cents per lb.

Potatoes sold at $1.50 per hamper and $1.65 per bag with peck lots at 45 cents. Beets, carrots, parsnips and cooking onions were 25 cents the half peck. Sauerkraut was 20 cents the quart.

Best grade McIntosh and Spys sold at $3.50 per hamper; Snows were $3; Delicious $3.25; Pippins $2.75 and Starks $2.40 the hamper.

One farmer offered beef by the quarter at 32 cents for fronts and 37 cents for hinds.

Cordwood was offered at $16 the cord.

Motorists Advised To Buy Markers And Avoid Rush

Local motorists who have not yet made it a point to purchase their 1949 markers and drivers' licences were urged this week to attend to this matter without delay and thereby avoid the last minute rush which almost invariably occurs when the deadline for old markers rolls around.

Local issuer of licences, Mr. Fred Symons, Front Street, reports that for a few days after the 1949 licences were offered sales were brisk but in past weeks sales have slowed practically to a standstill. Not over 25 per cent of the licences normally issued in Belleville have been sold, it was stated.

"It just means that there will be one terrific lineup of motorists seeking to purchase markers in an effort to beat the deadline," stated Mr. Symons.

Royal Commission Begins Probe In City on Monday

A royal commission Monday begins in this city investigating charges of fraud, perjury and maladministration of justice levelled at eight Ontario Provincial Police officers and a crown attorney.

Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court will investigate the charges, made last month by Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville, a veteran on the force.

Attorney General Leslie Blackwell of Ontario appointed the commission Jan. 7 after Constable Keays submitted the charges in writing to the Attorney General's Department.

The charges named the senior officer of the Provincial Police, Commissioner W. H. Stringer, and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan of Belleville.

Also named were: Inspectors T. W. Cousins of Perth and A. W. Page of Belleville, Sgt. J. A. Stringer and Constables Sam Ervine, J. Purdy and J. B. Driscoll.

Mr. Donnan and five of the eight officers interviewed after the announcement of the commission said they welcomed an investigation.

Constable Keays charged his superiors sought to discredit him and to interfere with cases he prepared for prosecution.

He accused Commissioner Stringer of submitting false reports to the Attorney General and of failing to take appropriate action against Constables Purdy and Ervine who, Keays claimed, committed perjury and falsified reports in a drunken driving case.

The constable also charged that Inspector Cousins suppressed evidence in connection with the shooting of John Miki, transient killed in a gun fight with Sgt. Stringer. Sgt. Stringer was accused of making false statements in connection with the shooting.

Commission Counsel C. P. Hope of the Attorney General's Department said the hearing would begin at 11 a.m. It is expected to last for at least a week.

PETER SMITH

Brilliant Young Pianist Will Give Recital in City

Sponsored by the local Soroptimist Club, Peter Smith, brilliant young pianist now studying in New York, son of the Ven. Archdeacon Arthur Smith of St. Thomas' Church, and Mrs. Smith, is scheduled to give a piano recital in the Collegiate Auditorium on March 14th.

The 20-year-old artist is now in his third year of study at the Juilliard School in New York. He was advised ta take up a musical career by Rudolph Serkin, world famous pianist of New York.

Before going to New York he studied in Ottawa under Miss Gladys Barnes, well-known musician and teacher in that city. Later he won the Archimbault open piano contest in Montreal and was thereby given an appearance with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra.

Although the young pianist's recital in Belleville is still more than a month away, there are only a limited number of tickets for the performance left. These may be secured from Mrs. Georgia Smith, telephone 3382-J or Miss Leona Riggs, telephone 50, or any member of the Soroptimist Club.

County Production Of Cheddar Cheese 5,783,152 Lbs.

Production of cheddar cheese in Hastings county last year totalled 5,783,152 pounds, it is revealed in a report recently released by the statistics branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This is a decrease of 1,602,250 pounds from 1947.

In Prince Edward county there were 2,573,335 pounds of cheese made, a decrease of 698,153 compared to 1947 production which reached 3,271,488 pounds. December production was 35,270 pounds of cheese, or 17,606 more than in December 1947.

Lennox and Addington made 4,460,150 pounds of cheese, a decrease of 1,055,098 and Frontenac 3,307,308 pounds, a decrease of 991,114 pounds.

Fox is Discovered Asleep in Barn By Dutch DP

Foxes are both plentiful and bold in the Deseronto district according to a story emanating from that area.

Recently a Dutch D.P. who last August came to Canada from his native Holland had an encounter with a fox which had chosen the barn of his employer as sleeping quarters.

Dowe Vanderwell, hired man on the farm of Hugh Fingland, went to the barn to put down hay when he noticed the fox asleep on the barn floor. Disturbed from his sleep the animal ran from the building and sat down outside to watch developments.

The hired man ran to the house and got a gun, the first shot putting the fox to flight. The hired man followed and wounded the animal but when he ran out of ammunition was forced to return to the barn to get a pitchfork to kill the fox.

OBITUARY

MRS. PEARL E. BADGLEY
(Franford District)

Frankford, Feb. 5 (Special) — The funeral of Mrs. Pearl Eva Badgley, wife of Mr. Delbert Badgley, 6th concession of Sidney township, Frankford District, was held from the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford, on Monday last. The service there and at Frankford Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. H. H. Lackey.

The bearers were Harry Hess, Volney Finkle, Harold Terry, Sidney Martin, Alden Reddick, and Ernest Sharpe.

The late Mrs. Badgley died at her home on Friday, Jan. 28th. after an illness of eight months' duration. She was in her 43rd year and was born near Plainfield, Thurlow township, her parents being Mr. J. McGowan and late Mrs. McGowan. She was a member of the United Church and took an active part in church work, being a member of the Women's Association, the Sunday School and the Women's Missionary Society.

Surviving her are her husband, her father, one son, Douglas Allan Badgley; one sister, Mrs. Geo. (Marjorie) Black, Toronto, and one brother, Walter McGowan, Toronto.

ALLEN SMITH
(Sidney Township)

Lifetime resident of Sidney township where he had farmed in the 7th concession, Allen Smith died at his home Friday evening following a lengthy illness. He was in his 80th year.

Born in Sidney township, son of the late Simeon R. Smith and Janet Connor, Mr. Smith was a U.E.L. descendant. He was a member of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Marion Smith, at home, and Mrs. Janet Sager of Stirling, also two nephews.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

HARD SENTENCE

In the early part of his summation, the prosecutor had pointed out that the case was attracting the most intense interest throughout the world, and struck back at "false rumors" that the Cardinal has been drugged, tortured or threatened to extort confessions.

In his summation speech, Elapi demanded the removal "of the last remnants of reaction represented by some leaders of the Catholic Church and first of all by Joseph Mindszenty himself." He said this was the demand of the Hungarian people.

Elapi's fiery attack was directed against the United States government and its representatives, Francil Cardinal Spellman of New York and others, along the lines of previous charges in the government's "yellow book" on the Cardinal's case.

Charges Influence

"America wanted to influence Hungary economically and politically," he said. "There is no doubt about it but that the Mindszenty movement was based on imperialist organizations which speculate on a Third World War and on suppression of the whole world by America.

"This was not a dream of an aged man who wanted to have back the past but a dangerous organization to overthrow Hungarian democracy.

"Hatred of democracy, not defence of religion, was the motive of Mindszenty's deeds."

The prosecutor said the Primate tried to induce the United States to interfere with the internal affairs of Hungary and to declare war.

"That was the treason," he said.

"This was too much for Minister Schoenfeld (Arthur Schoenfeld, former United States Minister) who represented the United States in Budapest and who stated in a letter to the Cardinal that it was 'the long-standing policy of my government not to interfere in the internal affairs of other nations.' "

"Spying Group Organized'

The Cardinal, said Elapi, organized a spying group and one of his agents was Dr. Zigmund Mihalovics, "whom the Americans granted a false passport." Mihalovics was former head of Catholic Action here.

Touching on the Cardinal's money operations, Prosecutor Elapi said no one in the court room would say that "dollars had to be sold on the black market in the defence of religion."

The prosecutor called the Cardinal's activities "horrible crimes" and declined to accept as serious the prelate's statements in court that he regretted them.

Prosecutor Elapi, speaking at length about the alleged monarchist plotting of the Cardinal, said the Cardinal had asked for and received the help of Selden Chapin, American Minister in Budapest.

He said the Cardinal had asked for armed intervention by the United States. He had not hesitated to "build up an espionage organization" and had also admitted having carried on espionage against the Soviet Union.

Chosen by Cardinal

Kicko said he was chosen by Cardinal Mindszenty and not by the court, as had been reported earlier. He said he had been free to conduct the defence as he decided best and "the western press was not right when it claimed that Mindszenty had no protection."

Although Judge Vilmos Olthys said early in the day he thought there would not be a verdict before Monday, a cabinet minister commented privately that he thought the case would be pushed along with the possibility of a verdict about midnight (6 p.m. EST.)

Facts of Free Enterprise And Initiative Must be Put Before Public Says Harkness

Col. R. D. Harkness, D.S.O., M.C., B.S.C., president of the Northern Electric Company, delivered an informative address on the widespread, ever-growing threat of "statism" to members of the Belleville Sales and Ad Club at a dinner meeting held in the Hotel Quinte Friday evening. President A. J. K. Griffiths presided over the meeting at which 70 were in attendance.

R. L. Cowan asked the blessing and following the dinner, President Griffiths introduced guests at the head table, including Messrs. P. McGuire, E. Bernstein, F. Burrows, B. Hunt, F. Deacon, G. Scott, R. Harkness, G Freeman, A. Bateman, A. McLean Haig, H.J. Allen, G. Proctor, R. Garson, H. Becker and F. Murray.

Short Business Period

After a short business period, B. Hunt introduced the speaker, Col. Harkness, whose interests extend into the fields of industry, military and international affairs. The outstanding career of the speaker was outlined emphasizing his keen business acumen which helped him to attain his present position since joining the Northern Electric Company in 1911, and extraordinary military record which won him the awards following his name plus the 1914-15 star and special mention in service dispatches.

In opening his remarks, the speaker noted the recently-founded Sales and Ad Club as a step in the progress of the city. He emphasized the potentiality of the members' positions in public opinion and called upon them to take up the challenge made to individual enterprise and industry by the philosophy of station which had invaded the North American continent.

Need Stressed

The need for putting the facts of free enterprise and initative before the public was stressed, the speaker noting that those engaged in selling and advertising are best suited for the job through their experience in promotion and presentation. He urged that the public be educated in the understanding of the profit and loss system of business administration, so that they could understand the dangers of failure and realize the prosperity gained through business success.

That there is no easy path to success, but that the attainment of success came from the practicing of the principle of hard work that our forefathers believed in when they first built this country into what it is today, was a point which must be put across to the people. Also the people must learn that neither man, company, or country can live outside of its income.

The undermining theories of the materialistic appeal to the natural selfishnes of man, and tend to lower the moral and Christian ethics. Statism encourages indifferce and callousness which will eventually spell the end of the freedom we now enjoy.

"We can retain our freedom only if we get back to the basic principles on which all of our freedom rests," concluded the speaker.

The appreciation of the meeting for an enlightened and inspiring address was expressed by A. McLean Haig who called upon his fellow members to take to heart the speaker's words and do their part in combatting the menace of "statism."

Council Sets Rate of 47 Mills Despite Increased Estimates Of Expenditure in All Depts.

Despite increased expenditure estimates in many of the city departments, including increased costs for schools, a tax rate of 47 mills, the same rate as applied last year, has been struck by council.

Total expenditures for the year have been estimated at $804,593.04, this amount of money to be raised on an assessment of $14,493,561 and from sundry receipts amounting to an estimated $81,326. The 1949 assessment is up approximately $1,300,000 from that of last year.

The general rate for city administration has been set at the maximum of 25 mills which will raise a total of $362,339.03.

Maintenance and operation of the public schools will cost an estimated $147,598.72, including debentures. Tax rate for public schools is 11.34 mills on an assessment of $13,026,066. Collegiate and Vocational School maintenance and operational costs, including debentures, will be $89,482.15, calling for a tax rate for this purpose of 6.16 mills.

Separate School Rate 11.34

Separate school costs are estimated at $17,000, this to be raised by a tax rate of 11.34 mills on an assessment of $1,511,295.

The city's share for local improvements, for debentures, principal and interest is $14,832.12, calling for a tax rate of 1.03 mills. Property owners' share of local improvements come to $37,075.

Garbage collection at 1.75 mills on an assessment of $16,959,481 will raise $29,679.09 with the cost of collection being estimated at $29,000. One mill for hospitalization will raise $14,493.56 with cost of maintenance being estimated at $14,500.

Cost of relief has been estimated at $12,000 with .72 mills on the city assessment being detailed for this work.

Debenture charges for the year which must come out of the general rate, total $42,492.30, including principal and interest.

Estimates for the Public Works Department were increased to $100,000.

Estimates Increased

Estimates for both the fire department and police department were increased from last year, the fire department to cost an estimated $71,000 and the police commission $63,800. Estimates for the above three departments were increased by the $12.50 per month cost of living bonus granted to city employees.

It was estimated that administration of justice would cost the city $12,000; Board of Health will receive $6,500; administration $50,570; child welfare $10,000; street lighting $18,000; parks commission $8,000; industrial commission $4,000, interest $6,000; discount on taxes $3,300 and hydrant rental $3,000. Total grants will cost the city $12,215.

Sundry receipts of $81,326 include $7,500 from fines and fees, $2,200 from dog licences, $3,500 market dues, $4,600 Liquor Control Board, parking meters $9,000 and $28,989 Ontario government subsidy of two mills on the tax rate.

27 Britons Trapped In Rangoon Town, Evacuation Asked

Rangoon, Feb. 5 (Reuters) —A party of 27 Britons, including women and children, today was trapped in smoke filled Insein town, 10 miles north of Rangoon, where heavy fighting has been going on since Monday.

A British spokesman said efforts to evacuate them to Rangoon had failed because of the fighting between Burmese forces and Karen rebels.

The British Indian and Pakistan embassies here have asked the Burma government for facilities to evacuate their national from Insein, it was learned.

Government artillery yesterday shelled positions in Insein held by Karen insurgents, who have made Tougoo, 175, miles north of Rangoon their central Burma strongfold and have been advancing south.

Local Business Offered for Sale

Elsewhere in today's issue in the Belleville Ontario Intelligencer appears an announcement to the effect that the Christian's Electric and Hardware business, which is a long-established business in the city, is being offered for sale as a going concern.

In speaking to Mr. Christian, the proprietor, it was learned that his company had acquired a large wholesale operation which will require an ever increasing portion of his time and he feels it would be unfair to the clientelle which has been so loyal to the local establishment throughout the years with its patronage, to attempt to carry on this business by remote control.

Mr. Christian, in referring to the decision to sell the business, paid tribute to the local staff who have been associated with the store for many years.

"I regret the fact that I find it necessary to make this decision", he said, "when I review the fine business that we have done which would run into several million dollars, however, I am confident that the people of Belleville will be better served by local management than would be possible if I was to continue to attempt to operate the other division of our business along with this present store."

"We have engaged Seale and Deering, 26 College Street, Toronto to attend to the details of the sale, and I sincerely hope that if there are those in this district who are interested in a successful and highly profitable merchandising outlet, that they will make this known immediately to Mr. Seale who, I can assure them, will give a preference to those from the district who will be interested in this purchase."

Celebrate Diamond Anniversary

Early Days of Hard Work on Farm Recalled by Everett Sills of Foxboro

Lifelong residents of Hastings county, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sills of Foxboro on Monday will celebrate the 60th anniversary of their wedding.

The couple have farmed at Foxboro for the past 29 years and prior to that time operated a farm on the 9th concession of Thurlow. Mr. Sills will be 84 on Monday, while Mrs. Sills, the former Magdalena Jones, is 79.

Married at Stirling

Married at Stirling on February 6th., back in 1889, they have farmed all their lives, Mr. Sills having a managerial interest in the farm which is son Ewart operates. The Sills homestead on the banks of the Moira River, just south of Foxboro, is one of the picture places of the community.

"Farming is much different now than when I was a boy," recalls Mr. Sills. "I was a young man before we purchased our first piece of mechanical equipment."

This was a "wheel' horse rake for raking hay and Mr. Sills recalled that when this was bought the family figured it was about all the machinery they would need. A few years later, however, the Sills purchased their first reaper for cutting grain, and a mower to cut hay. Prior to that time all hay and grain had been cut with the scythe and cradle.

Only Spring Sowing

"When I was young, farmers never thought of fall plowing," stated the [illegible]-year-old farmer. "The ground was loose and rich and we simply plowed in the spring, worked the land with an A-drag and sowed our crops. The crops ripened in the same order in which they were sown."

Although small in stature Mr. Sills claims that as a young man he could tie up sheaves with the best. In the days of the reaper he at one time tied up 1,100 sheaves of rye in a forenoon. "And we didn't start too early either," he says.

"I have seen my share of hard work and difficult times," Mr. Sills went on. "I have sold two-year-old heifers for seven and eight dollars and have dressed hogs for five cents a pound. Oats were 16 cents a bushel and barley 25 cents."

Life-Long Liberal

A staunch Liberal in politics, Mr. Sills is a firm believer in the fact that honesty is the best policy. This goes double for men in government positions.

"My advice to a young man is to take a stand and stay by it, and in the end he will meet with success."

Son of United Empire Loyalist stock on his grandfather's side Mr. Sills was born in Thurlow township. Mrs. Sills, whose grandparents were American, was born on the next concession.

Mr. and Mrs. Sills have but one son, Ewart, who with his wife lives in a part of the beautiful colonial style farmhouse, but on Monday are expecting a host of friends and relatives when they are "at home" on their anniversary.

Celebrate on Monday

Although suffering some inconvenience as result of a partial stroke suffered some years ago, Mrs. Sills is mentally alert, while Mr. Sills is still able to do chores about the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Sills are faithful members of Foxboro United Church.

"Actually our anniversary is on Sunday," stated Mrs. Sills, "but we felt we would rather have our friends in on Monday."

Manure Lack Hits Mushroom Industry

London (CP)—A shortage of horse manure is threatening Britain's mushroom-growing industry.

F. C. Atkins, an official of the Mushroom Research Station at Yaxley, Huntingdon, said in an address here the entire industry which produces about 13,000,000 pounds annually will have to close unless a suitable sythetic compost can be found to serve as a growing medium.

He blamed a decline in the horse population for the fact that organic manure is so scarce and costly that a substitute must be found. The research station will receive a public grant to help solve the problem.

The average price of mushrooms now is 4s6d (90 cents) a pound compared with 1s 6d, in 1939.

WARNED OF WHITE SLAVERS

Berne, Feb. 5 — (Reuters) — The Swiss government Thursday night issued a warning to Swiss girls to beware of white slave traffickers, particularly of gangs operating to South America. "Many cases have occurred of Swiss girls who respond to newspaper advertisements accepting jobs as secretaries, nurses or maids, being taken abroad, particularly to South America, and being delivered over to prostitution," the announcement said

STATISTICS OFFICE BUSY

Kitchener, Ont. — (CP) — Births and deaths in 1948 beat all previous records for this city. Total of 2,149 births and 551 deaths contrast with 2,091 births and 528 deaths in 1947 .

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

ANCESTORS

The ancestors of our present day birds were alive 100,000,000 years ago. These were off-shoots of reptiles and, still possessing some reptile characteristics, were really links between these two forms of life. It was only in 1861 that the first of these prehistoric birds was come upon as a fossil by someone digging in Bavaria. To be able to refer to it by name, scientists called it the Archaeopteryx, and placed it in the British Museum. From the twenty vertebrae of its jointed, lizard-like tail grew pairs of feathers; it had a snout with nostrils at the tip; and also teeth, wings, and claws. In size it was comparable with our Crow.

Not long after the first discovery, another fossil bird was found, dating evidently from about the same period. This one had wing feathers, but they were not long enough to cover the "fingers," which had claws on them, evidently used for climbing from tree to tree. This reminds us of our own Bitterns, the young of which climb from rush to rush by clinging with similar fingers of their wings.

The third find was a six-foot, Loon-like bird, with legs placed far back, short lower leg bones, and long upper ones. It must have been a swimmer and diver. Two of its unbirdlike characteristics were no wings and ninety-four teeth.

Yet another prehistoric bird, about the size of a Tern, must have been a strong flier. Scientists judge this by the look of the wings and the breast-bone. But it still had teeth like a reptile.

We can only guess how the transformation from reptile to bird came about, changing habits necessitating a change in structure. Probably the reptile that crawled on all fours wanted food that grew out of reach, so it stood on its hind legs. Later, it jumped from branch to branch, and gradually the first toe turned around to become a hind claw for a better grip. Scales grew longer and frayed at the edges, slowly becoming feathers. Using the arms differently developed certain muscles; arms became wings and thus changed the breast-bone. The lizard tail contracted to a stump for holding a fan of feathers. The body was covered with feathers which protected it from the cold. This is how, scientists believe, the creature turned from a cold blooded animal to warm blooded flying machine with air-filled bones.

Radio Comedians Not Allowed Much Latitude

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Radio comedians and their gag writers are complaining of "inhibitions" as the result of a new list of do's and don'ts circulated among broadcasters by the BBC.

Some comedians say that as most good humor is spontaneous their style is cramper by regulations and taboos. Nevertheless, they will have to conform if they wish to continue broadcasting.

The new list covers jokes about politics, members of parliament, religion, drink and physical handicaps. It forbids impersonations of Winston Churchill and other elder statesmen and malicious caricatures of political leaders. Personal abuse of ministers, M.P.s and fellow artists is also taboo.

No M.P. may be included in variety programs without special permission — and in certain cases, even where the M.P. agrees, the BBC may forbid his appearance if it thinks the occasion undignified.

Other don't include Biblical references and quotations from the Bible in comedy settings; jokes about weddings, christenings, funerals, effeminacy, immorality, offensive references to Jews; obscene references to chambermaids, fig leaves, honeymoon couples, commercial travellers, lodgers, ladies' underwear and "animal habits."

Jokes in which the humor replies on previous knowledge of a vulgar story are barred even if no explanation is given.

Drink may be used in moderation as a subject of comedy, but only where the joke is "really justified."

No variety script may contain expletives like "Good God!" "blast," "hell," "damn," or "ruddy."

Sophisticated revue and cabaret will be allowed more latitude, but not to the same extent as on the London stage where considerable freedom is permitted.

British Plan To Raise Speed Of All Trains

London (CP)— British railways, more often abused for eccentricities than admired for efficiency, will be steadily shaped to a standard pattern in the coming years.

One of the first steps will be to reduce to 12 standard types the 40 varieties of locomotives now hauling expresses, locals and freight trains over an intricate network of lines. Mass produced steel coaches also will be introduced, eliminating the last of the wooden coaches still in use.

Officials of British Railways, the nationalized organization which now handles all the country's rail, and much of its road traffic say that the first new standard steam locomotives should be ready by 1951.

Designs have been completed and models will be built within six months. Extra comforts are being introduced for engineers, who will now be able to reach every control on their panels without moving from their seats.

R. A. Riddles, member of the Railway Executive responsible for mechanical development, says he and his colleagues want to reduce maintenance and repairs to a minimum and raise the average speed of all trains, rather than concentrate on a few high-speed trains.

Conduct Trials

For the last year regional trials have been conducted to decide suitable types of engines. A full report has yet to be compiled, but it's thought the steam locomotive will remain the basis of the system.

Other forms of power are still being tested. They include electric engines, gas turbines and a 1,600 horse-power diesel locomotive with mechanical drive, believed to be the first in the world.

The executive is also trying to standardize coaches, but this is more difficult due to varying widths of tunnels in different regions and other considerations. However, an all-steel carriage suitable for general use is expected to be in production within two years.

Freight cars also are being redesigned and the battered wagons of all shapes and sizes now seen on British lines eventually will be replaced by standard equipment, built with a larger capacity than at present.

AID FISHING INDUSTRY

New Delhi — (CP) — A number of ammonia compressors are en route to India from the United States for fish freezing plants in Bombay, Travancore, Mangalore and Beypore. The spread of deep-sea fishing coupled with proper cold storage is expected to help India solve her food problem.

St. Laurent Dines With Political Enemy on His 67th Birthday

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Prime Minister Louis Stephen St. Laurent dined with a political enemy this week on his 67th birthday, right in front of everybody.

A night or so before he was in a hotel lobby in a crowd and he was bumped and jostled by people who obviously didn't know him.

On these sharp winter days, he walks through the heart of the city to Parliament Hill with a strong, straight walk, wearing a black overcoat and a black fur hat. Sometimes he stops to chat in the street with people he knows.

For an Ottawa which for years knew Prime Minister Mackenzie King only as a fleeting figure in the back seat of a car, all this is quite novel and quite strange.

Mr. King seldom if ever came to the parliamentary restaurant, the dignified rendezvous on the sixth floor of the centre block where parliamentarians, high civil servants, reporters and their ladies gather daily to eat and gossip.

His Cabinet ate without him, in a special alcove of their own, secure from the screwball ceiling which does weird things with the chatter around the tables. They still eat there but now the boss occasionally joins them or often eats elsewhere in the room.

On his birthday, the new prime minister showed up at a central table with John T. Hackett (PC-Stanstead), a chum since boyhood and now one of the leading opposition critics of his government. With them were their wives.

No one batted an eye. The new era is in.

Carr Quip

It may be apocryphal, but this story was told on the Hill this week as a sidelight on the New York detention of Sam Carr, alleged ringleader of a Soviet spy ring. Some time ago, the story goes, a young civil servant was given a letter to the head of the R.C.M.P. and told to mail it.

Impulsively, he scribbled a little touch of his own on its bottom. "Ha," he scribbled, "you smart Mounties haven't caught Sam Carr yet."

The young civil servant, the story goes, was fired.

Combination

Was it more than accident that teamed George Nowlan (PC-Digby - Annapolis - Kings) and Garfield Case (PC-Grey North) as Commons deskmates? Mr. Nowlan, standing around six foot four, must be something in the nature of a foot taller than Mr. Case.

DEAD HEAT

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — It was agreed that if the score in the final of the Sydney School's Rugby League Carnival was a draw, the side which scored first in overtime would win. Neither side scored so they tossed. The penny stuck in the grass — on its edge.

BLOWS HOT AND COLD

Kingston, Ont. — (CP) — Vagaries of the weather man pose clothing problems for Eastern Ontario residents. At 22 degrees above one afternoon doffing of scarves was popular. But six below zero next morning meant adding another layer. You can't win.

Individual and Community Help

The past week has drawn the attention of the people to the duty of preserving and improving individual and national health. It is the people's need and the principal obligation resting upon individuals and authorities to see that everyone gets the benefits of all the protection available.

Health is the most natural requirement of life and good health for all is the ideal at which organized society aims. Health departments of state and municipality try to safeguard the people in every way by looking after health of states and communities which is the sumtotal of the health of the individuals and try to place before everyone the opportunity of that sense of wellbeing which means so much to the success in life of citizens, individuals or in the mass.

During the days of the third annual Health Week people have heard and read of the costs of illness in wealth, in lack of ability to perform the tasks which a normally healthy person may be expected to do and the great benefits of that robust condition everyone should have. Thought has been given to the individual and the family, in relation to health, to the municipality and to the state with health departments working to serve, with hospitals and nurses, to take care of those who require medical treatment. With all working to this one thought the good health of everyone there must be tremendous advances in this total of good health through modern science and surgery and the discoveries which have been handed on as blessings to the people through scientists, doctors, nurses, hospitals and Boards and Departments of Health and the swift process of advance through modern discoveries in medicine. The span of human life has been greatly prolonged, the average age having been lifted beyond the possible dreams of our forefathers.

This progress seen in modern organizations for health is a tribute to the instinct of humanity to defeat sickness and disease by the complete mobilization of all agencies with the end of health in view. This calls for the co-operation of every individual for his own benefit and for the benefit of all. Every life extended perhaps for many years, by careful regard for personal and national health is a step forward — it protects one and all. There must be co-operation to achieve that highest aim — the greatest benefit to all. Mass efforts to better the human state can be seen in the successful war on smallpox which generations ago was a curse to humanity but now is rarely heard of — for the individual and the state are prepared, research has helped greatly and the secrets of many of the dread diseases are found out and with that discovery progress to the ideal is rapid. Everyone must help for his own good and the good of all. He can assist his neighborhood by maintaining clean premises in every respect. Yet some persons naturally accept the benefits of modern progress but are themselves careless and in that way may endanger others. Their duty is to be on the guard and help.

After all this age should be a happy age. Life's extent has been lengthened by many years on the average, maternity and infant deaths have fallen to a new low. This is one of the marks of advance. Life expectancy is so much greater than it used to be — because man and science have co-operated. There was a time when there was a terrible dread as in the age when smallpox reigned seemingly invincible. But the disease is all but gone. The same is true in respect to fevers and to diphtheria. Now a war in the laboratories is being waged against cancer and there is ground for belief that research will get at its secret. When that day dawns there will be a new lease of life for all the millions on earth. Individuals and organizations have their work to do in helping make or create better conditions. That life expectancy will still rise is expected. Doctor, board of health and individual have a noble task— to improve health and thereby extend life.

The Marshall Plan has been doing and will do important work in Greece, struck so brutally in the Hitlerite invasion and occupation. The Germans retreating systematically destroyed rail installations and rolling stock, 2,679 kilometres of rail being reduced to 670 kilometres by the time of liberation. Since then 2,109 kilometres have been put in operation again and 407 kilometres have been reconstructed but not put in operation. Greece had 7,868 units of rolling stock in 1939, only 607 in 1944 and 3,590 in 1948. 1,538 units are to be repaired in Greece and the Marshall Plan will acquire 2,060 from outside.

A man must first govern himself, ere he be fit to govern a family; and his family ere he be fit to govern the commonwealth. — Raleigh.

Jeffers Diamond was re-appointed secretary-treasurer.

40 YEARS AGO

Feb. 5th., 1909.

In a fast game of hockey here the Ontarios of this city defeated the Y.M.C.A. team from Trenton, the score being 8 to 1. The following composed the teams: Ontarios: Wardrope, E. Moore, A. Moore, R. Burke, W. Wallace, A. McGie and H. Thompson; Trenton — R. Barber, S. Matthews, W. McClung, R. Brett, H. Hawley, F. Jackson and G. Goodsell. Referee, O'Fylnn.

The annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Life Underwriters' Association was held at Hotel Quinte and the following officers were elected: President, George W. Jarrell; Vice President, James Little; Secretary, James Rabbitts; Executive Committee, H. H. Gray, James Little, H. F. Ketcheson and C. W. Gibbons. An interesting and helpful address was given by S. Burrows.

50 YEARS AGO

The members of the Harmony Club will meet this evening. All members are expected to be present.

Capt. John Allan, Turnbull Street, left today for Kingston where he will engage in ship building.

Mrs. Fred Ward of Ogdensburg, N.Y., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Burke, Burton Street.

Mr. W. Andrews of Minneapolis, Minn., an old Belleville boy, is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. James Maitlnad of Bannockburn was a visitor in town today.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

PRAYER AND DEMOCRACY

Belief in prayer is always totally unrelated to theological orthodoxy. People having utterly divergent theological beliefs entertain about the same convictions regarding prayer. The Liberal and the Conservative can kneel down and pray together. Members of all branches of the Christian Church, and of the Jewish Church as well, hold fundamentally to the same ideas about prayer. In fact, prayer seems to be almost the only thing in the whole field of religion over which there is no dispute among the different schools of theological thought.

The reason for this it that to all men, regardless of belief, prayer is based upon the conviction that God is a personal God, that He can perform wonders in their lives and is willing to do so. Orthodox and unorthodox alike pray earnestly and get results. When they are on their knees, men the world over are equal. Prayer is democratic. Prayer is interdenominational, interchurch, and inter-racial. Prayer is wonder-working. Prayer is the uplift of the soul in need to God, and we are all in need.

Freight Traffic Through Canals Heavy in '48

Ottawa, Feb. 5 (CP)—Freight traffic on Canada's larger canal systems was considerably heavier in 1948 than in the preceding year, the bureau of statistics reported Friday.

Traffic through Canadian and United States locks of the Sault Ste. Marie canals during the year increased to 115,895,000 tons from 110,888,000 in the preceding year, and compares with a peak tonnage of 120,201,000 reached in 1941.

Downbound iron ore increased from 80,577,000 tons in 1947 to 85,232,000 and upbound soft coal from 15,529,000 tons to 16,558,000, hard coal from 343,000 tons to 361,000, and stone from 1,215,000 tons to 1,323,000. Downbound wheat declined from 7,591,000 tons to 6,613,000.

Total traffic using the Welland ship canal during the season increased from 11,806,000 tons in 1947 to 13,438,000. Wheat shipments decreased from 1,798,000 tons to 1,748,000, petroleum and other oils from 1,572,000 tons to 1,433,000. Shipments of soft coal rose from 4,153,000 to 5,045,000 tons, iron ore from 1,176,000 to 1,646,000 tons, gasoline from 814,000 to 842,000 tons, and pulpwood from 501,000 to 523,000 tons.

Due mainly to heavy shipments of gasoline and oils, total traffic using the St. Lawrence canals increased to 7,378,000 tons from 17,180,000 in 1947. Gasoline increased from 478,000 to 591,000 tons, petroleum and other oils from 697,000 to 789,000 tons, and pulpwood from 560,000 to 589,000 tons. Corn declined from 75,000 to 55,000 tons, wheat from 940,000 to 888,000 tons, and soft coal from 2,940,000 to 2,644,000 tons.

Mackenzie's Column:

What Constitutes Free Speech Not Easy to Answer

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

"Freedom of speech" is a right for which liberty-loving men the world over will fight to the death.

But just what constitutes free speech? Where does free speech end and unlicensed speech begin? That's not always easy to answer.

The other night a meeting of landlords at Fort Worth, Tex., evicted the principal speaker. He was reported as saying: —

"I like the Russians . . I admire Joe Stalin."

At this point an ex-serviceman shouted: "Why don't you go live in Russia?" The sponsors of the meeting escorted the speaker from the platform amid angry mutterings from the crowd. The next day the speaker told a newspaper reporter:

"If the time has come in America when I cannot say 'I admire Joe Stalin,' then I had just as soon leave the country."

Did he exceed the rights of free speech? Well, let's pass that up with the observation that he was indiscreet.

Misplaced Admiration

He was admiring the absolute dictator of a country which is waging a cold war of aggression against the United States and all other democracies. He was admiring the head of a political ism which American legal authorities hold is subversive and aims at the overthrow of the United States government by force.

Often a thin line separates free speech from the forbidden. I like the way the London police handle this problem. During the many years I lived in the British capital I often went of an evening to Hyde Park to listen to the soap-box orators, discoursing colorfully, if not accurately, on all sorts of subjects, many of them political. Always the bobbies were on duty for the speech-making — just in case.

Listened with Smile

FFrequently you would hear a long - haired radical ranting against the government. He would damn it up and down and sideways. A bobby would stand by listening with a broad smile.

But had the speaker deviated from plain damning to a call for mob action by the crowd, then the bobby himself would have leaped into action. All a speaker would have had to do to get himself arrested would be to yell: "Let's go and get 'em!"

MOSCOW

Mr. Pearson frankly warned that "fear has gripped the world again" and he unhesitatingly placed the responsibility on Russia.

"The fear," he said, "arose primarily from the extension of the brutal domination of revolutionary Communism based on the massive and expanding militarism of totalitarian Russia."

The North Atlantic Security Pact, now being drafted in Washington, was no certain security against aggression, but it was an assurance that the power of the Western democracies were united against it.

All We Can Ask is Claim

"That is all that we can ask for at this time from the Atlantic pact," he said. "But it is much and I think it is within our grasp."

Mr. Pearson sad the United Nations must remain the basis of Canadian foreign policy, but he recognized that it could not at this moment ensure the safety of any country against aggression or even remove the possible causes of war.

The security pact was completely within the charter of the U. N. and should be registered with that body when, and if, it is concluded.

He told questioners there was no move afoot, so far as Canada was concerned, to form a Pacific security pact.

The Atlantic pact, subject of the major part of the minister's speech, is being negotiated now at ambassadorial rank in Washington by representatives of Canada, the United States, United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

DREW SLAMS BACK

Mr. Drew, by turns angry and amiably derisive, hit at the Prime Minister for a radio statement this week saying he favored giving Canada the power to amend her own constitution.

"Was that just a political statement?" the Progressive Conservative chief asked.

Mr. Drew's tilts with Mr. Garson threw the House into turmoil several times, forcing the speaker to call for order.

At one point, after Mr. Garson had called on him to state his stand on international matters, Mr. Drew exclaimed sarcastically that the interruption was "a perfect example of how much we got in the way of useful views" from Mr. Garson at the Dominion-Provincial meetings. The minister then was premier of Manitoba.

The opposition leader took the Prime Minister to task for suggesting that the conferences had been stalled because elections were in the offing. That, he said, was a reflection on all the provincial premiers including Mr. Garson and the other Liberals.

But, he added, Mr. St. Laurent could speak only for himself in that respect. His own words showed his attitude toward the conferences.

Mr. Drew was still speaking when the House rose for the week end, and he will resume after a break in the Throne Speech debate to allow the House to deal with the Newfoundland Confederation agreement. That debate opens Monday.

Mr. Drew said last night he was re-entering the debate because of the adjournment. Many things had been said from the government benches that could not be left unchallenged.

In his ten years in the Ontario legislature he declared he never had heard speeches that showed so little responsibility on the part of members. Much of the time had been taken up with personal attacks on himself.

Aside from Mr. Drew's entry, the debate yesterday went largely along conventional lines, with private members laying down the claims of their constituencies — as they traditionally do at this stage —or sharpshooting at the government from the opposition benches.

The speeches were Mr. Pearson J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Muskoka-Ontario), Progressive Conservative financial critic; George Nowlan (PC-Digby-Annapolis-Kings), making his first speech since winning a by-election; Max Campbell (CCF—The Battlefords), Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia), William Robinson (L-Simcoe East, Owen Jones (CCF-Yale), Maurice Lalonde (L-Labelle) and Mr. Drew.

Calls for Lower Taxes

Mr. MacDonnell called for lower taxation in this year's budget as be criticized government financial policies generally. He attacked the government's "cyclical" budgeting system and accused it of mismanaging the large surpluses of the last few years.

Mr. MacDonnell said the federal government's expected surplus for this year was larger than the combined revenues of all the provinces. He declared the government was making politics out of the budget, holding off tax reductions for an election year.

The House gave first reading to a private bill of Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) to authorize the government to give parliament information obtained in corporation tax returns.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, answering a question, said there are no indications of any widespread impropriety in the use of Canadian passports.

Health Minister Martin said his department is watching margarine, along with all food products, to see that they contain nothing injurious to public health.

George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to trade minister Howe, declined to say when the government will proclaim coarse grain marketing legislation passed last year.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

NOT LESS THAN YOUR BEST

A popular manufacturer in my town has a slogan that is full of meaning. He asks the public not "to take less than the best." I never hear this line without thinking over it. I wonder if I am trying each day to give more than my best — certainly not less than my best.

If we give the best that is in us to our work we have done well. We have done what angels could not surpass! At the same time, we can keep trying to do better than our best — thus improving and growing. By doing less than our best, however, we shrink a little and are less efficient and less satisfied.

Many a worthy enterprise has failed — just short of its best. It's right at that point that many another has taken up the idea and carried it out to a successful end. The world is always crying out for those who make it their job to do nothing less than their best. They are the Rare Workers of the World. If such a name could be whipped into an organization — what an organization it would be! Only those who always did their best would be elegible.

If you are one of those who always try to do nothing less than than your best, you need have no fear of losing your job. The chances are that sooner or later you will want a business of your own. That's the way great businesses all start — initiated by someone who never did less than his best.

I knew the late William Allen White for many years. He once told me that a publisher offered him an advance of $10,000 to write a book on order. He refused it, for he said that he could only write a book when he had an idea to express, or that he couldn't help writing, for he didn't want to write something that was not as good as his best.

Few writers or artists are ever satisfied with what they produce. They are always striving for a masterpiece, which some accomplish. We shall never attain perfection, but we can keep working toward it — never satisfied with less than the best that we can do at the time.

Personal Health Talks

(Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper.)

IT IS NOT THE WET NOR THE COLD BUT THE CRI

We think you will be interested (writes Joe Doe, president of Dryfoot Corporation) in our 1949 streamline model overshoes.

Well, yes, Joe, I am, interested. In fact I'm curious to see how the 1949 models differ from the quaint styles of 1948. Go ahead, Joe, but remember, I'm a mean customer when harried, so, if you have any revolutionary new idea to impart you had better let me have it divided into small doses administered at intervals of five years. That's the way to get a new idea, remedy or method "accepted" by the profession.

We think you will be interested (Joe continues, patiently) in this information in your efforts to prevent wet feet and consequent colds.

That's enough, Joe. When I want information on the prevention of disease I know of a thousand better places to get it. I warned you, Joe.

As for your so-called overshoes, the children have to wear what their moronic parents select, I suppose, and the women, God bless 'em, would wear anything a million dollars worth of typical Yankee impropaganda tells 'em to wear, but don't tell me that any man who is not a you-know-what, Joe, would be caught drowned in a pair of what you call "overshoes." I know we are degenerating, undergoing involution, but I hope not that fast, Joe.

Among the testimonials, all from members of a certain sex, I am happy to note, there is not a word about the prevention of "consequent colds." How come. Joe? Surely you can make some such claim for your overshoes, if not in the testimonials then through some other medium. If I know the medical profession it should not cost much to get a "statement" from some eminent specialist who warns mothers of the importance of keeping the feet dry to maintain resistance against rheumatiz, pneumonia and the c. c. The brass specialists do it all the time and get away with it, too.

For the benefit of children and adults who happen to get their feet wet from time to time, I am happy to state that it has no ill effect whatever upon health.

If the children get their feet wet on the way to and from school, it is nothing to worry about, and it makes no difference whether they change to dry footwear right away or not at all.

Neither does exposure to cold in the course of everyday life have any ill effect upon health. This is the unanimous experience of people who know what exposure means — soldiers, sailors, hunters, fishermen, lumbermen, explorers. Against their experience the notions and prejudices of you wiseacre mollycoddles are ridiculous—and the more indignantly you defend your absurd notions the more ridiculous you seem. It is ridiculous whether you are a layman or a doctor. Particularly so if you are a doctor.

If you are a doctor and still string your patients along with the "cold" delusion, you are ridiculous, all right, but in my opinion you are dishonest as well. You know as well as I do that there is no such disease or illness as a "cold" and that you can't get away with such a diagnosis even in reports to the public health authorities, who, heaven knows, get away with murder themselves when they issue their half baked bulletins to the public on how to avoid catching the disease, ailment, distemper, misery, cough, cold, coryza, catarrh, consumption or whatever it may be—the public health authorities only know and they dare not define it.

I have been much heartened in the past few years by the increasing —number of letters from mothers telling of their relief from worry about the children getting wet or cold. These mothers testify with an almost audible sigh that it is a great load off a mother's shoulders when she stops worrying about the children not being warm enough —provided, of course, children are not imbeciles.

Few if any of you doctors or folks enjoy being cold or damp or wet less than I do, but if and when one happens to be exposed to such discomfort it is at least easier to endure if one knows that no untoward consequence will occur other than possible frostbite.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

The Famil Rolls

It really must be fifteen years or more since I wrote for your Somersaultauqua instructions. A Club of twelve of us (all with several children) had great fun doing the somesaults and kept up with it for years. Now my eighteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren roll them, but I had to stop on account of developing slight hernia after gall-bladder operation. I walk at least a mile every day and still feel fine most of the time. (Mrs. H. L. C.)

Answer—Thank you for your good cheer. Did you get fun out of somersaults because of your youth or did your somersaulting keep you from growing old young? On written request—but no clipping, please—any reader who provides stamped self addressed envelope may have an Invitation to the Somersaultauqua.

Child's Reasoning

My eight-year-old daughter posed this one at breakfast this morning: "Supopse two people are sick with the same kind of germs, and one is just as sick as the other. If one gets some of the other's germs will he get sicker? (E. C. H.)

Answer—By jingo, they can put a man in a spot, can't they? I offer merely my opinion—I should say it would not make one any sicker if he got some of the other's germs or vice versa, because, I believe, by the time germs are given of the natural reaction to infection (the fever, the other manifestations of illness) renders the patient more or less immune to the germs, at least for the time being.

Baby Book

My 21-year-old daughter is expecting her baby in June. She knows very little about it—and I'm afraid I don't know enough to teach her. (Mrs. W. E.)

Answer—It's a little late but not too late. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for the blue book Preparing for Maternity.

The Packsack

of Gregory Clark

A rural friend of mine had a pet fox. Its mother was trapped and crawled into its den , dragging the trap. The farmer dug it out; and in doing so, found the cubs. He killed all but one and brought it home, it was so pretty.

In no time at all, the cub was tamed by ordinary farmer kindness; the sort of kindliness skilled in handling colts, calves, lambs. They fed it bread and milk, cereals, egg and scraps; but never raw meat Whenever they had let it have a meal of meat, it became immediately spitful and lawless. Otherwise, it was like a cat around the house, romping with the farm dogs whose rougher manners it subverted by its incomparable nimbleness. It throve and grew. It took possession of a shelf in the kitchen as its home and bed. Unlike a caged or penned fox, it had no rank odor. It could be handled and petted; and when the dogs got too rough, it would run and leap into the arms of its human friends.

In the autumn, it vanished one day; and its masters presumed it had heard the call of the wild. But mention of its loss was made on the local radio. A woman immediately telephoned to say she had heard a lively scratching on her farmhouse door one evening; and opened the door. A fox leaped inside and bounded on top of the welsh dresser, where it curled up: while some hounds that had been chasing the fox raced howling into the farm yard and up to the door.

This was the pet fox, of course; for when my friend called, the fox leaped into his arms with every sign of delight; and was carried home.

But the taste of freedom, with all its adventures, was too much for the tame fox. A few days later, he was gone again. This time a week went by before word came that the fox had bounded into the wagon of a farmer ten miles away, again ahead of a pair of hounds. Once more he was brought home. He stayed two days, then vanished for keeps. One of the prices of freedom is peril.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Van Stone, 314 Bleecker Ave., announce the engagement of their son, Russell David, R.C.N., to Thelma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw, Belfast, Ireland, marriage to take place Feb. 7th, 1949, in St. George's Church, Belfast, Ireland.

Miss Audrene Martyn was a guest on Thursday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Martyn, Brighton.

Mr. Bill Armit, who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital has returned home to Brighton.

Misses Pauline and Nellie Sprague, Mt. View, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson.

Mrs. Atwill Wood, Bloomfield, who has been visiting her son, Mr. Ralph Wood, Mrs. Wood, and Douglas, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Carter were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wpof, and Audrey, Mount Olivet, were visitors in Belleville, recently.

Harold Carruthers is a patient in the Private Patients Pavilion of Toronto General Hospital and will undergo a major operation on Monday or Tuesday.

Hugh Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar, Brighton, is seriously ill in Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Earl Anderson, Victoria Avenue, left Friday to spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Guest and Mr. Guest, Montreal.

Mrs. Rollan Logan has returned to Hamilton after visiting her mother, 60 Everett Street, and relatives.

Mr. Frank Mills, Grove Street, is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

So proficient has the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, formerly rector of St. Thomas Church, Belleville, become as Anglican diocesan commissioned at Kingston (in which capacity he is periodically engaged to tour parishes and step up their subscriptions to the church) that he is now on loan to St. Bartholomew's church, Ottawa, where he is carrying out a similar canvass. Mr. Payne was a guest at luncheon of the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander in Ottawa on Tuesday. (Brockville Recorder and Times.)

Women's Activities

ST. JOHN'S W.M.S.-EVEN. AUX.

Tweed.—A combined meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society' and The Marion Coon Evening Auxiliary was held on Tuesday evening in the Sunday School Room, with an attendance of about forty members. The presidents of the W.M.S. and Evening Auxiliary, Mrs. Lincoln Elliott and Mrs. Harold Foster, presided.

Mrs. T. E. Moffatt gave the Scripture reading. Mrs. Provost sang "Tune My Heart to Thine", very acceptably. Readings on the Study Book were presented by Mrs. Barnett (in the absence of Mrs. Fred Foster) and by Mrs. Brook Clark. A number of beautiful pictures on the West China Mission "West of the Gorges", were shown on the screen by Rev. A. L. Sisco, who operated the machine with Mrs. Elliott presenting the story of the pictures.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The January meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in the library of St. Carthagh's School on Monday night, with a fair attendance. Rev. Father Walsh opened the meeting with the league prayer, after which the league president, Mrs. Norman Champagne took the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretayr, Mrs. Oscar La Vallee. Other correspondence read were letters from Mrs. G. Gordon, Mrs. McGlade and Mrs. W. H. Brennan, also a card of thanks from Mrs. Rose O'Coin and family, sincerely thanking the league for their kindness shown during their recent sad bereavement.

During the business discussion the ladies decided to send a substantial cheque to the Sisters of Service to aid them in their broad missionary activities.

A dance will be held in St. Carthagh's Hall later this month.

Rev. Father Walsh spoke briefly to the ladies regarding the Dioceson Convention to be held here in June. The meeting adjourned to meet again in February.

BRIDGE STREET W.A.

The recent January meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held in the church parlors with a good attendance.

Mrs. C. Bulger, representative from the local Red Cross Branch, gave a very interesting address, during the course of which she stressed the urgent need for clothing, and knitted goods. Mentioning also that the branch was being re-organized and would carry on its work under the leadership of Mrs. Northcott, in the absence of the convener, Mrs. J. H. Marsh, who is in Florida.

Past President, Mrs. Harry Rollins; President, Mrs. Ralph Morden; Recording Sec., Mrs. Herb. Fox; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Gilbert; Corr. Sec., Miss F. Down; Pianist, Mrs. J. R. Guthridge; Press Reporter, Mrs. E. Buchanan; Card Sec., Mrs. H. Fetterly; Kitchen Convener, Mrs. F. Countryman; Committee, Mrs. C. Meyers, Mrs. C. Massey, Mrs. J. Mitchell.

Parsonage Convener, Mrs. Harry J. Clarke; Committee, Mrs. H. Francis, Miss I. Dickens, Miss C. Clarke.

Decorating Committee, Miss Helen Sulman; Mrs. Florence Moon.

V.O.N. Committee, Mrs. Roy Lashbrook, Mrs. G. Anderson.

Nominating Committee, Mrs. G. Gilroy, Mrs. Ray Grant, Mrs. W. J. Moore.

Group Conveners, Mrs. Herbert McCabe, Mrs. Taylor Franklin, Mrs. B. Howard, Mrs. S. Hulburt, Miss Helen Sulman, Mrs. Harry Rollins, Mrs. George Wade, Mrs. T. Thompson, Mrs. W. Roluf, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. C. R. Clapp, Mrs. E. Denyes, and Mrs. E. Buchanan.

MELROSE W.M.S.

Melrose.—The February meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Melrose United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Weese. Only a small number attended this meeting due to illness and road conditions and no one appeared from the Salem congregation in response to the invitation extended by the secretary, following the January meeting. It is hoped Salem ladies and more of the Melrose congregation will be able to attend the next meeting which is the World's Day of Prayer meeting to be held on March 4, at the home of the President, Mrs. Wm. McMechan.

Use was made of the Missionary Monthly in carrying out the afternoon's program. With the president in the chair, the theme of the meeting was announced, "Thy Kingdom Come—Through the Work of the Christian People".

Mrs. Clare Weese gave a reading after which the offering, amounting to $3.25, was received and a dedicatory prayer offered. The flower fund collection was also gathered and the appointment of Mrs. E. M. Badgley as card convener, was made.

PLUGGED NOSTRILS KEPT CLEAR
If your head is stuffed up and disturbs your rest, insert a little Buckley's White Rub in each nostril night and morning. It must clear the air passages, ease breathing, aid sleep or double your money back. 30c and 50c.

Intercession for Chinese

The Chinese song, which appeared in the November Monthly entitled "I Will Not Be Afraid", has not as yet been learned by the members, so it was read instead, and a prayer of intercession for the Chinese was offered.

The Secretary read the minutes of the January meeting; after the approval if same plans were made for a quilting and clothing collection with the arrival of more favorable weather. There is still the appeal made and the need is yet great for overseas relief so this society is desirous of the support of the whole congregation in this worthy cause. New clothing, good, clean, used clothing and money are all acceptable.

The convener of Community Friendship, Miss Bailey, reported she was trying to attend to the duties of this office and had visited some sick members, as well as two new families, one Danish, the other Scotch. The Society is looking forward to having these ladies from other lands in attendance at the meeting of the W.M.S. and hearing something of the way missionary work is carried on in their countries.

The program continued under the leadership of Miss Bailey. Instead of conducting "an interview with ten people" she gave a paper on "Literature for the newly-literate in China".

Mrs. A. Reilly sang "Bless This House" to her own accompaniment on the piano.

WALLBRIDGE W.M.S.-W.A.

There was a good attendance at the February meeting of the W.M.S. which was held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Ketcheson, Wednesday afternoon, with the President, Mrs. C. Fair in charge, who followed the Worship Service program. "A General Thanksgiving" was read in unison, thanking God for His blessings and asking His Help to live lives of service to Him. Prayer of Intercession for China closed this part of the service.

During the business part of the meeting the treasurer, announced that $50 of a donation which had been left to the society by the late Mr. W. H. Nobes, had been sent to Toronto to be sent from her to Mrs. Blythe Leeman (nee Miss Ray of Centenary), who is now serving as a missionary in Sudan Interior Mission and that the balance of the donation $50 had been sent to Miss Elsie Hunt, Reg.N., of Bayside, who is now nursing in a hospital in Manitoba. Mrs. Ketcheson was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for her work in getting these donations sent to the two missionaries. It was announced that the Mission Band would hold meetings the second Thursday of the month with Mrs. Roy Woods as leader. Mrs. S. M. Nicolson kindly consented to prepare the Study Book Chapter for the March meeting.

Mrs. H. Ketcheson assisted by Mrs. Harold Phillips, Mrs. C. Sine and Mrs. B. Hamann gave the Study Book Chapter, being the story of the advance of Medical Mission work in China, and telling of the part played in it by Dr. Bert Yang, son of a servant in the first temporary hospital in Jenshow. Being around the hospital so much, he early conceived the idea of becoming a doctor. He first became a nurse, later, superintendent of the nursing staff and in 1944 entered McGill University to take post graduate work and when he graduated returned to Chengtu and worked most faithfully and efficiently in the Mission Hospital. Great advances have been made in medical work in China. Clinics have been formed and many patients are treated for the various bodily ill and religious teaching is also given. The meeting was closed with a hymn and benediction.

The W.A. Meeting

The W.A. meeting immediately followed in charge of Mrs. Morley Phillips. After the opening exercises, a card of appreciation from Mr. Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Elliott was read. A short business discussion followed and a committee was appointed to arrange for the program for a pot-luck dinner to be held in the near future and it was also decided that Mrs. C. Sine have charge of the Birthday Box. Mrs. A. Clare gave a reading "Pioneer Kitchen Stoves" showing its advantages and disadvantages in comparison with modern electric stoves and what wonderful meals the pioneers cooked with those old-fashioned stoves.

Mrs. Ketcheson was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for her hospitality.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Tweed.—Reports of the various organization were received at the annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening.

A pot-luck supper preceded the meeting. Rev. Mr. Rumble, a missionary of the Presbyterian Church for a great many years, presented a series of slides which were of extreme interest.

The reports of the Church, Sunday School and women's groups were most encouraging.

Why I Like the Movies

By LOUIS UNTERMEYER

(Noted poet, anthologist and lecturer, in Woman's Home Companion.)

It must have been about forty years ago that I was first excited by a story flickering feverishly on a screen. It was a pioneering piece by D. W. Griffith with the melodramatic title Rescued from an Eagle's Nest. Ever since that time I have been a constant movie-goer.

I delight in the movies. I go for the same reasons I read — to understand life a little better, to share in the activities of interesting people, real and fictional, to enlarge my limited existence by entering the world of those who live on a larger scale, physically or emotionally, than is possible for me. I also go for the opposite reason — to luxuriate in a world of illusion, a never-never land of impossibly pure color and bright adventure where romance is around every corner, where danger threatens deliciously but in the end everything comes out all right. Life is difficult and often dull; only a stubborn masochist refuses to alleviate his sufferings.

I do not pretend that I am uncritically entranced every time I enter a theatre. I have spent many evenings when the chief sound effect has been the gnashing of my teeth. But mostly, I can think of my movie-going with enjoyment. That enjoyment has been on many levels. If I am in the mood for great words and noble thoughts there are pictures like Shakespeare's breathsnatching Hamlet and Henry V, Emily Bronte's Wuthering Heights, Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra. If, on the other hand, the evening's headlines seem too depressing, I know no swifter cure than a good murder mystery.

• • •

I have accompanied Myrna Loy and William Powell through all their madcap misadventures with The Thin Man and roamed over Chinatown and the Barbary Coast with Charlie Chan. I loved the detective who fell all over himself in the not sufficiently appreciated Green for Danger almost as much as I loved the suavely sinister Sydney Greenstreet in The Maltese Falcon. I palpitated horribly with Ray Milland and Charles Laughton in The Big Clock. I was right with Robert Montgomery as he tracked down The Lady in the Lake. I have enjoyed every moment of tension engineered by Alfred Hitchcock; I crawled up all The 39 Steps, practically disappeared during The Lady Vanishes and almost went out of my mind with Suspicion. These are not the greatest works ever conceived by mortal man but never did I fail to have a fine pulse-quickening time.

• • •

Every once in a while my movie-going activities are subjected to scorn. A few of my friends tell me that Hollywood caters only to the teenage intellect — the early teens at that! My supercilious friends may be right —for themselves. As for me, I prefer to "waste" an occasional hour or two mixing entertainment with education rather than spending the time over a hot gin-rummy table.

Often it gives me pleasure to turn the tables on my critics.

"Granted, for argument's sake, that movies are seldom worth while," I begin, "can't you think of one picture that you enjoyed?" Softened into a mood of reasonability they grudgingly concede that they can.

Says one of the group, "I'll never forget Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable in It Happened One Night."

"But how about Laughton in Mutiny on the Bounty?" asks another.

"I liked him better in Ruggles of Red Gap," interrupts a third.

And so it goes. Before you can say supercolossal, the ones who were the most contemptuous deluge you with recollections of dozens of unforgettable evenings.

At one session last summer I jotted down a hundred titles in twenty minutes — titles which these erstwhile belittlers considered all-time classics. The prime favorites in this impromptu list were — and the order has no particular significance — David Copperfield, Of Human Bondage, The Big Parade, Gone With the Wind, Goodbye, Mr. Chips, Rebecca, Pygmalion, Cavalcade, Intermezzo (which brought us Ingrid Bergman), The Philadelphia Story, Lost Horizon, You Can't Take It With You, The More the Merrier — that magnificent whimsy about the housing shortage in Washington, with Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn — Mr. Deeds Goes to Town with Gary Cooper and its successor, Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, which starred James Stewart, Casablanca, Spellbound, My Man Godfrey, The Awful Truth and Greta Garbo in nearly everything she did.

To all of the foregoing I add a wholehearted and unqualified yes. And there are hundreds of other candidates for relative immortality. High on my own list, for example, would be Here Comes Mr. Jordan, best of all fantasies of earth and high heaven and The Informer, in which Victor McLaglen wrung the heart with horror and pity.

• • •

No matter what you may think of Hollywood's star system, will you ever forget the performances of some of its stars? For example: Paul Muni's personification of social protest in I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang; Douglas Fairbanks swaggering through The Mark of Zorro; Spencer Tracy and Freddie Bartholomew in Captains Courageous; Marlene Dietrich's torrid insouciance in The Blue Angel; Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers against the background of melodies by George Gershwin, Cole Porter, Jerome Kern and the perennial Iriving Berlin; Margaret O'Brien's tear-compelling debut in Journey for Margaret; the irrepressible Carole Lombard (and Fredric March) in Nothing Sacred; Charlie Chaplin, especially in The Gold Rush when he dines voraciously on an old shoe, daintily picking out the nails.

But, it may be argued, these films were produced in Hollywood's golden age; nothing being done today can match them. This familiar complaint annoys me. Today the movies are mirroring every level of life in films that range from sharp realism to artfully blurred evasions of reality. I can't recall a more convincing —or artistic — transcript of common everyday existence than The Best Years of Our Lives which ran the gamut from the humorously rowdy to the tragically ennobling. But if instead of factual drama about the postwar world I want man's imagination at its richest, I can find ninety minutes of complete catharsis in current filmings of great novels and plays. Momentary troubles dissolve during the unfolding on the screen of such works of art as Dicken's Great Expectations, Tolstoy's Anna Karenina, Lillian Hellman's Another Part of the Forest, John Galsworthy's Escape, Lindsay's and Crouse's State of the Union and Maxwell Anderson's Key Largo.

But there are other times when I want to be dazzled rather than educated; amused and amazed without being uplifted. It is then I turn first of all to Walt Disney, the pure abstractionist, creator of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Fantasia and Melody Time, who turns folklore and tone poems into surrealist nightmares and starbursts of inspired nonsense.

• • •

Though it may be conceded that Hollywood excels at pretty escapes and Technicolor dreams, the movies, so I am told, fail to recognize the harsher aspects of life. Perhaps there are not enough probing appraisals of society. But we should be grateful for the sharp social criticism in Gentleman's Agreement, the exposure of racial hatred in Crossfire, the attack on blind greed and wartime profiterring in All My Sons. In foreign films the seamier side of life is certainly not always glossed over. And the popularity of these films proves that people want to see something besides soft and saccharine falsifications of the romantic spirit. Nor has it been only foreign films that have stuck to stubborn and uncomprising fact recently. Look at The Lost Weekend, Treasure of Sierra Madre and The Naked City.

I have been asked in what direction the movie of the future will progress — whether it will swing toward realism or even further toward romanticism. The answer, I think, is both. There will be successful pictures as stark as Hemingway's The Killers, footloose fantasies as whimsically touching as Miracle on 34th Street, spectacular musicals, lavish period representations of a vanished era like Life With Father, double-talking slapstick comedians like Danny Kaye and dead-pan artists like the Clifton Webb of Sitting Pretty, new Road pictures with those brash gagsters Bob Hope and Bing Crosby and more of Crosby himself — the semiserious and eternally young Uncle Sam without whiskers.

Which is as it should be. The art of the film is so flexible that it can go in two directions and make sense both ways. The rich variety of an expanding medium, the possibilities in new dimensions and larger perspectives. . . . But enough of this now—I've got a date to see the Marx Brothers tear the scenery apart in a revival of A Night at the Opera.

Miscellaneous Shower at Victoria

Victoria. — On Tuesday evening Feb. 1st, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Waterhouse, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse, Victoria, in honor of Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse's brother, Mr. Haviland Hubbs and bride, Miss Annie Bent of Nova Scotia, who were married several weeks ago. An address was read by Mr. Melvin Pulver and a large number of beautiful presents were presented to Haviland an Annie, which both responded to very fittingly and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by other ladies, after all viewed the lovely presents and extended congratulations to the bride and groom.

Haviland was born and brought up in this neighborhood but in recent years he has taken over his late grandfather's farm on the bay shore where he now resides. Guests from a distant were Mr. and Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Harold Wannamaker of Rednersville and Mr. and Mrs. Don Dempsey, Albury.

RAWDON

Rawdon.—Messrs. John McMullen and Stewart Brady of Sine, attended the funeral of Mr. Robert Eggleton on Saturday afternoon.

The many Rawdon friends of Mrs. W. H. Clarke, Deseronto, were sorry to hear that she has had an enforced rest this Winter. Her husband, Rev. W. H. Clarke is enjoying fair health and able to be about as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharp recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Milton Reid, Oak Hills and Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spencer visited Mrs. Allan Bailey on Thursday.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mission Circle, secretary of Belleville Presbyterial, attended the Winter executive meeting in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, on Thursday, Jan. 27. The President, Mrs. A. Empey of Eldorado, conducted both sessions and plans were made for the coming presbyterial in April. Belleville Presbyterial has reached and exceeded its allocation for the first time since union.

Mrs. MacMullen in reporting for the six mission circles said this group of 112 had remitted $432.42 to Mrs. W. H. Truscott, presbyterial treasurer. They held 61 meetings and held several social events. There are two circles in Belleville, at Bridge St. and Holloway St. Churches, one each at Plainfield, Cherry Valley, Tamworth and Wesley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer, Jr., entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Linn and Ruth, to tea on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reid, Frankford, entertained in honor of the birthday anniversary of her father, Mr. Will Spencer, Murray, on Sunday for dinner. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Spencer and Ray of Mt. Pleasant, also Mr. and Mrs. Don Spencer, of Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharp entertained Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Potts, David and Shirley and Miss Doris Pollock.

Two-by-Two Club

On Friday evening, Mt. Pleasand Two-by-Two Club entertained about 30 members of St. Andrew's Adult Club, Stirling, and about a dozen members of Mt. Pleasant Young People's Union at the church hall.

Mr. Burton Sharp presided and Bible lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Summers Mrs. Frank Spencer Jr., read the sang "The Old Rugged Cross" with guitar accompaniment.

Mrs. John Mulheron told of conditions in England at the time of World War II.

Miss Ruth Linn on behalf of the Young People's Union sang a vocal selection.

On behalf of the visitors from Stirling, a reading was given by Mrs. Ken Ray, a vocal duet by Misses Isabel and Doreen Fox. Brief addresses by the pastor, Rev. W. H. V. Walker and the President, Mr. G. Crown.

Mrs. Merle Spencer gave an outline of the activities of Mt. Pleasant Club during 1948.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver conducted the recreation.

Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

LIGHTING AND OTHER REGULATIONS ARE STILL IN EFFECT

Favorable water conditions and the wholehearted co-operation of all classes of Hydro consumers have made it possible to discontinue allocating power on a quota basis to Southern Ontario municipalities. In some cases this has given rise to the assumption that the power shortage is over. This is definitely not the case. Lighting and other regulations are still in effect. There is still not enough electrical energy to meet all of Ontario's growing demands.

If conditions remain unchanged there should be no need to resume the practice of allocating power. However, unfavorable weather and the excessive use of electricity CAN easily make such a step necessary.

For this reason then, we ask you not to waste electricity. Every Hydro user can help .... commercial and business users by avoiding unnecessary use of power at all times and by adhering strictly to existing regulations respecting the use of electricity .... factories by cutting down during the daytime hours and making the most effective use of electricity over the 24 hours of each working day .... home and farm consumers can also do their part by continuing to save electricity wherever possible.

The power situation is constantly under review by the Commission and it is to be hoped that supply conditions will soon permit wider use. In the meantime please continue to conserve electricity at all times.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Overheard

"Don't think I'm talking behind her back. I would tell it to her face." I doubt it. . . don't you? In these words there's often maliciousness, and very often danger. And there's generally a mean quality in the tone of voice with which they are said. Kind people, right-thinking people, bar these trouble-making words from their conversation.

A Godfather Plans a Fine Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been asked to be godfather for the baby daughter of very dear friends of mine, and for the baby's christening gift I had thought of giving a small plate of beautiful old silver, a family heirloom. To be engraved on the reverse side, with her name, date of the christening, and "from her godfather", followed by my name. Do you approve of this, or should I give her something in modern silver:

If I send her this, enclosing a card, should I address the card-envelope and the package to the child or to the child's mother?

Arthur L.

Your proposed christening present of the small plate in lovely old silver is a wonderful gift . . . a distinguished, life-time gift. If the words on your enclosed card are addressed to the baby . . .for example, "To Cynthia Mary Delafield, with love and best wishes from her godfather, Arthur Lane". . .the card-envelope and package should be addressed to the child, in care of her mother. If the note on the enclosed card is to the mother . . .for example, "Dear Janet, this is a loving bow to Cynthia Mary, with every good wish from her godfather" . . . the card-envelope and package should be addressed to the mother.

Poor Flower-Planning . . . Imitation Flowers and Real Camellias

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To wear to a formal dance I went to a short while ago, I had made a very beautiful headdress, a flat bandeau entirely fashioned of small colorful flowers, the colors exquisitely blended. I am to be married soon, a very simple, very informal wedding in my home, with only a few guests present. I would like to wear this headdress with a simply-designed ankle-length afternoon dress. Would this be proper? And particularly would it be proper to wear this if I wear two white camellias, which is what my fiance wishes to send me to wear?

Cecilia S.

This combination would be all wrong, very poor ensemble-planning. The "colorful flowers of the bandeau would certainly steal the show from the white camellias. I suggest you don't wear the flower-bandeau . . .either wear a headdress, or a small, pert hat harmonious with your dress, in color and design. Then you'll be a wise girl to "feature" your bridegroom's two white camellias . . . he has fine and charming taste, that man!

PROFIT ON THE HOOF

Arcola, Sask. — (CP) — Back in 1931, farmer Mack Murray bought a cow for $5. He sold it recently for $112.20 after 16 calves had been born to the animal while he owned it.

STOCKING CACHE

Prince Albert, Sask. — (CP) — City police nearly had a case during the festive season when a citizen telephoned to say he had lost a $1,000 bill. His wife disclosed she had the bill tucked in her stocking "until the party was over."

Designers Favorite

By PRUNELLA WOOD

A DESIGNER named D'Aulan selected the model from which this frock is made early in the autumn as being his pet one, the silhouette most likely to succeed in his collection. He was right, for the easily moulded bodice with its square neck, the ingeniously cut skirt which minimizes the waistline while looking extravagantly difficult to wear becomingly, turned out to be a flatterer.

Here you see it in black moire, with self buttons down the entire front, and worn with a huge black cartwheel and many pearls.

Several Promising Actors, Actresses Uncovered Despite Dull Stage Season

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

New York, Feb. 5 (CP)—Whatever the shortcomings of the current theatrical season on Broadway, it has turned up some promising young actors who should give good accounts of themselves in the future.

New productions may have lacked originality and plays may have flopped with the same dismal regularity as in previous years. But there have been enough outstanding individual performances to show there is plenty of fresh talent on the way.

One of the most sensitive and touching portrayals was that of Margaret Phillips as the heroine of Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Canadian-born "Find"

Another "find" was Allyn McLerie, playing opposite Ray Bolger in "Where's Charley?" the uproarious musical version of "Charley's Aunt." Miss McLerie is a native of Grand'mere, Que.

The revue, "Lend an Ear", presented a cast studded with bright and talented young people. Among them were George Hall, Toronto-born comedian; Carol Channing, a tall blonde with a sense of humor, and two versatile dancers, Gene Nelson and Bob Scheerer.

Johnny Coy, an agile tap dancer from Montreal, and Viola Essen, a ballet dancer, contributed a notable sketch to another revue, "Along Fifth Avenue."

A young, little-heralded actress named Julie Harris and a big dramatic moment in "The Young And Fair." Cast as a kleptomaniac school girl, who becomes insane at one point, she gave a terrifyingly convincing performance.

"The Ivy Green," a play about the life of novelist Charles Dickens, will have its first showing at the Grand Theatre in London, Ont., March 4. After a two-night stand there it will run for a week in Toronto starting March 6, then to Boston and Broadway the week of March 28. Judith Evelyn, originally from Moose Jaw, Sask., who began her acting career in Winnipeg, will appear in the play.

Sombre Drama

Sombre is the word for "Forward The Heart," a two-act play by Bernard Reines at the Forty-Eight Street theatre.

Only four persons are in the cast. William Prince acts well as the irritable and wilful veteran. Mildred Joanne Smith is the Negro maid, as gentle and reasonable as her suitor is adolescent and selfish.

"Oh, Mr. Meadowbrook?" the Ernest Truex vehicle produced by Toronto-born John Yorke, closed at the Golden Theatre last Saturday night . Willard Stoker has acquired the English rights to "The Young and Fair." Flora Robson will play the part of the headmistress.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Parents Forbid their Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19 years old and engaged to a boy 20. His religious beliefs are different from mine and my parents tell me they won't let us marry.

I am very much in love with this boy and we want to get married but everyone says it's wrong. Should I marry him secretly and not tell anyone for two years, or should I look for someone else?

"Worried"

Dear "Worried":

I think that any secret marriage between yourself and this young man would be very unwise for a great many reasons. If you did any such thing I am sure you would quickly find your-on your hands than you have now.

It doesn't seem to me, however, that your only other alternative to marriage is to give this boy up and, as you say, "look for someone else." If you can be patient enough to wait until you are both a little older, and in the meantime try in a tactful way to win your parents over ,things might come out all right in the end. Of course you must not lose sight of the fact that there are a great many complications to be worked out in any marriage between two people who have been brought up in different churches, and you should discuss these thoroughly between yourselves and arrive at some workable understanding on the points on which you differ, well in advance of any complicated marriage.

A "No Kissing" Policy is a Good Idea

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been seeing a girl quite often for the past few months and recently when I have taken her home she would ask me if I were not going to kiss her goodnight. I had never made any attempt to do so.

I would like to know if it shows that a girl specially likes a boy when she asked him to kiss her, or would this be just a matter of routine? This is the first time I have ever had it happen. I don't want you to get the impression that this is a "kiss and tell", but I would like to have your viewpoint for I can't figure it out.

"Unsigned"

Dear "Unsigned":

I am afraid that in the majority of cases these days, goodnight kisses between boys and girls are, as you suggest, merely a matter of routine. Undoubtedly, such kissing is supposed to indicate that the boy and girl like each other, but my own feeling is that such liking can be shown in a far better way. The very fact that you have been taking this girl out quite often should be enough to convince her that you like her, and the fact that she is willing to go out with you often certainly must show that she likes you.

Somehow I think that it will make a great deal more impression on her, and make her like you a lot better if you hold to your "no kissing" policy and just tell her you're not the type for it. However lightly they regard kissing and petting, girls still like boys who command their respect, and vice versa.

No Need to Return Gifts

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 21 years old and have been going with a boy the same age for two years. During this time he has given me gifts, some of which are quite expensive.

Now we have broken up and I feel that I should return these gifts. I have asked some people about it and they say that it would be an act of ignorance to do so. I really don't know what to do as I won't ever use the gifts. So I'm leaving it up to you.

"A Devoted Reader"

Dear "Reader":

If you were definitely engaged to this young man, and had planned marriage, the etiquette rules say that all gifts, letters and photographs should be returned by each. However, if there was no formal engagement between you, or even an informal understanding, then I see no reason why you should return the gifts. There is no need to make such a point of the fact that you are no longer friends, if you have been nothing more.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

Little girls, too, would be beautiful

With the home permanent gaining popularity every day, with more and more girls and women transforming themselves into curly tops, the beauty trade has become somewhat alarmed. This departure has made a dent in the sum-total of coin that collects in the cash register every day. Some shops are adding reducing salons to make up for their losses. Others are putting in departments for taking care of children. So now it is hoppity-hop to the beauty shop for the young fry. And do they love it! Do they have fun!

Special furniture is used to make their small bodies comfortable. Books are there for their amusement. Constructive toys offer them diversion while they are getting treatments of one kind or another. On the customer lists of some beauty shops are young ladies who are not yet five years old.

This departure is a blessing to the mother of those naughty little daughters who scream and kick during a head washing. It is surprising how well they behave under professional attentions. No yells, no kicks, no biting. Just little angels, that's what they are.

Beauty Shoppe

Some beauty shops have customers not yet five years old6

It is the prayer of every mother that her little daughter shall have curly hair. Often there is a faint hint of an unilation. By having their hair properly shampooed, by brushing and training, this pattern can be developed into definite wave lines. It is being done all the time. If there is a dip here, or a lift there, the keen eyes of the operator will find it. By using comb and fingers, setting the lines firmly, letting the child sit under the dryer for a time, presto-change act will take place. Not all at once, of course, but in time.

It is important that the shampoo be thorough, and the home one seldom qualifies. If soap scum remains on the silky strands they will look matted and untidy; the growth itself may be affected unfavorably. Often casual shampooing will change the color, deprive the glorious thatch of lustre.

Having the tiny fingernails manicured now and then during the hair-drying session inspires the child to keep her nails scrupulously clean, and that is vitally important; bacteria can lurk under the eaves, be the cause of serious illness. The child should have her own orangewood stick, be taught to use it once a day after her hands are washed.

A short hair is popular among women, so it is considered the correct mode for youngsters. Flowing locks are dust catchers and the family cherub should have them shorn.

Knit Sharkskin Model

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THERE is a new kind of jersey in sports circles, the so-called knit sharkskin which has an interesting surface and which declines to shrink or stretch. Celanese jersey has always been good swim stuff for dressmaker suits; this newcomer widens that choice in rayon jersey.

The suit shown here is made of the knit sharkskin which has been printed in bright colors in an old fashioned leaf and sprig design. Note the beach shoes, stylish, comfortable, with hard leather soles.

Perfect Partnership

Smooth waves at the side and soft cascading curls in back support the hat nicely and soften the stark silhouette.

KINGSTON RD. CHURCH W.A.

The President, Mrs. Walkom, conducted the devotional service. The roll call was answered by giving a donation of used clothing for Miss Clazie. The general business then followed.

Mrs. Farnsworth introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Miss Clazie whose topic was "Japan", telling of some very interesting missionary work done in Japan while she was there, and how the Japanese Christians are carrying on in this work. She also read some letters of thanks for the gifts and parcels she had sent, and in which they told of their great need. She extended her appreciation to the ladies of the W.A. for the donation in the help of this work.

A vote of thanks was given Miss Clazie for her interesting talk which was appreciated by all.

An enjoyable reading was given by Mrs. Garbutt followed by a contest by Mrs. Walkom, which was won by Mrs. J. Parrott.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Garbutt and Mrs. W. La Rue.

CARMEL W.M.S.

Carmel.—Mrs. Chas. Brintnell opened her home for the February meeting of Carmel Woman's Missionary Society. The President, Mrs. B. Pitman, opened the meeting with the theme, "Thy Kingdom Come, Through the Wory of Christian People". Quiet music was played by Mrs. Clare Horton, leader of Worship Service. Mrs. Pitman gave the call to worship. Mrs. S. Homan read from the Missionary Monthly, the message of the Dominion Board President, "Our Father, Thy Kingdom Come". The responsive Psalm 145 was led by Mrs. Ross. The General Thanksgiving was read in unison. The offering was received and dedicated.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. H. Dafoe.

Twelve members and one associate helper answered the roll call and one visitor.

Teaching temperance in the home was read by Mrs. Patterson. A short talk was given and a reading on Christian Stewardship read by Mrs. Pitman. Mrs. Ross, Mission Band leader, thanked all those who assisted her so well last year and stressed the importance of co-operation of members of the auxiliary with work of the Mission Band. A quilting will be held at Mrs. B. Pitman's on Feb. 23, if possible.

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. Brintnell and the Study Book was taken by Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Homan and Mrs. Brintnell by using the leaflets "How to Use". The closing program from the Monthly was used, and Mrs. Earl Dafoe, Mrs. Porter, and Mrs. Moorman assisted Mrs. Brintnell in serving refreshments and the usual social half hour followed.

SHIPPING TRADE IMPROVES

London — (CP) — Britain's shipping position has improved so substantially in the last two years through increased production that her dollar expenditure this year chartering U. S. vessels will be almost nil. By 1950 the British merchant fleet will be restored to its pre-war condition.

Playoff Picture In Maritimes Still Foggy

Halifax, Feb. 5 —(CP)— Little more than a week of play is left in Maritime senior hockey league schedules but the playoff picture still is foggy.

In the Maritime senior, or Big Four, Saint John Beavers and Dartmouth Arrows are tied in first place and Moncton Hawks are in second only two points behind.

But arrows finished out their schedule last night while Beavers still have two games to go. Moncton has one game left and the whole thing could end up Tuesday in a three-way tie. Last-place Halifax St. Mary's figures in all three remaining games.

Sydney Millionaires clinched the Cape Breton senior title last night by blanking North Sydney Victorias 5-0. The semi-final in the three-team loop will start Feb. 14 between North Sydney and Glace Bay Mines.

The third and last league to figure in Maritime senior playoffs is the Antigonish Bulldogs — who have five MacDonalds on their roster—still have an even chance of finishing on top.

The Cape Breton and A.P.C. winners will meet in the Maritime semi-final.

TARTANS AGAIN POPULAR

London — (CP) — Tartans never go completely out of fashion; but this year they promise to have a vogue almost unprecedented since Queen Victoria dressed her children in the Balmoral tartan. The MacBeth, Royal Stewart, Hunting Stewart and Buchanan tartans are popular.

Stratford Indians Will be Happy When Season Ends

(By The Canadian Press)

There'll be no victory cheers in the Stratford camp when the Ontario Hockey Association senior 'A' schedule winds up next Friday. Instead there'll be a sigh of relief.

Last night the Indians suffered their 31st loss in 37 starts as the second - place Toronto Marlboros blanked them 10-0.

The win gave pudgy Howie Harvey his fifth shutout of the season and boosted the Dukes to within two points of the league leading Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

In another senior 'A' game last night, the third - place Hamilton Tigers defeated the fourth-place Owen Sound Mercurys 7-4. In the junior 'A' division, St. Catharines Teepees took over sole possession of fourth place by besting the second-place Stratford Kroehlers 10-5 and the last-place Toronto St. Michael's College Majors defeated the third-place Barrie Flyers 3-2.

The Dukes ran roughshod over Stratford. The Toronto squad rolled into a 1-0 lead in the first period, made it 6-0 in the second and then added four more in the third. Gord Hannigan paced the winners with four goals, followed by a two-goal performance by Chuck Blair and Johnny McCormack. Al Buchanan and Ken Johnson got one apiece.

The Tigers overcame a two-goal deficit in the first period, counted four unanswered goals in the second period and outscored the Mercurys 3-2 in the third.

Wage Two-man Battle

Clare Shillington and Johnny Conick, waging a two-man battle for the league scoring honors, picked up four and three points respectively for the Bengals. Shillington counted two goals and two assists while Conick got three assists.

Other Hamilton scorers were Tom Smelle, Bobby Laurent, Polly Miocinovich, Murray Comfort and Hal Cooper. Doug Gillespie, Mike Shabaga, Alan Forslund and Tommy Burlington counted for Owen Sound.

Toronto's Don Rope sent the Irish up 1-0 early in the first period and Joe Decourcy lengthened it to 2-0 early in the second. Both goals were scored while the Flyers were a man short. Walter Clune sent St. Mike's up 3-0 in the third before Rick Hogg and Gord Pennell each got one for Barrie.

The Teepees shot into a 4-0 lead in the first period, were outscored 3-1 in the second, and then outpointed the Kroehlers 5-2 in the last frame.

For Teepees Red Sullivan tallied three goals. Fred Hildebrand and Obie O'Brien got two each while Gord Byers, Bud Evans and Wayne Brown got one each. Pierre Cadieux scored twice for Stratford. Others went to Doug French, Bob Markle and Danny Lewicki.

Eight teams go into action tonight. In the senior A loop, the Tigers play a return match with the Mercurys, while in the junior A division, the Flyers play the Irish, Toronto Marlboros clash with Oshawa Generals and Galt Rockets play the league - leading Windsor Spitfires.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Feb. 5 (AP)— Providence Steamrollers have been in the pro basketball association of America's cellar so long that coach Ken Loeffler is thinking about installing a bar and Dart Board and calling it his game room....but Ken also figures that is proof that they're playing real big league basketball in the B.A.A.... it isn't like college ball where you can make a mistake and the other fellow isn't smart enough to take advantage of it.

Sportsmention

Preston Ward, one of Brooklyn Dodgers' leading first base candidates, is a leading scorer on the southwest Missouri State College basketball team, which has won 15 consecutive games ... John Lose, Bucknell basketball guard has a habit of singing to the players he's guarding. There's no record of any of them being lulled to sleep ... although Carl Snavely loses 18 players off his offensive and defensive football teams at North Carolina, he still expects enough help from his fine freshman to use the two-team system next fall...

Weak End Notes

Now that there's snow in New England, the Laconia and Sunapee Chambers of Commerce are arguing which ski centre is nearer to Boston. They're actually going to measure it... the football Giants announced the signing of seven tackles at the same time. If they could play the same way, it might help ... instead of the traditional jackets ... sweaters, Hardin-Simmons University will award dress suits to its footballers who played in three bowl games ... that's the way they do it out where the vest begins.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Our Canadian National Railways Diesels swing into action here on Monday night when they meet the Gananoque squad headed by an old Belleville hockey favorite, Bill Hastie. The Gans who went down to an 8-4 defeat in front of the trainmen at their last meeting have improved and there's nothing they'd like better than to administer the first setback to the high-stepping railroaders.

• • •

In the meantime the trainmen, undefeated in their group blasting the best Kingston and surrounding points have to offer are confident that they can extend their winning streak to six straight at the expense of the laddies from the "Gateway to the Thousand Islands."

• • •

But it won't be a pushover. Smarting from their recent defeat at the hands of the highly-rated Kingston Nylons who, by the way, have been reinforced by the star left winger, Walter Gerow, the Gan lads aren't feeling any too well over recent setbacks. They, like any other team in the group are anxious to have the honor of toppling the haughty Diesels from their lone perch atop the league standing. And, brothers, sisters and kiddies, they'll be here on Monday night with nothing else but that idea in their minds.

• • •

Tomorrow, the Central Ontario Baseball League holds its annual meeting, the second since the rejuvenated league arose from an eleven year dormancy. President Don Thomas has conclaved the master-minds to meet with the 1949 agenda on parade. There will be the second annual election of officers and it is altogether likely that representatives of last year's participating teams, Kingston, Oshawa, Batawa and the champions Peterborough will be present, in addition to what is reported, those of two or more other teams desirous of entering the loop.

• • •

We are not in a position to dictate to the new executive, but it seems to us that a six-team setup is stretching or what could be called imposing on the traditions of the league that made baseball history here two or three decades ago. In those days when Kingston, Oshawa, Peterborough and Belleville won championships of Ontario, they brought honor to this now almost forgotten part of baseball Ontario. The revival of the old Central Ontario Baseball League brought back the original four teams with the exception of Batawa who took this city's place.

• • •

Last year's revival of the famous old league that brought back memories of such stars as Al Heckman , Duke Dainty, Peeny Mills, "Chief" Williams, the starry Indian southpaw, "Yamie" Jamieson, All Tyson, Kip Rowden, Frankie McCallum, Jake Solomon and many others, was not altogether the best type of senior baseball but it served a fine purpose. It was the groundwork of a league that has been very sadly missed in baseball circles in this district for many years. And we're not deteriorating from the fine intermediate squads that have represented different sections of this neck of the woods in the interim.

• • •

If senior baseball in this part of the world is to be revived with an idea of approaching its former glory, concentrated power is necessary. Four teams of the best the district can produce should fill the baseball fill quite nicely—and the fans will like it. Perhaps no better evidence of this argument is seen in the almost fabulous success of the Belleville and District Hockey League this year. It dispensed well over $3,000 to its team members as against some $800 a year ago. Last season the loop was cluttered with twelve teams which forced sectional division. This year seven teams participated with, as we said before, concentrated power. The brand of hockey was far above that of a year ago, and the actual answer was in the gate receipts. Surely the same thing would apply to senior baseball. Give the district four good senior teams and the fans will do the rest.

• • •

Phil Marchildon, ace pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics in 1948 said yesterday that Manager Connie Mack was asking him to take the full 25 per cent cut allowed under American League regulations.

"I had a bad year last year, but I wasn't that bad," said 33-year-old Phil. "I'm just waiting to have a talk with Mr. Mack before I do anything about the terms they offered me."

He received about $15,000 last season. Phil plans to leave Toronto next Tuesday and arrive in Philly by Feb. 10.

TWEED

Fine New Bowling Alleys Opened By Frank Meraw

Tweed — (Special) — The Bol-O-Way, Tweed's new recreation centre, was officially opened Friday evening in a special ceremony held for the occasion.

The bowling alleys are to be operated by Frank Meraw, a Tweed native who had a yen to begin a business in Tweed that would not infringe on any business at present in operation. Shortly after he married, his wife, who incidentally is a Tweed girl, and he, moved to New York State. During the war he served in the United States Army Air Corp, receiving his discharge in 1945 with the rank of captain.

The work on the bowling alleys was begun in September, the construction being under the direction of Pat Whalen of Stoco. The site on which the building now stands on North Victoria St. was purchased from Louis Rashotte. Dimensions of the building are 120 feet in length and 37½ feet in width. Six fine alleys are at the service of Tweed bowling enthusiasts. Jos. Stadler, Toronto, who installed the alleys, notes that the steel work done by the Tweed Steel Works is one of the finest pieces of work he has ever seen.

The lobby of the new Bol-O-Way is strikingly attractive. The wall panels are done in handsome knotty pine with painting in soft, pastel colors done by W. Allore. A beautiful chandelier hangs from the specially constructed matching ceiling, and off to the one side is the box office. The lunch bar overlooks the alleys, and the washrooms are conveniently located at the side of the lobby. The lighting is the latest fluorescent, and healthful, year-round bowling is insured with the air-conditioning system.

Not only will the Bol-O-Way help Frank Meraw to realize an ambition, but will provide the bowling enthusiasts of Tweed to enjoy healthful recreation.

Sault Ste. Marie Junior Curlers Win Main Event

Guelph, Feb. 5 (CP)— Four schoolboy curlers from Sault Ste. Marie are established as the province's junior champions today as the second annual Ontario Schoolboys' bonspiel draws to a close.

Glen (Red) Sagle skipped his foursome to victory in a spectacular extra-end match Friday night to edge out a Lindsay rink skipped by Lawrence Skitch 8-7, and carry off the Esso trophy, the spiel's top prize.

In the finals of the bonspiel's second event, the Gore trophy, J. Ashman led his Toronto High Park rink to a 15-12 victory over a Smiths Falls quartet skipped by H. Davidson. The Gore trophy match was played at nearby Galt.

Curling in the three day bonspiel ends today as the last of 256 youthful enthusiasts from communities across Ontario throw the last stones in consolation play

One bad stone by Skitch in the extra end of Friday night's final cost him the trophy. The Lindsay curler had an opportunity to win the game on his last shot but chipped out one of his own stones leaving the Sault rink with the 8-7 victory.

The contest brought out spectacular shots that older curlers might not have attempted. Sagle curled a brilliant game to pull his rink out of a hole several times.

In the eighth end, with the Lindsay rink lying two, Sagle eased through two guard rocks by inches and dropped his shot in the centre to win the end by one. Lindsay went into the tenth end trailing 7-6 but managed to tie it up and force an extra end.

None of the Saut players has been curling for more than two years. Besides skip Sagle the rink of Charlie Watt, Floyd Edwards and Bill Mason.

Lindsay qualified for the final by ousting the Hornepayne rink skipped by Reg Goldberg 8-7, while the Sault rink defeated H. Richardson of Hamilton 10-2.

In semi-fanals for the Gore trophy the Smiths Falls rink downed R. McGibbon's Hamilton Delta quartet 10-3 and R. Muller's Guelph rink bowed 7-3 [illegible] the eventual winners, Toron High Park.

Toronto Maple Leafs Have Good Chance to Move Up In Tight Race for Playoff Spots

(By The Canadian Press)

Detroit's mid-season spurt has all but dashed the championship hopes of the other five National Hockey League clubs. Unless the Red Wings go into a tailspin in their last 16 games their 12-point lead should carry them through.

The Wings look like a sure pop for the pennant, but it would take more than a crystal ball to predict who will grab the other three playoff spots.

Boston and Montreal are in the favored spots right now, running second and third, with the Canadiens holding a four-point edge on the fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs, who have been long overdue for a win streak, appear to be the main threat to pass Boston and Montreal, but you can't count the tailenders, Chicago and New York, out of the picture by any means.

This weekend Toronto has an opportunity to close the gap. The Leafs play host to the Rangers tonight and move over to Boston for a clash with the Bruins Sunday night. In other jousts, Boston is at Montreal Saturday while on Sunday Canadiens go into Detroit and Rangers make the long trip to Chicago.

News that Conny Smythe, the Leafs' fiery general manager, is on the way back from Florida, may pep up some of the lagging Toronto players. They know that Smyhe can write a ticket to Pittsburgh quicker than any railway clerk.

Rangers will be strengthened for their clash with Toronto by the return of defenceman Allan Stanley and Edgar Laprade, both sidelined with injuries for the last game. It's likely they will be only used sparingly.

The outlook for Canadiens, who have dropped their last three starts, is anything but rosy. Sparkplug Kenny Reardon suffered a fractured shoulder against Toronto Thursday and will be out of action for at least a month, and scrappy left-winger Norm Dussault will miss the Habs' two weekend clashes because of a badly Bruised ankle.

Coach Dick Irvin plans to dress his two star cripples, Elmer Lach and Butch Bouchard, against the Bruins, but whether they have fully recovered after a long layoff in doubtful.

Canada Will Not Bid for World's Hockey Tourney

(By The Canadian Press)

Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, President of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said Friday at Edmonton that Canada will not bid this time for the world's amateur hockey tournament, scheduled to be held in the United States next year.

"We doubt if it would be financially successful in Canada as yet," Dr. Hardy said. "The Allan Cup is so important in our minds that I don't think we could compete against it right now."

There is also the fact that the tournament first was asked for by the United States where it "probably will be more successful financially."

Skiing conditions at most Ontario centres were described as excellent Friday by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity.

A heavy snowfall Friday added up to 10 inches to southern Ontario hills. Powder snow covers tow-hills and bush trails at most ski centres. Snow was packed, however at Fort William and Port Arthur and Kenora.

Ben Hogan, the mighty mite of the links doesn't have a severe back injury his doctor said Friday at El Paso, Texas, The statement came from Dr. Davis Cameron, one of the doctors treating the golf champion for assorted other injuries suffered in an automobile-bus collision Wednesday. A bulletin said Hogan's injuries should be fully healed in about two months.

Amateur Skee Riegel reeled off a six-under-par 64 Friday to move into a tie with Lloyd Mangrum for first place at the half-way mark in the $10,000 Tucson open golf tournament. Both had 36-hole scores of 130. Mangrum, the opening-round leader, fashioned a 66 Friday on top of Thursday's 64. Reigel reversed the procedure. He had a 66 Thursday.

Promoter Frank Tunney said Friday night he had offered $4,000 to Johnny Greco, Montreal welterweight, to fight Pete Zaduk of Toronto in a 10-round bout at Toronto March 1. "I made the offer through Eddie Quinn, Montreal promoter, and I'm waiting to hear from Greco," said Tunney.

Jack Forbes, 19, left Toronto Friday for the Philadelphia Athletics training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., for a tryout with the American League baseball team. Forbes doubled as pitcher and infielder last year in Toronto's Greenwood Park junior league.

The first covered rink ever to be built in Minden, Haliburton county village, was officially opened Friday night before a capacity crowd. Voluntary subscriptions raised the entire $32,000 needed to build the modern arena and recreation centre.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs had an easy time in trampling McGill Redmen 68-17 at the London arena Friday night to register their fourth straight win in the senior intercollegiate basketball league.

Freddie Dawson Would Like To Meet Williams

Chicago, Feb. 5 —(AP)— Freddie Dawson said Friday night he now would like to meet Ike Williams for the lightweight boxing championship.

At the same time two Chicago fight promoters — Jack Begun and Irving Schoenwald—are trying to get him a match with Sugar Ray Robinson for the welterweight title.

Dawson, 25-year-old Chicago slugger, jumped into the No. 1 contender's spot of both the light and welterweight divisions Friday night by scoring a surprising sixth-round technical knockout over rugged Bernard Docusen of New Orleans.

Docusen, the little Filipino stylist who carried Robinson the 15-round distance in Chicago last summer, was stopped by Dawson's belting rights and lefts. It was his first T.K.O. during 63 fights in a sparkling four-year ring career.

Dawson, an 11-5 underdog scored his ninth straight and most impressive victory. He weighed 142½ to his opponent's 143.

Solunar Tables:

More About Crow Shooting

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
Noted Sportsman, author and Creator of Solunar Tables

Last week, you may recall, we were talking about crow shooting. I claimed then, and I still do, that crow shooting can give you wing-shooting practice that you can't begin to duplicate at the traps or on the skeet range.

In further testimony of this, consider our experiences of the last three tries at making good crows out of bad ones.

As I have said before, there is a large winter roost about 20 miles from my home here in central Pennsylvania. The birds have located their gathering place strategically on a large island that lies mid-stream in the West Branch of the Susquehanna River.

The water about the island is deep. Thus, to reach it you must have a boat or wait until the ice is thick enough to bear your weight.

This inaccessibility is, in a way, a good thing. A crow roost that is shot too regularly soon will be deserted in favor of new quarters.

Good Shooting

On the island the birds are disturbed infrequently and the flyway shooting stays at a constant high level, providing always that you vary your methods and locations.

Along the banks of the river is a fringe of trees, water birch, sycamore and willow mostly, and the birds use these trees as convenient resting places where they gather in the afternoon to preen their feathers, gossip and quarrel before taking off in a body to fly to the roost proper. By locating these station stops, we sometimes can find some excellent pass shooting.

The other day we drove to one of these gathering places. It is located at a spot on the river bank where two east and west flyways intersect the main down-river flight.

There was a strong wind blowing and the birds were flying low, using the trees as a screen to protect them from the wind. We managed to lay down about 50 or 60 of the black devils before darkness put a stop to the proceedings.

They were coming down-wind, flying fast, and I missed several crossing shots until I lengthened my lead to about twelve feet.

Got Wise Quickly

The following day we made the mistake of returning to the same spot. For three hours we stood there and watched thousands of crows pass over us at stratospheric heights.

Probably the birds won't use that gathering place again for two or three weeks. In all we killed three crows. Later we learned that they had transferred their meeting place to a spot about two miles down river where there were no guns to bother them.

On our next trip, we chose the other bank of the river. About half a mile from the main roost, a bar juts out into the river. Down on the point of this bar we built three blinds in the fringe of water birch.

Then we set up our stuffed owl in one of the trees near us. This adjunct, who has been christened Gus, is a whopper of a great horned owl and the crows can spot him a mile away.

If there is one thing crows do not fancy it is to have one of the big owls anywhere near the roost. Around the feeding fields they will sometimes ignore an owl completely but near the roost they do their best to drive away the intruder.

At first we pulled in the early arrivals with our crow calls but once the owl's location was established we had flock after flock of milling crows circling over our heads for nearly two hours. During that time we made heavy inroads both on the crow population and our ammunition supply.

Rain Helped

Under normal conditions the birds would not come near that spot for a week or so but it rained the following day so we decided to try it again.

The rain confused the birds somewhat and cut down their vision. Our calls pulled them in to us at tree-top level and once the owl was located we shot crows just as fast as we could load our guns.

Over a period of several years we have learned something about the use of the solunar tables in planning our crow shoots.

Briefly the rules are these. When the major Solunar Period occurs at mid-day, the birds eat their fill early and leave the feeding grounds shortly thereafter. Thus, you can have good flyway shooting at singles and doubles pretty much all afternoon.

When the major Solunar Period occurs in the late afternoon, the birds stay in the feeding grounds until quite late in the day.

That being the case, your shooting will probably be confined to the hour or so immediately before dark. No use looking for single shooting when the birds aren't moving.

Good Practice Shooting

And speaking of wing-shooting practice—you will find that you get just about every variety when you shoot with an owl. For instance, the first day we had to settle down to an organized plan of defence to keep our owl from being dismembered by the irate birds.

They would wheel and circle and then dive at the owl. This meant the fastest kind of snap shooting if we wanted to keep Gus all in one piece.

At first glance, crow shooting may seem like a needless waste of life. However, if you have ever watched the activities of a crow in a duck marsh, you won't worry about ridding the world of such a vicious predator.

The crows that frequent the marshes live for a couple of months each year on duck eggs and ducklings. Once they learn about such delicacies, they return to the marshes year after year.

Believe me, once you see a crow dismember a baby duck or an infant rabbit while the luckless youngster is still alive, you will stop feeling sorry for crows in a hurry.

Take my tip and do some crow shooting this winter. Not only will you learn a lot about handling a shotgun, in addition, you will be lending a hand in practical and vital conservation of our useful wildlife.

Hamilton Thistles Win Tankard From Royal Canadians

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Hamilton Thistles curlers last night won the Ontario tankard, premier award for double rinks competition in the province. Theirs was the 15th tankard victory for the Hamilton club.

Ross Tarlton and Russ Armstrong skipped the Thistles to a 27-24 win over Toronto Royal Canadians led by Bert Kennedy and Andy Ross. Tarlton whipped Kennedy's rink 18-11 while his partner suffered a 13-9 defeat by Grant.

The Hamilton Thistle rinks won their way to the final by ousting Orillia rinks led by Bev Hewitt and S. R. Sargent 25-16 in semi-finals. Royals beat Thornbury curlers skipped by Jack Mitchell and Ivan Brown 34-33.

On the Tarlton rink were Hugh Gorrie, Charles Cassels and Stan Douglas. Armstrong's crew were Carl Bastedo, Ray Broadway and Bill Adams.

In the tankard and its associated trophies — the Burden, Governor-General's and Globe and Mail — aggregate scores decide the outcome.

Kitchener won the Governor-General's trophy, the secondary event by defeating Kingston 25-21. G. H. Hunt and J. Stark outscored the Kingston skips, H. Melvin and A. McFie.

Bobcaygeon's W. V. Marks and A. E. Woolard rinks won the Globe and Mail trophy by outscoring 29-25 eight Galt curlers led by R. J. Carson and C. H. McCune.

To take the Burden trophy back to Oshawa, Paul Michael and A. J. Parkhill outcurled Kingston's entry led by Jack Sands and Bob Elliott 33-18.

Drunk Butcher Thought He Had Killed His Family

U. of M. Defeats Toronto Varsity

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — The league-leading University of Montreal Carabins Friday night lengthened their first-place margin by defeating the second-place University of Toronto Blues 6-4 in a senior intercollegiate Hockey game.

Carabins gained their victory in the third period, when they scored four times without a Toronto reply after trailing 4-2 at the end of the second period.

Bill Spence opened the scoring for Toronto in the first period. Nine minutes later Ferguson made it 2-0.

Ferguson added another midway through the second period and Emblem scored Montreal's first goal five minutes later. Day's goal shortly after cut the Blue lead to 3-2. Within a minute Spence got his second goal to put Toronto up 4-2 at the end of the stanza.

In the last period Giguere scored to make it 4-3 and seven minutes later Emblem tied up the game. Lazure's goal broke the deadlock and Day tallied on a breakaway for Montreal's final goal.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By FRANK KAPLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — Spectators often can't tell the players on a football field without a program. And pretty soon American fans will need a set of playing rules too if they're going to keep up with all the suggested changes.

Annis (Toronto Star) Stukus writes that U. S. football officials are trying "to make football something out of this world."

"The latest idea they have to make the game easier is a football with grips on the side for muddy and slippery weather.

"That," says Stukus, "you would have to consider just about the limit."

"It was bad enough when they tossed in unlimited substitution with its resultant offensive and defensive teams, specialists for this and that — so nothing could be left to chance," moans Stukus, a pretty fair gridiron star in his playing days.

"Why not attach handles to the pigskin for the butter-fingered pass-receivers? They could go farther and equip him with a basket tied around his tummy in case the elusive piece of leather managed to elude his grasp at the handles."

He suggests a few changes in other sports.

For instance, a baseball bat flattened on one side like a cricket bat for players who are "good field and no hitters" or a golf ball with steering vanes on it for the golfer who slices or hooks his shots.

Stukus concludes: "Most games are still nice spectacles. Let's leave a little bit to chance and the ability of one athlete to defeat a rival to decide contests."

Not for Sissies

"Hockey," says Ivan (Hamilton Spectator) Miller, "in spite of rule changes and frequent cracks by those who live to hear themselves talk, is no pastime for sissies."

Miller points to the injuries this season and time increase of some 405 minutes in penalties over last season.

"Things happen fast these days," he says. "Players don't have time to set up planned body checks or defensive measures. They just explode in the most effective fashion at the instant, and all too often the crudity of the measure is crippling to somebody.

"A guy can get hurt in what they now call hockey."

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 5 — (AP) — This is the first edition of the Hollywood language made easy, or folk talk in simple translations.

Hollywood, you see, has its own jargon. People often don't say exactly what they mean, and that makes it hard for foreigners to understand.

Here's an illustration. A so-called friend tells the producer of an epic: "Your picture is magnificent contribution to the annals of the cinema."

Translation: "It's an artistic flop that won't make a nickel, even with bank nights all week and free baby-sitting."

When two people are discussing a deal, one often concludes with "Don't call me; I'll call you."

Translation: "The deal is off; and don't bother me about it."

A friend comments to a star about his recent film, "It's a great audience picture; should be a solid moneymaker."

Translation: "It's an awful piece of corn, but maybe the masses will go for it."

One remark which a columnist often hears from a star is, "I read your story about me." This is followed by a silence which speaks far louder than words and needs no translation.

DRAGS DAUGHTER TO DEATH

Alberni, B. C., Feb. 5 — (CP) — Police said Friday Mrs. Ellis Ray Wiegane, 43, apparently dragged her four-year-old daughter with her to suicide by standing on the tracks until an approaching freight train ran them down. Train brakeman Roy Green said the child, Marilyn Beverley, tried to break free but "the woman jumped up and grabbed the child as she was running away and turned toward the train."

AT THE McCARTHY — Glenn Ford and Terry Moore are the bright stars in Columbia's new romantic comedy "The Return of October." And it's all in Technicolor at the McCarthy Theatre today.

AT THE BELLE — Happy interlude for Barbara Stanwyck and Burt Lancaster, co-stars of "Sorry, Wrong Number," tense drama, featuring Ann Richards and Wendell Corey arriving today at the Belle Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — Star Roland Winters, as Charlie Chan, and Mantan Moreland tail a suspect in Monogram's "The Shanghai Chest," due Monday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program "That Lady in Ermine, in Technicolor, starring Betty Grable, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Cesar Romero. Matinee daily at 2.00.

STORL DENIED

New York, Feb. 5 — (AP) — A doctor's statement that President Franklin R. Roosevelt had three strokes before the one that caused his death brought denials Friday from Roosevelt's former doctor and his daughter. Dr. Korl C. Wold of St. Paul, Minn., made the statement in a book, parts of which were reprinted in the current issue of Look magazine.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma started to eat her grapefruit diet this morning, saying to pop, Oh shaw, look at that sky. It couldn't be grayer if it was purposely painted. Oh dear, it's surely going to rain, and I've got some important shopping to do, she said.

And I've got some important golf to play, weather man permitting, pop said, and ma said, Oh, the weather man, dont mention him. He promised it was going to cleer today. Really, William, I mean really, I believe he just guesses the weather by the law of averages, he said.

You're absilutely rite, my dear, pop said. I used to know a chap that werked in the weather bewro. His job was answering the telefone and telling people the wrong weather for the next day. Well, according to him, the bewro is cluttered up with a lot of expensive gadgets for charting wind currents and measuring cloud pressure, and so 4th, but they're just for show, because all the weather man needs to know is how to count up to six, pop said.

Why six? ma said. There's 7 days in a week, she said, and pop said, Yes, but according to the law of averages it rains one day out of every six, so the weather man cuts up a hatfull of paper slips with every 6th one marked R for rain, and the ferst thing he does every morning is pull out a slip for the next day's weather, and if it's blank he reports "Cleer" and if it says R he reports "Rain." The rest of the day he does cross werd puzzles, pop said.

It sounds rather far fetched, but I wouldn't be serprised, ma said, and I said, Hay, ma, G, pop, look, the sky's starting to show. The weather man was rite after all, I said.

Maybe we've been unjust to him, ma said, and pop said, Nonsense, he just had a lucky day. Never let anybody hear you speaking a good werd for the weather man, he said.

Rockets Score 7-2 Victory Over Queen's Squad

The Belleville Rockets are on top of the heap and still going strong in the Junior "B" loop. They have yet to meet defeat and Friday night at the Memorial Arena they stretched their winning streak to five games by downing the fast but inexperienced Queen's squad from Kingston by a count of 7-2. The Rockets have assured themselves of a playoff spot in the group and will be tougher to take when Trussel, who has been out with a fractured wrist for the past few weeks, returns to the lineup. Ken McNaught, who is cocahing the youngsters has certainly taught them plenty and right now they are a pretty potent crew add best of all they have harmony in the ranks.

No Match for Locals

Queen's was no match for the locals, the Rockets never being headed in the contest. They secured a one-goal margin in the first frame increased it by three in the middle stanza and scored the only counter in the third. The scoring was evenly divided throughout the squad with Wright having the best average as he secured a goal and two assists for his night's work. The other scorers were Jones, Schreider, J. Semark, Green, Nolan and Don Semark. Lorne French tallied the two markers secured by the losers.

Spirited Action

The game, witnessed by a small crowd, saw some spirited action and "Speedy" St. Louis, who handled a good game, was forced to impose three major penalties during the pastime although the damage was negligible. Graham and Harley tangled in the last period but were soon parted, while Green in the second stanza went away when he tried to comb a Queen's player.

Billie Hughes, who was in the twine for the losers, played an outstanding game. He was called upon to stop 34 shots on his citadel and if he had not been around the score would have mounted to double figures. The locals went right in before firing but Hughes was able to thwart practically all of their efforts. Outside of Hughes, Lorne French played the best game for the losers. All of the locals went well. The lineups.

Belleville — Goal, McKay; defence, Milligan and Schreider; centre, Jones; wings, J. Semark, and Hogan; alternates, Graham, D. Semark, Creeggan, Green, Nolan, Taylor, Wright, Bowen.

Queen's — Goal, Hughes; defence, Thomas and Thornton; centre, Harley; wings, Gordon and Maloney; alternates, Beggs, Bignell, French, Winter, Huggett, Paterson, Poulter.

Referee — Speedy St. Louis, Belleville; linesman — "Butch" McKenna, Trenton.

1st Period

Belleville — Jones (Milligan) 9.09
Belleville — Schreider (Hogan) 12.15
Queen's — French (Poulter) 19.32

Penalties — Schreider, D. Semark.

2nd Period

Belleville — J. Semark 5.36
Belleville — Green (Wright) 8.35
Belleville — Wright (Graham) 9.04
Belleville — Nolan 10.56
Queen's — French 17.52

Penalties — Green (major), Huggett, Nolan, Thornton, Taylor.

3rd Period

Belleville — D. Semark (Wright) 12.16

Penalties — Wright, Graham (major), Harley (major), Thornton.

New York—Police said a 16-year-old youth, arrested in connection with two attempted holdups last night of the Williamsburg bridge, was talked out of robbing his first intended victim and knocked down by the second "victim"—a deaf mute.

Police identified the youth as Sita Sokoloff of Brooklyn. Jack Gammanta, an unemployed plumber, told Sokoloff he had only 30 cents, was out of work, and had four children at home. He said Sokoloff agreed not to rob him and went on his way. Then Gammanta called police.

Meanwhile, Sokoloff tried to hold up Frank Niewiaddowsky, 23, of Brooklyn, a deaf mute. Niewiaddowsky punched Sokoloff and took away his gun.

Jasper, Alta.—The small dog must have forgotten he is a dog—he climbed a tree.

Then instinct told him that up in a tree, 30 feet off the ground was no place for him.

So he barked and howled until his master, Joe Honeycutt, came to the rescue.

The dog apparently had been chasing a squirrel yesterday when he ran into a hollow tree at an opening near the ground. The squirrel scurried up the inside of the tree with the tiny dog following.

The dog came out an opening onto a limb and was marooned.

Little Rock—State Senator W. H. Abington called on the Arkansas Senate to give the State Welfare Commission more control over the welfare director.

"Let's make the director subservient to the commission," he shouted yesterday in urging passage of a bill he had introduced. "Let's pass a law that will put britches on that man down there."

The Senator must have forgotten. Mrs. Henry Bethel is the welfare director.

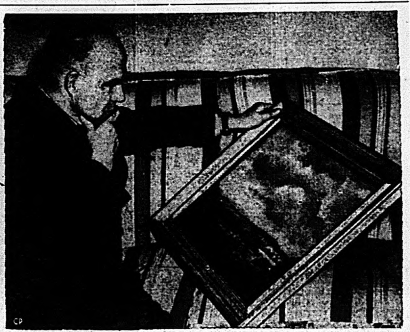
WHEN JAILED HUNGARIAN PRELATE VISITED CANADA'S QUINTS

Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, whose trial on charges of treason is now going on in Budapest, is pictured here with a group of leading cardinals of the Catholic church when the world-famous Dionne quintuplets were presented to them at the palace of the archbishop of Ottawa. The cardinals, left to right are: Mindszenty of Hungary; Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York; Cardinal Tisserant of Rome (bearded); Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto (papal legate to congress); Cardinal Frings of Germany and Cardinal Gerlier of France. Mindszenty came in conflict with the government when he refused to "acknowledge" the present regime after the war. When the government nationalized the schools over his objections he ordered priests and nuns to leave their teaching posts. Reports on the trial opening indicate the prelate admitted "in principle" the charges against him. He firmly denied that he had plotted to overthrow Hungary's Communist-dominated regime.—Photograph by King Features from International News Photos and Central Press Canadian

STRIKER INJURED IN PARIS, ONT., MELEE

"Keep away from here. You've done enough. She'll get hysterical if you touch her now," yelled W. F. Jenner at Provincial Inspector C. S. Creasy. Mr. Jenner's daughter, Mrs. Gladys Burch, 24, was struck, knocked to the ground and kneed in a wild melee between 40 provincial police and 150 strikers before the entrance to No. 9 mill of the Penman Co., at Paris, Ont., on Friday. Mrs. Burch, shown here after she was knocked to the ground, later charged a police officer was responsible for the attack. — Central Press Canadian.



GOVERNOR'S PAINTING—Viscount Alexander shows a good sense of color in his painting and his perspective is good. This is the opinion of Rowley Murphy, well-known Canadian artist, who ran a critical eye over an Ottawa Valley landscape in oils which governor-general presented this week to the Toronto Men's Press Club. "I'd like to see him work on something larger—a six-foot canvas, say," the artist added. (CP Photo)

By-election Will Be Test of Strength For Liberal Party

Nicolet, Que., Feb. 5 (CP) — Monday's federal by-election in Nicolet-Yamaska is looked upon by political observers as not only a prime test of strength for the Liberal party, but of their new leader, Prime Minister St. Laurent.

It will also be more of a test between Mr. St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative leader George Drew than between the candidates themselves.

The act-in-the-hole, so to speak, of the Conservatives may turn out to be the third candidate, running on an Independent Liberal ticket and reported to carry quite a bit of weight in this predominantly rural constituency.

The Independent Liberal is farmer Romulus Manseau, who was nominated by a group of dissident Liberals who refused to accept the official party choice, lawyer Paul Trahan. The Progressive Conservative standard-bearer is Renaud Chapdelaine, a lawyer.

The seat was made vacant by the death of Lucien Dubois who won the 1940-45 elections as an Independent Liberal. Mr. Trahan was also official Liberal in 1945 when he polled 6,658 votes to 7,973 for Mr. Dubois. In this election an Independent Conservative received only 944 votes.

Important Bearing

Both Liberals and Progressive Conservatives realize that the results may have an important bearing on the general elections, forcast for later this year. Both parties claim to be supremely confident, and any wagering is on an even-money basis.

About 30 Liberal members from Ottawa, including Solicitor-General Joseph Jean, chief organizer for Quebec, and Postmaster-General Bertrand have adressed the voters.

Mr. Chapdelaine has had help from George Heon, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Argenteuil, Mayor Alfred Gaudet of Nicolet and a small group from Quebec City.

Both Nicolet and Yamaska, joined in the redistribution of 1933, have been Liberal since 1921.

The riding has about 23,000 voters and the outlook is for a heavy vote if road conditions remain good.

Polls open at 9 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. EST.

L.P.P. Will Drop Support of C.C.F. In Elections

Toronto, Feb. 5 (CP(—The C. C. F. in the forthcoming federal election will be virtually free of some support it never officially accepted anyway—that of the Labor-Progressive party, Tim Buck, L.P.P. national leader, indicated last night.

He told the opening meeting of the third national L.P.P. convention that C.C.F. leaders are fully committed to support of "Wall Street's anti-Soviet, anti-democratic war alliance of capitalist states."

The L.P.P. would support C. C. F. candidates in constituencies where no L.P.P. candidate is running, only if the CC.F. candidate will "commit himself in the fight against the St. Laurent war policies" and oppose the signing of the North Atlantic pact.

Mr. Buck said later in an interview that the L.P.P. would concentrate its activities on popularizing its own platform and electing its candidates in "selected constituencies." Mr. Buck himself would again contest the Toronto Trinity riding.

The development of unity between "members and supporters" of the C.C.F. and L.P.P. was, however, an "indispensable feature" of the struggle to build "working class unity."

The C.C.F. has consistently repudiated election campaign support by the L.P.P., the Canadian Communist party.

LASHES ELIMINATED

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP)—Ontario Court of Appeal Friday lashes from the sentences imposed on five men for armed robbery of a druggist in Bronte, Ont., lost Oct. 2. It substituted reformatory terms for penitentiary sentences for three, halved the penitentiary term of a fourth and quashed the conviction of a fifth.

VITAMIN E TREATMENT BIG CONTROVERSY

In May, 1945, three doctors in London, Ont., Evan V. Shute, Wilfrid E. Shute and Arthur Vogelsang, announced they had successfully treated heart and vascular diseases with vitamin E. Doctors have been divided about its usefulness ever since. While the controversy goes on, the work of the Shute Institute in London is being continued. The two brothers, Dr. Evan and Dr. Wilfrid Shute above, carry on their work along the pattern set by the Ma clinic in the U.S.—Central Press Canadian.

Train Brakeman Given Six Months For Beating Child

Toronto, Feb. 5 — (CP) — For beating his step - son who doctors said "looked more like a five-months-old than two years," because of the punishment he suffered, William L. Shortt, 23-year-old railway brakeman, Friday was sentenced to six months.

Mrs. Mary Shortt, the child's mother, was acquitted of a joint charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

The baby was put in the charge of the Children's Aid Society.

Police found the boy in a rooming house when they answered complaints that he "had been crying every night for two months."

"The child's body was covered with bruises and he was undernourished," doctors testified at the trial.

Dr. Fred Tickett said the child's face was oddly-shaped because of repeated beatings. When he examined the child after the arrests he found one side of the baby's fact dark blue, the left eye partly closed, lips swollen and dried blood under the nose.

Asked if he had anything to do with the baby's injuries, Shortt replied he did not.

"I did spank the child, but I never hit or slapped it. I never struck that child about the head or face."

Neighbors testified that they often heard the child scream, the sound of slaps and a man's voice yelling "Shut up."

CLOSE RACE WITH STOCK

St. Catharines, Feb. 5 — (CP) — A two-way radio helped out when taxi driver Lorne Upper of St. Catharines was driving an expectant mother from nearby Port Weller to hospital here Friday. Reolizing it was going to be a close race, Upper radioed his office to arrange a police escort. He made another call to have a doctor standing by at the hospital. Upper won the race.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

Russell said "I've put you into one of our new cottages up to the point." He held a screen door open for her. "This is the house we call Cambridge," he explained. "The estate covers twenty acres. We've cottages all over, but the whole place belongs to every guest."

They walked through the garden, past a merry group on a croquet lawn. They passed along a white road flanked with flowers and past cottages nestling under trees taller than the cottages. So they came to the top of the hill and Rosalie looked through an arch, down a small avenue of small cottages out to the Atlantic.

Russell led the way to the last cottage. "The meeting place is the lounge next door. We have music there, and most of us gather there for tea or coffee or cocktails. But we expect you tonight for cocktails at Mr. Brown's. Six-thirty."

"I . . . I'm expecting Mr. Mamsley. Do you think he can find me?"

"Ramsley?"

"Yes. The gentleman who made my reservations."

"I beg your pardon. It was Mrs. Rutherford's butler who telephoned."

"Oh," Rosalie answered shortly. She had another who to add to her list. Who was Mrs. Rutherford?

"Shall I dress for dinner?"

"If you like." Russell said and left her with a bow. Rosalie had hoped he'd sit down and talk to her. There were hours yet before she could dress for dinner.

Inspecting her flower - filled, chintz - hung room, the books in the rack above the fireplace engaged her for a little while. The note paper on the desk invited her but she had nothing to write. She couldn't write and tell Marion she'd been so foolish as to take a boy's suggestion as to where to stay because she was impressed by who he was. She couldn't write Norman because she didn't know what to say to him. She found herself, unexpectedly, wanting to write to Terry. But if she wrote to Terry it would only be to tell him things he didn't want to hear.

She decided on a nap. It was after six when she awoke, wakened by the sound of a girl's voice across the hall saying good-bye to some one. It was a cheery, friendly voice, and Rosalie dressed hurriedly in the yellow evening dress she had worn the night before, anxious to make an acquaintance. She rapped on the door across the hall.

Rosalie opened the door and said, "I'm new here, and I've been invited to a Mr. Brown's for a cocktail. Will you please tell me where I'll find him?"

"I'll do better. I'll take you there as soon as I find my other shoe. Come in . . . You'll find cigarettes on the chest of drawers." She disappeared behind a curtain. "My name's Gwen Lawrence. Did you just come?"

"Only this afternoon. My name is Rosalie Bates. I'm feeling very lost. I know only . . . one person."

"You'll get over it. I felt that way when I first came, but I've been coming every year since." She came back with her slippers in her hand. "You'll have fun when you get acquainted. You'll meet people tonight. Some of them you'll like. Some of them you won't."

Rosalie was beginning to feel better. "Perhaps," she said, "since you've been coming every year, you know my friends. He's been coming here for three years. His name is Cecil Ramsley."

The Lawrence girl paused in the act of putting on her slippers. "Ramsley? . . . Let me see. Oh, yes, I've met him with Angela Rutherford."

Rutherford again. Was Angela Rutherford Mrs. Rutherford, and if so, and if she was a special friend of Cecil's, why had Cecil said he wanted Rosalie to come to Somerset?

If she didn't have anything to do, Rosalie thought, she at least had plenty of things to think about.

"Just a sec until I find my torch and we'll be off. Brown always has the new guests for cocktails and there'll be such a mob, it doesn't matter if we are late. If you're eating at the Oxford, why not join me? I'm quite alone at my table." Rosalie could have kissed her for the last remark.

There was "a mob" at Browns' small cottage. Rosalie was passed from person to person, names were mumbled and she sipped her cocktail in silence. The men, and the women, she saw at a glance, studied her with interest and her spirits went up. And while she murmured things about the trip, she was suddenly struck with the power that was hers.

Here she was with all the money she wanted to spend. Here she was in a story-book background. Here she was looking pretty as a movie star and she was letting herself feel awkward, strange and inferior . . . for not one good reason that she could think of.

She sat a little straighter, lifted her head and turned to the man beside her. "Tell me what there is to do here." she said. "I have been in the country all summer and I'm a little bored with doing nothing."

"Swimming, boating, golf at the Mid - Ocean, dancing in Hamilton. Tennis every day. I'd like it if you'd play golf with me tomorrow."

Rosalie sipped her cocktail and wondered how she could tell him she didn't play golf.

Some one named Georgie Frame — she remembered that because he was short and round, and bounded when he came into the cottage — saved her from an-champ around here and will wear you out. Besides, I picked you out the minute you came in here."

Rosalie laughed: "Did you really?"

"I did. And I'm the only man here who hasn't got a girl to take to the show in Hamilton tomorrow night. Miss Bates, will you join me for the theatre and dancing? We've a special boat to take us over and back?"

"Just a minute, George. Who cornered this girl first? Miss Bates, the man's a liar; he's not the only man without a date, and I claim first privilege of asking you."

Mr. Cecil Ramsley could go and jump into the lake, Miss Bates thought. She was feeling proud and very gay, and very popular. It did more for her than all her self-made intentions. She felt and looked, for the first time in her life, like a popular girl.

"I think I shall have to accept Mr. Frame's invitation," she said. "But could I interest you in introducing me to the swimming tomorrow morning?"

She could. He was still telling her about the many things in which she could interest him when Gwen told her they'd have to get along to dinner. Her one cocktail couldn't have made her feel as light-hearted as she did.

Nevertheless, it was with mixed feelings that she looked up from the bridge table after dinner every time a new person entered the lounge. And, nevertheless, the fine edge of her new feelings was dulled by the realization that Cecil hadn't been interested in her enough to come to see how she was getting on her first evening.

DUCKS STARVING ON DELTA MARSHES OF FRASER RIVER

Wild ducks by the thousands are waddling around half-starved on the delta marshes of the Fraser river near Vancouver. Game Warden "Slim" Cameron says the birds are more in need of gravel for their cops than grain. The frozen ground just doesn't yield gravel. Meantime farmers in the area are worried for their spring crops. They fear that with the thaw, expected any day, the starving birds will ruin beet and clover crops, besides other grain fields. Farmers are able to walk within feet of the birds before they take off, and only two or three shot gun blasts (in the air) will raise any number off the ground, as in the picture.—Central Press Canadian.

$40,000,000 Steam Power Plant To Be Built In Toronto

First Unit Will Operate By September 1st, 1951

Toronto, Feb. 7. (CP)—Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, today announced plans for construction here of a $40,000,000 auxiliary steam power plant, capable of producing 206,000 horsepower.

He said the plant would be built on 65 acres of Harbor Commission Land on Leslie Street in East Toronto. The first unit of 103,000 horsepower would be in operation by Sept. 1, 1951.

The plant will be one of several planned for Ontario.

Mr. Saunders said the new plant is urgently needed to meet short-term demands on the Southern Ontario system. The Toronto area uses one-third of Southern Ontario power.

The first unit will turn out 25-cycle power and the second unit 60-cycle. However, the 25-cycle is being designed for quick conversion to the higher power.

The Commission Chairman said Toronto was selected as the site for the development because of availability of condensing water of low average temperature; deep harbor draught; good dockage facilities, and adaptibility of the site to a rapid construction schedule.

Another large steam plant now is under construction at Windsor. It will have an output of 160,000 horsepower and with additional units will cost approximately $30,000,000.

Mindszenty Will Be Sentenced On Tuesday

Budapest, Feb. 7 — (AP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the 56-year old leader of Hungary's 7,000,000 Roman Catholics, today awaited the verdict of a people's court on charges of treason against the communist-dominated government.

Presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys and four lay-jurists who heard the dramatic three-day trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and six others accused with him are to hand down their judgement tomorrow at 9 a. m. (3 a. m. EST).

If found guilty the Cardinal faces possible death by hanging. The verdict will come 44 days after the cardinal was jailed. Besides treason he was accused of spying and black market money deals.

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty

The Hungarian communist press strongly denounced the cardinal as the court weighed its verdict.

Prominent Hungarian Roman Catholics, meanwhile, voiced skepticism about the whole proceedings.

A group of important and fervent Roman Catholics said they were simply unwilling to acknowledge that Cardinal Mindszenty was anything other than a strong defender of his faith.

The cardinal, alone in jail, had his "last word" before the peoples court Saturday at the conclusion of the trial.

He prayed then "May the Lord give wisdom to the court when they pass their sentence, which may help a settlement at home and abroad."

He pleaded partly guilty but denied he had ever been "the enemy of the Hungarian people."

Whatever the verdict, Cardinal Mindszenty or his lawyer may appeal within three days. If there is an appeal, the papers are forwarded immediately to an appeals court, which must return its verdict within a week.

WENT INTO ACTION

Los Angeles, Feb. 7 (AP). — Charles E. Benschoter is 74, but far from feeble. He floored a would-be holdup man with a single punch, then beat him with a bottle of beer until he fled. Police said Benschoter was making purchases in a store yesterday when in came an armed man, husky and about 30. He ordered Benschoter and a clerk to face the wall. Instead, Benschoter went into action.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP) —Synopsis: Cold air is sweeping across Ontario today clearing out the wet snow and rain which occurred during the night. In this colder air snowflurries can be expected to develop today, particularly along the shores of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay. Another disturbance from the Pacific has reached the Prairies and by Tuesday evening will have moved to northern Michigan. Increasing cloudiness with snow by evening is indicated for Tuesday. Temperatures which will drop today will moderate again Tuesday.

30,000 Burmese Govt. Employees Walk Out on Strike

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 7 (AP) —Burma's civil war emergency was heightened as 30,000 government employees walked out today in a strike. Armed police guards were ordered to strategic points in the capital.

Government offices were empty as a result of the walkout. Official sources said leaders of the striking Federation of Services Union were arrested.

The strike was called in protest against cuts in cost of living allowances and a cutback of 25 per cent in the number of employees.

The parliament held its usual session in spite of the strike.

Earlier, fighting was reported to be continuing in Insein, just North of Rangoon, and around Bassein, Irrawaddy Delta port, 90 miles west of the city and Pegu, railroad centre 56 miles north.

RUSSIANS BUILD SHELTER

Berlin, Feb. 7 — (AP) — The British-licenced newspaper Telegraf said today the Russians are rebuilding a giant air raid shelter outside Berlin.

The new shelter, at Reudersdorf, is said to be large enough to house the entire Soviet military government staff "with all the comforts," including direct communications with Moscow.

MAN AND GIRL FOUND DEAD IN TOURIST CABIN

Believed Asphyxiated By Fumes from Heater

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP)— Their clothing hung neatly on wall pegs, a man and a girl were found dead in a tourist cabin bed at West Hill, a few miles east of Toronto, and police said last night they believed the couple had been asphyxiated by fumes from a cabin heater.

Police identified the victims as Dora Lacombe, 20, formerly of Thessalon, and David Duncan Harnden, 22, of Toronto.

The bodies were discovered Saturday forenoon but police kept the deaths secret until late Sunday night. Investigators, reluctant to divulge details, said they believed death was caused by a gas heater using up all the oxygen in the room. The door and window of the cabin were tightly shut.

H. Hammell, owner of the tourist camp, said the man and girl were not registered as guests but apparently had broken into the tiny cabin. An old-model automobile was parked in the yard.

Hammell said he hadn't rented a cabin for four days and was unaware that any was occupied.

His son, Clarence, told him about 10:30 a. m., Saturday that an old car was parked across the entrance to his garage. He tried the cabin doors but found them all locked.

"I went out with my keys and started to unlock the doors of each cabin. I just got to No. 3 when I got the shock of my life. The door was locked all right and inside I saw the couple in bed, snuggled under the bedclothes. At first, I assumed they were asleep but, when I looked closer, they seemed unconscious.

"When I tried to wake them, I found they were sort of stiff."

Dr. C. D. Farquharson, Medical Officer of Health for suburban Scarboro township, said there was no reason to suspect foul play. He performed an autopsy Sunday night and indicated that there will be an inquest.

Police established that Miss Lacombe, an attractive brunette, had been living with her sister on Brock Avenue in Toronto since coming here a short time ago from her parents' home at Thessalon, about 60 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, in Northern Ontario.

Mother Rescues Three Children, Grabs Two by Hair

Toronto, Feb. 7 (CP)—A 35-year-old woman grabbed her three semi-conscious children out of their beds early today and ran from her smoke-filled house into the street.

The fire filled the building with smoke. It broke out in the basement and worked up through the walls.

Mrs. Mannie Yellen said "I woke —up coughing and half blinded by smoke. My first thought was for my children.

The mother said she grabbed her three-year-old child out of his crib and pulled the other two—Harvey seven, and Garry, 12—out of bed by their hair.

Small Quantity of Home Appliances Now Featured in Moscow Store

By TOM WHITNEY

Moscow, Feb. 7 (AP) — Moscow stores now stock many up-to-date home appliances and cconveniences.

Mostoro, Moscow's central department store, has on sale electric refrigerators with a fine white enamel finish.

And stores also sell such appliances as television sets, vacuum cleaners, radios, pianos and bicycles.

Refrigeration is not much of a problem here because of Moscow's climate. Nevertheless, many Soviet housewives undoubtedly dream of acquiring one of these refrigerators.

It cannot be said they are yet being manufactured in quantity. When output is increased, undoubtedly the price will come down. (Prices are not given in this dispatch, which came thru' Soviet censorship. Neither does the dispatch make plain what earning power would be required to acquire this modern home appliance.)

This department store also carried television sets and has been advertising that "televisors along with radios must be in every home." The television factory is reported to have sold some thousands of sets in the last year. Production is due to be increased. There are television stations in Moscow and Leningrad

Vacuum cleaners are also sold in Mostoro. They are floor-type models with a set of attachments. Prospective customers can have them demonstrated at a special centre on the store devoted to new merchandise.

Another novelty in the Moscow retail market is automobiles. They are sold in a special automobile store. Two makes are available at the present time.

Excellent Soviet-made cameras now are on sale and there are many Soviet makes of radios. They are all table models and most of them receive short, medium, and long-wave programs.

One item which is not yet on sale is the electric washing machine.

Storms Battle Armies Of Rescuers in West US, Hay Convoy is Marooned

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP)—Slashing storms had opened up a new front today against the armies of rescuers —in the western United States blizzard areas while hammering again at some sections of the high plains.

High winds in Wyoming piled deep snow drifts back onto highways and rail lines, bringing traffic to another halt. A Burlington lines bus with 30 passengers was stalled 42 —miles west of Casper, Wyo., and a convoy —of 14 truck loads of hay for snowbound ranches was marooned south of the city.

The newest storm swept in from the Pacific Ocean yesterday and dumped deep snow on sections of Washington, Oregon and northern California.

Three deaths, one each in Missouri, Idaho and Oregon were attributed to the weather.

Catholics Throughout World Assail Hungarian Government For Conduct Mindszenty Case

(By The Canadian Press)

Protests against the treason trial of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty reached a new crescendo as a people's court in communist-dominated Hungary prepared to pass sentence.

The leader of Hungarian Roman Catholics — termed by the prosecution "one of the last remnants of reaction" in the Russian satellite — prayed alone today in his jail cell, awaiting the court's verdict Tuesday.

Millions of Roman Catholics — and a number of Protestants — raised their voice in the world outside the iron curtain.

On the other side of the iron curtain it was a different story. The Cardinal's trial was declared a triumph over a "Monarchist-Catholic" plot and "reactionary propagandists" by Pravda, official Russian communist newspaper.

In Budapest, itself, the Communist newspaper Szafad Nep said the trial of the Cardinal — "A wretched worm, a frightened scoundrell" was a "defeat for the west".

Obscure Day of Prayer

Roman Catholics in the United States observed a country-wide day of "prayer and protest" Sunday, along with others of the faith in Canada and other countries.

In Toronto, James Cardinal McGuigan, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto, said that Cardinal Mindszenty's trial "followed the usual totalitarian pattern with an alleged confession by the accused and an obviously weak defence".

He said the government of Hungary was engaged in a policy of persecution and terrorism and had no regard for truth and justice.

Francis Cardinal Spellman in New York denounced, from the pulpit of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the "mock trial" and the "atheistic communism" he said was responsible.

Tell Russia She Cannot Win Third War if She Starts One

-St. Laurent

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 7. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent thinks Russia will have to be told she could not win a Third World War if she started one.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Section of the Canadian Bar Association, Saturday night, he said:

"I think it is worthwhile to tell them (the Russians) that they are not going to be through with us until they have licked the whole of us.

"They have got to be told in more than mere words that the western democracies mean business. They have got to be told in something that they will recognize as something more significant than mere words.

"We have got to tell them in such a way that they will understand that we mean business'.

That meant that Canadians must impose on themselves certain sacrifices and burdens if they were to avoid a third world war.

He thought the North Atlantic pact would bring together 'An aggregation of strength that I do not think any realistic totalitarian will dare to attack." To preserve peace, South America countries might be linked with the northern democracies in a security arrangement.

Mr. St. Laurent said the North Atlantic pact may involve for Canada "perhaps greater risks" than would a fully-implemented United Nations charter. The pact was "not as good" as the U.N charter in full operation.

"But if we can't have the best, then let us take what is nearly the best too give us that feeling of security that we need in the course of our daily lives . . .

Justice Minister Garson told the gathering that the government plans to undertake a consolidation of Federal Statutes on common and civil law.

Before returning to Ottawa, the Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent attended Sunday morning Mass at the Sacred Heart Church in Welland, spiritual home of most of Welland's 4,000 French-Canadian residents.

Should Search Policy for Clause On Oil Storage

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP) — T. N. Phelan, Toronto lawyer, said today that "an often-overlooked" government statute requires a special clause in fire insurance policies to cover householders in which more than five gallons of fuel oil are stored.

Mr. Phelan said it is a "wise precaution for householders to search their policies" to make sure that a clause is included to override the government statute.

He said he had been misquoted in newspaper reports of a speech to the Ontario section of the Canadian Bar Association at Niagara Falls last night. The reports quoted him as saying that householders needed a special clause if they stored more than 50 gallons of fuel oil.

Fire Marshall Scott of Ontario said that special clauses to cover stored oil are included by most insurance companies. He said regulations regarding just how it should be stored are laid down and enforced by municipalities. In Toronto, the limit was 500 gallons.

Good Deed Driver Only One of Four Escaping Damage

Kitchener, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Carl Ziegler received no payment for offering to lend a helping hand to a fellow motorist but nevertheless be is convinced that the deed "paid" him anyway.

His automobile was the only one of four involved in an unusual highway accident at Heidelberg Sunday night which did not suffer damage.

It happened this way: Joseph Metzger of Wallstein stopped on the highway to adjust his defroster and then discovered that he could not get under way again. The road was too slippery.

Along came Ziegler and he attempted to give Wallenstein a shove. Right in his tracks came Donald Friedman of Linwood and, unable to stop in time, he rammed into the rear of Ziegler's vehicle.

A few seconds later Douglas Gray of Millbank arrived on the scene with a "bang" as he plowed into Friedman's car to complete the quartette.

Luckily no one suffered worse than a shaking up and damage, police report, was not extensive.

Keays States Fellow-Officer Wanted Case Withdrawn To Help 'Influential Friend'

Was "Shocked and Astounded" When Blackwell Ordered Formal Inquiry

By GEORGE FORSTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Provincial Constable J. E. Keays testified today that a fellow-officer asked him to withdraw a prosecution to help an "influential friend."

He told a royal commission that Corporal Sam Ervine of the Ontario Provincial Police tried to discredit him when he refused to withdraw the charge.

Keays testified as a public hearing opened before Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court into allegations of fraud, perjury and maladministration of justice directed at seven Ontario Provincial Police officers and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan of Belleville.

17-Page Report

He read a 17-page typewritten report in which he made the allegations when he submitted his resignation from the force last Oct. 30.

In it, he said Mr. Donnan was implicated in a fraud with Dr. Ernest Carefoot of Belleville, and threatened "to get" Keays if Mr. Donnan's name was mentioned in the investigation.

Also named in the report were Commissioner W. H. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police, Inspector A. W. Page of Belleville; Inspector T. W. Cousins, of Perth; Sergeant J. A. Stringer, Corporal Ervine and Constables G. Purdy and J. B. Driscoll.

At the start of the hearing, Constable Keays—who continually referred to himself as "Keays" —said he questioned whether it was right that he should appear before the Commission and said that Attorney General Leslie Blackwell had made "false representations" against him in press reports announcing the formation of the Commission.

Not Interested in Actions

"Far from preferring charges of laying complaints against fellow officers," he said, "Keays is not interested in their actions or those of the powers that be . . . Keays appears before this commissions because he believes . . . the oath of a police officer should be sacred to every member of the force."

He asked that Mr. Blackwell be ordered to appear before the commission. C. P. Hope said Keays had asked him to subpoena Mr. Blackwell. The Attorney General had been out of town but had given Mr. Hope a letter explaining the reasons for the appointment of the commission.

Mr. Hope named more than 20 witnesses that would be called during the hearing.

At Mr. Hope's suggestion, Keays read the letter he sent Commissioner Stringer, reporting his allegations.

Abided by Regulations

Keays said he did not believe he was properly before the Commission because he had merely abided by police regulations.

The Justice said the establishment of a commission cast no reflection on Constable Keays.

At the suggestion of Commission Counsel C. P. Hope, Keays read the report and resignation he submitted to Commissioner Stringer.

Constable Keays said Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan of Belleville, was implicated in a fraud with Dr. Ernest Carefoot of Belleville.

He said Mr. Donnan threatened "to get me if it was the last thing he ever did" if Donnan became implicated in the case.

Dr. Carefoot claimed to treat cancer ailments with radio machines which were destroyed during the investigation.

Constable Keays said Donnan helped obtain bail for Carefoot, depriving police of an opportunity to question him.

He said that Cpl. Sam Ervine had asked him to withdraw the prosecution of Leroy Woods for a traffic offense. Ervine wanted to help "an influential friend who was acting for the accused," he said.

Says Reputation Damaged

Cpl. Ervine then a constable was not near the scene of the infraction but deliberately "committed perjury to exonerate Woods" Keays said. Later Ervine falsified his diary to make it appear that he had been at the scene.

As a result of Ervine's testimony Keays' reputation was damaged.

In June 1948, Keays was put on duty in the Provincial Police District Headquarters in Belleville. He was not allowed to take part in investigations or drive government cars, he said.

Later a Belleville lawyer told him it was "common knowledge" in the city that the police did not trust him.

He said he had tried every means to get a hearing but eventually "had no alternative but to submit my resignation".

(The resignation was held up pending the current inquiry.)

The hearing adjourned for lunch after Constable Keays finished reading his 17-page report.

Mr. C. P. Hope, solicitor for the Attorney-General's department is acting as counsel for the department, while Malcolm Robb, local solicitor is appearing as counsel for local officers of the provincial police. Constable Keays is not represented by counsel.

The hearing is expected to last for at least a week.

Also named by Constable Keays were: Inspector A. W. Page, of Belleville; Inspector T. W. Cousins, of Perth; Sgt. J. A. Stringer and Constables Sam Ervine, G. Purdy and J. B. Driscoll.

Constable Keays, on the provincial force for more than eight years, submitted the charges in writing to Attorney-General Blackwell. Mr. Blackwell ordered the inquiry last month.

Welcome Probe

Mr. Donnan and five of seven officers interviewed after the investigation was ordered said they welcomed the investigation.

Constable Keays said the Crown-Attorney continually interfered with cases he prepared for prosecution and that his superiors sought to discredit him.

He charged there has been a miscarriage of justice in each of four cases: The fatal shooting of Provincial Constable Harold Dent at Navan, Ont., in 1940; the acquital of Dr. Ernest M. Carefoot of Belleville on a false pretences charge and his discharge by a magistrate on a narcotics charge; the acquittal of Leroy Woods on drunken driving charges and his conviction for dangerous driving and a traffic fatality in which the prosecution of G. Holdenbeck is awaiting disposition.

Officer Shot by Transient

Dent was shot and killed at Navan near Ottawa by a transient named John Miki. Miki later was killed in a gun battle with Sgt. Stringer.

Constable Keays said Inspector Cousins suppressed evidence and Sgt. Stringer made false statements in connection with the "shootings. He said the evidence was suppressed at the request of Commissioner Stringer.

He accused Constables Ervine and Purdy of perjury and falsifying reports in the Woods case and said Inspector Page failed to discipline the two officers.

Constable Driscoll was said to have falsely accused Keays in connection with liquor prosecutions.

RUSSIA MAY OFFER SWEDEN, DENMARK NEW PEACE PACT

Moscow, Feb. 7 (AP).—Foreign observers are predicting Russia may follow up her offer of a non-aggression pact to Norway by offering similar treaties to Sweden and Denmark.

Russia's note to Norway said Moscow could not agree that the North Atlantic alliance meets the aims of the United Nations.

Russia's first note to Norway, last week asked whether Norway intended to choose sides in the east-west "cold war". Norway replied she would inquire into what conditions she would have to meet to join the Atlantic alliance, but said she would not grant bases on her soil to foreign powers. The countries now negotiating the Atlantic alliance are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Deliver Strong Attack

Moscow newspapers delivered their strongest attack yet on the North Atlantic pact. The lead editorial in Pravda, official communist newspaper, termed the pact "a concentrated expression of a policy of aggression and international risk-taking" and "the most important lever for preparing a new world war."

French Shoe Industry Threatened By Falling Market, Competition

By RUSSELL HOWE

Paris, Feb. 7 (Reuters) — The French shoe and leather industry, crippled by the war but now again one of the finest in the world, is faced with a falling market and the threat of unemployment, trade union officials say.

The officials say that the price of hides has risen 212 per cent since price control on leather was lifted last May 31. They fear that French manufacturers will soon be unable to quote competitive prices on the foreign markets.

Today, in Paris a pair of men's shoes of reasonable quality costs 5,000 francs (about $19) and a pair of women's shoes of similar quality about 4,000 francs.

To keep her customers, France has not only to fight rising prices and the approach of an inevitable saturation point abroad, but also to parry the threat of new industries growing up in Britain, Germany, Italy, Poland and Czechoslovakia, of American mass production, and of Britain's 15 per cent customs tariff.

One of the industry's finest achievements — and its most specifically French one — is book binding. Beautiful work in box-calf and parchment, and "prize-bindings" of every sort, are common in France.

The French leather industry, uncertain as to whether it can any longer compete in price with the foreign product, is determined to remain superior in quality and style.

CITY HALL FLAG AT HALF STAFF

The flag on the tower of the city hall is flying at half staff as a token of respect to the late ex-Alderman, Burton F. Jennings.

SEND OUT CALL FOR TRAINED HUNTERS

The depredations of a pack of marauding killer wolves, which it is reported, has despatched a bull and six sheep on one Northumberland County farm alone, caused residents of the Hastings village district to send out an "S.O.S." for trained hunters.

Messrs. E. Colden and Arnold Ray, of Harold, Ont., well-known for their hunting ability left for the Northumberland County village where the pack has been causing heavy damage to livestock

Police Report Minor Incidents Over Weekend

Police circles were comparatively quiet in the city and district over the weekend with but routine matters coming to the attention of officer.

No serious traffic accidents were reported by city police nor by provincial officers, although city police did report an accident on the Trent Road which resulted in considerable property damage. A motorist was reported to have cut in in front of another car and raked the side of his auto on the other car. There were no injuries.

In the city Fred Hewlett, 88 Station Street, reported the lock on the rear door of his home had been sprung and a jar of money containing approximately $4 in pennies had disappeared.

A Victoria Ave., woman visiting the beverage room of a local hotel reported that her purse had disappeared wher she left her table for a short time. In the purse was approximately $40 in cash.

Two transients were reported to have taken over the caretaker's shack at the local garbage dump. Police investigated and found one of the transients had stayed several nights at the local police station. Both men were asked to leave the city.

Emaciated Wild Young Dogs Are Captured

Starved to the point of emaciation, three six-months-old mongrel dogs, part police and hound, were picked up Saturday afternoon near the coal-chute east of the city by city pound keeper Thomas Thorne.

The dogs were extremely wild and were captured with difficulty after being tied, wolfed down bread and other food thrown to them.

Mr. Thorne considers the half wild dogs are the offspring of wild dogs in the district which may have been responsible for the reports of farmers' livestock being chased.

BSM Jack Murphy Honored By Mess Associates

Popular member and past president of the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment sergeants' mess, Sergeant Major Jack Murphy was the guest of honor at a special reception held in the mess recently.

The reception was featured by a presentation of a club bag to the now retired non-commissioned officer, and a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Murphy.

President of the mess for the past four years, the sergeant major was discharged last November, but maintains close contact with his former "sergeant and warrant officer buddies" of the mess.

Long a member of the regiment he added his regrets at the severance of many happy regimental associations in a brief address of appreciation of not only the handsome gifts presented to his wife and himself, but also the fine co-operation he had received during his tenure as a member of the mess.

Local Companies Refute Statement On Fire Insurance

Local fire insurance companies today strongly refuted statements made by T. N. Phelan, K.C., Toronto, that "unless a special clause was written into an ordinary fire insurance policy a home owner could not collect on fire losses if on the premises insured, more than fifty gallons of fuel oil were stored."

The statement is said to have caused a mild furore among members of the Canadian Bar Association which Mr. Phelan was addressing in Niagara Falls on Saturday.

Contacted today, city fire insurance agents stated emphatically that in every fire insurance policy is written a clause "permitting coal oil and fuel oil on the premises." No amount is specified.

Youth Fireside Evening Held At Christ Church

Over 50 Protestant young people attended the third annual Inter-denominational Youth Fireside held in Church Church Parish Hall Sunday evening. Guest speaker was Dr. Bert Howard, headmaster of Albert College. Dr. Howard spoke on the World Council of Churches.

Repeating what Rev. J. G. Sparling said when introducing the speaker, Dr. Howard claimed the World Council of Churches to be 'the greatest thing since Reformation'. It is Mr. Howard's belief that people tend to think of the Amsterdam conference as only a meeting of the Protestant churches —missing the true significance of such a coming together of over 140 denominations from 50 nations.

The Conference was attended by a large group of young people, and this mixing of youth with the world's great minds will possibly change the direction of religious thought. After outlining the phases of Christianity which this conference hope to make more understandable Dr. Howard stated that it took courage to be a Christian. 'Jesus Christ was the world's greatest gambler. He gambled His life and the lives of His friends that Christianity would save the world'.

When Dr. Howard found it necessary to leave immediately upon completion of his address Mr. Sparling conducted the open forum which followed. The meeting was opened with a hymn sing-song led by Ed Waterhouse and closed with refreshments. Miss Jean Greene, president of the Christ Church A.Y.P.A. was in charge of the evening.

Clever Skits Feature Ice Revue at Arena

Marmora — An ice revue and carnival was held in the Marmora Arena on Friday evening. About sixty members of the Quinte Skating Club of Belleville gave an exhibition of fancy and clown skating. Two numbers which stood out strikingly were a Scotch march and a drill by about twenty-four members dressed in kilts and an Irish skit in which twelve members took part.

The visiting artists were pleased with the appointments of the new rink. It is estimated that about seven hundred patronized the event, a goodly number in view of the snowstorm prevailing.

TWO BROTHERS DIE

Napanee, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Two brothers in the Marlbank district 20 miles north of Napanee died less than a week apart of heart attacks, Frederick W. Booth, 72, died Friday. His brother George Wilson Booth, 68, died the previous Saturday. Both had lived their lifetime in the vicinity.

B.F. Jennings, Ex-Ald., Former Businessman, Dies

Burton F. Jennings, former alderman and prominent in the business life of the city for many years, died in the Belleville General Hospital early Sunday morning after a lengthy illness.

The late Mr. Jennings was born in New York State and was in his 84th. year, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings. After residing in Rochester, N.Y., for many years he came to Belleville in 1913 and entered the book, stationery and novelty business in the store at the south-east corner of Front Street and Victoria Avenue, the firm being known as Jennings and Sherry. For twenty-one years he managed the business with marked success and retired in 1934.

Became Canadian Citizen

Shortly after coming to Belleville, Mr. Jennings became a Canadian citizen. He took a keen interest in municipal affairs and gave his support to all undertakings for the advancement of the city and the good of its citizens. In 1936 he was elected to the city council and he served during the years 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939. He was a good alderman and rendered valuable service as chairman of the gas committee during 1936 and 1937. Later he became chairman of the first regional planning committee and during the years 1938 and 1939 he ably filled this position. He was strongly attached to his adopted city and gave his support to all worthy undertakings.

Member of St. Thomas'

Mr. Jennings was a faithful member of the Church of St. England and a prominent parishioner of St. Thomas' Church. He served for a considerable time as church warden, a member of the advisory council of the vestry and a representative to the Diocesan Synod. Fraternally he was a member of Eureka Lodge No. 283 A. F. & A. M. In the work of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Jennings took a deep interest and served most acceptably some years ago as president.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Mary Addison of this city; one son, Mr. Harold E. Jennings, Bronxville, N.Y., and one sister, Miss Nellie Jennings, Rochester, N.Y.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

Wounded Shah Is Resolute To Serve Iran

Tehran, Iran, Feb. 7 (AP) — Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi told the Iranian people last night the attempt on his life Friday has not influenced in any way his decision to serve Iran.

The 29-year-old Iranian ruler, target for five shots fired by a newspaper man later identified as a member of the leftist Tudeh party, said in a broadcast the assassination attempt has reinforced his decision to sacrifice his life for his countrymen, if necessary.

The Shah's assailant was beaten to death by a mob. Two of the five shots struck the ruler, but he was not injured severely. Martial law was proclaimed. The Tudeh party was outlawed, its leaders were arrested and more than 60 newspapers suppressed.

ROBERT PRESTON McCANN

The funeral of the late Robert Preston McCann was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Madoc, on Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. A. Poulter, pastor of Trinity United Church, Madoc, conducting the service. Interment took place in Lakeview Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. F. E. Brown, B. B. Tanner, Bert Bailey, Percy Downey, Will Keller and Pat Keller.

A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was sung by Rev. Father Caufield, assisted by Rev. Father Jeffreys and Rev. Father LeFleur.

Interment took place in the parish cemetery, Noranda. R.I.P. —(Contributed).

TO ERECT NEW SCHOOL

Cornwall, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Cornwall suburban high school district board Saturday retained H. H. Roberts, Westport architect, for a proposed high school to be erected in East Cornwall at an estimated cost of $700,000. Construction is scheduled to start next spring.

Concert Artists Also Troubled By the Weather

Artists of the concert stage, find, like other human beings that the weather man is no respecter of persons.

At the peak of the tour season many artists find themselves at the mercy of winter and its eccentricities.

Donald Dame, famous tenor star of a well-known Sunday evening radio program, who was a member of an operatic quartet which some time ago delighted a Belleville audience under the aegis of the Canadian Concert Association, found himself in a more or less predicament when his accompanist became snowbound in Chicago and could not reach Jackson, Michigan, where the tenor was scheduled to appear.

Re-arranged Program

The tenor was forced to use the services of a local accompanist. He re-arranged his program to include the numbers she could play. Another member of the quartet which appeared here is Walter Cassell, who with his accompanist, found themselves stranded in Moncton, New Brunswick, after train and plane schedules were disrupted by storms. They got to Boston by hiring a taxi which drove them 250 miles to Bangor, Maine, where they overtook the Boston bus.

Local music lovers will recall the famous piano team of Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson who have also appeared here in a professional role.

Needing two good pianos for each concert, the duo devised a unique idea which eliminates all the worries regarding the presence of pianos in the many concert halls in which they perform.

Purchased Big Trailer

They have purchased a town and country model sedan and a big trailer. In the trailer rides two pianos. It is also large enough to carry themselves and clothes and food.

Miss Bartlett's brother goes along with the team as chauffeur and maintenance man while his wife attends to food purchases. At some places the small fry of the town are disappointed when the entourage arrives. They expect to see animals unloaded, from the trailer because of its size.

CURLING CLUB OPENED

Cornwall, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Civic and government officials participated in formal opening ceremonies at the new $40,000 Cornwall Curling Club Saturday night.

J. L. McDonald, Stormont M.P.P., and Mayor Aaron Horovitz were among those who delivered addresses. Drummond Giles is club president.

Skiers Throng County Club Trails Sunday

Brilliant sunshine and near-perfect snow conditions sent a record crowd of skiers swooping, whirling and gliding over the gleaming stretches and trails of the Hastings County Ski Club near Frankford on Sunday.

It is estimated that nearly 1,500 skiers, guests and spectators thronged the trails as the weather man handed out one of his best efforts of the winter.

Visitors from all parts of Ontario were noted at the trails while the runs and points of spectator vantage were black with people enjoying one of the best ski afternoons of the winter.

Bill Finkle has his rope tow working to perfection and saved a lot of wear and tear on the skiers' legs. Doug Ketcheson and Bill Hawthorne gave class instructions to large groups during the day.

Enthusiasm was at a high pitch as it is the first time in the history of the club that the new trails and general club atmosphere were seen at their best.

Secretary Freeman Burrows stated today that if the present weather conditions hold, the club will be in full action on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Reformatory Terms For 4 Gang Members

Toronto, Feb. 7. (CP)—Four of five teen-age youths, described as "member of a Danforth District Night Gang" were sentenced today to spend from three to 15 months in reformatory for breaking into a Danforth District grocery last week.

Earl Eden, 18, and Doland Rogers, 19, each were sentenced to 15 months, and Fred Warner, 16, and Kenneth MacLeod, each got three months. A fifth youth 18-year-old Dickey, who had no previous record, received a suspended sentence and one year's probation.

IN MEMORIAM

HINCHLIFFE — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, E. Idella, who passed away on 7th of Feb. 1948.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever,
Our loving remembrance of you.

Ever remembered by son Earl and family. F7

SHOREY—In loving memory of my dear wife, Effie M. Shorey, who passed away Feb. 7th., 1948

No one knows how much I miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain,
I have suffered since I lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear wife,
I do not think of you.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by husband Hilton. F7

SHOREY—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Effie M. Shorey who passed away Feb. 7th., 1948.

She is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly missed by all of the children and grandchildren. F7

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 7. (CP)—Industrials slid lower on a comparatively wide list of fractional declines here today with papers leading the group in its downward trend. Base Metals continued their easier trend dropping steadily. Golds and Western Oils moved quietly on a weaker tone.

Volume for the first three hours was 444,000 shares.

Industrials opened in a downhill slide, recovered some of their losses and then continued edging downward as trading slackened.

Waite Amulet went against the downward trend in Base Metals, gaining 1-4 at 13 1-8. Consolidated Smelters was ahead $1 at one point but then weakened to barely hold steady. International Nickel, Noranda and Quemont were fractionally lower.

Golds were practically at a standstill with only a few issues showing any changes.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Some cattle were stronger on the livestock market here up to noon. A small supply of cows sold steady to 50 cents higher, light steers and heifers were steady to stronger and weighty steers were about steady. Hogs were unsettled.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle 1,800; calves 200; hogs 350; sheep and lambs 600.

Good to choice steers were steady at $19.50 - $20.63 and good light steers were $19-20. Good heifers were $19-$19.50 with plain kinds downward to $16.50. A few good cows sold at $15.50 - 16.50 with plain kinds downward to $12.50 and canners and cutters at $9-$12. Good bulls were $18-$19.25 with lights downward to $15.50. Fed yearlings were 18.50-$23.

Calves were steady at $30-$32 for choice with plain to medium at $17-28. A few grass calves were $13-$16.

Hogs were unsettled with bids lower.

Good western lambs sold at $25-$25.25 with locals at $25. Culls and mediums were $13-$20. Good light sheep were $10-$12 with culls at $6-$8.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Produce pirces on the spot market here today were quoted as follows:

Norway's Foreign Minister Confers With Acheson

Washington, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Norway's foreign minister today turned to the State Department for the United States side of the issue: Should he back the Russian or the American plan for guarding his country against aggression?

State Secretary Dean Acheson was expected to urge him, in effect, to line upwith the United States, Canada and Western Europe in a firm North Atlantic alliance.

The Norwegian diplomat, Halvard M. Lange, arrived here Sunday amid mounting concern in his country over a sudden offer by Russia to conclude a non - aggression pact with the Norwegian government.

Acheson and the United States government were reported ready to assure Lange that no bases will be required on Norwegian soil if Norway decides to join the North Atlantic defence arrangement.

Russia's apparent unwillingness to accept Norway's assurance that it does not contemplate offering such bases has stirred anxiety in Norwegian government circles.

United States government officials promptly labelled Russia's offer of a non-aggression pact a none-too subtle effort by Moscow to frighten the Norwegirns into staying out of the North Atlantic alliance.

Didn't Change Plan

Lange refused to allow the Russian move to change his original plan for visiting Washington.

In landing at New York, he told reporters he also intends to look carefully into the "degree of security" the proposed alliance would offer Norway.

Foreign diplomatic officials disclosed that the ambassadors of Sweden and Denmark are tentatively scheduled to call at the state department to explain their views on how best to defend Scandinavia against any attack.

The Swedish and Danish envoys returned from their home capitals only a few days ago after attending an unsuccessful conference that tried to set up a separate defence pact in northern Europe, made up of Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Norway then decided to examine the possibility of joining the North Atlantic alliance.

Sweden vowed to remain neutral regardless while Denmark indicated she was uncertain about what her next step would be.

Unusual Vapor Ties up Harbor Craft at Halifax

Halifax, Feb. 7— (CP) —Naval harbor craft were tied up at their jetties today after an impenetrable vapor over Halifax harbor caused two collisions with Halifax - Dartmouth ferries.

Damage was slight and no one was injured in the two separate crashes.

After two collisions occurred within 45 minutes the navy ordered all its harbor craft to cease operation. They remained inactive for about two hours before the unusual vapor lifted.

First crash reported was that of a naval harbor craft and the North Dartmouth ferry. A man aboard the ferry was thrown overboard but was rescued by the crew of the naval craft.

Shortly after, a naval tug and the regular Dartmouth-Halifax car ferry crashed.

Damage was slight in both collisions.

Freight Hits Car, Two Men Escape

Kitchener, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Two Twin City men escaped with their lives Saturday afternoon when a car was hit by a freight train at the Wilhelm Street Canadian National Railways crossing and carried 169 feet down the track.

Martin Metzger, a passenger in the car, was removed to hospital with a broken arm and a cut hand.

The driver, Arthur Vogt, was reported unhurt. Damage to the car was extensive.

Constable Walter Scheifele of the city police and occupants of the car said they hadn't seen the train approaching.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH

Bismark, W. Va., Feb. 7 (AP).—A 22-month-old girl, her mother, and a bedfast cripple—three generations—burned to death when flames consumed a three-room farm house in 20 minutes. Dead were Milford Wheeler Cosner, 72-year-old cripple; his daughter-in-law, Juanitha Grace Cosner, 19, and her child, Elizabeth Valeria.

CATHOLICS

New Crime Crises Claim

Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, professor of philosophy at the Catholic University of America, said in a "Catholic Hour" broadcast "a new crime has arisen in the world — the crime of believing in God."

"If the new crime be to believe in God," he said, "let us all be criminals. If the new treason be to betray red nazism, let us all be traitors".

Cardinal Mindszenty, on a visit to the United States two years ago, Sheen said, told him "I am going back to be crucified".

The Methodist Chaplain of the United States Senate — Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris — said in a sermon in Washington "All Christendom is on trial . . . the battle is drawn between Christ and anti-Christ."

Archduke Otto of Austria, whose family once ruled the Austra-Hungarian empire, said in North Carolina the trial is proof of an all-out Russian offensive against religion.

Under Drug Influence Charge

Otto said he had received information from the underground in Hungary that Cardinal Mindszenty is under the influence of drugs and had been tortured. Similar charges were repeated scores of times by others protesting the trial.

Both Otto and Cardinal Spellman have been mentioned in the course of the Budapest trial.

Ference Nagy, former Hungarian premier, said in Virginia the real purpose back of the trial is to force a Hungarian Catholic state church, split from Rome. To attain this, he said, the communists want Cardinal Mindszenty out of the way.

Pope Pius made no comment. Vatican spokesmen have said he would make no official statement until conclusion of the trial and pronouncement of sentence.

The Vatican radio said, however, "world opinion has already issued its own sentence on the trial."

"The hearts of all Hungarian Catholics are with the Cardinal and pray for him," the broadcast said.

Other protests came from widely separated parts of the world.

Archbishop James Duhig of Brisbane, Australia, said the Russian purge trials have been revived in the present trial.

"Not since Judas Iscariot has human nature stooped so low," he said.

RUSSIA MAY OFFER

Other barometers of the great interest in the Atlantic pact negotiations involving Norway were publication of the complete text of the Russian note to Norway and an item reporting that Norwegian Foreign Minister Lange had left for Washington to "receive information on the North Atlantic pact".

Study Norway Note

The Danish and Swedish missions here studied the note to Norway carefully. They were just as interested in the statement as the Norwegian embassy, if not more so.

Observers from the western embassies here declared after reading the note carefully that the Russians clearly desire assurances from Norway that no Norwegian territory will be made available to United States and British armed forces.

They said the note also indicated Russia will regard any arrangements entered into by Norway (or by Sweden and Denmark) entailing such an obligation as an unfriendly act motivated by aggressive intentions towards Russia.

Would Pave Way

The Russian note also made clear that Norway's participation in the North Atlantic Pact — whether or not it entailed a publicly announced obligation to grant bases to Britain or the United States — would in any case be regarded as paving the way for such bases.

It is amply clear, therefore, that Norwegian acceptance of the Russian invitation to conclude a non-aggression pact would mean rejection by Norway of any idea of joining the North Atlantic Alliance.

Norway is the only country on Russia's western border from Romania north which does not have a pact of friendship and mutual aid with Russia. A non-aggression act presumably would be much less comprehensive than the mutual aid agreements.

ALL QUADS HAVE MEASLES

Latrobe, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP).—The Zavada quadruplets may celebrate their first birthday Feb. 15 with a four-way case of measles. Dr. J. Wiley Hartman, the babies' doctor, said he is treating their older brother, Larry Dale, five, for the disease and chances are the quads will soon break out in a rash.

Library Circulation Increases Members of Board Informed, A.J. Black Elected President

The Library Board of Corby Public Library elected Mr. A. J. Black as chairman for 1949 at the board meeting held on Friday. Mr. Black will head the 1949 slate of officers including vice-chairman, Miss S. Masson; treasurer, H. J. Clarke; secretary, and librarian, Miss O. Delaney; chairman of finance, Dr. J. W. Kinnear; chairman of property, Dr. J. R. Scott; book committee, Misses Masson, Reirdon and Delaney and Mr. C. A. Holmes; and Film Council representative J. E. Bateman.

The Librarian's report showed a satisfactory year of operation in 1948, though the limitations of the small staff created minor difficulties. The capita rate of fifty cents as granted the library was shown to be insufficient for the administration to keep abreast of the growth of the public demands. Increased costs were shown to be a second factor in making an increased rate a vital necessity.

Circulation Increases

Circulation for 1949 was on the increase, with non-fiction heading the list. An addition of 1,456 subscribers was recorded during the year, indicative of the increased interest of the reading public. New books, totalling 1,570 were added to the library.

The junior department noted successful year with an additional 1,000 books being made avaiabe to the increased enrolment of 573 boys and girls. The talks on the library given pupils in grades four to eight proved successful and enrolment increased after each address.

Activities for the year included the Hobby Show held in March, the meeting of the Trustees Institute held in November, the weekly radio program, "Library Review", the "Camera Club, the film library, and the South Hastings Circulating Library, all of which met with marked success and satisfaction.

Renovation Completed

The renovation of the library suggested in the annual report of 1946 was accomplished last year, resulting in a brighter, more spacious library.

The circulation statistics indicate that books of the biography class were the most widely read for 1949 — in the adult department. Social science books met with the greatest use in the junior —department. The total circulation for both departments totalled 80,729. The total book stock was given as 19,932, and the subscribers for both departments totalled 4,908. A wide range of periodical publications is subscribed to by the library for use of the public.

The financial report showed a favorable balance denoting a successful year of operation for the Corby Public Library.

Primate Enthroned Poles Sing Prayer For Freedom

Warsaw, Feb. 7 — (AP) — The new Roman Catholic Primate of Poland, Archbishop Stefan Wyszynski, was enthroned Archbishop of Warsaw yesterday.

The 47-year-old primate, who had been Bishop of Lublin since 1945, recently was appointed by the Vatican to succeed the late August Cardinal Hlond as Archbishop of Gneizno and Warsaw. He was enthroned at Gneizno last Wednesday, automatically becoming Primate of Poland.

Diplomats of western countries attended the ceremonies, but representatives of Russia and other Eastern European countries were not present. Officials of the communist-led Polish government also stayed away.

Little Damage Results to Auto

Only one alarm was answered by the local fire department over the weekend, this being to Gourley Motors on Dundas Street, West, early Sunday morning where a car parked outside the garage was reported to be afire. The car was stated to have been ablaze over the gasoline tank. However, the fire was quickly extinguished with little damage resulting. The owner of the car drove his vehicle away following the fire.

HIT BY AIRLIFT PACKAGE

Window Rock, Ariz., Feb. 7 (AP).—An Indian woman was reported killed yesterday by a food package dropped from an air lift plane. The accident occurred when a package, tossed from a plane carrying supplies to snowbound Indians, fell directly into the door yard of a Navajo dwelling and hit the woman. Normally packages fall about 300 yards distant.

Finance Minister Heard by Liberals Of Central Ont.

Kingston, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott made only vague reference to his forthcoming budget when he addressed 225 members of the Liberal party here Saturday night. He said taxes were not imposed "just for fun."

Speaking before the newly-organized Central Ontario Liberal Association, Mr. Abbott said: — "Taxes we impose, who impose because we believe it is in the best interests of the Canadian people," he said. "That has been the principle followed by me in the last two budgets."

Mr. Abbott termed "a phoney" issue the question of Dominion-Provincial relations, raised in parliament by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader.

(Mr. Drew, speaking in the Commons Jan. 29, had urged that the Dominion-Provincial conference, which broke up in 1947 without reaching agreement on tax questions, be reconvened to review the country's tax structure.

"As far as Mr. Drew is concerned, it is just a smoke-screen to prevent revenues raised in Ontario being used for social security measures in the rest of Canada," the minister said. "It isn't a genuine issue on which the country should be divided."

Mr. Abbott said Mr. Drew "behaved with considerable dignity in the session of the House of Commons. He is a capable debater and a fighter, but a Tory."

Brief addresses were given by three Liberal candidates for the next election. They were Wellington Munroe, representing Hastings - Peterborough, Thomas Dixon from Frontenac - Addington and Gordon Bell of Prince Edward-Lennox.

Confesses Burning Church as Pastor; State Forgets It

Portsmouth, Va., Feb. 7 — (AP)— A married Bible salesman, who told police here he burned down a Baptist church in Alabama 25 years ago, can rest a little easier today.

Alabama authorities have decided to forget about the whole thing.

Otto Franklin Barnes, 65-year-old father of a married daughter, confided to police that his conscience troubled him and he wanted to make amends.

He gave no reason, police said yesterday, why he set fire to the church and parsonage in Girard, Ala., while serving as pastor in 1926. His mind just "went blank," he said.

"I want to get off and pay my debt in full," Barnes said in expressing his willingness to return to Alabama and stand trial.

Bore His Illness as a Hero

The world little knew as it was passing through the ordeals of the Second Great War that one of the Allied leaders, President Roosevelt, had had a series of strokes, the first in 1938 before the war, the second, a serious one, in 1943 from which doctors thought he could not live more than six months, and the fourth, the fatal one, in April 1945, shortly before the war's close. These facts were revealed at the weekend. They appeared first in a recent book by Dr. Karl C. Wold, "Mr. President, How's Your Health," a book dealing with the medical facts relating to all the U. S. Presidents. Excerpts from it appear in the current issue of Look magazine. The news was carried in the newspapers on Friday.

Men and women have realized that the strain which men in public office bear is one testing all the resources of vitality of mind and body of those in high places but no one could have thought that Mr. Roosevelt could have carried on the great task he all but completed in helping to bring to the end the most devastating war in all history. The fact that he was unwell before the war and had suffered a very severe stroke in 1943 makes it appear all the more marvellous that he was able to perform the high duties of his responsible office up to the last. But he bore the burden heroically, dying in office.

That is what a man of his stamp would do, bear the load even if it were to take his life, so deep was his sense of responsibility to his country and to the democratic world.

First A-Energy Exports

A most impressive example of Britain's post-war progress will be the atomic energy exhibit at Olympia, which launches a new United Kingdom industry — radioactive by-prdoducts of atomic energy. These by-products, known as radioactive isotopes, are produced at the Atomic Energy Research Station at Harwell, England, where experiments carried out have proved them to have wide uses in industry, medicine and research. The production of radioactive isotopes has now reached a stage where exports can be considered. The function of the atomic energy exhibit at the British Industries Fair will be, firstly to explain to trade buyers how isotopes can be utilized in industry and medicine and to what effect, and secondly, to encourage orders for them. Packed in lead-case containers, radioactive isotopes may be transported by air, sea or rail to any part of the world with perfect safety.

The production and employment of atomic energy will be illustrated by working models, many of them the actual apparatus used in laboratories. The centrepiece of the display will be Sir John Cockcroft's original apparatus used for splitting the atom.

Lowest British Death Rates

Figures just issued by the Registrar General show that death rates in Britain are now the lowest ever known. Last year three new health records were set up. In addition to a spectacular fall in the general health rate, fewer babies died and the number of stillbirths were the smallest ever recorded. Infant mortality rate was 34 per thousand, and the death rate was only 10.1 per thousand. Live births registered last year in England and Wales were more than 777,000. This compared with a prewar level of 621,000 in 1938.

Silence of Earth

The silence of Earth in a February zero spell is so intense that one wonders if hidden life will respond when the time of cold is done. Cold broods like a smothering feather puff. If one were in the heart of a cedar swamp where small glades are surrounded by evergreens, he might see a moonlight ballet of the rabbits. The gray forms dance in silence. Then suddenly, where a moment before the area was filled with flashing life, all is white stillness. The stars and silence look down on woods and fields.

Though the first half of February is the heart of winter, man begins to grow impatient. A thaw brings promise of spring. Gray-white trickles of water course down the sled tracks from the upper woodlot; cattle nibbling at haystacks suddenly life their heads and stare over the fields. A band of brown earth widens along the south side of the woodlot. Mellow days and frosty nights mean rows of icicles on woodsheds, corn cribs and barn. Then winter moves in again and the nights are heavy with blazing cold fires and silence. — New York Times.

JUST FOLKS

TIME AND MANNA

"Too busy" he said, and the chance slipped by.
"Too busy! Perhaps when more time have I!"
But from now till the hour he called away
He never will come to a longer day.

Time, like the manna which Moses told:
"An omer a day for each to hold!"
But who saved it more at the dawn to claim
Found it spoiled when the morning came.

Oh, busy man, you will never see
The day when stronger than now you'll be,
And the time you've saved when you could have toiled
You will find, like the manna of old, has spoiled.

Mr. E. Guss Porter received yesterday from Orillia Board of Trade a beautiful silk flag (Jack), bearing the Orillia coat-of-arms as a token in commemoration of the first round trip made by a private steam or gasoline yacht from Lake Ontario to Orillia with a party of not less than six. When the Department of Railways and Canals offered a silk flag to the first party making the trip via the Trent Canal, the Orillia Board of Trade duplicated the offer. Mr. Porter with his friends, Messrs Alfred Gillen, L. E. Allen, B. L. Hyman, Sanford Burrows, J. A. Kerr and J. Irvine, with the yacht "Kitchener" made the trip last July and won the trophy. The Department of Railways and Canals presented a beautiful six foot silk Union Jack with cord tassels and ornaments to the party and to each member of the party a souvenir button and now the Orillia Board of Trade has duplicated the flag. The flags, which are highly valued, now adorn the Belleville Club of which the members of the party are members.

Experts Who Study Crime Say Emotional Illness Basic Cause

New York, Feb. 7 (AP) — The best way to keep kids in your town from crime and delinquency is to spot the first danger signals of emotional fever.

Your eyes can be the thermometer to detect these signs. When they appear, get a doctor. Act against incipient emotional sickness as you would against a fever that might be a forewarning of a bad cold, measles, 'flu, or other diseases.

This advice comes from two experts in the study of crime. The basic cause of crime, they hold, is emotional illness. It drives people to criminal or anti-social acts, even when they don't know they are being driven or why.

The experts are Dr. Ralph S. Banay, psychiatrist and director of research on social deviations, Columbia University, and Edwin J. Lukas, executive director of the society for the prevention of crime.

This approach, they say, would do far more to control crime than the burning of comic books, banning ganster or sexy movies, punishing parents of delinquents or abolishing slums.

Delinquents come from privileged homes as well as slums. The commonest danger signals to look for, say Dr. Banay and Lukas, are:

Continued aggressiveness, or excessive shyness. Hostility. Hatred that grows like cancer. Habitual lying, or cheating in school. Wilful disobedience. Fire-setting. Stammering and stuttering. Sexual experimentation beyond normal curiosity Complaints of vague aches and pains.

Those are fever signs only if they continue. Any child may show some of them at different times.

They start because the child feels unloved, rejected, ashamed, ridiculed, hurt by indifference or brutality or for kindred reasons, Dr. Banay said.

"Crime," says Lukas, "is something uniquely personal. The criminal is trying to express a protest against something he lacks or thinks he lacks. Very often he is inviting punishment for feelings of guilt over something he once did, or had thought of doing."

Dr. Banay, author of a recent book, "Youth in Despair," points out that "a large part of what we do depends on what we feel, not what we think. There's a purpose behind everything a person does, even though the person may not be conscious of the purpose."

He once studied 100 children, seven to 17 years old, who had committed murders. Each one was emotionally sick, he found.

Mackenzie's Column:

Whole Civilized World Divided Into Two Camps

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Is it possible for any country to maintain neutrality when virtually the whole civilized world is divided into two camps—Communist and anti-Communist? For that matter, is it wise to try?

Those are the questons, in effect, which Norway will try to iron out this week in Washington.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange has arrived in the United States for conferences on whether his strategically-situated country should join the proposed North Atlantic alliance.

The Scandinavian states of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, have been invited to consider joining the alliance. Norway has been leaning towards participation. Sweden fears antagonizing Russia, and Denmark is undecided.

Soviet Pressure

Moscow has been trying to intimidate the trio, with special attention to Norway. The Soviet Union sent a pointed note to Oslo, an offer to conclude a mutual non-aggression pact with Norway.

However, the sturdy Norwegians don't intimidate easily. Foreign Minister Lange is going right ahead and discuss matters with Dean Acheson, United States State Secretary. Presumably Norway's decision will depend on the outcome of these discussions.

"When we take our stand," Lange declared, "it cannot be decided for us by what other nations want us to do or not to do. The deciding element —must be our own estimation of what secures Norway's interests and best contribuntes to prevent war."

No Tyro

The 46-year-old Norwegian Foreign Minister is no tyro in foreign affairs. A member of the Labor Party, he has specialized in international relations for many years.

Foreign Minister Lange also has had an illuminating personal experience in the matter of whether a country can remain neutral these days. Norway, Denmark and Sweden were neutrals at the start of the Second World War. Both Norway and Denmark were overrun by the Germans. Lange himself was imprisoned by the Germans several times.

FORCED TO FLEE

Toronto, Feb. 7 (CP).—A family of six persons, including four children, were forced to flee into the street today when flames swept through an adjoining factory building in downtown Toronto.

Spontaneous combustion from oily rags was blamed for the fire which started in a floor polishing plant and threatened the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Halsey. Damage to the factory was estimated at $4,000.

STRENGTH for The Day
Dr. Earl L. Douglass

THE WASTE OF EVIL

One of the devastating effects of evil is the waste it produces. We can see this as we clean up after a great war. Stores exist for years selling surplus military goods. While the fighting was on, we had to buy ten times as much as we needed at the moment, just in case. We can quickly reduce cities to rubble, but we cannot quickly build them up again. The world lies ruined today because of the waste of that evil which lay at the centre of war.

In the individual life, evil causes us to waste our physical powers. Any wrong impulse harbored in mind or heart takes the edge off one's intelligence. Think of the hours we waste brooding over injuries, meditating revenge. Millions of people spend their lives daydreaming — not a heinous sin in itself but something that piles up to an enormous total of waste when computed in years and decades.

Even those who live the longest have little enough time to live creatively. As the dying Cecil Rhodes said, "There is so much to do and so little time in which to do it." And Satan's most subtle thrust consists in persuading us to waste our strength, energy, time, and purpose in unworthy and evil enterprises.

Evil has many dire consequences, but one of the worst of these is waste.

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

MAKE YOURSELF NECESSARY

Many of us have learned how essential it is that we face the facts of life, its experiences and its emergencies — boldly. Unless we do this we are liable to be pushed aside without notice or concern.

July 24th, 1838, Emerson was invited to Dartmouth College to give an address, to which he gave the title of "Literary Ethics." I recently read it for the first time. It must have inspired those students who listened to it. It would be a great address if given today to any college. In closing he said: "Make yourself necessary to the world, and mankind will give you bread, and if not store of it, yet such as shall not take away your property in all men's passessions, in all men's affections, in art, in nature, and in hope."

If we contribute anything that is useful, or beneficial to the world, or indeed to the smallest group about us, then we may be assured that we are at least important, not a drone, and highly necessary in a very complicated and confused world. We can grow happy in every one of our explorations, researchings, and adventurings.

People who stay in their jobs are the ones who have proved that they are necessary. Most of us are accumulators. But as we live in bigger part each day we begin to realize how many things are unnecessary, and only excess baggage. The older we grow the more we value the essential things, and the more we seek to make ourselves necessary.

We are living in a very materialistic age. Men strive for money, for fame, for attention. Yet all these things are but transitory. The body and heart of character are wound up in the essential things of the spirit and the soul. And when demonstrated, that one one has made himself necessary—as a worker, a friend, and as a human being.

To quote from this same address of Emerson's again: "Be content with a little light, so it be your own. Explore, and explore. Be neither chided nor flattered out of your position of perpetual inquiry." Here is a task in which we may all enter with enthusiasm and heart. The thrill of it alone will make us necessary whoever, or wherever we are!

The Packsack
of Gregory Clark

In a Pullman smoker between two big cities, lately, I listened to five smart young men tearing their respective bosses apart.

The damn-session, as we might call it, started very casually, during the course of the Big Stuff sort of conversation peculiar to Pullman smokers. One of the young men, a salesman, related to these casual friends of the afternoon the details of the hopeless and unpleasant mission on which he was being sent by his stupid and dim-witted superiors.

This elicited the sympathy of all the four others, each of whom told a similar instance in his own recent experience. Wrong-headed, wilful, uninformed bosses — that's what is the matter with the world. And I sat there wondering if all bosses everywhere are stinkers.

When the foreman in a shop dies, and a new foreman has to be chosen, usually from among the workers in the shop, who is elected? The softest, easiest, kindliest, best-liked man in the shop? Rarely if ever. The man who gets the nod is generally the hardest-working man in the shop who, at the same time, has enough gimp in him to take charge of the rest of the workers and see that they turn in a day's work as good as he has been turning in.

This meets not only with the approval of the president and vice presidents, but also with that of the workers in the shop.

The same principle applies in the promotions in the executive offices of business. Workers cannot abide a boss who has not demonstrated his capacity to work himself. And since it is a curious characteristic of exceptionally good workers that they are often cocky, off-hand, proud and self-confident, it may therefore naturally follow, as the night the day, that bosses very often are stinkers!

BACK TO 10-WAY NOURISHMENT.

Here and there about the United States and Canada are to be found gristmills where wheat is ground into meal or flour for individual customers. I merely mention this fact — I cannot undertake to furnish the name or address of such a gristmill.

In his fine bood, The National Malnutrition, Dr. D. T. Quigley, of Omaha, speaks of the delicious flavor of the bread and biscuits served for breakfast in the Olympic hotel in Seattle. On inquiry he learned that the hotel was using its own mill and grinding its own whole-wheat flour fresh every morning.

When I was a boy in Canandaigua—I was, and I can prove it—every woman who pretended to keep house baked a batch of bread about twice a week. Store bread was something to fall back upon when company came unexpectedly and caught you with your breadbox nearly empty.

If a hotel can grind its own wheat fresh every morning, why can't the ordinary householder do likewise?

But shucks, I'm forgetting I'm not a boy in Canandaigua. A lot of modern housekeepers have contrived to free themselves from the task of baking bread since then. Most of those who once knew how to do it have forgotten how—so we eat store bread if any. Worse still, many of us cut off what little crust there is on it and discard it — the most palatable, nourishing and digestible part of the loaf.

Next to mashed potato the most unappetizing item in the menu, for my money, is white bread, particularly the loaf without a crust but of ideal consistency for rolling into pills to shy at likely targets.

Here is a colored picture of such a loaf, but this white bread purports to be different. Yes, indeed, it doesn't yield just inexpensive energy but, believe it or not, this white bread gives you "6-way nourishment" for the flour from which it is made has been doctored, by approval of the American Medical Association, with iron and dashes of three different vitamins.

The vitamins thiamine, riboflavin and niacin cost money. Even iron in a form suitable for doctoring flour costs money. Who pays the doctor bills? Not the American Medical Association. Not the millers. Not the bakers. But it costs you only a penny here and there or about three hundred million pennies a year.

Oddly enough these same vitamins and vitamin A and vitamin E as well were supplied by nature in the original wheat without extra cost. The big milling interests carefully remove them in the process of refining, charge you for doing it, and sell the vitamins for a substantial profit. Then they get religion, or some of them do, feel sorry for what they have done, take the matter up with the ever-eager American Medical Association and some nutritionists who think two-thirds of a loaf is better than half a loaf, and clear their conscience by putting back into the refined white flour at least part of the nutritional essentials they removed from the wheat in the first place. What's more the kindly milling interest do all this almost entirely at your own expense.

Fame and fortune, fortune at any rate, will be achieved by the man or woman who develops and supplies to households throughout the country an efficient power machine or mill for grinding wheat for everyday use in the diet. I offer the suggestion, but know all promoters, I shall not entertain any proposals, witness any demonstrations or give any advice or opinion about such machine or implement.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Calcium and Rheumatis

At our local club I heard these two assertions were made by a woman whose husband is one of the leading physicians of the city. Please give your opinion. (1) One is likely to get a cold by changing from stout walking shoes to very light pumps. (2) Arthritis is caused by too much calcium in the body; the excess calcium deposits in and around the joints. (I. B.)

Answer. Nonsense. Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz. If you inclose also 25 cents I'll send the booklet Call it Cri which will give you an intelligent idea of what you catch when you catch what one of the leading physicians of your city's wife — I mean one of the leading wives of your city's physician —the'll with it—what the lady calls a cold.

The Use of Quinine

Please write a column on the use of quinine. (J. A. B.)

Answer—As soon as I recover the use of two fingers. Send stamped self addressed envelope for pamphlet "Quinine in Modern Medicine."

U.S. Economic Situation Not Alarming Say Experts

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Despite tumbling prices and a sharp rise in unemployment, official reassurances were made Saturday that the American economic situation is not alarming.

These were the developments yesterday:

The New York Stock Exchange took its soundest beating in many months.

Bond prices suffered one of the sharpest declines of the last 12 months. Some sagging as much as two points.

The Chicago grain market was hit by a storm of selling, with corn, oats, rye and soybeans falling swiftly.

The Associated Press index of 35 wholesale commodities dropped nearly a full point, reaching 168.46, the lowest mark since Feb. 6, 1947.

The census bureau reported in Washington, there were 2,000,000 more unemployed in January. Actually, the true drop was only 700,000. The other 1,300,000 really aren't part of the normal working force.

Labor Secretary Tobin said the present unemployment level "bears careful watching," but "the situation is not alarming."

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the president's council of economic advisers, said neither the census figures nor skidding food prices alarmed him. However, "these months are very decisive months."

Agriculture Secretary Brannan said the decline in food prices was only an adjustment and not the beginning of any drastic trend.

Even the stock market pictur wasn't completely bad: in the bond market some securities made feeble rallies toward the end of the day. Livestock prices stayed fairly level, and hogs even gained.

Widespread Drought Crippling Europe's Recovery-Bound Industry

London, Feb. 7 (AP)—Widespread drought is crippling Europe's recovery-bound industry by reducing supplies of water-generated electricity.

Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Southern Germany, France and Czechoslavakia particularly are hard hit. Their governments fear the drought may extend into the spring and hurt agricultural production in food-short areas.

Electricity rationing has been ordered in Spain, Italy, France and Switzerland to conserve supplies.

Spaid hasn't had a good rainfall for six months. Light showers in mid-December did not help much. With water reservoirs less than 25 per cent full, use of electricity has been curtained drastically.

In Italy, where weather bureaux said the drought is "the worst in 100 years," power will be cut two days a week. Industries will be limited to 65 per cent of the power they used in September and October.

Stores must close an hour earlier, and movie theatres reduce their shows.

It will take 10 days of heavy rain to restore power to normal in Italy, power companies say. Italy's gas supplies are erratic because of low quality coal.

Industry in Switzerland operates at only 75 per cent of capacity because of the drought. Rivers are at their lowest points since the turn of the century.

In drought-affected Bavaria, the Germans cut electric supply in half. Water levels are so low on the Rhine and tributaries that river traffic has been delayed.

Czechoslavakia is more worried about crops than about power. It has not had to cut electrical production, but low river levels in the spring and early summer could damage crops.

WEDDINGS

REILLY—COOK

Marmora.— At a Nuptial Mass celebrated at St. Bonaventure Church, Olean, N.Y., Saturday morning, January 29, Miss Marjorie Helen Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cook, Marmora, became the bride of Edward John Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Reilly, Syracuse, N.Y. The Rev. Juvenal Lalor, O.F.M., performed the ceremony.

The bride was gowned in white satin with fitted bodice, long sleeves and slight train. She wore a matching halo headdress with fingertip tulle veil, held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of Calla lilies.

Miss Jean Cook, Marmora, sister of the bride was maid of honor, wearing a floor length gown of raspberry faille taffeta, matching hat, gloves and muff with a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Eileen Meraw, Toronto, as bridesmaid, was dressed similarly to the maid of honor, in aqua faille taffeta and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

Adrian J. Hunkle, St. Bonaventure College and Brooklyn, N.Y., acted as best man.

Ushers were Thomas C. Bailey, St. Bonaventure College and Hartford, Conn., Eugene M. Bailey, St. Bonaventure College and Hartford, Conn., and Thomas Tighe, St. Bonaventure College and Hartford, Conn.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the L'Alcove Castle.

Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Cook, Marmora; Miss Molly Meraw and Mr. Harvey Lawrence, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Reilly, Miss Margaret Reilly, Patrick Reilly, John Polites, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cook, Mr. Lorne Cook, Syracuse, N.Y.

Mr. Reilly is a veteran of World War II, having served with the Army Air Corps. He is now attending St. Bonaventure College.

U.S. Women Stage Return Exhibition With Watercolors

Toronto, Feb. 7. (CP)—An exhibition of 42 watercolor paintings by United States women is being staged here as a return show for the work by Canadian women sent to New York about two years ago.

The work, done by members of the National Council of Women in the United States, had its official opening here yesterday by Mrs. Earle H. Russell, wife of the U.S. Consul-General. Following the showing here 31 of the painting will go on tour across Canada, with showings at Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Montreal.

One of the most interesting of the group was an impressionistic painting "Through a Bus Window" by Grace Treadwell of New York, president of the National Association of Women Artists.

Bridge St. S.S. Annual Report

At the annual Sunday School meeting held recently in Bridge Street United Church, the reports for the year just completed were given.

Rev. Mr. Amos re-appoined Mr. Taylor K. Franklin as general superintendent.

Mr. Franklin in his address to the staff said that the power of example in leading is something that should never be lost.

The superintendents of the various departments gave reports.

The Sunday School contributed $151 to the missionary and maintenance fund.

During the year the children of Bridge Street Church entertained the pupils from O.S.D. who attend the church, at a party.

The Mr. and Mrs. Club of the church sponsored the Sunday School picnic at Oak Lake in June.

The attendance has steadily increased and on December 5th there were 73 boys and 83 girls present at the morning session. That same day the Sunday School established a record attendance for the year 314.

The following is a list of the teachers and officers for 1949 as presented by Mr. R. D. P. Davidson: Superintendent, Mr. T. K. Franklin; Assistant Superintendent and Secretary, Mr. A. J. Clare; Treasurer, Mr. C. L. Hyde; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. John Randle; Assistant Sec., Mr. John Randle; Pianist, Mrs. T. K. Women's Activities

FOXBORO W. M. S.

After a sumptuous dinner served on Thursday by the W.M.S. ladies at the home of Mrs. George Priest, the February meeting was conducted. After quiet music was played by Mrs. Eggleton, the meeting was in charge of Mrs. W. Wickett who announced the theme as "Thy Kingdom Come, Through the Work of Christian People", and the program in the Monthly was followed. A Psalm was read by Mrs. J. G. Sills and Mrs. A. Shorten contributed a pleasing solo "Have Thine Own Way".

An interesting synopsis of a chapter of the Study Book "Literature of the Illiterate", was given by Mrs. S. C. Gay where she told of the Life of Dr. Jolliffe and others and explained the anxiety of the people to learn to read and hear the Story of Jesus".

Prayer for Canadian Mission Press, Christian Literature, Readers of the Bible in China, Observation of World's Day of Prayer and its offering, were given by Mrs. W. Hodgen, Mrs. W. Scott, the president then took charge of the business. Reports were given by Mrs. S. C. Gay on Christian Stewardship and on Temperance by Mrs. C. Bamber. Plans were completed for The World's Day of Prayer and it was decided to have a Mission Band dinner in March with Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Brough in charge of the meeting which follows the dinner.

ELDORADO-UNION W. M. S.

The Eldorado and Union W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Cecil Robinson on Wednesday, February 2nd., for their February meeting, which was opened by the president, Mrs. Cecil Blackburn. The Secretary-Treasurer's reports were given. The roll call was answered by nine members and one visitor. One new member was added. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Albert Empey for the missionary Miss Rynn. It was decided to have a quilting and pot luck dinner at the home of Mrs. Yates on Feb. 16. It was moved by Mrs. Yates and seconded by Mrs. Empey, that each member have a Sunshine box for the month of February.

Mrs. Henry Shaw then took charge of the program. A reading by Mrs. Cecil Robinson entitled "How the Question came Home" and a poem by Mrs. Leonard Blackburn, "The Little Hero", were given.

Mrs. Cecil Blackburn had charge of the Worship period, the theme being 'Thy Kingdom Come'. Readings were given by Mrs. Blackburn as follows: "Thy Kingdom Come", "Following the Steps of the Teacher", "Shine Upon us Lord". The Study Book was given by Mrs. Blackburn "Christian Teachers in Training".

Refreshments were served by the hostess and assistants and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

KIWANIS LADIES' AUX.

The February business meeting of the Kiwanis' Ladies' Auxiliary was held at the Centre with 44 ladies present. With Jean Riley at the piano, the President, Hazel Baragar, opened in the usual way, after which several letters were read and announcements were made.

Mary Connolly was appointed welfare convener, and asked for volunteers for sewing and knitting for the Red Cross.

Gertrude Cross announced that plans were completed for the bridge being held this week.

Gertrude Button thanked those ladies who had helped at the hobby craft sewing class and also those who had donated materials, etc.

A lovely cake made and donated by Ella Trepanier was won by Mildred Stanton.

The entertainment for the evening was in charge of Grace Carruthers and Berna Sills and Court Whist was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The winners were High Mary Connolly; Low, Mary Wallbridge; Valentine Prize, Nancy Fozard.

MASSASSAPA W.A.

The February meeting of the Massassaga W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Clarence Thompson with an attendance of 25 members and a visitor. The President, Mrs. Davidson, conducted opening worship service. The offering was $3.55 and 11 members paid dues. Mrs. H. Jose gave the treasurer's report for 1948: the receipts for the year were $327.60. During the business period arrangements were made to get wood for the church; for the congregational meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cunningham following a pot luck dinner; for the March meeting under Mrs. Cook's group and to remember the sick folks in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Cook read the Scripture and Mrs. Thompson in charge of the program, read the lesson on the Home and Religion—Home—a place of love and worship—four constituents of a happy home are mother, father, children and God.

Mrs. H. Adams read a poem "Peace"; Mrs. Boyle gave Current Events and Mrs. A. Brummel gave a reading about a "Little Lost Boy".

After the meeting closed all joined in an 'Alphabetical' Contest, Mrs. A. Hillman winning the prize.

Mrs. Thompson's group served dainty refreshments and all enjoyed a social time.

CHRIST CHURCH SENIOR BRANCH W. A.

Christ Church Senior Branch W.A. met in the Parish Hall with 24 members present. Mrs. H. Wright, presided. The Bible reading was given by Mrs. Ashton. The Annual report showed that this branch of the W.A. had had a most successful year as well as a very busy one. Some of the work which had been accomplished included the buying and packing of two bales of clothing which were sent to All Saints Residential School, Aklavik, and several food parcels had been sent to a clergyman in London, England.

Twenty-one quilts had been completed and sold, many pairs of overalls and other articles of children's clothes had been made or knitted. The treasurer reported a most satisfactory bank balance after all obligations had been met.

Rev. J. G. Sparling addressed a few words of thanks and encouragement to the meeting and then declared the slate of officers for the ensuing year as follows: Hon. President, Mrs. J. Grant Sparling; President, Mrs. H. Wright; 1st Vice President, Mrs. G. G. Wright; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Waterhouse; Secretary, Mrs. Maurice Button; Treasurer, Mrs. Bruce Sills; Educational, Mrs. G. G. Wright; Living Message, Mrs. Fred Cooke; Dorcas, Mrs. Dan Stewart; Flower Fund, Mrs. Waterhouse; Pianist, Mrs. Wright; Vestry Council Representative, Mrs. James Lazenby.

A chapter from the study book entitled "Needy Sons and Daughtes of Mid-Japan", was given by a most interesting manner by Mrs. G. G. Wright.

AUXILIARY TO CANTON

On Wednesday evening, the members of Belleville Auxiliary No. 8 of the Ladies' Auxiliaries Patriarchs Militant, Independent Order of Oddfellows, were hostess of Mrs. Hattie Wonch, North Bay, president of the Department Association of Ontario, L.A., P.M., I.O.O.F., at her official visit.

Captain Gordon Miller, officer of the day, introduced the guests of honor, Mrs. Wonch and Col. Geo. Kerr, Past Grand Patriarch. These officers were cordially welcomed by Miss Helen Miller, president of the Belleville Auxiliary.

This branch of Oddfellowship is re-organizing after being dormant during the war years and Mrs. Wonch gave some helpful suggestions in her address. She was then presented with a gift by Mrs. Eva Turvey and Mrs. Irene Aman, past presidents of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Wonch very graciously expressed her appreciation for this gift.

During the proceedings of the Auxiliary several members of the Canton took an active part and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

At the former meeting Mrs. Irene Aman, past president, installed the following officers: Junior Past President, Mrs. Eva Turvey; President, Miss Helen Miller; Vice President, Mrs. Verna Summers; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Alice Storms; Chaplain, Mrs. Henrietta West; Officer of the Day, Capt. Gordon Miller; Officer of the Guard, Col. Geo. Kerr; Sentry-Chev., Geo. McDonald, Aides to the President, Mrs. Irene Aman, Mrs. Aletha Cornish; Aides to the V. President, Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Florence Pollitt; Aides to the P.P., Mrs. Thow and Mrs. Sadie Smith; Aides to the Chaplain, Mrs. Pearl Bowden.

Club Activities

ENERGETIC CLUB

The regular meeting of Halloway Street Energetic Club took place at the church on Friday evening.

During the devotional period Ethel Scriven sang a very lovely solo. Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Eaton, who gave a very interesting and educational talk on his native Newfoundland. Mrs. Jeffrey sang several delightful solos accompanied by Mrs. Downey at the piano.

Delicious refreshments were served by Clara and Larry Hopkins and their group, who were in charge of the evening. The reading of the Tattler brought the meeting to a close.

IVANHOE

Ivanhoe — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood and Mrs. E. A. Sager visited Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke of Deseronto on Jan. 30.

Mr. G. A. Creaser of Frankford has been appointed by the Belleville Presbytery, to take charge of the work on Ivanhoe circuit, following the resignation of Rev. J. F. Everson on Jan. 1st. Mr. Creaser comes well recommended.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oddie and family of Campbellford were guests of Mrs. John Wright on Sunday.

Mr. Wm. Gay has been a patient in Niagara Falls General Hospital for the past two weeks. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Messrs. Albert Reid and Thos. E. Fleming attended the funeral of the late Robert Eggleton in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reid and Mr. Ormond Reid of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reid.

Mrs. Lily Demille of Crookston is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fleming.

Mr. Arnold Creaser and Mr. Ivan Sarles visited Rev. H. H. Lackey of Frankford on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell of Foxboro were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mitz.

Letter of Thanks

Beulah United W. M. S. held a quilting and dinner in Ivanhoe town hall on Thursday. Pupils of Ivanhoe public school were served at noon. Proceeds were $10.15. The following letter was received regarding clothing sent to Europe one year ago:

Montargis, France,
Jan. 23/49

Miss Doris Twiddy.
Dear Madam—

I received a parcel of clothing from Paris, for my children and I find in it your address.

I thank you very much for all the things so useful to us. May God bless you.

Yours sincerely,
L. Metiffe.

Mr. George Fleming spent the past few days at his home.

Mrs. Jas. Thompson of Millbrook is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clifford Mitz.

Hydro has recently been installed in the homes of Mr. Elmer Rollins and Mr. Harry Lovibond.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Wonderful . . . She Doesn't Want any Bridal Showers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please suggest to my daughter and me a tactful way we can let her friends know that she doesn't want any showers given for her? She and I have never liked this custom of "begging" for gifts, but we have never said anything about it because my daughter didn't want to seem a [illegible] about any showers being given for her friends, and she has always done her part as far as taking gifts was concerned. But now that her engagement is soon to be announced, we want to avoid any plans being made for showers.

Mother

Perhaps your daughter's best friend may know, or have an inkling of the fact, that your daughter does not like showers . . . anyway, I suggest you take her into your confidence and ask her to pass on the news of this preference. As a matter of fact, I've known many girls who feel the way you and your daughter do about showers, and usually they have been completely forthright about "warning" their friends that they wish no showers planned for them. (P.S. And it's a great relief to the majority of [illegible] who are called on these days [illegible] give so many shower gifts!)

Such a Gasping Woman

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

About ten years ago I eloped, and we were married in a nearby state. Since we did not have a real wedding, we did not receive any wedding presents. In the meantime we have not kept house, but now we have bought a new house and are fairly well settled. We are wondering if it would be considered proper for us to give a housewarming, and hope to receive some of the wedding presents we didn't receive when we were married. We thought this might be a reminder to our relatives and friends. What do you think about this plan?

Wilma B.

Well, I think you're a mighty practical woman . . . and you'll certainly be a smart saleswoman [illegible] you revive any gift-inclination on the part of your relatives and friends after all these years! However, it is entirely proper for you and your husband to give a housewarming . . . it is proper to give a housewarming whenever a family moves into a new home. But whether this occasion will "remind" your friends to bring you a belated wedding gift. . . this I would doubt. However, with your big idea, you may get a big haul, particularly if, as I suspect, you do some high-pressure hinting!

Be King to Furniture

You may think you look "cute" when you sit with your feet tucked up on a soft or any other piece of furniture that is upholstered or slip-covered. But to your mother or to a hostess you will be thoughtless and selfish, a pest who has no regard [illegible] the hard-to-come-by materials [illegible] respect for the good appearance of furniture and furniture-coverings. Put your feet down on the floor. . . and be a lady!

HANDSOME travel coats make for a wandering foot. A smart ensemble is made up of a fingertip cape of striped grey wool in four shades over a finely tailored suit matching the lightest gray stripe of the cape. Five-button closing below high, rounded-collared neckline.

AND I LEARNED ABOUT THE APERIENT FROM HER!

Yes::: that's her and trust a nurse to know what's good for you! Whenever you feel dull, dragged down and dopey because of common constipation, it pays to know about the great aperient—gently laxative KRUSCHEN.

The natural aperient action of Kruschen is due to its unique blend of saline minerals, the same as are found in the natural waters of famous medicinal springs. Kruschen offers you the four advantages:

EASY TO TAKE—Dissolves quickly in water, or your morning coffee, tea or fruit juice. Most folks find the small morning dose is best.

WORKS FAST—Usually within the hour. Does not spoil your day.

GENTLE ACTION—Its formula is balanced to act gently, without discomfort.

TIME-TESTED—Over 300,000,000 packages sold throughout the world.

Let Kruschen help you as it has so many others. Try a regular morning dose of this great aperient and know yourself what it is to have "that grand Kruschen Feeling". 25c and 75c at all drug stores.

All-Steel House Attracts Much Interest in Show

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK

Pittsburgh, Feb. 7 (AP) — Would-be home-owners in some twenty cities across the United States are getting their first look at an all-steel house designed for buyers with about $10,000 to spend.

Manufacture of the homes, if the product proves popular, could open a great new market for the steel industry.

More than 5,000 persons trooped through a Lustron porcelain enamel steel home in a Pittsburgh showing this week.

Factory produced, the 5-room, ranch-type structure has 1,085 square feet of floor space with seven closets, two bedrooms, 16 x 14 foot living room, kitchen, dining alcove and bathroom plus a utility room with a heating plant hung from the ceiling.

Lustron homes are being produced in Columbus, Ohio, by the Lustron Corporation. Lustron President Carl G. Standlund said:

"At peack production of 150 homes a day, which we expect to reach by early summer, we will use approximately 500,000 tons of steel annually."

The makers plan to ship complete, but unassembled, homes on trailer trucks which deliver the unit to the buyer's lot. About two weeks later the owner can move in.

Standlund said his industry's new steel demands should help stabilize business in this area if the present abnormal demand for steel falls off. He also predicted his homes would influence convention building to the extent that more steel will be used in other types of new homes.

About $2,000,000 in orders already has been received from the firm by steel suppliers in the immediate Pittsburgh district.

Many Delays Did Not Discourage Scotch Lass

Los Angeles (AP)—A Scotch lass met an American soldier back in 1945.

Romance ensued.

Last fall he mailed her passage money to Glasgow.

But a shipping firm lost her ticket.

Then a strike cancelled sailings.

She boarded the Queen Mary and it ran aground.

Persistent, she tried a plane, and made it.

That's how Gavina Brown, 23 became the belated, but happy, war bride of Kenneth Brown, 23, of nearby Compton.

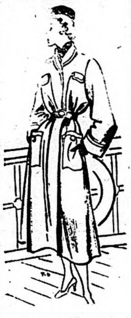
Casual Coat



Topper of yellow wool

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

YELLOW IS AN important resort color and looks like doing a big business for Spring. It is the color chosen for this handsome coat of woollen, a nice choice for resort and travel wear now and for general casual wear later. The coat can be belted, as shown, or worn with a debonair swing. It has a casually rolled collar, and shows plenty of pocket interest. They are real flapped pockets cut in one with the yoke seaming, and a set of simulated patch pockets, slit at the sides, at hips. The back has a deep vent.

SAVES ON $12 WEEKLY

Kitchener, Feb. 7 (CP) — Despite the fact Canada's cost of living is at the highest point in history, a Kitchener woman told Magistrate H. R. Polson Friday that she manages to save a little on an income of less than $12 weekly.

Last year, she added, she put $50 aside for a rainy day.

The statement came during a hearing in which two of her sons were asked to explain why they were in default several hundred dollars in weekly payments to maintain their middle-aged mother.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters and Answers

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a lonely widow 34 years old, and have been living with a well to do man of 50. He takes me everywhere and buys me wonderful presents. He says that in two years he'll get a divorce from his wife and then we'll get married. His wife has been in a mental institution for five years as a hopeless case.

Am I making a bad mistake?

"Guilty Conscience"

Dear "Guilty Conscience":

If you are already living with this man, it seems a little late to be asking if you're making a mistake. I would say the mistake has already been made.

A great many things can happen in two years, and the break-up of your romance might be only one of them. It is possible, of course, that this man is sincere and that the only reason he does not get a divorce now is because the law of his state requires him to wait a certain number of years before doing so under the circumstances.

But it is also possible that he merely looks upon your relationship with him as a temporary affair, and has no idea of anything more permanent. You may consider me cynical, but my years of experience with other people's troubles have made me believe very firmly in the advisability of making certain you know where you're going before you start out. You have already embarked on a romance. Are you quite sure you know where you're going to arrive? In a home, as a cherished wife, for instance, or in the sorry position of a cast-off mistress?

• • •

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I wrote you about a week ago, but you did not print my letter in the paper.

I am 16 years old, and my problem is that I have been going out with a boy for about a month who claims that he likes me a lot, but every time we have a date he never shows up, and when he does show up, my girl friends have to get him to sit with me. I want to know what I should do to find out if he likes me as much as he claims.

Also, my girl friend's boy friend wants to introduuce me to a boy he knows and have the four of us go to the movies together. Should I let him introduce me to him and go to the movies, or just be introduced and have nothing else to do with him, or not meet him at all?

"June Lovely"

Dear June:

The reason I didn't answer your letter was because I didn't think it deserved good newspaper space I thought a 16-year-old girl ought to have sense enough to know the answer herself.

I should think in fact, even a younger girl might suspect that a boy who didn't show up to keep dates, and when he did, had to be begged to sit with the girl he was taking out, was considerably less than wild about her, and that she would take the hint. You say you want to find out if he likes you. Don't you think he has already shown you quite plainly how he feels?

As for your second question, I can't think of any reason in the world for not taking the opportunity to meet another boy friend and to go to the movies or any other suitable place with him. I'd certainly jump at the chance, if I were in your place.

Important Little Furs

By ALICE ALDEN

THE LITTLE FUR, which includes the jacket, the cape-stole, the scarf and the sling-cape, is very big in fashion. Without overdoing things it adds grace and distinction to the costume, without wrecking the budget. Perfect for day or evening is this beautiful black American broadtail jacket that encompasses so many interesting details in its comparatively brief dimensions. A wide band of black soutache braid decorates the sleeves, the hip pockets and the hipline, and accents the flared hemline.

Fashion Flashes

CRISP fabrics mark late Winter and early Spring fashions, particularly taffeta — plain, printed and embroidered—beautiful tie silks done in neat patterns or dotted or striped. Black taffeta with a scattering of tiny embroidered blue and pink flower sprays with green leaves make a handsome afternoon suit, the top cut with deep, plunging neckline, the skirt full.

FAVORITE fabric for hats for 'tween-seasons wear is satin. A beautiful late-afternoon hat is a little cloche bonnet of white satin with a waterfall feather fancy in white, uncurled ostrich, which rises fountain-like and then falls softly over the forehead.

NOT HALF ENOUGH to go around is the sad state of affairs in the nylon fabric department. So when you see a dress, a blouse or a swim-suit of nylon, grab it. Wonderful indeed, since it can be tubbed and worn again without benefit of pressing, is a one-piece dress on shirtwaist lines fashioned entirely of all-over puckered nylon. Comes in deep colors.

A FAVORITE TWOSOME with the separate skirt and blouse fan is the blouse of wool jersey, slim, with bracelet-length sleeves and very deep plunging or scooped-out neckline, worn with a full skirt of crisp fabric—such as tie-silk or taffeta. One pretty twosome consisted of a wool jersey blouse in deep lilac worn with a striped skirt—navy and deep mauve—in rayon tiesilk.

INTEREST centres in and about the neckline in many of the new cotton frocks designed for afternoon wear. Iridescent cotton in mauve has a very open neckline framed with a self flange. It is filled in with self flowers that look like violets. Sleeves are easy, braclet-length, and skirt is moderately full and flared.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

Clay pack removes blackheads

Guard against blackheads. If these tiny curses are upon you, don't tolerate them. They are a menace. The wax-like plugs in the pores expand the walls, cause the texture of the skin to become coarse. When the delicate walls break, pustules may form.

In early childhood the pores are such minute apertures that they are almost imperceptible to the eye. In the early teens, when glandular changes are taking the sebaceous glands are overactive. This condition is made worse by a diet that is too rich in fats, by dipping into the cookie jar, by joining the gang at the soda fountain and getting the fat this is in ice cream. The wise mother will endeavor to train a little girl or boy to eat fruit instead of pastries, especially if there are signs of budding acne on the little one's face,

Read your mystery story for twenty minutes.

Blackhead can flourish in youth or middle age. They are less likely to appear in late years, as the sebaceous glands function less actively. Soap, warm water and friction are what the skin specialist orders, but even a twice daily scrubbing may not dislodge them. Large blackheads should be removed with a comedone extractor, a tiny instrument that can be purchased at any drug store.

Some beauty shops include the clap pack in treating these blemishes. This can be done at home, at almost no expense. It has a wonderfully refreshing effect upon the complexion.

Get some kaolin at the drug store. This is our old friend Fuller's earth, sterilized and freed of the impurities of the soil. Our grandmothers used it to clean articles made of felt. It was also used to clean certain kinds of furs.

There are two different types of pack, one for the dry skin, one for the oily surface. If there is an excess of oil, mix three tablespoonsful of kaolin with enough witch hazel to form a paste the consistency of whipped cream.

Give your face a rousing washing with soap and water. Rinse with warm water, dry thoroughly. Spread on the pack, starting at the collar bones. The neck must be included, since kaolin has mild bleaching qualities. Go up over the jawline, the cheeks and the forehead, putting on a fairly generous application. If the skin is dry, use mineral oil in place of the witch hazel, or a liquid cream, if you happen to have it.

At this point you make a nice nest for yourself on the davenport, read your mystery story for twenty minutes or until the mask begins to flake. Remove it with tepid water, dry, then tap the flesh gently. Do this once a week until the black points are cleared up.

Faked Divorce To Bring Five Into Cleveland Court

Cleveland, Feb. 7. (AP) — Five persons, including Editor Louis B. Seltzer of the Cleveland Press, must appear in court Tuesday on contempt charges evolving from a fake divorce case.

Reporter Leonard Hammer obtained an unwanted and uncontested divorce last week for Richard R. Campbell, Press makeup editor, and Campbell's wife, Florence. Then he wrote a story on how he did it, and the Press ran it two-columns wide on page 1.

Editorally, the Press commented that the divorce fake was carried out to show up a weakness in divorce court procedure caused by an overcrowded docket. The action was well-intended, the editorial said.

Rayner's Terrific Netminding Helps Rangers Leave Cellar, Detroit Wins Fifth Straight

By BERT ALLEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York Rangers are out of the National Hockey League cellar for the first time in 2½ months and the one guy the Blueshirts can thank for their "lofty" fifth-place position today is goalie Chuck Rayner.

The Rangers finally evacuated last place by garnering three points in their two weekend road games. Rayner was terrific in both contests, when New York rallied for a 1-1 draw at Toronto Saturday and when they blanked the slipping Black Hawks 2-0 in Chicago Sunday night.

Other weekend jousts saw the high - flying Detroit Red Wings run their win streak to five straight Sunday night with a 1-0 shave over the slumping Montreal Canadiens. It was the fifth setback in a row for the Habitants who blew a 3-2 home - ice decision to Boston Saturday. Toronto upset the Bruins 4-2 in beantown Sunday night.

The third place Canadiens now lead Toronto by only one point.

A first-period goal by little Pete Horeck proved too big an obstacle for the punchless Canadiens to overcome Sunday night at Detroit and the Wings coasted home with a 1-0 win for Harry Lumley's fourth shutout of the campaign.

Come from Behind

Boston had to come from behind with a pair of third-period goals for their 3-2 triumph over Canadiens Saturday night at Montreal. After Eddie Sandford opened the scoring for the Bruins, defenceman Doug Harvey and Lou Gravelle scored to give the Habs a 2-1 edge going into the final frame. Milt Schmidt tied the count and then set up Pete Babando with a beautiful pass for the clincher at 14:28.

Centre Cal Gardner had himself a big night when Toronto upset the Bruins 4-2 before a crowd of 13,909 at the Hub. The former Ranger pivotman notched three goals, all in the first period, and then made the play for the fourth lead counter scored by Jimmy Thomson.

Woody Dumart and Pat Egan were the Bruin marksmen.

At Toronto Saturday, the Leafs appeared to have a 1-0 victory in the bag with only minutes remaining. But rookie Jack Gordon ticked in Allan Stanley's long shot to knot the count at 17:14 and give Rangers a tie.

At Chicago Sunday night, Alex Kaleta banged home the first Ranger goal at 7:33 of the initial session. The flying Finn, Penti Lund, made it 2-0 at 18:33 of the middle stanza.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Tonight, to borrow a literary phrase from east of here, the "mighty invaders from the banks of the Moira" will be hosts to the gallant hard-playing crew from Gananoque. The visitors boast one of the smartest teams in the district Senior "B" group and are liable to break out in a spot anytime and take measure of the best in the loop. The powerful Diesels will have their hands full in an effort to score their sixth straight victory at the expense of the Gans, for the riverside squad have not, by any means forgotten the 6-3 trimming the trainmen handed them a short while back, right in the Gans' own backyard.

* * *

But that is water under the bridge. The Gananoque squad, led by Bill Hastie, former Belleville hockey star, are striving hard for a place in the playoff spot, and there's nothing they'd like better than to better their standing at the expense of the Diesels. And they might do just that hing.

* * *

Coach Ken McNaugh might better keep his Rocket Junior "B's" on a turkey diet if their performance on Friday night can be judged a criterion. The voteless buckaroos were not in the least daunted by the flashy Queen's University squad and played head-up hockey to record their fifth straight victory. It's too bad a few more fans weren't around to watch the calisthenics. Mebbe Manager Bill Cook had better start negotiations to buy "Rocket" Richard from the Montreal Canadiens. They tell us that that works well as a publicity stunt and a turnstile ticker.

* * *

Of course the Canadiens' management might want Joe Nolan, Ron Trussell, Tommy Schreider, as well as a financial consideration of, say a buck and a half. But Cook could throw in Dick Beare, George Gay, Lorney Burke (now a proud poppa of six) and Bill Beare for good measure. The "Rocket" wearing a "Rockets" sweater might induce, say twenty-four additional fans to the Junior "B" games. That would make an all-round crowd of twenty-nine. Not bad, brother. Wonder what the Belleville Hockey Association does with all their money. That gentleman from the Income Tax Department who visited this corner the other day regarding hockey players and their filthy lucre incrment, won't have much to worry about regarding Junior games played here. At least up to the time of writing.

* * *

Bob Higgins, Penn State basketball star, had had a poor season. And the fans didn't like it.

One day Higgins had reason to telephone his wife. He reached in his pocket and discovered he had no nickels. Seeing a Penn Stater passing by he hailed him and asked him for a nickel.

"Here, Higgins," the fan snapped, "take a dime and call ALL your friends."

* * *

One of the best stories of the late departed football season, was told by Marchie Schwartz, former Notre Dame star, about the dark days when his Stanford team dropped nine games in a row.

Marchie decided on a real pep talk and lectured his squad vehemently that most games are lost in the line. One big tackle appeared to be wool-gathering and Marchie asked him if he had heard what was said. The tackle said he had.

"Well, then," said Schwartz, "tell me, where are most games lost?"

The tackle thought for a minute, brightened perceptively, and replied:

"At Stamford, coach!"

The Diesels' management announced today that Johnny Semark will be back in action on the lineup tonight and will take over Al. Meagher's spot on the Barrett-Bastedo line. Al. was taken to hospital the other day in a battle with Old Man Flu and will be confined there for the next four or five days. Incidentally Diesels won't be playing in Kingston against Aces on Wednesday night, the teams having agreed to play a four-point game here on Monday next.

Ottawa to Hold Winter Carnival

Ottawa, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Starting next Friday, this capital will feature more winter sporting events than you can shake a snowshoe at.

Everything from choosing a carnival queen to fireworks is on the agenda. It will be the first winter celebration Ottawa has seen in years, and its sponsors, the Junior Board of Trade, have assembled an impressive list of events.

Top billing on the week of outdoor sports is given the International Dog Derby, last held here in 1930. Additional highlights are the Central Canada ski championships Feb. 11-13; the Central Canada Curling Bonspiel Feb. 14-18; the Canadian Figures Skating Championships Feb. 18 and 19, and snowshoe races at Rideau Hall.

The whole thing will wind up with a fancy - dress competition at Lansdowne Park, a giant bonfire and fireworks.

Oddly enough the dog derby will be dominated, if not completely monopolized, by New Englanders. Canada's sole entry is Edwin Lambert, a trapper of The Pas, Man., and it is believed that lack of travelling expenses will prevent him from making the trip.

The leading contestant will be Dr. Roland Lombard, Auburndale, Mass., veterinarian who set a world record last year with a 14-mile dash in 55 minutes and 22 seconds. His wife will compete against his Siberian dogs with a team of Malamutes.

Some 200 snowshoers from the Montreal area are expected to take part in a special five - mile race around the spacious grounds of Government House.

Viscount Alexander has put up a special trophy for the race, to be run on his private cricket grounds.

Entries for the Canadian figure skating championships are not complete, but it is expected there will be three leading contenders for the title formerly held by Barbara Ann Scott. They will be Suzanne Morrow of Toronto, who was third in the Olympic and World championships; Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Jeanne Matthews of Vancouver.

Windsor Spitfires Nine Points Ahead Of Junior A Pack

(By The Canadian Press)

It seems there is virtually no stopping the high-flying Windsor Spitfires, now nine points ahead of the pack in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Jimmy Skinner's charges Saturday night racked up their 28th victory in 42 starts as they downed the last-place Galt Rockets in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A tilt in Windsor. The win moved the Spitfires nine points ahead of the second-place Barrie Flyers.

In other Junior "A" games during the weekend, Oshawa Generals moved into a fourth-place tie by defeating Toronto Marlboros 5-4 and the Flyers regained second place when they battled to a 1-1 draw with Toronto St. Michael's College Majors.

In the Senior "A" loop, the fourth-place Owen Sound Mercurys posted a 6-6 overtime draw against the third-place Hamilton Tigers.

The Spitfires made it look easy as they ran their total of goals for the season to 236, compared with 151 against them. They moved into a 4-2 lead in the first period, made it 8-3 in the second and added four unanswered markers in the third.

Build up 4-1 Lead

The Generals built up a 4-1 lead by the end of the first period. It all started when Dick Gamble sent them into a 1-0 margin by the end of the first stanza. The Dukes drove back with three goals in the third frame but four [illegible] the margin too big.

Frank Sullivan, Don Hall, Chapman and Don Richardson got the others for Oshawa. Bobby Hassard got two for Toronto while Howie Lee got the other.

Barrie took a 1-0 lead in the first period, fought through a scoreless second frame and then saw the Irish tie it up early in the third. The Flyers carried the play and it appeared that the collegians would give under the pressure. But, aided by steller netminding by little Tommy Shea the Irish held the visitors scoreless. Gord Hannigan counted for Toronto and Hopper for Barrie.

Made Dismal Start

The Mercurys perked up after a dismal start in the first period. Despite tight defensive play the Mercurys were on the short end of a 4-1 count at the end of the first period, but came back in the second to tie the game at 4-4.

Both netminders—Art Childs of the Tigers and Tom McGrattan of the Mercurys—turned in a good performance. Childs stopped 57 shots and McGrattan was called upon to save 42.

Ab Conick paced the Tigers with two goals. Others went to Johnny Conick, Tom Smelle, Polly Miocinovich and Joe Tindall. Owen Sound scorers were Tommy Burlington with two and Al Forslund, Mike Shabaga, Bruno Favero and Dough Gillespie with singletons.

Hornets Land In Second Place Of West Division

(By The Canadian Press)

The Pittsburgh Hornets, one of the most unpredictable teams in the American Hockey League, took a man-size leap during the weekend and landed in second place in Western Division standing.

The Hornets stung Indianapolis Capitals 8-2 Saturday night, then hummed their way to a 5-4 victory over New Haven Sunday. The two victories moved the Hornets from fourth place into a second-place tie with Cleveland.

In New Haven, the score was deadlocked twice until Flem Mackell put Pittsburgh ahead with what proved to be the winning marker. Other Pittsburgh scorers were Sid Smith, Ray Ceresino, John O'Flaherty and Phil Samis.

Sheldon Bloomer, Jean Lamirande, Gino Rozzini and Ed Slowinski notched the New Haven goals.

Inidanapolis Capitals staved off a late Hershey rush Sunday and emerged on top, 3-2. The game was the Caps ninth straight win without a loss.

Don Morrison, Fred Glover and Ken Mackenzie scored for Indianapolis while Frank Mario and Silvio Bettio connected for Hershey.

Buffalo Bisons tightened up the Western Division race by trimming the leading St. Louis Flyers 4-2 while maintaining their last-place position. Les Douglas paced the Bisons with two goals and Joe Levandoski and Floyd Curry notched the other Buffalo markers. Don Grosso and Barry Sullivan scored for St. Louis.

Providence Reds trounced Cleveland Barons 9-3 behind the two goal efforts of Carl Liscombe, the league's leading scorer, Johnny Chad, Ray Laplante and Jack McGill. Harvey Fraser connected for the other Providence tally.

On Saturday, Philadelphia Rockets defeated New Haven, 8-3, Providence scored four times in the third period to beat Springfield 7-4, Cleveland beat Buffalo 3-1 and St. Louis won 3-2 over Hershey.

The Big Seven

The National League's leading marksmen had a lean weekend. Not one of the charter members collected a point but one newcomer broke into the select circle for the first time. Harry Watson of Toronto picked up three assists to move into a sixth-place tie. Chicago's Doug Bentley still leads the parade with 51 points.

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE

We all know days when nothing seems to go right. And too often in the heat of the moment we are prone to say or do something for which afterwards we will be sorry. How much better to take things a little easier . . . make decisions a little more slowly. You'll be surprised how your patience puts other people at ease . . . creates a friendlier feeling. Try it! Don Thomas Re-elected Head Of C.O.B. League

Don Thomas, well-known baseball official and authority was re-elected president of the Central Ontario Baseball League at the annual meeting held here last night. Vern Dawson, Peterborough, was named vice president, while Jack Devine, sports announcer of CJBQ was returned to the secretary treasurer post.

While Kingston and Oshawa were not represented at the meeting they have assured the league executive that they will be officially represented. Ed. Murphy, playing coach of the championship 1948 Peterborough team, represented the title holders. Joe Killoran represented Napanee.

Present indications, although nothing of an absolute definite nature was disclosed, point to expansion of the league in 1949 with a strong possibility of six teams competing.

The majority of the time at the meeting was taken up with discussion of the old constitution. This, after several opinions and suggestions were aired, was adopted in part but it is likely some changes will be made at the next meeting of the executive scheduled for a month hence.

The entry fee of the league was upped to $25 with ten dollars callable. Financial standing of the league is in good shape the secretary's report revealed.

President Thomas expressed his appreciation of the co-operation afforded him by the executive and teams last season and hoped the same would be forthcoming in 1949.

Galt May Be Sponsored By Chicago Hawks

Galt, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Galt Rockets, Ontario Hockey Association junior 'A' entry, may be sponsored next season by a National Hockey League team, it was learned Sunday. It is considered likely that the present sponsor, Philadelphia Rockets, American Hockey League team, will drop out of the local picture.

Officials of Chicago Black Hawks have got in touch with the Rockets management and Eddie Shore, representing Buffalo Bisons, conferred with Galt club officials last week with the idea of taking the club into his system.

A decision on future sponsorship may be made at a meeting this week of Galt team officials.

SYLPHLIKE SHEA SIGNS CONTRACT—Weighing 20 pounds less than last year at this time, Frank "Spec" Shea, Yankee pitcher, signed his pitching contract with the club, after assuring Manager Casey Stengel that he will be in prime condition this season. In picture, Stengel hefts Shea's 201-pound frame after the contract was signed. They are old friends. Casey managed the Oakland team of the Pacific League in 1946 when Spec was a star pitcher with the club. Shea came to the Yankees in 1947, was a first-year star, but slumped badly last year. Canadian Sport Snapshots

By BILL GRAHAM
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Feb. 7 (CP).—Is the National Hockey League developing into a form of human billiards where players act as balls, the boards fill in for the cushions and the hospital subs for the old corner pocket?

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson is one veteran hockey writer who is convinced after last Thursday's slugfest between Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, when two of the Habitants were carried out on stretchers, that something is wrong with the rules or the way they are enforced.

Little Inquiring

Says Fergie: "When in one game two hockey players can receive crippling injuries through being tossed into the boards, with no penalties meted out in return, it's time to do a little inquiring into what goes on here."

Fiery Kenny Reardon, stalwart Canadien rearguard, suffered severe shoulder injuries that will keep him sidelined for at least four weeks when he was crashed into the boards by Bill Barilko of Leafs. Little Normie Dussault — one of the fans' favorites — was carried from the ice later in the game after he had been banged into the boards by the same Barilko.

Fergie thinks that referees are letting a lot of the rough stuff go these days to please the bloodthirsty fans, especially in the United States rinks.

Death Is Goal

"We hesitate to believe that any such toleration of roughhouse is deliberately undertaken. If, however, such is the trend, then the National Hockey League is toying with human life itself," Fergie says. For if violent boarding — is allowed to go on, with the bodies of the players making a Roman holiday for the sadistic mob, death is the goal at which they are aiming.

Feller Signs One-Year Contract At $72,500

New York, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Bob Feller has signed a one-year contract with Cleveland Indians for approximately $72,500, but the New York Yankees' Joe DiMaggio probably will top that figure today with a pact for close to $100,000.

Feller's new contract calls for an approximate $10,000 cut from his 1948 salary of $82,500. He will receive the same $40,000 base contract he got last year, but the difference will be in the bonuses resulting from the attendance. Feller will start drawing extra salary after the club has drawn 1,250,000 at home.

In other words, should the Indians' home attendance reach 2,500,000 fans, which is about 100,000 less than last year, Bob will earn $72,500.

When DiMaggio signs his contract, as expected, he will become the highest paid player in the history of the game.

It was learned from a reliable source that Joe's asking price is $100,000 for the 1949 season. Also he wants it in basic salary, not a bonus arrangement wherein he must gamble on attendance to swell his paycheques.

The Yankees have offered him $60,000 as a base salary, plus a bonus graduated on attendance after it passes the 1,500,000 figure in the stadium. The Yankees figure that this would enable DiMaggio to make approximately $90,000 should the Yankees draw 2,400,000, which was last year's turnstile count.

Last year DiMaggio received just under $70,000 in a basic payroll of $50,000 and the rest in bonuses on attendance above 1,500,000 at the stadium.

The highest salary ever paid a New York player was the $80,000 Babe Ruth received for each of the 1930 and 1931 seasons. Feller's $82,500 for the '48 season topped all baseball salaries last year.

Sudbury Wolves Held to Tie By Swedish Team

Mora, Sweden, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Sudbury Wolves, Canada's representatives at the world hockey championships to be held in Stockholm this month Sunday were held to a 3-3 tie by a Swedish team of the provincial first division.

Both teams scored one goal in each period.

Before the crowd of 1,600 fans, neither team showed marked superiority. Swedish experts were not impressed by the Wolves.

Ray Bauer, Wolves' centre and left winger, was the chief referee. The Wolves' regular referee, F. W. (Dinty) Moore, was reported to have stayed in Helsinki because of illness after the Canadians' 5-4 victory over a Finnish national team Thursday.

Don Stanley paced the Canadians' attack with two goals. Tom Russell, who flew to reinforce the Canadian team last week, notched the other tally.

IN CONTENTION

Chicago, Feb. 7 — (CP) — George Chenier of Toronto, Canadian snooker champion, boosted himself into consideration for the United States pocket billiard title last night by defeating Onofrio Lauri of Brooklyn 125 to 10 in only eight innings.

Undefeated Irving Crane and Andrew Ponzi, former world champion, continued to pace the pocket division, both racking up their fourth straight victories Sunday night. Chenier is in third place.

Lloyd Mangrum Wins Tourney

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 7 — (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago sank a six - inch putt on the El Rio Country Club's 18th green Sunday with a careless pendulum swing. That nonchalant stroke did the following:

1. on the former United States Open champion $2,000 first prize in the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

2. Made him the leading United States money winner to date in 1949 with a total of $3,755.

3. Set a 72-hole Rio course record of 263 — 17 under par.

4. Tied him with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, for low scores of the day with a five-under-par 65.

Al Smith, a newcomer to the pro circuit, finished five strokes behind to win second prize of $1,400.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., shot his fourth sub - par round of 68 for a total of 269 that made him the leading amateur of the tournament — two strokes better than Tulsa's Skee Riegel — and tied him for third place with Johnny Bulla, Pittsburgh, Pa. Bulla won $1,000; Stranahan a silver plate.

Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., was fifth with 270. Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., two-time winner and heavy favorite, tied Riegel for sixth with 271.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 7 (AP).—Like Portland, Ore., once celebrated for producing major league shortstops such as Joe Tinker, Charley Hollocher, Dave Bancroft and Ivan Olson, the town of Anderson, Ind., has a peculiar claim to baseball fame . . . at least three ball players who became club and league presidents once played on Anderson teams . . . Ernest Landgraf, outfielder in 1899, was president of the Syracuse, N.Y., club and now heads the North Atlantic League; Bob Quinn, catcher in 1900, headed both Boston clubs and owned one of them; Jack Corbett, shortstop in 1906, also was a Syracuse president and now is president of the El Paso club in the Arizona-Texas League.

Monday Matinee

Steve Genzi, the Calumet stable hand who looked after Armed and Citation, has been assigned to the two-year-old Urgent. That might be a tip. . . . Eddie Walker, who managed Mike Belloise and then Steve is coming up with a third Belloise, Sal . . . he is the youngest, tallest and heaviest of the ten Belloise brothers.

Standing Alibi

Fred Hancock, slick-fielding Memphis shortstop who'll get a trial with Chicago White Sox this spring, has an off-season job as promotion manager for a Memphis brewery. . . . No doubt any complaints about the beer are explained: "It took a bad hop".

Dot's All, Brothers

Mickey Owen is playing on a Y.M.C.A. league basketball team in Springfield, Mo., this winter. He says he always was undersized for a major league catcher and hopes to gain weight.

Saints Increase Top Margin

(By The Canadian Press)

St. Paul Saints increased their first - place margin to three points over Kansas City in the northern division of the United States Hockey League by defeating Omaha 4-2 Sunday night.

Meanwhile, Kansas City played its seventh straight game without a victory in bowing to Fort Worth 5-3. Bill Warwick tallied three times for the Rangers, who snapped a seven-game losing streak.

In Saturday games Minneapolis nudged Kansas City 4-3, Omaha beat Fort Worth 2-1, and Tulsa defeated Houston 6-4.

Australia Girl Defeats Holland's Winner of Olympics

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 7 — (Reuters)—Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, Holland's winner of four Olympic medals, was beaten Sat., by 17-year-old Marjorie Jackson of New South Wales by half a yard in a 100-metre invitation race. Miss Jackson's ime was 11.8 seconds.

HIT IN FACE WITH STICK

Toronto, Feb. 7 (CP)—Ray Corcoran, forward line star of the Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, is in hospital here with undertermined injuries suffered in Saturday's game against Barrie Flyers in Toronto. Corcoran was accidentally struck in the face by a Barrie stick in the first period of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" game. His condition is reported in hospital as "fair."

A brain specialist has been called to the aid of the young player, who is on the list of the National Hockey League Boston Bruins.

IN The Standard - ON SALE TODAY!

Aptly titled "Their Finest Hour", here is a vivid, thrilling history, as seen, lived and recorded by a truly great man. Recalling to mind those dark and desperate days of 1940, Winston Churchill casts a new light on the momentous events and heroisms of that time — in words that will live for generations to come!

These memoirs will be published in The Standard and in no other Canadian magazine or newspaper. They cover the period from Churchill's appointment as Prime Minister in 1940 to Wavell's triumph in North Africa in 1941. "Their Finest Hour", in seven successive instalments, starts in The Standard this week — dramatically pictured in a 16 page rotogravure section. Start reading this stirring story NOW!

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Just for the record, no bids can guarantee every reached slam will be safe. Too many dangerous combinations can be met. All publicized at the time. It had decide when slam is worth a try.

However, some slam conventions are more efficient than others. Also safer, easier, and more convenient. Of the three worth comparing are the Culbertson, Blackwood and The Kibitzer.

At the time of its introduction, the Culbertson was a boon to bridge. No other was widely Many could not remember all the much merit. Then it was the best to be had by the most number of players.

But it was not precise enough for the vast majority of players. Man ycould not remember all the meanings. Inevitably, its popularity started waning after something better came along.

He must have anticipated such an outcome. His changing books keep proposing successive alternates. Like asking bids and the grand slam force which are relegated to the scrap heap.

One not his own was also mentioned in his book. It is Blackwood. Mention of this is in a recent edition of his Bridge World magazine. The footnote contains an interesting sidelight.

The editor footnote carries the words here quoted: "By the great body of American players the Culbertson 4-5 no-trump has been virtually abandoned, if not forgotten."

This admission seems to narrow the number of currently popular slam conventions. Among wholesale ace and king showers, it now comes to a selection between Blackwood and The Kibitzer (Gordon.)

No doubt you have heard of both. If so, try each on this pair of partnership hands:

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Feb. 7 — (AP) — What do the people who own television sets think about television?

To get this information, I posed as a television repair man for a day.

The poll is not meant to be a scientific one, but I think it does show a representative cross-section of television viewers. Here are the questions and answers:

1. Do you like television?

Generally, the answer was yes. One woman declared it was a godsend to her husband, a semi-invalid — "it made his life worth living."

On the debit side, a grandmother said she didn't look at it much. A business man didn't care for it particularly, except for sports.

2. What don't you like about television?

One elderly woman said there was too much sports. A student said too much emphasis was on entertainment.

Other complaints: Lack of good shows, technical disturbances, small screen.

3. Do you listen to the radio less often?

Nearly all said yes. A housewife said she listens all day, but never after dinner when the TV shows come on. A few said they never turn on the radio at all.

4. How has television changed your way of life?

The business man reported it has increased his liquor bill, since more people drop in. Another complained, "it has made a theatre out of my home," for kids from all over the neighborhood.

Nearly all answered they stay home much more and have more friends in than before.

Must Pay Court Costs for Issue That He Started

(By The Canadian Press)

Christopher Roland (Joe) North, refused admission to the ball park at Victoria, B. C., because of his "Bronx cheer," must pay $96.80 for the court action he started on the issue.

He sued the Victoria Baseball Club for being refused admission to the games. The club charged he was obnoxious and gave too frequent renditions of his 'Bronx cheer.'

So the park management refunded the remaining amount on his season ticket. It was $96.80. Saturday Mr. Justice H. S. Wood ordered the cheque turned over to the club for court costs.

Two rinks from Aubrey, Que., edged out their opponents from Ottawa's Rideau Curling Club Saturday to win the grand final of the Governor General's Trophy Bonspiel, Eastern Canada's premier double-irons event.

Viscount Alexander and a host of curling enthusiasts were on hand to watch the Aubrey rinks sweep their way to victory by an aggregate score of 32-28, one of the closest decisions in the 65-year history of the bonspiel.

Aggressive, fast-breaking play by the University of Toronto senior basketballers gave them their first victory in this year's senior intercollegiate loop Saturday night when they downed McGill University Redmen, 66-52 at Toronto. The Toronto Blues piled up a half-time score of 35-9.

New York Rangers hockey club Sunday summoned Wes Trainor, high scoring centre with the St. Paul Saints to replace Don Raleigh, it was announced last night at Chicago. Raleigh suffered a twisted knee in Rangers' game Saturday at Toronto.

Overdue Plane Arrives Safely

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP) — A four-engined plane arrived safely in Bermuda Sat., after being reported several hours overdue.

The plane left Tocumen, Pamama, for Nassau, Bahamas, the Coast Guard air sea rescue service was informed.

When the Trans-Ocean Air Line craft was several hours overdue at Nassau, a search was begun.

Bermuda is several hundred miles northeast of Nassau. Coast Guardsmen said they had no information as to why the aircraft flew to the more distant island but apparently its crew had "filed the wrong flight plan."

Predicts Television Programs For Movie Theatres

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Film magnate Spyros K. Skouras predicts television "will give the motion picture industry the greatest impetus since the advent of sound."

He foresees the use of television to project shows simultaneously in circuits of theatres, 300 or more at a time.

The programs would be sent over "closed circuits" directly into the theatres and would not be broadcast over the air. Hence you couldn't get them on your home set and would have to go to the theatre to see them.

The cost of such programs would be too great for them to be telecast into homes free of charge.

Direct Telecast.

Films would remain the feature attractions, he went on, with other entertainment built around them. But the films would be telecast directly into the theatre, reducing part of the industry's overhead and distribution costs under present methods which require a separate film for each theatre.

And television would enable theatres to present symphony orchestras, concert artists, popular entertainers and major public events on the same program.

If some plan could be worked out under which the government would permit a fee to be charged for firstrun movies and other premium entertainment received on home sets, Skouras said that "might change the whole form of this entertainment."

"Phonevision"

A Chicago radio and television firm already has developed a plan along this line called "Phonevision". You couldn't get a program on your home set without a telephone connection to the station. You would be charged according to the number of programs ordered.

Skouras recently negotiated unsuccessfully to buy the American Broadcasting Company for 20th. Century-Fox to obtain its television stations and network. The company still has applications pending with the Federal Communications Commission for five stations of its own—the limit allowed under single ownership or control.

Beatrice Lillie Opens Door To Career Other Than Stage

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Beatrice Lillie seldom knows, when she makes an entrance onstage, just what particular door will be her exit offstage.

Her audiences, such as those which have been delighted by her pert antics in "Inside U.S.A.", the musical version of the John Gunther travelogue, have not been particularly curious about her exits. They have demonstrated for weeks that they want her to stay onstage.

Aside from the theatre, Miss Lillie said backstage the other day, she made one entrance that led her to a door to another career very different from her theatrical triumphs. One door led her to a new career as a portrait painter, "and a very, very good one, too," she admits without urging.

"In my house in London," she said, "I had some trouble with the door knobs on the doors of several of my rooms. So I went to a hardware store. What is it you call them over here in New York — oh, yes . . . ironmongers.

"But, I couldn't find any of the iron door knobs which have impressions of pictures on them as if they had been carved. But, I did find some doorknobs with a smooth, white enamel surface. The hardware man told me that some of his customers painted pictures on them. I bought some paints, bought a book on how to be an artist and started to paint.

"I thought I was pretty good, so I got some canvas, an easel and went to work. Now I'm in business and I've already sold two paintings. So far I've been fairly well orthodox in my technique. None of the dali or impressionistic school for me. But I'm willing to try. And I probably will."

Miss Lillie, although born in Toronto, is probably the most British of all comediennes who have played upon the Broadway stages. She said she had no idea how her name ever came up when they were casting the Arthur Schwartz-Howard Dietz musical.

"I've jumped back and forth across the Atlantic in so many shows," she said, "that while I'm still looked upon here as typically British, in Maymarket I am sometimes referred to as 'that American'."

Within a few weeks Miss Lillie is closing her Broadway run in "Inside U.S.A." and going with it on a coast-to-coast tour.

"I suppose by the next time I get back to London," she said, "they will be calling me 'that Texan' or 'that Californian' or 'that Brooklyn bum'."

TURKEYS HAVE NO PRIORITY

Dixie, Feb. 7 — (CP) — A Peel county judge decided Saturday that turkeys have no priority over Charles Hannah, his wife and 7 children for use of a frame home in the farm of Tony Kri near here. The judge turned down Kri's request for an eviction of the Hannah family, who rented the building, so that he could raise turkeys instead.

No Babe in Woods, No Peter Pan If Ban Adopted

London, Feb. 7 — (Reuters) Emile Littler, British theatrical producer and "pantomime king," says that a London county council committee's proposal to ban children under 13 from the stage would mean "no Babes in the Wood, no Peter Pan and no Little Lord Fauntleroy."

"It is a very one-sided proposal," Littler continued. "It gives the films, radio and television an unprecedented opportunity, and for the living stage it is a blow below the belt."

Littler, leading producer of pantomimes, which are musical comedies based on fairy tales and nursery rhymes, said:

"Juvenile troupes have always been a great training ground for future stars. They produced, for example, Gertrude Lawrence and Noel Coward."

Pop was smoking to himself and looking exter comfortable, and ma said, William why dont we serprize the Hewses by dropping in on them for a little bridge? Now William dont say what you're thinking without thinking it over. You know you're very fond of Maud and Ewstace Hewes, she said.

They're all rite as far as people go, but people dont go far enough pop said. For instants, Ewstace has been telling the same old stories ever since we ferst met him, and Maud cackles like a hen whenever she thinks something is funny, he said, and ma said, Oh, I suppose you'd like nuthing better than to go calling on some fabulous cupple whose sparkling conversation was only exceeded by their good looks and charming deportment.

My dear, I'd be enchanted, charmed and overjoyed, pop said, and ma said, Oh no doubt, and I suppose you'd like their wit and wisdom to flow like shampane in te mist of the most expensive serroundings in the most flawless taste.

Nuthing would please me as mutch, pop said. When do we start? he said, and ma said, This very minute, if we expect to get there for the start of the picture. I've been discribing Paulette Paul and Roger Gillingway, the most fassinating cupple in the movies, and they're at the Narcissis this week in Heads We Win. Everybody says it's their best picture, and that if you've ever seen them together before you wont want to miss them this time, and if you've never seen them together, this is your golden opportunity, ma said.

In other werds, heads you win, tails you cant lose, pop said. I'm trapped and I'll take my licking like a man, he said.

Meaning he would go.

Which he did.

FLYING BED TO LESSEN PILOT FATIGUE—The new flying bed from which pilots will fly planes in the super-sonic air age without danger of pilot fatigue or gravitational-pull out induced unconsciousness, or "blackout", is shown as it was demonstrated by the air material command at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio. The pilot rests on a resilient netting of nylon with head supported by a chin pad and counter-weighted padded harness around the forehead.—(CPC).

Political Eyes Of Nation Trained On By-Election

Nicolet, Que., Feb. 7 (CP) — Politically the eyes of the Dominion today focussed on the two counties of Nicolet - Yamaska where the result of the vote in a federal by-election was expected to give an indication of which way the wind might blow in Quebec at the next general election.

Organizations of all three candidates in the field were geared to handle a heavy vote in what appeared to be a tight race, with snowmobiles mustered to carry electors to polls in the outlying areas.

Candidates are lawyer Paul Traham, official Liberal, lawyer Renaud Chapdelaine, Progressive Conservative, and farmer Romulus Manseau, Independent Liberal, all of Nicolet. The seat was held by Lucien Dubois from 1935 until his death last Nov. 8. Dubois won the 1940-45 election as an Independent Liberal. The 102 polls, spread throughout 45 parishes of the twin counties, opened at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. Barring unforseen snags, the returning officer had his staff lined up for a complete return by 9 p.m.

Prominent Liberals who campaigned for Trahan made no bones about the importance of the contest, the first test of the party strength in Quebec since Prime Minister St. Laurent assumed office and George Drew became national leader of the Progressive Conservatives.

Three Cabinet Ministers Heard

That the Liberals considered retention of the division vital was reflected in the fact that three cabinet ministers and 30 federal deputies from Quebec provinces took to the hustings in support of Trahan. Psychologically, defeat of the Liberal candidate might have an adverse effect on the party's chances in other parts of the country.

Transport Minister Chevrier arrived from Trahan's campaign wind-up and addressed a meeting at St. Leonard De'Yamaska.

Electors described the campaign as a straight St. Laurent - Drew fight. There was political name calling between the candidates but no mud slinging.

It was a cleanly fought battle by prearrangement between Trahan and Chapdelaine.

Chapdelaine, who was as confident of victory as Trahan, asked the voters to choose between himself and Trahan, not between the party leaders at Ottawa whom he described as "two men you probably will never see".

Manseau worked alone throughout. While his campaign was not intensive, he looked for strong support from several small parishes in Nicolet.

The Progressive Conservatives hoped that the vote would be split between Manseau and the official Liberal.

Most Voters Farmers

More than 85 per cent of the riding's 21,685 eligible voters are farmers. The two counties stretch some 95 miles along the south shore of the St. Lawrence River and about 40 miles inland at the broadest point from the river. The nearest large city to either county is Three Rivers. In the back parishes and concessions, where roads are not kept open in winter, snowmobiles and the old fashioned horse and cutter are the only means of transportation.

Vote in the 1945 general election was: Dubois, 7,973, Trahan, 6,658 and an Independent Conservative 944.

Nicolet and Yamaska were united under the Redistribution Act of 1933. Prior to that, in 1911, Nicolet was captured by a Conservative and retaken for the Liberals in 1917 by Arthur Trahan, father of the present candidate. From Confederation to 1904, it was Conservative. In the Confederation election, Yamaska returned a Liberal but a Conservative held it until 1891. A Liberal was returned from 1921 on.

Present standing in the House of Commons is: Liberals 124, Progressive Conservatives 67, C. C. F. 32; Social Credit 13, others 8, vacant 1 (Nicolet-Yamaska).

Red Terrorism in Malaya Retards Political Development for Long Time

Singapore, Feb. 7 (Reuters) — Chinese Communist terrorism in Malaya, although it started only six months ago, has turned the Malayan political clock back many years.

Progress towards self government and a common Malayan citizenship for all races has been halted. Malays have been turned against Chinese. Now the island of Penang wants to secede from the strife-torn federation of Malaya, less than a year after it came into being and economically, observers here believe Penang has a fair case for secession.

Politically, the predominantly Chinese population wants to retain British colonial protection.

But secession at this time could only be a step towards weakening the federation and a united Malaya, in the opinion of observers here.

Before the war, Penang, with Singapore and Malacca formed the colony of the Straits Settlements. The Settlement of Penang included a narrow strip on the mainland opposite the island, known as Province Wellesley.

The move for secession came into the open December 13 when a large audience packed the Penang Chinese town hall. By an overwhelming majority, the meeting resolved that the Settlement of Penang, adopting constitutional methods, should secede from the Federation of Malaya and revert to the Colony of the Straits Settlement.

A 15-man committee, headed by a prominent British businessman, D. A. MacKay, chairman of the Penang Chamber of Commerce, and including Chinese, Indian and Eurasian members, was appointed to refer the matter to London.

Malcolm MacDonald, commissioner general for the United Kingdom in southeast Asia, met the secession committee twice in January.

These events, in the opinion of Singapore observers, have largely been set in motion by the Chinese Communist terrorism.

Preoccupied with terrorism which has halted political progress and disrupted the federation's finances, the federal government has had little chance to show Penang the advantages which should accrue from federation and government by a strong central administration.

17 Fatalities During Weekend In East Canada

(By The Canadian Press)

Five men were killed in two highway mishaps on Saturday and Sunday to bring to 17 the total fatalities in Eastern Canada during the weekend.

All but two of the deaths recorded by The Canadian Press occurred in Ontario.

Searchers have failed to recover the bodies of Gordon Carleton, 39, of Gabri, Sask., and Terrence O'Connor, 26, of Cornwall, drowned when a light truck plunged into the canal near Cornwall.

Three Detroit men died of injuries Saturday night when their car left the highway near Chatham, Ont., and plunged into a drainage ditch. Dead are Frank Schwandt 55; his son, Marvin, 23, and Robert Navarre, 54.

In Edmundston, N.B., Bertille Cyr, seven, was killed by a truck when her sled ran onto a highway. Grazeilla Bourgeois, four months, died in a Montreal home of carbon monoxide fumes.

Frederick Schroeder, 11-year-old Ottawa boy, fell under the wheels of a snow-plow truck while skating on a road near his home and Gail Thompson, two, was scalded when she fell into a tub of hot water at her home near Wingham, Ont.

A young couple were found Saturday asphyxiated in a tourist cabin at West Hill, just east of Toronto. They were identified as Dora LaCombe, 20, who came to Toronto recently from Thessalon, and David Duncan Harnden, 22, of Toronto. Proprietor of the tourist camp said the couple had broken into the cabin.

In other Ontario accidents, Paul Marcott, 22, died at the wheel of a car which telescoped against a tree at Welland; Mrs. Harry Butler, elderly Toronto roomer, was trapped in a flaming house which she re-entered to get a purse, and Joseph Edwards, 59, of Sault Ste. Marie, died after being hit by a wedge in a steel mill.

Nirana J. Shaw, 87, of London, died Sunday following a fall earlier in the week, and Robert J. Scott, 68, died after being struck by a car on his way to work in a Hamilton factory.

James Irwin Galbraith, 66, of Kerwood, died in hospital shortly after being found in a ditch near Strathroy. It is believed he fell and broke his arm.

Car Industry Seeks Lower Costs To Keep Prices from Increasing

By DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, Feb. 7 (AP) — Car prices could level off this year—if the industry finds ways to cut production costs.

There may be no price cuts, but there could be a halt to continuing increases.

Lower manufacturing costs are not just a hope of the auto makers. Many prospective car buyers have been priced out of the market is generally accepted in trade sources. So an organized search for lower production costs is under way.

Through the use of more multiple-purpose tools and automatic machines the car makers have kept prices from soaring even higher. However, the rising cost of new tools has all but cancelled out the savings they make possible. But there will be more and more automatic operations in the car factories aimed at cutting production costs.

Meanwhile the industry's supplier may find the going a bit tougher this year as the car makers begin increasing pressure upon them to hold down materials and parts prices.

Many auto makers, seeking production volume in the immediate post-war months, had to pay premium prices for the materials they needed. This was particularly true in the case of the special-type sheet steel they needed for body-making.

This year most of them expect to get enough steel and other material to build more cars and trucks than have ever been built in one year. The probable 1949 output has been estimated at close to 6,000,000 vehicles.

A big problem in any drive for production economics is that the industry must keep its engineering research going.

Many in industry circles believe major manufacturing economies must begin with a reduction in over-all weight of the present model cars. There has been much talk about weight reductions in the post-war autos but actually little has been accomplished in that direction. Many of the cars are heavier than they were in the pre-war era.

Chrysler will announce prices on its new models in the next few weeks. After that there are likely to be fewer and smaller advances.

RETIRE GRACEFULLY

Huntsville, Feb. 7 (CP)—Student nurses from Colombia, Venezuela, Chile, China, Japan and Formosa, together with their Canadian colleagues, visited here during the weekend for a ski - jaunt. Both skis and snowshoes mystified the girls from other lands at first and several, after a few spills, retired gracefully to the fireside.

Jeweler Plans To Collect Luxury Tax

Pembroke, Feb. 7 (CP).—Geo. J. Simpson, whose refusal to collect the government's 25 per cent luxury tax has already brought him fines of nearly $2,800, said yesterday he planned to start collecting the tax starting today.

Simpson said the "preponderance of power is on the other side" but he still plans to appeal his conviction on 10 charges. He said he had refused to charge the tax because he did not want to be unpaid tax collector for the government.

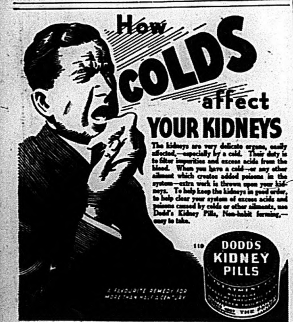
In addition to what he already has been fined, Simpson must pay $2,497 in tax arrears and appear in court Thursday to face an 11th charge for failure to collect $2,177 in tax in the period Dec. 15 to Jan. 15.

Rose to be Producer, Harry Rapf Dies

Los Angeles, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Another of Hollywood's Old Guard is dead.

Harry Rapf, 68, who, in half a century, rose from manager of a minstrel show to a producer of top-budget movies, died yesterday of a heart condition.

A producer for 20 years, Rapf stepped up a notch in 1941 when he was made an executive producer of Metro Goldwn Mayer. He produced films starring most of the big names of two decades. John Barrymore, Norma Shearer, Jean Harlow and Marie Dressler were a few.



How COLDS affect YOUR KIDNEYS

The kidneys are very delicate organs, easily affected,—especially by a cold. Their duty is to filter impurities and excess acids from the blood. When you have a cold—or any other ailment which creates added poisons in the system—extra work is thrown upon your kidneys. To help keep the kidneys in good order, to help clear your system of excess acids and poisons caused by colds or other ailments, use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Non-habit forming,—easy to take.

New OLIVER "77"

A New Model of a Famous Tractor

Oliver begins its second century with the introduction of a new fleet of quality farm tractors—including the new 2-3 plow "77", a tractor with advanced farm features that make field work faster and more efficient than ever.

The smooth, brisk valve-in-head engine of the "77" is a six—and you have a choice of three types for the fuel you prefer: high compression for gasoline, "KD" for tractor fuels, and a diesel that will be available later.

The "77" will set a new performance mark in the operation of power take-off machines with its direct drive unit . . . a new economy record with its 6-forward-speed transmission in the Oil Miser case, Fuel Miser governor, and the basic interchangeability of Oliver's full line of tractor-mounted tools with all other new Row Crop models. Wheels on Row Crop models are interchangeable, too—with a choice of cast iron or stamped steel.

Whisper In The Night

BY MARIE BLIZARD

The game was over early. Gwen yawned. "Ready for bed? We don't weep late hours here."

It was only ten. Rosalie got up and glanced once more at the door. "I was . . . rather expecting Mr. Ramsley," she said.

Another girl, Clare Barnett, who had been playing bridge with them looked up with an amused smile. "Cecil only came today, didn't he?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Then I doubt if he'll be here tonight. Mrs. Rutherford won't let him out from under her thumb for days. That woman is a positive martinet."

Rosalie said, "I think I am ready for bed."

"If you're swimming early with Luther Kane and dancing late with George, you'll have a busy day."

"I expect they'll all be busy from now on." What she meant was that she meant all her days to be full — and none of them romantic. She meant to bestow her sweetest smiles on the rotund George Frames and the skinny Luther Kanes. She meant to keep very, very busy with them. For she had learned, so soon, that she could not trust her romantic inclinations with young men. She didn't like it very much, but she did admit that she was a silly school girl, falling head over heels in love with Norman one week and letting herself be disappointed because a blond boy who couldn't "get away for days" had let her down.

Well, tomorrow was another day and she knew how to deal with that.

Sand dripped lazily through Rosalie's fingers. Her eyes, back of her big black glasses, squinted at the sun directly overhead. Her voice was sleepy:

"When I was a little girl I used to paint postal cards. They looked like this. The flowers were very pink, the trees very green. I never knew there really was a place like this."

"This is much better than any picture card you may have painted," Luther Kane answered. His length, like hers, was stretched on the sand. He was very lean and very brown. His homely face seemed less homely to her than it had the night before. He had a crooked smile and a perpetual twinkle in his eyes. Rosalie labelled him "nice."

She said, "What has this that those superior art jobs of mine did not have?"

"I never saw a postal card of a beach scene with a nymph in a white suit who looked like you."

The nymph in the white suit thought that over. She looked at her nice, slim straight legs, the gentle curves of her figure under her white knitted suit. She would never have thought of herself as a nymph. It was fun to hear it.

She said, "If I blush, I'm not blushing. I mean I will be flushing with pleasure."

Luther lit a cigarette. "The implication is, I believe, that you are pleased with compliments?"

Rosalie nodded. "But not unaccustomed to them." She was about to tell him that she could count the compliments of a lifetime on one hand. But that would not be part of the new Rosalie. Rosalie the glamorous girl. She said, "Every real compliment makes you forget all the ones before."

"That's rather clever. Do you mind if I use it? I write, you know."

"Stories?"

"Stories. Tell me yours."

"Nothing interesting has ever happened to me," she said, after a moment. It was true, she thought.

"Ever been married?"

She shook her head. "Almost, but not quite. Thank goodness!"

"And why, 'Thank goodness'? Don't you know that marriage is the best of all states? That there is no continuity in living unless it is the continuity between a man and a woman?"

Rosalie sat up. "Do you really believe that? Do you believe in romance, too?"

"Look here, young lady, don't take that tone. And don't tell me you believe everything you read in books. What's romance got to do with marriage?"

"Everything, I should say," Rosalie answered simply.

"This is romance." He waved a lean arm to indicate the blue above and about them. "Romance is something to experience and value at its true worth."

"And what is that?"

"Something put away and forgotten except when you want to take it out of your memory and remember pleasantly."

"You're a funny person."

"And you're only a little girl, headed for a heartbreak if you continue to feel that way. You'd better get over your romanticisms. You've got an awful lot ahead of you. All beautiful women have .. if they learn to use the charm they have along with it. Then they add knowledge, and with that comes power."

Rosalie lost the trend of her thought. Luther Kane told her she was beautiful. No man had ever told her that before. Norman .. Norman had paid her compliments, but ..

Luther was talking. "You ought to look around and select a likely husband from your hordes of admirers. A man with a sense of responsibility, a man who is going places in the world, a man who loves you. Having him love you and appreciate you will supply the kind of romance that lasts."

Hordes of admirers. Rosalie thought about hers. Terry and Norman. Cecil? It was already after four and Cecil hadn't even bothered to see how she was getting on.

Impatience with Cecil sharpened her voice. "Get married and wipe little noses and say, 'Darling, what did you do at the office today?' Romance!"

"The next word is bah! You want to hold hands in the moonlight and sigh and whisper sweet nothings, don't you?"

"Yes. I'd love it."

"Lady, it's a date, but you'll have to promise to forget me. Or better still, promise to take some good advice from an old gentleman."

"I'll listen to it."

"Good. When you select your beaux, get 'em young, poetical or middle-aged. Pick the kind that will sit at your feet. Pose like a lady in a photograph. Distribute sweet smiles and murmur—don't talk. Collect 'em and after awhile you'll have had so much romance, you'll take the first he-man who comes along and tells you where to get off."

"It's not a very pretty picture," she said after awhile. The idea appealed to her but she had no intention of telling him so.

"You're quite sure that your writing isn't advice to the lovelorn?"

He grinned. "It could be. With a pan like mine all I ever get from the girls is the lowdown about how they feel about the other fellow. I'm fated to be Cyrano."

"Who was Cyrano?"

He nodded his head sadly. "I forgot. Why should a gorgeous gal be educated, too? You'd better get some of the boy friends of yours to read poetry to you. You'd love listening."

Rosalie couldn't make up her mind just what Kane meant. If he was joshing her, he was doing it in a kindly way.

"What I'd really love right now is to swim."

"A swim it is. And then, how about tea with me?"

Rosalie looked at his wrist watch. "Can't. Gwen Lawrence is taking me to some one's house for tea and then I'll have to rush back and dress for this evening. Mr. Frame will call for me about six-thirty."

He pulled her to her feet. "I do not consider George Frane a formidable rival. So, I shall break in upon you wherever you are dancing and snatch you from his arms."

"Race you to the float," she called over her shoulder.

"This is the next best thing to a desert island," he informed her a few minutes later on the float. "What ten men would you like to take to a "desert island?" he asked as he gestured toward a figure on the bench in white shorts, a striped blazer. A figure with soft blond hair blowing as he waved a tennis racquet at them. "You are being paged."

Rosalie snapped the strap of her bathing cap under her chin. "I'll be back," she said, "It's Cecil Ramsley."

Oh, she'd be back. If it took Cecil more than twenty-four hours to find her, she meant to give him little time.

"Hello," she said when she came up on the beach. She meant to add something, but Cecil's smile — a rueful one —was disarming.

"Hello," he said. "Jove! What a picture you are! Rosalie, you must never wear anything but a bathing suit."

It was quite the right remark. Rosalie's annoyance fled before it.

"Is everything all right? Are you quite comfortable here?"

"It's perfectly grand, Cecil. I have, as you see, already annexed a beau."

"That wasn't what I meant. But I shall give him a run, as you American say, for his money. Tell me everything you've been doing."

Rosalie thought that was a peculiar way to start a conversation. She disregarded it. "Have you been playing tennis?"

"No. I've been working. I'm on my way to tennis now."

Rosalie waited for him to ask her to join him. He said, "I can get away tomorrow. Would you like to picnic?"

She said, "Tomorrow, Cecil?" Her voice rode up on the words with many questions in it.

Cecil's eyes clouded with perplexity, wondering what he had done.

Ask Russians Stop Target Practice Along Corridor

Berlin, Feb. 7 (AP)—The three western allies in occupied Germany demanded the Russians stop target practice by fighter planes which started Sat., just west of Berlin along a corridor used by the air lift.

Oral protests were lodged with the Russian representative at the Berlin air safety centre. The firing, at towed targets, was branded a violation of four-power safety rules.

An American air liaison officer said the Russians took no immediate action to stop the firing after the protest was delivered.

Loaned Battleship Returns to Britain But Day Late

Rosyth, Scotland, Feb. 7 (AP)—The battleship Royal Sovereign slipped into port 24 hours late Friday under a Russian crew returning here to Britain after five years in the Soviet fleet.

Russian sailors standing at stiff attention lined the decks of the 32-year-old British vessel as she moved into the harbor to be turned into scrap.

The Royal Sovereign's arrival ended a night of anxiety for British naval authorities. She had been scheduled to rendezvous in the Firth of Forth with a British destroyer at dawn yesterday, but failed to appear or radio an explanation. The Admiralty said today she apparently was delayed by heavy weather.

The 29,150-ton battle wagon was loaned to Russia during the war.

The customary 21-gun salute was omitted as the big ship reached Rosyth. British authorities explained her heavy guns were removed before the Royal Sovereign left Murmansk.

Asked whether this meant the guns had been left in Russia, the Admiralty said the vessel's armament is all aboard, but that some of it has been demounted and stored away.

The battleship's Russian commander advised officials he would receive nobdy aboard until his men had a chance to clean up the ship tonight. Then he radioed a request for a ticket to tomorrow's international rugby match in Edinburgh between Scotland and Wales.

The Royal Sovereign still bore in big red letters the name "Archangelsk," which the Soviet Navy gave her when it borrowed the ship in 1944. The Red Star, hammer and sickle of the USSR flew at her masthead.

Three submarines which the Russians also are returning to Britain are still at sea, along with two transports which will carry the Russian sailors back to Murmansk.

Return of the vessels held by Russia is part of a simultaneous transfer in which the Soviet Navy is receiving its share of the defeated Italian fleet, including the 23,500-ton battleship Giulo Cesare.

Education Chief Reason for Rise In Govt. Costs

Chicago, Feb. 7 (AP) — The cost of state government in the United States is going up by more than $2,250,000,000 compared with the 1948 fiscal year.

Virtually all 48 States this year are asking for or already have recorded high-spending programs.

An Associated Press survey today showed that the total budget requests or grants for the 1949 fiscal period in 44 States come to $11,524,200,000.

The comparable figure for the previous period is $9,280,200,000. This represents grants by 43 States for 1947 or 1948 periods.

Education is the chief reason for the increases in more than half of the States. At least 26 States find their biggest single money problem is for higher teacher salaries, for more state money to help local schools, and for improvement of State-aided colleges and universities.

NEW
EVERBEARING RUNNERLESS
DWARF BUSH
STRAWBERRY

Fruits from seed the first year: easily grown. Bush form, about one foot high. No runners. Hardy perennial. Bears abundantly from early summer till killing frost. Has an intense luscious flavor and aroma like that of wild strawberry; rich and juicy. Neat compact bushy growth makes it highly ornamental as well as valuable in vegetable, fruit or flower garden, borders, etc. A showy pot plant too. Though smaller than commercial strawberries Mont Rosa is the largest fruiting of any variety we know from seed, surpassing the popular Solemacher and similar types. Its unique bush form and exquisite flavor place it in a class by itself for every home garden. Seed supply is limited. Order early. (Pkt. 25c) (3 pkts. 50c) postpaid.

Certain Evidence Against Carefoot Suppressed--Keays

Admits Taking Report From Police Office Files

Giving testimony for the second day in the Royal Commission investigating charges of fraud, perjury and maladministration of justice against B. C. Donnan, crown attorney, and seven officers of the provincial police, Constable J. E. Keays today charged that Mr. Donnan had assisted in permitting Ernest M. Carefoot to practise without a licence.

He said that Mr. Donnan had suppressed certain evidence and prevented it from being used against Carefoot at the time he was tried two years ago on a charge of false pretences.

In giving evidence Keays asked that a copy of instructions from the Attorney-General's Department for former Constable Elmer Bowen to investigate Carefoot be produced in court. Keays had read a report signed by Constable Bowen but which he said had been made out by himself.

Report Taken From Files

Mr. Hope, commission counsel, here interrupted to ask where the officer had secured Constable Bowen's report on the Carefoot matter.

"I took it from the files at the district headquarters," was the answer.

"It is a very serious matter when a constable helps himself from an official file," was Mr. Hope's comment.

Mr. Hope went on to say that the copy of the letter authorizing Constable Bowen to investigate the Carefoot case could not be found. "A search was made for the letter but it had disappeared," he said.

Recalling a conversation which he had had with Mr. Donnan regarding Mr. Carefoot's claim that he had a treatment for the cure of cancer, and whether anybody had been cured, Keays said Mr. Donnan had replied, "There is only one man that I know, that is a Mr. Blue at Madoc."

Conferred with Robertson

The matter of investigating Mr. Carefoot had been turned over to S. Gordon Robertson, assistant crown attorney because Carefoot was a client of Mr. Donnan in civil practice. Keays had conferred with Mr. Robertson with respect to laying charges against Carefoot and had been told not to bother with the aqua vitae water as "you'll get Bryson (Mr. Donnan) in trouble."

Also referring to Mr. Donnan's interference in the Carefoot matter, Keays recalled an observation which he said had been made by Miss Mary Butler, then justice of the peace, when a search warrant was being made out for Mr. Carefoot's residence. He said Miss Butler had said, "It's about time they caught up with him. People have been wondering how he had kept on so long."

Under Influence of Liquor

Despite the fact that it had been considered possible that narcotics would be found in Mr. Carefoot's residence R. C. M. P. officers had not taken part in the search because "they were under the influence of liquor, one with a black eye."

Keays claimed that if authorities had investigated the matter of the R. C. M. P. officers being drunk at the time he reported the fact he would not have found himself in the middle of an R. C. M. P. investigation two years later.

Here Mr. Hope interrupted to say that the matter had been investigated and that no action had been taken against the R.C.M.P. officers.

Continuing Keays said the R.C.M. P. officers had been notified of the impending raid on Carefoot's residence. However, owing to the condition of the officers he had felt advised to proceed without their assistance.

Tells of Raid

Keays then told of the raid on Mr. Carefoot's residence and of Mr. Carefoot being arrested and taken to the O.P.P. office. After Mr. Carefoot's arrest, Mrs. Carefoot had called Mr. Donnan and had told him of the arrest asking "what was he going to do about it."

The constable went on to say that there had been no application by Mr. Carefoot, or Mr. Carefoot's family, for counsel, but half an hour after Mr. Carefoot's arrest, he had been called by Malcolm Robb, local solicitor.

Keays asked Mr. Robb on whose authority he was at the O.P.P. office during an investigation.

The reply by Mr. Robb had been that "bail had been set for Mr. Carefoot at $2,000 and he wanted release of his client."

Had Arranged Bail

Keays submitted that Mr. Donnan had secured counsel for Mr. Carefoot and had arranged for bail to be set at $2,000.

The witness went to some length to describe the Abram electrical machines by which Mr. Carefoot claimed to be able to cure cancer. He said that Mr. Donnan had advised Mr. Carefoot to "smash" his machines, this warning being given some time before the investigation took place.

Photostatic copies of several letters were produced by Keays. One of them was from Dr. Carefoot to the College of Physicians asking re-instatement without medical examination. The letter had stated that many people from the prairies and also local people were asking to be treated.

A photostat copy of a letter from the cancer commission to Mr. Carefoot, dated Nov. 1945, was read, the letter asking Mr. Carefoot to appear before the Commission to explain his alleged cure of cancer. He said Mr. Carefoot had not answered the letter.

Hepburn Letter Exhibited

Keays also produced a letter from Mr. Carefoot to Mitchell Hepburn, former premier of Ontario, in which it was claimed that aqua vitae water from well ae Foxboro, were a prophylactic against cancer. Testimonials from persons allegedy cured of cancer by drinking the water were included in the letter.

"This letter was produced at the preliminary hearing but was not used at Carefoot's trial," pointed out Mr. Keays.

Keays said there had been 600,000 shares in the Belleville Yqua Vitae Water Company, Ltd., and that Mr. Donnan had owned "a sizeable block of the shares".

Here Keays re-affirmed his statement made on Monday that he was not interested in the crown attorney, nor in the powers that be—he was merely trying to clear his name.

"Oh yes, I know what they will say about me, they will say that I am crazy, but I have taken care of that too," declared Keays.

Psychiatrist Present

He here intimated that a Dr. T. S. Tennant, psychiatrist, from Langstaff, Ontario, would testify as to his mental capacity.

(Dr. Tennant was present in the audience)

The letter from Mr. Carefoot to Premier Hepburn also held forth aqua vitae as a cure for diabetes and for infantile paralysis. Yet he said he would have evidence given that Mr. Carefoot was now suffering from diabetes.

Carefoot had asked that the government take over the water wells at Foxboro "so the people would have the benefit." The reply through the department of health was to the effect that more attention was being turned to preventive medicine and tha they had only academic interest in Mr. Carefoot's offer.

Keays then went on to show that 20 years ago Mr. Carefoot had sworn by radio activity as a cure for cancer, then in 1946 he had put forth aqua vitae as a cure. Again in 1946 when he appeared before the cancer commission he was again upholding radio activity through the medium of herbs and liquids as a cure for cancer.

"There had then been no mention made of aqua vitae as a cancer cure," he said.

"This inquiry is not interested in the merits or demerits of the curative powers of certain measures," pointed out Commissioner Mackay. He said the Commission was not interested unless these cures could be shown to be relevant to the charges against Mr. Donnan.

Had to Show Fraud

In reply Keays stated that in order to prove Mr. Donnan's implication with Mr. Carefoot, he had to show that there was a fraud.

Keays had explained Carefoot's theory that all diseases had certain vibrations and that like vibrations set up by herbs or liquids would counteract the disease.

On being questioned regarding the matter of relevancy Keays pointed out that the above information was available to Crown officials following investigation of the Carefoot matter, but that it had not been presented at the Carefoot trials.

This concluded the morning session.

The afternoon session of the probe on Monday brought a dramatic touch when Keays came to that part of his resignation letter which alleged that Sgt. Stringer gave false testimony to a coroner's jury investigating the death of John Miki of Navan, Ont., in June, 1940. Sgt. Stringer shot and killed Miki after the transient had fatally shot Provincial Constable Harold Dent.

PENMAN STRIKE MAY SPREAD TO BRANTFORD, AYR

Paris Council Wants Negotiator Appointed

Paris, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP) — Developments today in the strike at Penmans' plants here included a threat that the strike might spread to Brantford and Ayr and a request from town council for appointment of a negotiator in an effort to bring an end to the strike now in its fourth week.

Kent Rowley, Canadian director and international representative of the United Textile Workers of America, Monday night threatened to strike the Ayr plant of Penmans, and the Watson's plant in Brantford, a subsidiary of Penmans, in support of the Paris walkout.

Paris council passed the following motion: "That the Paris town council by means of registered letter request Minister of Labor Daly to demand that the Penmans Company, Limited, of Paris and the certified bargaining agency, United Textile Workers, meet him at his earliest possible convenience and appoint a negotiator to bring a peaceful settlement to the strike situation in Paris. A reply is requested."

North Atlantic Powers Confer on Alliance, May Concern Norway

Washington, Feb. 8 — (AP)—A meeting of ambassadors of countries negotiating a North Atlantic defence alliance was called today in the midst of American discussions with Norway about the proposed pact.

The State Department announced a meeting with the North Atlantic powers — Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg — would be held at 3 P. M. EST, this afternoon.

Purpose Not Mentioned

Nothing was said as to the purpose, but it was believed State Secretary Acheson wanted to discuss the questions submitted by Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange of Norway at a conference Monday.

Lange is here for discussions designed to determine, in effect, the price of admission for Norway into the North Atlantic Security Alliance.

Russia has been exerting pressure on Norway not to enter the alliance.

The Norwegian government delegation, it was learned, has questioned the state department about what protection, if any, Norway could expect while it is considering the negotiating membership in the alliance.

The meeting of the ambassadors of the western countries is the first since Jan. 14.

After talking with Acheson for 32 minuaes, Lange and his assistants went into a 2½-hour conference with top officials who are actually negotiating the alliance.

Lange came to Washington to inquire personally what obligations Norway would have to assume in order to join the defence arrangement. It now is being negotiated by representatives of the

J.F. Pringle, CNR Executive Officer, Dies in Toronto; Well Known in City

James Farrand Pringle, born June 3, 1855, began his railway career in 1907 with the engineering department of the National Transcontinental Railway, now a part of the C.N.R. system. During the First World War he rose to the rank of major and was one of the officers in charge of rehabilitating the Halifax docks after the great explosion.

He began his C.N.R. service at Montreal in 1919 and continued there until 1923, when he was made transportation engineer to the Chief of Transportation.

Late in 1925 he was transferred to Toronto as assistant general superintendent of Transportation. Following Mexico service from 1930 to 1932 he returned to Toronto, where he remained until 1943.

He then became vice-president and general manager of the Atlantic Region for slightly more than a year, until he was appointed to similar positions with the Central Region with headquarters at Toronto.

Surviving are: his widow, the former Mildred Cook, of Kingston; a daughter, Mrs. J. L. Wright, Aurora, Ont.; and four sons, James F., London; Robert A., Belleville, Ont.; John, Toronto, and W. A., Côuteau, Que.

LATE J. F. PRINGLE

Funeral service will be held Wednesday evening, 7:30, at St. Clement's Church, Toronto, pallbearers being his four sons, his son-in-law, A. J. Lomas and D. H. Ferguson.

Honorary pallbearers, R. C. Vaughan, B. Wheelwright, H. A. Palmer and J. A. Scythes.

Interment at Kingston on arrival of special train leaving Toronto, Thursday morning.

HYDRO POLICY MAY BE CHIEF ISSUE IN LEGISLATURE

Kennedy Puts Finishing Touches on Throne Speech for Opening Thursday

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP)— The Progressive Conservative government's electric power development policy shapes up as one of the chief issues of the first session of Ontario's new legislature, opening Thursday.

Political circles expect the C. C. F. and Liberal Parties, numerically stronger after the Ontario general election June 7, will accuse the government of failure to develop power fast enough to meet the demand.

However, government sources say they feel developments have taken the wind out of the sails of hydro critics. The power scarcity of late fall and early winter, when power was cut off in many Ontario communities for fixed periods each day, has been greatly relieved by an increased flow of water in the Ottawa valley and in Quebec, where Ontario purchased some power.

The speech from the throne likely will be short. Premier Kennedy finished polishing it up Monday. It is expected to forecast some amendments to existing legislation, but not any new major policies.

Speculation on the throne speech naturally considers the nature of the administration. Premier Kennedy, who entered the legislature 30 years ago, is leading the government through his first — probably his only—session as leader.

Get-up-and-Go Spirit of Pioneers Needed to Develop Vast Northland

—STEFANSSON

By ERWIN FRICKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Regina, Feb. 8 — (CP) — A heathy shot of the get-up-and-go spirit which spurred pioneers into pushing Canada's frontier across the Western plains and mountain ranges in the days of the Old West has been prescribed for present-day Canadians.

The "prescription" came from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, famed, Arctic explorer, who suggested in an interview it was the only answer to the successful development of Canada's vast northland.

But the "go north" call was not directed at everyone.

Although flourishing cities of from 10,000 to 40,000 persons could be expected, the pioneers of the north should not be afraid of the cold and be prepared for a different means of livelihood.

The still-vigorous 60-year-old author and lecturer — here with his attractive young wife to gather data for an Arctic encyclopedia — said "some Canadians have a defeatist attitude about colonizing the north."

The Manitoba-born explorer said the extension of railroads should proceed in the same pioneering spirit as the old Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific railways, and the Canadian Pacific Railway, were built.

Certain cereals could be grown as far north as the Arctic Circle. Fishing was indicated in other places.

There were millions of acres of grassland where huge ranches in the style of the Old West could be operated. Herds of caribou, muskox and reindeer could provide a meat as edible as beef.

Mr. Stefansson said people of Soviet Russia has self-supporting Arctic communities of 10,000 to 40,000 people.

"If Soviet Russia can make a go at it," why can't we?" he asked.

PLAN TO EXTEND CONTROLS PLACED BEFORE COMMONS

Price Ceilings Will be Asked on All Products Now Under Control

Ottawa, Feb. 8. (CP)—The government's plans for extension of still-existing wartime controls were placed before the Commons Monday night as a fresh debate threatened to erupt on the thorny question of emergency powers.

Speaking on a motion preliminary to the control legislation, Finance Minister Abbott said the administration plans to ask for extension of price ceilings on all products now under control—flour, bread, butter, molasses, sugar, certain fresh and canned fruits and vegetables and some fruit juices.

In addition, rental controls will be continued for another year and the Prices Board retained for a similar period.

Trade Minister Howe said he would ask for the continuation of controls on priorities, steel and lumber.

The developing debate produced from M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, a demand that the government reconsider its policy on general price controls and subsidies with a view to stemming the still-rising cost of living. The value of the dollar had shrunk to 75 cents in three years.

Joseph Harris (PC-Toronto Danforth) urged that controls be swept away except for those which would be necessary to cushion the shock of a price decline which he claimed already was making its appearance.

Turn Over to Provinces

Mr. Abbott said the Control Bill will include provision for the turning over of rent controls to any provinces which want to assume responsibility for them.

HOUSE APPROVES NFLD. ENTRY INTO CONFEDERATION

Legislation Assured Of Safe Passage

Ottawa, Feb. 8 — (CP)—Legislation providing for Newfoundland's union with Canada appeared today to be assured of a safe and a comparatively easy passage through the Commons.

Although there may be some arguments on details of the terms of union, leaders of the major parties in the Commons made it clear Monday that they approve of the island's entry into Confederation as a 10th province.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, initiating a debate on a resolution to the union bill, said Confederation with Newfoundland had been made "inevitable," both by geography and by historic developments. He hoped the House would demonstrate that Confederation was desirable "as a lesson to the whole world on what can be accomplished by men of good will."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said:

"Speaking on behalf of all members of the Progressive Conservative party in this House I wish to welcome the introduction of such measures as will complete this union upon terms satisfactory to the people of Newfoundland and to the people of Canada . . ."

M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, said his party joined in welcoming Newfoundland to Confederation. Newfoundland's natural wealth and the sterling quality of her people would make her doubly welcome.

Support Principle

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he supported the principle of the government's Confederation resolution "without any qualification." Both Canada and Newfoundland were bound to gain much from the union.

Other speakers in the debate which will be continued today included Defence Minister Claxton, A. M. Nicholson (CCF — Mackenzie), G. H. Castleden — (CCF — Yorkhton) and Clarie Gillis (CCF — Cape Breton South).

Polish War Veteran Dies of Injuries

Brantford, Feb. 8. (CP) — Warclaw Pyszynski, 31, Polish war veteran seriously injured in a collision between a Lake Erie and northern radial and an automobile Saturday, died in hospital Monday night without regaining consciousness.

The collision occurred at the Maple Grove level crossing south of there. Pyszynski, a farm worker at Vanessa, was a passenger in a car driven by Harold J. Schooley, 40, of Lasalette, also in hospital with less serious injuries.

DEER HERDS INCREASING

Fort Erie, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Herds of deer are increasing in the highly - populated Niagara peninsula. A survey Monday counted some 35 bucks and does roaming in the Fort Erie area alone. A herd of 12 deer were seen feeding in one meadow.

Life Sentence Imposed on Cardinal Bitterly Assailed in Non-Red World

By ALVIN SSTEINKOPF

London, Feb. 8 — (AP)—Leaders throughout the non - communist world bitterly denounced the life imprisonment sentence imposed upon Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty today by a people's court of communist - dominated Hungary.

Comment ranged from "A savage communist attack on the Christian church" to a "travesty of justice."

In many countries, bishops called on Roman Catholics for special prayers.

Pope Pius knelt in prayer in his private chapel at the Vatican City, Vatican sources said, after hearing the news "with most profound sorrow."

The pope will take the first occasion to protest "in most definitive terms," Vatican informants reported.

In Germany, the Archbishop of Trier, Dr. Fredrich Rudolf Bornewasser, and the Archbishop of Paderborn, Laurentius Jaeger, called for special prayers.

"This trial is nothing but a part of a mean communist lying campaign against the Catholic church," Archbishop Bornewasser said in a pastoral letter.

The Archbishop of Paderborn withheld comment explaining "If I were to issue a strong statement, all the Catholics in my diocese would be subject to Soviet reprisal." Part of his diocese is in the Soviet zone of Germany.

In Austria, Andre Rohrbacher, Archbishop of Salzburg, said the sentence was not what we expected, we will not give the Hungarian government the honor of our protest."

Mindszenty Given Life Imprisonment On Treason Charge

Six Co-defendants Convicted And Given Various Terms

Budapest, Feb. 8. (CP)—The "People's Court" which today sentenced Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to life imprisonment for treason has ordered the sentence to be reviewed by the Supreme People's Tribunal after finding "alleviating circumstances".

The order followed an appeal by the Cardinal and his lawyers against the sentence, which also calls for confiscation of his property.

The six co-defendants of the Cardinal also were convicted, five of them on charges of treason or trying to overthrow the republic, and all but one appealed. Their sentences, which also will be reviewed, ranged from life imprisonment down to three years. All were subjected to loss of their fortunes or their jobs, and suspension of their political rights.

The Cardinal was specifically convicted of treason, trying to overthrow the government, and of speculation in foreign currencies, including dollars he was said by the prosecution to have obtained from the United States and the Vatican.

Extenuating Circumstances

The court said these were in the extenuating circumstances in the Cardinal's case:

CONSERVATIVES WIN BY-ELECTION IN CLOSE BATTLE

Renaud Chapdelaine Elected by 296 Over Liberal Opponent

Nicolet, Que., Feb. 8. (CP)—The rural constituency of Nicolet-Yamaska, long a Liberal stronghold, was handed back to the Progressive Conservatives today by a man who wasn't born when his party was last successful in the St. Lawrence River riding.

In a close battle that brought out a heavy vote, Renaud Chapdelaine, 37-year-old Nicolet lawyer, won Monday's federal by-election over Paul Trahan, Liberal, and Romulus Manseau, a farmer who campaigned as an Independent-Liberal.

The result brought the total opposition strength in the Commons to 120, against the Liberals' 124. The Progressive Conservatives have 68 members, the C.C.F. 32, the Social Credit Party 12 and other minor parties 8.

Mr. Chapdelaine had a plurality of only 296 in complete returns for the 103 polls announced by returning officer Charles Edouard Villeneuve.

Two Pretty Girls Allegedly Used As Robbery 'Bait'

Toronto, Feb. 8. (CP)—Police said two pretty girls were used as "bait" early today when two men were assaulted and robbed.

John Coady and Jack Purdue said they were in a central restaurant when a blonde and a brunette approached them with the suggestion that they get some beer. The two men told police the girls led them out to the street where an automobile pulled up and two men jumped out.

"Where are you going with my sister?" one demanded.

Police said Coady was knocked to the sidewalk, then picked up and dragged into the car with his friend. About $20 was stolen from his wallet before he was rolled out of the car into the snow.

Purdue was tossed out of the car later but was not robbed or assaulted.

Police have arrested two men and charged them with assault and robbery.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Feb. 8 (CP)—Synopsis: A disturbance west of Lake Michigan this morning will move across Ontario during the night. Ahead of it today southerly winds will bring milder temperatures, possibly light rainshowers in southern Ontario tonight. Once the dusturbance has passed, winds will shift to north and temperatures will drop again. Mostly clear and colder weather is indicated for Wednesday. Another storm, the third in four days is approaching the British Columbia Coast. By Thursday it should reach Ontario.

Report S. Africa To Sell Gold Over World Level

London, Feb. 8. (AP)— The Financial Times says today South Africa has decided to sell gold at a price above the world official level because of "pressing foreign exchange difficulties".

The Bank of England declined officially to make a statement on the sale.

Commenting unofficially however a bank spokesman supported the Financial Times view.

"The gold wasn't bought here," he said. "The London bullion trading firm through whom the sale was made, merely acted as a go-between and took a commission in dollars. That would mean the gold was sold either to someone in the United States or possibly South America."

Anglo-Canadian Trade Picture Causes Concern

London, Feb. 8. (CP)—Sir E. H. Gilpin, chairman of an 11-man British Engineering Mission that toured Canada last Fall, said today the Anglo-Canadian trade picture offered a threat to the "whole structure of the Commonwealth."

"It is no exaggeration to say that the limitation of purchases from Canada, if long continued, might eventually threaten the whole structure of the Commonwealth," the Missions leader said in a statement to appear in the British Board of Trade Journal, Feb. 12.

He said the government-appointed mission, during its seven-week Canadian tour, did everything within its power to explain why, "in a world more and more tightly-laced in the strait-jacket of bilateral trade," the trading accounts of two nations must come into some sort of balance.

"The Canadian sees with puzzled amazement, our trade agreements with nations which spend their energy reviling us."

"It is difficult for a Canadian to understand why, when his country has made such immense sacrifices for us, we should be upsetting the whole economy of the Dominion by reducing our purchases of the products of its farms and forests."

Change Trading Ways

Both countries have to change their trading ways. The Mission found that Canada has a virile and growing industry but that it imported at least £100,000,000 (about $400,000,000) worth of capital equipment each year.

"The United States is now very entrenched. Its nearness to the Canadian market, its expert salesmanship, its great manufacturing potential make its competition exceedingly powerful.

"But there is a potential market, a promising, stable and increasing market for a wide variety of United Kingdom equipment."

In its report, submitted to the British Board of Trade, the Mission recommended:

1. Young Canadian engineers should be invited to put in a term at United Kingdom engineering works as a form of post-graduate training.
2. U. K. manufacturers should arrange to visit Canada in the Spring of 1949 to explore the market and arrange for effective representation.
3. Every section of the British Engineering industry should take early steps to study the Canadian market for its products.
4. Specialist representatives should be maintained in Canada by the British Engineering industry.

PICTON

Carnival Staged At Opening Of Community Rink

Picton—The Athol community open-air rink at Cedar Park, the Outlet, was officially opened with a carnival Friday night. Despite inclement weather, there was a good attendance. Many tickets had been sold in advance and net proceeds were around $200. This will defray expenses of lighting and pipes for water, other expenditures having been covered from money raised by a canvass which netted around $500.

The large, well-lighted rink saw skaters of all ages in action, some in costume.

In Bruce Martin's pavilion, Davies' orchestra provided music for dancing.

Door Prizes Given

The door prizes were a bushel of alfalfa seed, won by Morley Handley, High Shore Road, and a permanent wave, won by Miss Marion Mikel teacher at Point Petre.

A number of prizes were awarded for costumes. Gene Cole, won that for best men's outfit; Miss Mikel for the ladies; Roger Brummell for children.

TRENTON MAY HAVE ARTIFICIAL ARENA

Trenton will have a $50,000 artificial ice arena if present tentative plans of the Kinsmen Club of that town materialize. The clubmen will bring the matter to the attention of the town council at the next meeting.

Selection of a suitable site must be made preferably near the Trenton Cold Storage so that facilities of that plant may be used. The Kinsmen are hoping for grants from council and the town's industries. It is felt that expanding recreational activities of the community warrant the construction of the proposed arena.

AIR FORCE ABANDONS HOPE

London, Feb. 7 (AP). — The United States Air Force gave up hope today for 15 men on a B-29 Superfortress which disappeared Jan. 27 on a flight from Dakar to its base in England. Air Division Headquarters here said organized search of the Canary Islands area where the giant plane is believed to have gone down has been abandoned.

Rotarians Commemorate 38th Anniversary of Paper

A highly informative review of the January issue of the "Rotarian" official organ of International Rotary coupled with an appeal to all members to rededicate themselves to the club and its functions formed the theme of the Rotary luncheon address yesterday given by Past President A. McLean Haig.

The address was given in commemoration of the 38th birthday of the publication, the first editions numbering some 5,000 copies, rolling off the presses in January, 1911. The current issue of the magazine called for 280,000 copies and also an additional 30,000 copies of Revista Rotaria, the Spanish language edition.

The magazine, the speaker pointed out, every month relates the four objects of Rotary to the interests of professional and business men. "Those of you who are close readers of the magazine will have observed how frequently different leading articles explain and interpret the significance of current news."

Past President Haig selected the outstanding articles contained in the magazine and gave a comprehensive summary of them.

Magazine Commended

Summing up he said the magazine is one of truly international character and he felt it should be used to better advantage. "It can make all of us better informed Rotarians. It can provide topics for table talk and discussion groups. It can create new ideas. I can commend to you the diligent use of our magazine will be productive of ideas tried by others which can be used for advantage to ourselves."

He urged individual and collective pride in the "international order to which we belong, its magazine and our club. Regular and consistent reading of the Rotarian will make all of us better Rotarians and by so doing will make our club a better club."

Depends on Our Efforts

"Much depends on our efforts," he went on. "There are so many crippled children in our midst, who will be forever grateful for the attention which this club has made possible through its Crippled Children's Committee activities, and the late Charlie Symons in particular. I feel that we will be a better club with more club efforts to finance activities which is proven in the success of the present Hazel Scott undertaking. So may we all dedicate ourselves to the true Rotary spirit in all its implications to greater achievements in the future and with continued reliance in the refreshing vitality of new members go forward to give even greater measure to those poor unfortunates to whose help our club is primarily dedicated."

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Bill Morrison with club appreciation expressed by Rotarian Jamieson Bone. Rotarian Grant Sparling occupied the chair in the absence of President Mack Macklem.

Falls to Death Climbing Inside Church Steeple

Sarnia, Feb. 8 (CP)—Gordon Gruber, 42, of London proprietor of the Gruber Roofing Firm fell to his death in the steeple of St. George's Anglican Church today. He was making an initial climb on the inside of the 100 foot tower, preparatory to replacing slate torn off in a recent windstorm, when the accident occurred.

Surviving are his wife, Florence and eight children.

Unidentified Man Surrenders to Police

Sarnia, Feb. 8. (CP)—Sarnia police said today an unidentified man who surrendered at Vancouver yesterday and said he was wanted here on a $2,000 robbery may be James Embury, alias D. Amber, Hallinen or Meagher who allegedly absconded with the Russell Construction Company payroll early in November.

Police here said they have received no notification from Vancouver regarding the surrender.

Recommends Bd. Of Conciliation Be Appointed

Recommendations will be made to the Federal Minister of Labor to appoint a Board of Conciliation to settle points of difference between management and labor at the American Optical Company of Canada Ltd., plant here.

The recommendations will be made by Mr. George Fenwick, Department of Labor conciliation officer after both parties failed to reach agreement at a special meeting held here.

Mr. Fenwick attended the meeting and after no headway was made as far as an agreement was concerned stated he would recommend that a board be appointed to investigate the case and make specific recommendations as to means of settling the points of difference.

NORTH ATLANTIC

United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Russia turned loose another bitter blast against the pact just as Lange prepared to leave Oslo, and suggested that Norway seek safety by tying itself up with Russia in a non-aggression pact.

This Russian move caused concern in Norway but failed to keep Lange from going ahead with his mission to Washington.

State Department officials kept all details of their preliminary talks with Lange a top secret. They would say only the United States government welcomes Lange's visit and will give him all the information it can.

Assurance of Norway

Top government officials indicated the United States is prepared to assure the Norwegians on two major points:

1. The Atlantic defence pact would require no allied bases on Norwegian territory in peacetime.
2. Norway would get, as a member, its full share of whatever arms, supplies and military advice the United States government provides other member powers.

Although Acheson talked with 32 minutes, Lange and his assist the Swedish and Danish ambassadors who had requested appointments for the same day. The explanation: his schedule was too crowded.

NARCOTICS SEIZED

New York, Feb. 8 — (AP) — Seizure of a store of narcotics with an underworld sales value estimated at $2,500,000 was disclosed by police early today. Joseph Basile, 39, was arrested and charged with unlawful possession of narcotics, which police said were found in his apartment.

BIRTHS

FRIARS—Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Friars (nee Florence Kerrigan), 1021 Elm Ave., Windsor, Ont., are happy to announce the birth of a son, Robert John, a brother for Dilly, on January 20th., 1949, at Grace Hospital, Windsor, Ont.

SHONIKER — To Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shoniker (nee Margaret Zebedee) a son, Michael Joseph, at the Belleville General Hospital, on February 6th., 1949.

IN MEMORIAM

KEECH — In loving memory of my brother Lee, who died in Cambridge Hospital, England, ten years ago, the 8th. February.

We miss him when we need a friend,
In him we always could depend,
He cheered us in sickness and soothed our pain
God grant some day we'll meet again.
—Always remembered by sister, (Mathel) Mrs. James Alexander.

BAILEY — In loving memory of Mrs. Jennie Bailey, who passed away five years ago today, February 8th., 1944.

Though life brings much that is altered,
And time brings friends that are new,
There is one thing that never alters,
Our wonderful memories of you.
—Ever remembered by daughter, Ferne, and family.

WEIR — In loving memory of my husband, William J. Weir, who passed away February 8th., 1948.

How I miss the welcome footsteps
Of the one I love so dear,
Oft I listen for his coming,
Fully sure that he is near.
You are gone but not forgotten,
Fresh my love will always be
For as long as there is memory
I will always think of thee.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife, Amanda.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Industrials slid further into lower ground as a wide list of issues lost fractions in dull action on today's Toronto Stock Exchange.

News that South Africa was selling part of its gold on the free market was largely ignored in the gold list with only a handful of issues showed changes in a narrow range. Base metals and western oils were easier.

Volume for the first 3 hours was 485,000 shares, about 41,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Steels led the downward moving industrial list. International Paper firmed ½ in a mixed paper list and Winnipeg Electric chalked up a point gain following recent declines.

Lake Shore added in golds while Hollinger weakened. Juniors were practically at a standstill. Waite Amulet rose 1-8 at 13 in base metals and International Nickel slipped lower. Golden Manitou, MacDonald, Labrador and New Calumet showed losses ranging up to 10 cents.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP) Prices on the livestock market here up to noon were firm on cows but eased slightly on steers and heifers. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 650; calves 100; hogs 280; sheep and lambs, none.

Weighty steers were $20-20.75 with plain kinds as low as $17.00. Good light steers were $19-$20 with good heifers at $19-$19.25. Plain steers and heifers sold down ward to 16.50. Good cows were $15.50-16.50 and canners and cutters were $9-$12. A few good bulls sold at $18-$19. Some choice fed yearlings were $22-23.50 with mediums at $18-$20.

Calves were steady at $30-32 with plain to medium vealers at $18-$28.

Hogs settled unchanged. Grade A were $30.50 and grade B1 were $10.10. Sows were steady at $22 dressed.

No sheep or lambs were offered.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Produce prices on the spot market here today were quoted as follows:

Churning cream unchanged. No. 1, 74 cents fob; 78 delivered. Butter prints unchanged. First grade 70½; second grade 69½.

The egg market was firm at unchanged prices. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: Grade A large 42; Grade A medium 41; Grade A pullet 39; Grade B 39; Grade C 33. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 46-47; Grade A medium 45; Grade A pullet 42-43; Grade B 42-43; Grade C 37.

Butter solids were unchanged. First grade 68; second grade 67.

HOGS

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Hog prices at Stratford this morning were unquoted. At Hull hogs were unchanged. Grade A, dressed were $29.75, delivered.

Mindszenty Trial Inhuman Episode Says McGuigan

Toronto, Feb. 8 (CP)—James Cardinal McGuigan today described as an "inhumanepisode" the trial and life-sentence in Hungary of Cardinal Mindszenty.

"The sentence passed on Cardinal Mindszenty following the mock trial of Budapest, though not unexpected, will nevertheless shock the civilized world," the Canadian prelate said in a statement.

"Prospects have multiplied during the trial against his monstrous travesty of jnustice and truth. Cardinal Mindszenty is a victim in the cause of liberty and no court sentence will change the conviction of all lovers of freedom in this great crisis.

"This inhuman episode should put all Canadians on the alert against the avowed enemies of civil and religious liberty, and urge us to intensify our prayers so that freedom, peace and happiness may again gladden human hearts and dispel the darkness which lies like a pall of tragedy upon soa many lands."

Churchill Way New Street Name In Cardiff, Wales

Cardiff, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Cardiff is to have a new street called "Churchill Way" after Winston Churchill despite an opposition vote of 19 Labor members of the city council.

Alderman R. G. Robinson, Lord Mayor, one of 30 who approved the motion, said: "I cannot forget the days of peril. I'm not ashamed to admit I felt terrified and abject. I felt it was all over until that resounding voice came over the radio putting new courage and life into my blood. It resounded through the world and saved the world. Thank God for him."

Labor councillor Emrys Jones said although many persons gave credit to Churchill for his war leadership they "have intense hatred of Churchill for his action in certain circumstances before the war."

Hitler's Chancellery Destroyed by Russians

Berlin, Feb. 8 (Reuters)—Hitler's chancellery, which took two years to build,was almost completely destroyed in two minutes this morning by a series of small, powerful explosions.

But the massive outer walls are still standing and the balcony, from which Hitler addressed huge Nazi party rallies, is still intact.

The dust had scarcely settled after the explosions when gangs of rubble-cleaners, men and women, entered the chancellery and collected all dislodged black marble slabs.

These were loaded on to trucks and taken to the Russian cemetery at Treptow, on the outskirts of the city, where they will be used to build a new monument to Soviet soldiers who lost their lives in the battle of Berlin.

CALVERT 1622 Famous Families ROBINSON 1791

Born at Berthier in 1791, John Beverley Robinson studied law and was appointed acting Attorney General when 21 years old. He was appointed Chief Justice of Upper Canada in 1829 and later Speaker of the Executive Council. In 1850 he was created a baronet.

His brother William Benjamin became Inspector-General in 1844. His son John Beverley, also a lawyer, soldier and statesman, was elected Mayor of Toronto in 1857. In 1880 he was named Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. Truly a distinguished family of Canadian statesmen.

Great Families Create Great Nations

Distinguished English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, Calvert, head of the famous Calvert family, founded pioneer colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland early in the 17th Century.

Calvert's descendants fostered the principles of democratic freedom and religious tolerance among their New World settlers. They proved their sincerity by granting a greater measure of freedom than had hitherto been enjoyed and by permitting the settlers to inaugurate democratic self-government.

The family is the corner-stone upon which great nations are built. Let each of us strive to promote within the great Canadian family the same concepts of freedom and tolerance pioneered by the Calvert family over three hundred years ago.

The Calvert family present a freedom charter to their settlers.

Grocery shop owner Chang (above), whose home and shop are located in the now deserted city of Pukow, last stop on the Nanking-Shaighai railroad and just across the Yangtse river from Nanking, epitomizes the despair that is China as he returns to Pukow each morning to see if his house is still standing. With Nationalist and communist troops converging on Nanking it is his one hope that his home will not be destroyod in the fighting.—(CPC).

The New Citizens

Canada has welcomed during the past year 125,414 persons, more than one eighth of a million newcomers, who will make this their home and become its citizens with an undying pride in it as their country.

Many have given up their own country, where conditions are not so free and kindly as they are in the Dominion. Others have come from the British Isles and find themselves in a country which owes so much to the Motherland, because of her citizens, so many of whom have dwelled here for generations. Their reception here is something which is tinged with the love which the people of Canada have for the Old Country. For those who hail from France and especially from Normandy there is a real welcome for these people are related to most Canadians since many a Norman settled in Britain almost a millenium ago, and many a Briton came to know Normandy in the period around the tenth and eleventh centuries when England and Normandy exchanged trade.

Others came to Canada with no close relatives here to greet them, like so many from the Continent of Europe, who have come here, having won their reward for a chance in this New World by their heroic defence of liberty when the Nazis went on their mad course for enslavement of the world. Such Europeans should receive a very warm welcome into our midst for they have for the sake of liberty left their native homes on the Continent, attracted to Canada by this country's reputation for freedom and for the defence of freedom during the two Great Wars.

Canadians who are native and have been descended from Canadian forbears of the early days of the country and even from those later immigrants of the nineteenth and early twentieth century can understand what charm this country has for the new arrivals. They come with hope, many of them have made great sacrifices to find a refuge here in which they and their families may live and make their contribution to our civilization.

Just as the forefathers of native Canadians had caught the vision of the greatness of Canada, so the Canadians of today, with the new Canadians who have just arrived since the Second World War's end have caught a vision of greatness for Canada which merits the support of everyone.

The newcomers are filling a place in this expansive country which has an extent which naturally draws the attention of the world.

Few lands of history have had a more pleasant vision realized than have the Canadians of the past half of the twentieth century.

Winter and Snow

This northern clime, however little some of its dwellers dislike the cold, has in winter something which lends a charm to the year and enriches experience. There are the falling snow flake and the snowy mantle which covers the face of the soil. Not all the world has such a contrast of pictures as the flowery earth in June and the snow-clad landscape in mid-winter. Those who see only the bare earth the year round might be expected to envy the denizens of the north.

No painter with his brush and colors can equal nature's art. There are artists who paint wondrous scenes of the winter landscape but their inspiration comes from within as everything good comes from within.

Winter spreads the same mantle over the houses of the rich and the less rich with a fair hand and Northerners would not change the glory of the snow for an ever present green summer, appealing tho it be. Nature without price or reward gives us these two pictures of the revolving year and those who dislike winter really dislike one of the great works of creation which spreads its beauty all around.

Biography

Reader interest is much devoted to biography in this age. This is shown in the annual report of the Corby Public Library and of readers in other communities. Subjects of biography are persons who merit study in an age which is devoting attention to the development of the best that is in individuals.

Biography has always been the subject which has drawn not only the more serious readers but also the casual readers, for its heroes and heroines are those who have in their contact with the world made their way and left influences upon the oncoming generations.

This favorite subject of readers will continue to hold the interest of the great number of readers. Biography has invaluable lessons to teach the young and those who strive for the best means of finding their niche in life.

JUST FOLKS

CHILDHOOD AND HATE

I watch the children at their play,
No creed to separate,
And think it is too bad that they
So soon must learn to hate.

No one has tutored them as yet
That some are different born,
And they must later on be met
With bitterness and scorn.

And when away from them I turn
I hope it will not be
That any child will ever learn
The ancient hates from me.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS.

20 YEARS AGO

Feb. 8th., 1929.

Mr. S. J. Fisher, well-known auctioneer and Clerk of the Division Court, has purchased the Hanley Block at 329 and 331 Front Street from Mr. W. B. Hanley of Montreal, formerly of this city.

Perry White was awarded the Robert Bruce Scholarship for the pupil of Scottish descent who obtained the highest marks in the Christmas examinations in first year medicine at Queen's University. He graduated last year from Belleville Collegiate Institute.

The Very Rev. Dean Craig of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, addressed the members of the Belleville Ministerial Association in the Community Hall in connection with Bridge Street Church yesterday.

30 YEARS AGO

Feb. 8th., 1919.

The inaugural meeting of the Public Library Board was held last evening. Thomas Cushing was re-elected chairman; C. A. Wilkins was re-elected secretary treasurer; C. N. Sulman was re-elected Chairman of Finance; Chairman of Book Committee, H. J. Clarke, B.A.

Ice for next season's use is now being cut in the bay. It is of good quality and is about 12 inches in thickness.

The Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, rector of St. Thomas' Church, the Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, rector of Christ Church and Mr. John Elliott are attending committee meetings in connection with the Diocese of Ontario in Kingston.

Mrs. J. T. Nunn and daughter, Miss Florence Nunn, have returned to Colborne after visiting the former's son, Mr. J. Nunn, in this city.

40 YEARS AGO

Feb. 8th., 1909.

Students of affairs state that judging by all indications, next summer will be the best Canada has known in many years insofar as trade is concerned. Let the good times come again; we shall try to bear the shock.

Yesterday was the birthday of Charles Dickens, the novelist. He was born in 1812.

Free postal delivery in this city would be an excellent arrangement and all citizens would like to see it introduced.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. H. C. Hunt; First Vice President, Mrs. Moynes (Financial); Second Vice President, Mrs. C. S. Clapp (Religious); Third Vice President, Mrs. D. J. Fairfield (Social); Fourth Vice President, Mrs. Spence Clarke (Membership); Treasurer, Mrs. B. Mallory; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Alexander Ray; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Mark Sprague; Pianist, Mrs. Wallace; Convener of Rooms Committee, Mrs. C. B. Scantlebury. The membership of the Y.M.C.A. is now 350 and it is hoped to increase this to 500 this year.

50 YEARS AGO

Feb. 8th., 1899.

The fall of snow last night improved the sleighing considerably.

A party of Belleville young people attended a most enjoyable dance given by the Misses Nightingale at their home on Huff's Island. Chalaupka's orchestra of Belleville furnished excellent music.

Mr. James Fax of Toronto is visiting his brother, Mr. George Fax, in this city.

Mr. Lorne W. Marsh is in Peterborough on business.

Miss Jamieson of Deseronto is the guest of Miss Annie Roy in this city.

Mr. Clayton Cornell of this city will leave shortly for Cranbrook, B.C.

STRENGTH for The Day

Dr. Earl L. Douglass

PROMISE OF STRENGTH

"They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."

Not just the people that pray, and work, and keep everlastingly seeking after the good life, but also the people who wait. Sometimes we feel that we must always be up and doing, if we are going to attain to our full spiritual strength. But the Bible tells us that waiting upon the Lord is just as necessary as seeking after Him. After we ask, we are to wait for His answer. After we strive, we are to wait for His reward. After action there is to be rest. After asking, seeking, striving, we are to wait quietly in full expectation that his promises will be fulfilled. Not just the workers and the prayers find God, but also those who wait. "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."

Sometimes people hurry away from their prayers with such feverish haste that the Lord has no time to grant their requests or give them the things they long for. They finish their prayers with no sense of expectancy. Hopeless they went down upon their knees; hopeless they rise. But those who really have faith wait for a moment after their prayers and lay deep upon their hearts the necessity of waiting until the prayer is answered, be that soon or late. "They that wait . . . renew their strength."

Ilsley Retired But Not From Work

By JOHN D. HAMILTON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Feb. 8 — (CP) — James Lorimer Ilsley has retired—but not from work.

If you're a Montreal financial district worker you'll probably see a thin, red-headed man hurrying along St. James Street — just like any other middle-aged, worried tax-payer.

That will be Mr. Ilsley, who, as wartime finance minister, bossed Canada's vast econimic machine.

Getting back to private life (he retired from the justice ministry in November, 1947) isn't quite a rest cure for tired statesmen, Mr. Ilsley told The Canadian Press in an interview.

It's getting worse, too. Soon the 54-year-old Nova Scotian will be deep in the legal problems facing the royal commission on transportation, of which he is senior counsel.

One compensation: A look at the luxurious furnishings of his corporation law office high above St. James Street indicates that his efforts probably are better rewarded financially than when he was a statesman.

Apart from that, there isn't much visible change in his routine living.

Although he looks older and his face is more lined than when he was familiar to all Canadians, he says his health is as good or better than when he left the government.

Why did he go back to private law practice?

"It was the only job I was trained for.'

As one of the world's most outstanding economic planners didn't he ever get any offers to advise corporations at a fabulous fee?

"Never thought of it," he says. "I'm a lawyer."

Secondary School Students Posted On World Affairs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

One of the striking developments of the post-war period is the increased knowledge of world affairs by the average citizen of the United States and other democracies.

I've been encountering this phenomenon both at home and abroad, in my wide correspondence and through travel. And it isn't alone the grown-ups who are posted on world events.

Secondary school students are prepared these days to discuss foreign affairs. That fact speaks well not only for scholastic instruction but for home influence.

The global war, of course, has been partly responsible for this change. Our fighting men have been sent to the four corners of the earth. Not only have we had to learn about the outside world in order to keep track of them, but they have brought home to us much that is new.

Paradoxical Source

However, most of our newfound education comes from another and paradoxical source. That is communism, which has stepped out of the dark ages in a new guise and is making aggression against the rest of the world.

Did you ever stop to think how greatly our lives are affected by this red world revolution?

We live in a state of constant suspense. Spies and fifth-columnists are working among us.

The high cost of living is due in part to the unsettled conditions of the forld. Taxes are swollen to defray expenses for defence against the red aggression.

American wealth is being poured out to help many lands defend themselves against the red plague.

Small wonder, then, that most citizens of the democracies should be making it their business to study developments and personalities involved in this cold war.

It's a tough school we are attending, but we are acquiring knowledge fast.

Nizam Turns Over Valuable Land To the State

Bombay, Feb. 8 (AP)—The fabulously rich Nizam of Hyderabad said Monday he has turned his vast land holdings over to the state in return for a pay boost estimated at well over $3,000,000 a year.

Conquered Hyderabad's military governor said the ruler has handed over 7,000 square miles of land for administration by the civil government in a big new land reform. In return, the Nizam said, his privy purse, amounting to more than 10,000,000 rupees a year, will be increased. (Current value of the Indian rupee is 30.24 cents.)

Neither the Nizam, nor Maj.-Gen. J. N. Cowdbury, the military governor, revealed the extent of the increase in the privy purse, but it is reliably reported to be about 10,000,000 rupees.

In addition to this the Nizam gets around 25,000,000 rupees a year from his surrendered lands. This is expected to be increased by 5,000,000 rupees, Crowdbury told reporters.

The governor said the new land reform plan also is being circulated among other federal landlords, who with the Nizam have held some 42 per cent of the arable land in the state.

Mickey McDonald Suspected In Counterfeit Ring

Oshawa, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP) — Police suspect the hand of Donald (Mickey) McDonald — Canada's Public Enemy No. 1 — behind a cache of United States counterfeit money found under a bathtub here Monday.

They nabbed Edwin McDonald, Mickey's younger brother, Edwin's wife, and more than $10,000 in counterfeit bills when they raided a dwelling in search of narcotics. Edwin and his 26-year-old wife, arrested for having the counterfeit money in their possession, were remanded to Feb. 14 on bail of $20,000.

The police said they believed the pair may be part of an international counterfeit ring, headed by the notorious Mickey, who escaped from Kingson penitentiary in August, 1947, while serving a 15-year term for theft of a liquor truck.

Edwin, 30, who also took part in the $35,000 liquor theft, was released from Kingston only a few months ago after serving a five-year stretch.

R.C.M.P. said the bogus bills, expertly made, were similar to counterfeit money circulated in New York State, where Mickey is reported to be hiding, during the last few months. A U. S. secret service officer was en route here to take part in the investigation.

The police staged the gun-point raid primarily in search of narcotics, following reports of suspicious conduct at the dwelling and heroin dealings in this district.

They found the fake money in two bundles under the bathtub. One had been opened. The money appeared to be newly-printed and was in $20 bills.

Exact amount was not known immediately but it was estimated at somewhere beween $10,000 and $15,000.

Old Country Letter:

Daily Mirror Columnist Starts Controversy With Food Minister

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 8 —(CP)— "Dear Sir," says the letter to the editor, "agreed that present day margarine and butter taste alike, now will the Food Ministry do something about giving us butter that tastes like butter?"

The immediate issue was whether blindfolded persons could distinguish butter from margarine by taste. That was only the beginning.

Tweedy Diet

More pointed news for palates came from wool experts. They said a way has been discovered to make tasty tidbits out of cast-off clothing.

That was too good to resist. Now, radio comedians gagged, "You'll really be able to eat your hat."

Still another puzzler for knife-and-fork addicts came in the House of Commons:

Is the Food Ministry aware there is really no difference in taste between sugar and saccharine?

The Ministry wisely ducked that one.

But the greatest gastronomical growl came from the Daily Mirror columnist who writes under the name of "Cassandra."

Cassandra's Lament

Addressing himself to the Food Ministry's Dr. Edith Summerskill, parliamentary secretary, who started the butter versus margarine argument, Cassandra bellowed:

"Do you know how folks yearn for belly music of thick slices of peach-fed ham or great T-bone steaks laughing up at a hungry world from their scalding bower of sprouts and crisp, golden chips?"

There are Britons, the columnist continued, dreaming of Stilton, "princely cheese served by candle light in old coaching houses of the Great North Road . . . bulky discs fed with dark port wine and ripened into a color the rainbow never held."

"There are men lost in a splendid reverie of button mushrooms chuckling in boiling depths of a real steak and kidney pie: men thinking of scores of eggs broken into a china bowl and lashed into ample yellow foams of a mighty omelet yet to come And men brooding of lashings or cold pheasant sliced thin for breakfast on a frosty morn.

"Madame . . . ration what and where you will . . . but lay off our dreams!"

Personal Health Talks

Address Dr. William Brady, care of this newspaper.)

NO GAME FOR GROWING BOYS

You inquire about football.

A good many parents inquire about it every autumn, receive Dr. Brady's opinion or advice, and presently forget it. After all, as the boy says, the other fellows and the coach will brand him a sissy if he doesn't do as they wish. And what parent, at any rate what wishy-washy Yankee Wiseacre parents can withstand such pressure? Or of what significance is a boy's career in comparison with what the sporting crowd may think of him?

Still more parents inquire about the suitability of football for grammar school and high school boys, after the season is over and the immediate damage, the visible damage is tabulated. No, they don't inquire at this juncture—they complain, and they beg Dr. Brady to warn other parents...

But, shucks, Doc Brady knows by now when to save his breath, and this is one of the times.

Football is not a bad game (and certainly not as good as some other games) for men of college or university age and development, for grown men, for adults. Whatever fractures, dislocations or other derangements, temporary, chronic or permanent disabilities the few players may suffer from football may be discounted —in assessing the overall value of the game for all of the trainees whether they play in many games or just a few or not at all. This applies to football as a game, not to football as a sport.

Teenage boys generally have sufficient reserve power or heart tone for competition with other boys of their age in contests of speed and agility. They generally have insufficient heart tone or reserve power for endurance contests. If they enter such contests it is at peril of serious or permanent damage to the heart.

From small cities in widely separated parts of the country came this past season newspaper reports of the excesses of high school boys and girls and their sporting friends in celebrating a victory. That sort of thing is only a variation of the hysteria of the onlookers, the fans, those who play the game vicariously and the silly, stereotyped antics of the "cheer leaders" and other minor stars.

Speaking as a sourpuss I enjoy as well as a real sport does a wrestling or boxing match that is kept reasonably clean, a good baseball game, a basketball game, foot races etc., but please don't ask me to watch a football game, even in television in the comfort of pipe and easy chair. The high school or college boys do not play football; the coaches play chess and use the boys as pawns in the game.

For the boys of college age that may not matter so much. For the high school boy it is a serious matter, and, speaking now as Doc Brady, I earnestly advise parents of high school children to keep their children out of high school football. Especially boys who are gangling or lanky — these are the ones the coaches eagerly seek for the team, because they believe such big boys will stand more punishment. Unfortunately these gangling boys are likely to be even shorter in reserve power or heart tone than boys of just average growth, and so they are more vulnerable to heart strain.

Today's Talk

WINDOWS OF THE MIND

Every few days a man comes to my office with a pail of water and cleaning materials and wipes the dirt from my big windows. Then I look out and am often amazed at the improvement of vision, as the city fairly sparkles below.

This mind of ours has windows, and if they are kept clean we can look out from them with a cheerful philosophy echoing from this heart of ours. Seeing clearly we can think clearly. The good housekeeper insists upon the windows of her home being kept clean and clear.

Too many people look out from the windows of their minds that are all clouded up with dirty thoughts, and darkened with prejudice, intolerance, bitterness, fears, doubts, and resentments. How can anyone see beauty in nature or in human character from such windows of the mind?

There are many ways in which these windows of the mind may be kept clear and clean, so that the vision of the soul bears no clouds before it. A cheerful outlook upon life, a kindly attitude toward all with whom you come in contact, and an honest spiritual appraisement of human values will go far toward keeping these windows free from all dust and dirt.

From these windows we look out upon life. But each of us see a different view, and what we see is given a personal interpretation. It is this interpretation that furnishes each of us with our own philosophy of life. Perhaps a simpler way to put it would be to state this as merely a plan of life. We certainly cannot expect to travel far without having in mind where we are going and how we are to go.

Some people even have blinds to the windows of their mind—and many keep them closed, blanking out much of the beauty of life. These are among the loneliest of people — just like those who shut out knowledge friends, and the inspiring things in nature. The mind lives and thrives upon light. Mere sight is a wonderful thing, but to have it and then to erect barriers before it, is tragic.

The mind should have windows placed to get light from every direction. "And God said, 'let there be light': and there was light." Let us then keep the windows of this mind of ours always clean that we may be enriched by the light about us.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

Newspapermen as a class acquire not infrequently a reputation of snootiness or even self-importance because they resolutely decline to be joiners. They are reluctant to join service clubs, organizations and, in many cases, their church membership is pretty perfunctory. The reason for their attitude should be self-evident.

It would be a good thing for any club or association to have a newspaperman in its membership. It would thus be sure of valuable publicity. That alone is the reason for the stand-offishness of most publishers, editors and senior newspaper executives. It is not right — if the old traditions of the press are to be maintained — that any one organization should have a rail position in the news.

Newspapermen appear in many instances to be cynical and hard-boiled men. This comes of the necessity on their part of scrutinizing all men and all events with not an unfriendly but at least a highly critical eye. Only a few years back, the art of publicity was practised by only a handful of theatrical and circus advance men, and the railroads and a few of the big industries employed specialists in the art of wangling favorable articles in the press, or occasionally attempting to color the news or to prevent its publication.

Today, there are hundreds of men and women in every city in the land professionally practising the art of publicity, as distinct from advertising. Every enterprise of the slightest size—some of them the silliest safaris imaginable — must have its publicity experts.

No wonder newspapermen grow more and more commandoesque in their public attitude.

PICTON

Three-Day Fair Approved By The Directors

Picton—A three-day fair will be held in Picton this year, it was decided at a meeting of directors of Prince Edward Agricultural Society.

A preference was expressed for dates of Sept. 27, 28, 29, these to depend upon dates on which a midway can be secured.

An agricultural service diploma will be awarded by the society in recognition of service given agriculture by some Prince Edward county resident. The name of former Agricultural Representative F. J. Webster, B.S.A., was advanced by Director Philip Dodds who paid tribute to Mr. Webster's willing assistance of agricultural groups, far beyond the course of general duty. The suggestion was heartily endorsed.

Pledge Co-operation

Warden A. E. Bowerman and Reeves J. K. Welsh and Clinton Green were present, and pledged co-operation of county council. A committee of President D. O. Reynolds, E. W. Henderson, H. E. Spencer, P. F. Dodds was named to work with county council fair grounds committee.

Warden Bowerman expressed pride in the fair and was one of those taking part in its re-organization and the purchase of the grounds by the council. He stressed the necessity of a financial statement which listed all assets. Secretary B. R. Baxter revealed that apart from the cash balance shown in the published statement there were bonds amounting to $2,000 held by the society.

Not Asking Grant

President Reynolds stressed that the society was not asking county council for any grant and none had been sought since the Fair Board was organized. The request to council at its previous session for $1,500 was from council's own committee and for the purpose of upkeep of the buildings and improvements including installation of modern toilets. Since the county owns the grounds and buildings it is up to them to maintain them, he said.

In thanking council for their work on the grounds, Director Philip Dodds pointed out that last year the society had paid $379.35 for rental of grounds, and voluntarily expended $714.25 on improvements on the county-owned buildings.

The board voted to put a concrete floor in the north end of the grandstand, at an estimated cost of nearly $400.

Committee Named

A committee of Reynolds, Henderson, Spencer, Dodds was named to deal with the matter of the office of secretary treasurer and salary involved.

Directors spoke in favor of re-engaging the same midway as last year providing it had more rides.

Discuss Length of Fair

Discussion on the two versus three day fair was a lively one, with all, on suggestion of Gordon Campbell agreeing to abide by the majority vote and give their full co-operation.

Warren Chase, Bloomfield, was added to the list of associate directors. He urged good entertainment for parents who accompanied children on parade day.

A three-day fair was proposed by H. E. Spencer. Those in favor of retaining a two-day show thought two good days better than three with a possible poor one, that the peak of attendance had been reached extra entertainment would have to be provided. Warden Bowerman recalled that with four-day fairs the society had gone into debt, with two days there had been surpluses. He urged stressing agricultural features.

Urge Trial

Those for the three-day fair urged that a trial would not do any harm, if the fair experienced inclement weather over two days there would be one day left, merchants went to a great deal of trouble with displays and found the fair short, there has been difficulty featuring agricultural phases with the track taken with horse races, Junior Farmers' work could be stressed to a greater extent, there would be greater revenue from midway. They suggested the first day for calf clubs with cattle to be at the fair the last two days.

Those taking part in the discussion were President Reynolds, Colin Wright, H. E. Spencer, J. K. Welsh, Warden Bowerman, C. Green, P. Dodds, W. Willis, H. Kerr, Mrs. B. R. Baxter, Mrs. C. R. Widdifield, G. Campbell, W. Chase, George Rose, Ross Parks, E. W. Henderson.

Seats to be placed around the fair grounds were suggested by Mrs. Baxter.

Representing the Board at the Ontario convention in Toronto this week are Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Baxter, P. Dodds, E. W. Henderson.

CHILD BRIDE AND HUSBAND MAKE UP AFTER STABBING—Mrs. Etta Long, 12-year-old child bride and her husband Weldon, 23, are pictured in Mason, Mich., detention (juvenile) home after Etta, an expectant mother, was charged with stabbing her mate. Long is a navy veteran and unemployed sawmill worker. Etta explained the incident in childlike fashion, "I thought he was going to hit me so I cut him." But now, the couple has made up, and Weldon comes to visit his girl bride every day. Under Michigan law, marriage below the age of 16 is illegal even with parents' consent. Etta cannot be prosecuted, but could be made a ward of the probate court.—(CPC).

Ancaster Officer Found Shot In His Own Home

Ancaster, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—Coroner R. A. Woods has ordered an inquest into the death of Harry R. Bennett, 68-year-old constable of this village 10 miles west of Hamilton. He was found lying in the living room of his home last Tuesday with a bullet wound in his head.

Police said Bennett's blood-stained tunic was found in a second room and the gun with which he was shot was found in a third.

On the same day that Bennett was found dead a meeting of citizens held in connection with town finances. Records of an investigating council meeting showed that Bennett had received overpayments amounting to $795. The money had been paid back by the constable whose salary was $125 a month.

Rev. John W. Hamilton, head of the citizens committee investigating town finances, said Bennett's name was mentioned in the probe only indirectly. "He had no need to worry. His contract with the village as constable had already been signed."

$2,000,000 Grant Approved by Board

Toronto, Feb. 8 — (CP) — City council Monday approved a $2,000,000 grant to the University of Toronto's $12,000,000 building fund. Recommendation for the grant was made by Board of control following a closed meeting last Thursday, it was learned. It is proposed that the grant be paid over a five-year period.

OLDEST ACTRESS DIES

London, Feb. 8 — (Reuters) — Helen Cresswell, 103, believed to be the oldest former actress in the world, died Monday. She appeared with Ellen Terry and Sir Henry Irving and once with the Edwardian beauty, Lily Langtry. She began her career in 1872 and retired 30 years later.

PC Members Cheer When Election Result Announced

Ottawa, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Progressive Conservative members of the Commons Monday night cheered and applauded loudly when it was announced that their party's candidate had won the Nicolet-Yamaska by-election.

Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) rushed to the House shortly after The Canadian Press had reported Renaud Chapdelaine, Progressive Conservative candidate, had won.

"Nicolet-Yamaska has been conceded," shouted Mr. Adamson and immediately the cheering and applause started.

G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) had the floor at the time in the Newfoundland debate and his remarks were interrupted for almost a minute.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was in the Chamber when the boisterous scene began, but George Drew, the new Progressive Conservative leader, was absent. Later, both he and Mr. St. Laurent issued by-election statements from their offices.

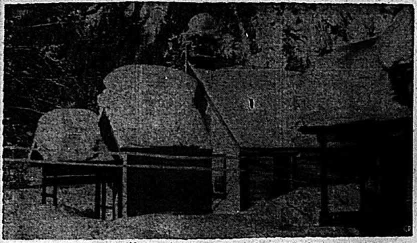
The Progressive Conservatives set up a great clatter of applause when Mr. Drew entered the Chamber shortly after the result became known. They banged the hinged tops of their desks and threw copies of Hansard, the official report of proceedings, and other papers across the Chamber.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, who was speaking on price control as Mr. Drew came down the aisle to his seat, remarked as the hub-bub subsided that "perhaps we should remember that one swallow does not make a summer."

A few minutes later, George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley) crossed the floor amid a flurry of good-natured joshing from Progressive Conservative members and shook Mr. Drew's hand.

Young Adults Blamed For Majority of Crimes

London, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP)—Canada's worst criminals today are teen-agers, Col. Wallace Burton of Toronto, territorial prison officer of the Salvation Army, said in an interview here Monday. He said the majority of serious crimes are committed by persons between the ages of 16 and 25. The answer to the teen-age crime problem does not lie in psychiatry or psychology but in the home, the school and the church.



ICEBOUND INLET — A solid field of ice several square miles in area and more than a foot thick blocked Portland Canal, one of the typical fjordlike inlets on the Pacific coast, and has kept the mining town of Stewart isolated for more than three weeks as far as steamer service is concerned. Exceptionally cold weather freezing the fresh water coming from two large rivers — the Salmon and Bear caused the ice field, shown here. Passengers, mail and essential freights are transferred from the weekly steamer from Prince Rupert to a gasboat and delivered to Hyder, Alaska, across the border from Stewart. Delivery is then made by road to the isolated centre.—(CP Photo).

PICTON

Two Horses, 3,400 Young Chickens Burned in Blaze

Picton—Fire completely destroyed a large barn and two brooder houses at the farm of Ralph Storms, at Bongard's, nine miles southeast of Picton. Lost were two horses, machinery which included a nearly new combine, a tractor, hay and grain.

In the brooder houses were 3,400 chickens several weeks old. They were also burned.

The loss, which will exceed $8,000 was partially covered by insurance.

The fire is believed to have started in a brooder house. It had spread to the main buildings before being discovered.

Neighbors were aided in saving the house, which is close by, when the wind was blowing away from it.

Mr. Storms served four years in the navy and had purchased the farm four years ago. The fire was a great set-back for him.

CLASSES ARRANGED

Picton—Evening classes in the study of basic English have been arranged by the Department of Education in collegiate. These have been running for the past three weeks under the direction of Principal R. L. Perkin with the assistance of Glen Clark and A. K. Leonard.

The opportunity for assistance with the English language has been appreciated by the many Hollanders in the county as well as the Ukrainians and those of other nationalities who are in this section. Over fifty are attending the classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Despite the stormy weather at times the attendance has been very good, many of them coming considerable distances to attend.

Teachers' and School Inspectors' Pensions May be Increased

Toronto, Feb. 8 (CP)—Among legislation to be introduced at the new session of the Ontario legislature opening Thursday, it was reported today, is a bill to raise pension payments for Ontario teachers and school inspectors.

The teachers and inspectors superannuation fund, administered by the province, at present approximately $50,000,000 and with annual contributions the fund income in around $6,000,000. The Ontario Teachers Federation asked the government last year to set minimum and maximum pensions at $600 and $3,000 but whether the latter will actually be set will not be known until the legislation is introduced.

Inspection Defeats Machine Shop 3-0 In Northern Electric Loop

Scoring all their three goals in the first and second periods the Inspection team of the Northern Electric League shut out the Machine Shop squad in a scheduled company interdepartmental league game Monday night.

The game was closely fought with John Lupinette drawing first blood in the initial period when he scored from passes from Howie and Vance.

Baker gave Inspection a two-goal lead early in the second and Vance teamed with Howie to make it three midway through the session. The third period was scoreless and productive of the best hockey of the game. It was cleanly fought with Referee "Porky" Yorke handing out but four penalties all for minor infractions.

The teams:—

Inspection: goal, Lapp; defence, Kaye, Fisher; centre, Vance; wings, John Lupinette, Howie; subs, Woods, Hutchings, Lorimer and Baker.

Machine Shop: goal, Bunton; defence; Chipps, Trear; centre, Thrasher; wings, Little, Long; subs, McDonald, Belliveau, Joe Lupinette, O'Brien, Crene.

Officials: "Porky" Yorke and Bush.

TWIN INTERESTS—Music and animals are the keen interests of Glenn Gould, 16-year-old Toronto pianist. Glenn is shown at the piano with his English setter Nick but more usual pose for a dog is beside the piano while his master plays. The young pianist has been studying since he was four and finds time to play several concerts each season while looking after his collection of pets and attending Malvern Collegiate, where he is in third form.—(CP Photo).

PRIZE TIMEPIECE — This is one of theprize clocks of the collection of Elmore Henning of Milverton, Ont., who has been collecting clocks since he was a child. One of 50 timepieces in his house, this clock is patterned after those of Christopher Columbus' day. It has only one hand and on the face is carved the year 1492 and the head of Columbus himself.—(CP Photo).

WHITE CANE WEEK is being observed across Canada this week and Canadians are reminded that blind citizens suffer from a lack of understanding on the part of the sighted public of both their problems and their abilities. A large number of blind people have the assistance of seeing dogs, as the man in above photo, but the vast number have only the aid of the white cane. White Cane Week, Feb. 6 to Feb. 13 is being sponsored by the Canadian Institute for the Blind to help promote a better understanding for those who carry white canes.—(CPC).

Tea hostesses on Sunday afternoon at the Quinte and Tennis Skating Club were, Mrs. H. House, Mrs. E. Somers, Mrs. G. Davis, Mrs. G. McNally and Mrs. J. W. Sherry. Mrs. George Wright poured tea.

Women's Activities

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

Madoc— On Thursday afternoon the Women's Missionary Society of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Walden with a fine attendance of members and visitors. The Worship period was conducted by the president. The theme was taken from the Beatitudes (Blessed are the poor in Spirit). After the explanation of this beatitude, three members read scripture readings bearing on the thought. During the business period, it was decided to have a pot luck dinner and quilting for the missionary bale in the church at an early date.

The society was fortunate to have at this meeting as guest speaker, Mrs. Paul Rumball, who spent twelve years among the Koreans in Japan and afterwards worked with her husband in British Guiana.

Mrs. Healip introduced the speaker, who told of her work among the Koreans. She stressed the fact that the Koreans are very strict in having members join the church, how through kindergarten work parents are lead to become Christians through the children and how thorough the Christians are in their givings She also told of her work among the smaller children in schools of British Guiana and of the experiences of her husband and herself with the prisoners in the jails.

A social half hour was spent, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. West in serving.

ALLAN'S MILLS

40th Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated

Allan's Mills. — On Thursday evening, the family and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thomson met at their home to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. During the evening, Mrs. Ed. McKeown read some verses on the 40th anniversary and the family presented Mr. and Mrs. Thomson with a beautiful mantel clock.

The four brothers and their wives gave them an electric dresser lamp and the sister gave them a silver cake plate.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in games. Bounteous refreshments were served and the wedding cake was cut and served.

STIRLING

Students Stage Hard Times Dance In Gymnasium

Stirling.—A Hard Times dance, sponsored by the students of Stirling High School in the gymnasium on Wednesday night proved a highly successful event.

Practically every variety of costume was worn by the dancers all of which added to the merriment of the evening.

Splendid music was provided by the 'Teen-agers orchestra and the large crowd thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Previous to the dance, the boy students attired in bathing suits, and long undies staged a novelty basketball game which created numerous laughs.

Slipping and falling on the ice outside her home on Monday morning, Mrs. Gilbert Thompson suffered painful injuries including a gash on her head and a broken wrist. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Miss Gena Vanderwater, Foxboro, a student at Stirling High School, has been given honorable mention for her essay on "The Roman Life of the Unknown Soldier", by the Classical Section of the O.E.A.

The essay was based on a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Ontario Educational Association. Fellow students and friends join in extending congratulations.

Mrs. James Currie observed her 94th birthday on Sunday, Jan. 30. Several friends called during the day. Mrs. Currie enjoys comparatively good health and takes a keen interest in the events of the day.

The President, Mrs. Clifford Barber, was in charge. Business was discussed, bills voted paid and a letter of thanks was read by the Secretary, Mrs. Willet Barber. Ten dollars was voted to be sent to the Prince Edward Children's Aid Society. Group Insurance was reported on by Mrs. Reg. Barber, also Prince Edward County Hospital was discussed, regarding a letter from directors. A solo, "Garden of Tomorrow", was rendered by Mrs. Dan George, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ben Anderson. Mrs. D. Jones was convened of this meeting. Canadian Industries being the topic, papers were read by Mrs. Will Burkett, Mrs. Ben Anderson, Mrs. Clarence Sprague and Mrs. D. Jones on the various main industries of the country. Mrs. George Neal gave Current Events.

A contest staged by Miss Lillian Sprague, on flowers, was won by Mrs. Reg. Barber and Mrs. D. George, who received lovely prizes.

The hostess, assisted by several of the ladies, served delicious refreshments, after which a social time was enjoyed.

Bette Davis

HIGHEST PAID IN THE U.S.—Actress Bette Davis made $328,000 for the calendar year 1946 and scal year ending in 1947, edging out Winnipeg-born Deanna Durbin and gain top female billing on a U.S. treasury list of leading money-makers. But film actor Humphrey Bogart finished in front of both of them with $467,-361. Miss Durbin was paid $323,-447. But a woman executive overtook many of the film people Dorothy Shower, the 51-year-old president of Lord and Taylor, New York department store, was paid $110,000.—(CPC).

CARDINAL SHOWN DURING BUDAPEST TRIAL—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, shown seated beside a guard at his trial in Budapest, told the five-man people's court that he wishes to pay Hungary in full for any damage caused Hungary through illegal sale of thousands of dollars he is accused of receiving from sources in the Vatican and the United States. A dramatic break came at the trial when the prosecution read a brief letter written by the Cardinal saying that if he ever pleaded guilty to the treason charges it would be because of "weakness of the flesh" and should be considered "null and void". Hungary's communists published a bitter attack on the Cardinal who faces the threat of death by treason. They called his trial a defeat for the west.—(Radio Photo from CPC).

Hot Bread for Lunch

Bread, the staff of life, takes on glamor when it is served hot. Hot rolls, hot baking powder biscuits or scones served with butter and honey or jam make a dessert that is enjoyed by everyone. These breads do not necessarily have to be made at the last minute either. They may be split, buttered and re-heated just before serving time.

Delicious breads of this kind are made by combing different cereals for added flavor and food value. Combinations of rolled oats with cornmeal, whole wheat with added wheat germ or bran or breakfast foods that are mixtures of several cereals, all make good breads with either baking powder or yeast as leavening.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that the new one-knead method is an excellent one for hot yeast rolls and they have an idea that speeds up even the quick method.

Jiffy Rolls

2 cakes compressed yeast
or 2 tablespoons fast-rising dry yeast
1-2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1-2 cup scalded milk
1-3 cup shortening, melted
1-3 cup molasses
1 1-2 teaspoons salt
1 egg
3 cups whole wheat flour

Soak yeast in lukewarm water and add sugar. Combine scalded milk, shortening, molasses and salt and cool to lukewarm. Add slightly-beaten egg to soaked yeast and blend well with mixture. Add flour and mix well. Roll out on well-floured board and fit into greased pan 10" x 10". Cut dough with floured knife into strips 1 1-4" wide, then lengthwise down the centre of the pan. Brush cut surfaces with melted fat. Let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, 1 1-2 to 2 hours. Bake in a very hot oven, 425 degrees F., for 20 minutes. Yield: 1 dozen large rolls.

Jam Pockets

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
or 2 1-4 cups sifted pastry flour
2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening melted
Jam

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg, add milk. Make a depression in the flour mixture, pour in egg and milk, then melted shortening. Stir as little as possible in mixing. Turn half the mixture into well-greased muffin tins, add 1 teaspoon jam to each muffin and cover with remaining batter. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., for 25 minutes. Yield: 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Fruit Scones

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
or 2 1-4 cups sifted pastry flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1-4 cup shortening
1-2 cup currants or raisins
1 egg
3-4 cup milk

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles and blend with dry ingredients. or raisins. Combine egg and milk and blend with dryin gredients. Toss onto floured board and knead very slightly. Roll out to 3-4 inch thickness and cut into rounds 6 inches in diameter. Brush top with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Place on baking sheet and bake in a very hot oven, 425 degrees F., for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 8 six-inch scones.

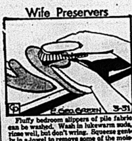
No More Dosing For Constipation

Famous cereal frees woman from harsh laxatives

Searching desperately for constipation relief? Then read this unsolicited letter:

"For 10 years even strong medicines couldn't help me. At last my doctor in England advised KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. I began to eat this breakfast cereal and soon realized I was better. I eat ALL-BRAN regularly now and can definitely say I am free from constipation!" (Name given on request).

You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. Just eat an ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily—and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, but a wholesome regulating cereal. Eat as a cereal, or in muffins for constipation relief. If after using one package you are not entirely satisfied, get double your money back as guaranteed on the package. Buy delicious ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Made by Kellogg's of London, Ontario.



Fluffy bedroom slippers of pile fabric can be washed. Wash in lukewarm suds, rinse well, but don't wring. Squeeze gently in a towel to remove some of the moisture, and brush or shake occasionally during the drying process. Brush again when thoroughly dry to bring up the soft nap which gives warmth.

Collegiate H. and S. Association

The regular meeting of the Belleville Collegiate Home and School Association was held Monday evening with Mrs. W. E. McCormick presiding. The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada", after which Mrs. S. Joss read the minutes for comment.

The suggestion that a recreational director be engaged by the city was referred to the city council. Mention was made of the TB Clinic is to be held in the city for three weeks, beginning April 4, and the president requested volunteer canvassers to acquaint people with the need for such a clinic and get them out to be tested.

The Health Unit, proposed by the Association, the particulars of which were submitted to the County Council for perusal, has been voted down, and reference was made by Mrs. E. Bond to other steps that will be taken with regard to health in city schools.

School Board

Clifford Summers, president of tht Students' Council, spoke on behalf of the school band which will hold a concert on February 17 and 18. The proceeds of the concert will be used for the purchase of sorely needed band uniforms, and the support of the Association was requested in this regard. Marion Conklin spoke on the work of the Red Cross in the School, describing the activities and informing the Association that to date there is a marked membership increase in the organization. Some 250 pounds of student - contributed foodstuffs have been forwarded to England this year, as well. Other projects have been undertaken by the group which were explained by Miss Conklin.

Development of Adolescent

In continuing the series, "The Development of the Adolescent", Mr. C. Holmes took charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. I. Campion and Mr. H. Townsend demonstrated the phase of "Physical Devtlopment". A number of senior grade boys executed a basic cadet table of physical exercises intended to aid in all-round physicil development. A group of Grade 10 students under the direction of Mrs. Campion demonstrated physical training methods employed by the girls entailing instruction in games, gymnastics and rhythmics. A number of intricate movements were gracefully executed, as well as a familiar square dance.

The March meeting will deal with the topic, "Bringing the Adolescent up Ethically".

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Piece of Malicious Mischief That Backfired

It is a very curious thing the way people who deliberately pull a dirty trick on some perfectly innocent person are astonished, and often aggrieved, when the trick backfires and they find themselves in serious trouble because of it.

A letter has just come in from an 18-year old girl who has perpetrated one of the meanest pieces of mischief I have ever heard of. Now things hav turned out differently from what she expected, and panic-stricken, she writes: "If ever a girl needed advice, it is me."

According to her story, "In our set it seemed quite the thing for a girl to be able to boast that she had a married man on the string, so over a year and a half ago I started out to get one."

The man she picked for the victim of this deliberate campaign of cruelty was about 60 years old and worked in the same place she did. He was, apparently, a very decent sort of man, quiet and orderly.

"I would watch his face from my machine," writes the girl, "and would try to catch his eye, and always made sure to put a meaning in all my looks, and I would write notes to him. I always told him how swell he was, and that his white hair was the prettiest ever.

"I was beginning to lose hope but he at last fell for this line of praise and flattery and one day asked if I meant all the things I said to him. I was so pleased to be able to tell the gang, and I added a lot more to make it good."

Eventually, the man told her he was crazy about her and that he would get a divorce and marry her. She told him, in return, that her religion would not allow her to marry a divorced man. So he suggested that they leave town and live together. He has a wife who, the girl thinks, is much younger than he is, and one child, a daughter about 19. He tells her he does not love his wife any more, and he has been giving the girl presents of money.

"Now I don't know what to do," she concludes her sordid story. "I don't love this man. He is old, and I never expected it all to go so far. I just wanted to fool around with him but he says I am his, and tells what he would do to me if he ever saw me with another man. His wife has found out and she has raised quite a row. She has gone to our boss and I sure am worried. I wish I had not taken money from him."

"Please, please, I beg you, answer very soon and help me. I will do whatever you say."

This, I would say, is quite far for an 18-year old girl to have gone in meanness, hypocrisy and treachery. It is a contemptible enough thing when a woman wrecks another man's home through misguided love for him, but there are no words strong enough to describe a girl who would do such a thing for fun.

I have no sympathy whatever for her in the mess she has gotten herself into, and no suggestions to offer on any easy way to get out of it. She deserves anything that she gets. I doubt if she has either the decency or the courage to make a clean breast of the whole miserable story to this man and his wife, but as I see it, that is the only way she can even make a beginning of unsnarling the sorry tangle she has made of these people's lives.

BEAUTY

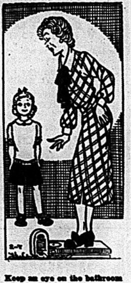
By HELEN JAMIESON

Can disposition affect weight?

Some years ago a scientist—evidently not having anything better to do—made a survey. He observed that among a hundred fat individuals, ninety of them have round faces, round eyes and rather flat, wide noses. It would seem as if nature, knowing that these weighty ones were bound to be curvaceous, designed facial features to conform. Our investigator also reported that there was a distinct relationship between thin people and long, thin noses. This beauty class ought to get a laugh out of that. Let the members visualize their fat and skinny friends, see if the rule applies. That should be fun.

It is a pretty safe guess that dispositions affect the weight. A highly energized young woman a demon for work, on the job or on the go all the time, is not likely to be a scales crusher. Fat cells don't have a chance to catch up with her. This alert young lady usually has an alert mind, is responsive. She has to be a quick thinker to scurry through her various activities. Everyone knows a girl like her. She seems to live a breathless existence. She'll stay as thin as a rail until she is a hundred years old.

In contrast to her is the plump ducky. She never hurries. She tags along easily and comfortably, is good natured.



Keep an eye on the bathroom scale

Plumpness in youth is not terrifying. The pretty girl with fresh complexion, sparkling eyes and jolly manner is a dimpled darling. But what will the oncoming years do to her? Unless she watches her diet, gets out of her slow-moving ways, the adipose cushions will increase. There will be breadth amidships. The dimpled elbow will be topped by an over-developed arm that will be anything but attractive. Rolls of flesh will appear on the back of her neck and will eventually form what is known as the dowager's hump.

In youth there need be no rigorous reducing campaign. The sweet young thing must keep her fingers out of the cookie jar. She must close her eyes when she goes past a sweet shop. No ice cream no pastries, plenty of fruit and vegetables and green salads. Regular exercise every day. Outdoor sports are a good insurance against added weight.

A lovely, rounded form may be the forerunner of squattiness. The reducing idea may be overdone, but it is just as well for every woman who isn't a bantamweight to keep an eye on the bathroom scales. Those extra pounds can sneak up on one, almost over night.

One often hears the question "Is corpulence inherited?" Maybe not, but the eating habits of the parents are, and that does it.

Bathing Suits For 1949 Follow Body Contour

Los Angeles, Feb. 8. (AP)—Next Summer's bathing suits made a formal debut Monday, and to nobody's surprise they revealed a lot.

The occasion was the opening of California Apparel Creators' Press Week.

Fred Cole of California explained:

"A swim suit is not hung on the body—it's an engineering proposition."

One of the most popular entries was Cole's sheath silhouette, designed by Margit Fellegi, which follows the body contour in graceful lines, set off by shirring. Another Cole standout is a skirted print number designed by Elza of Hollywood. Then there's a neat iridescent chambray with separate patio skirts.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Valentine Gift from Girl to Boy?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a senior in High School, and a very good friend of mine is a freshman in a nearby college. We have been friends for several years, and at Christmas-time and on birthdays we give each other thoughtful but inexpensive presents, and occasionally when we go to a dance together, he sends me a corsage. But I've never sent him a gift for Valentine's Day. Would this be correct . . . and, if it is, should I sign an enclosed card (of course I'd like to!)? If this would be correct, what kind of gift may I send?

Betsy

Since you two good friends have exchanged gifts on other occasions, it would be correct, generous and friendly, too, for you to send this boy a gift on Valentine's Day. And a Valentine gift more often than not does carry the name of the sender on an enclosed card. You might send him a handkerchief or two, plain or perhaps with one simple, good-looking initial on it (the initial of his last name); a book (perhaps the best Valentine gift for a girl to send a man); a pen or pencil; a tie or scarf; or one or two records of his favorite kind of music.

Morning Informality . . . Bride's Cake and Fruit Punch

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am to be married in late-Spring . . . to wear street-length dress or suit . . . only guests our parents, two attendants, several relatives. If the ceremony is at 11 a.m. in the church, would it be proper to serve, immediately after, in the parish house, wedding cake and fruit punch, and then for us to leave on our honeymoon?

2. Would it be correct for me to send engraved wedding announcements after the wedding to relatives and friends? May they correctly be sent to close relatives and intimate friends, or would they be too formal? In other words, I am wondering if perhaps they should be sent mainly to those who are not told of the wedding in advance.

1. Yes, all these plans are correct. . . to serve only the bridal cake (the white cake, iced simply or as elaborately as you wish, and the first piece to be cut by you and shared with your bridegroom), and fruit punch for the toasts "to the bride and groom" . . . this is correct even for this morning hour . . . and you and your bridegroom need not stay long at this informal reception, perhaps between a half hour and an hour.

2. It is correct for you to send these formal marriage announcements to all relatives and friends who were not invited to the ceremony. These simply and conveniently tell them the news that the ceremony has been performed . . . and the announcements are mailed as soon as possible after the ceremony has been performed.

Valentine Hearts and Flowers. No Daggers, Please!

The custom of sending charming Valentine missives without a name is an honorably anonymous custom. And that "honorably anonymous" custom should be kept honorable! Sending an unkind "comic" valentine, which is obviously, so terribly obviously, designed to hurt the feelings of the person to whom it is to be sent, is a dishonorably anonymous desecreation of the gentle meaning of this have-a-heart day.

AIDED BY QUEEN—Mrs. May Klinkhammer, British war bride, returned to England this week with her four small children, aided by the action of Queen Elizabeth. Worried over her destitute daughter in London, Ont., her mother wrote from Wiston, Eng., to the Queen, who in turn wrote Lady Alexander in Canada. Enquiries were pressed and arrangements were made to send the family home at municipal expense. The ex-soldier husband had been convicted of non-support. — (CP Photo).

Club Activities

STONE CHURCH MISSION BAND

4th Sidney.—Stone Church Mission Band was held on Friday afternoon in the school. The theme for the worship service was "Praise God for Christian Homes". The President, Herbie Whitfield, read the call to worship, "The earth is full of the loving kindness of God". The Scripture was read by Marilyn Wright from Psalm 33: 1-5.

In reading the meditations, the leader stated, "God shows His love in many different ways. One of the finest was to plan that people in this world should live together in families. Everywhere, in every country, we find homes. "Star", a little Chinese girl prayed—'Thank you Heavenly Father for your loving care'. She felt that God was caring for her through her mother and father, who loved her and she was glad.

"Shall we join 'Star' in saying 'Thank you' as we bow in prayer."

During the business, Jack Rushnell, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, and the date was set for the next meeting. Plans were made for the combined Mission Band and Baby Band meeting.

It was decided to have a display of Chinese hats, posters, etc., which will be made by the members and invited the Presbyterial Mission Band leader.

The president extended a welcome to Mrs. H. Gray and Mrs. C. W. Neelends as visitors.

After the collection the Mission and purpose and song were given.

Mrs. H. Gray told of "The Homes in China". A solo "Jesus Loves Me" was sung by Jack Vermilyea.

Chapter Five of the Study Book, "Dyke Against the Sea", was given by the leader, Mrs. F. Tucker. The meeting closed with the benediction.

Wellington on the Lake

Winter days are dull and dreary,
Wild the winds of winter
blow,
And the summer flowers, so weary,
Sleep beneath the frost and snow;
But the splendors of the sunset
To the heart new courage
bring,
For the longest days of winter
Bring us nearer to the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bedell, "The Willows," Picton, were in town on Thursday on their way to their farm in Hillier. Laura Bedell who was their guest for a time is now in Haliburton with her daughter.

The many friends of Miss Lilian Leveridge regret to hear that she is a patient in Belleville hospital and hope for a speedy recovery.

MADOC JUNCTION

Hiram Ashley Feted On 83rd Birthday

Madoc Jct. — On Friday Mr. Hiram Ashley, the oldest citizen of this community, celebrated his 83rd birthday. He was the recipient of many birthday cards, messages of congratulation and gifts. Mr. Ashley is enjoying good health as he goes about his daily work on the farm.

During the afternoon his pastor Rev. H. Burgess, also a number of representatives of Eggleton Sunday School — Mrs. Harlow, Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Hugh McMullen, Mrs. Fitchett, little Marlene Madill, Joanne Reide and Allen Reide, gathered at his home to wish Mr. Ashey a happy birthday and also presented him with a box of fruit and birthday cake.

A number of favorite hymns were sung with Mrs. Hugh McMullen at the piano. Mr. Burgess read a portion of scripture and offered prayer.

Then Mrs. Ashley served an abundant lunch of tea, sandwiches, cake, cookies and homemade candy.

Before leaving a friendship circle was formed and all joined in singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

Mrs. Blake McMullen, a niece, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Ashley. Other visitors and callers were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly and Billie of Foxboro; Mr. Carl Bridges and Mr. Jack Clarke; Mr. Seymour Ashley of Stirling.

Social Evening

The community social evening for January was held last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges with a good number present. The program and recreational period for the evening had been arranged by Mrs. Bruce Stapley and Rev. H. Burgess.

At the close lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mrs. Robert Reid of Springbrook spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker, Myrtle, James and Stanley were tea guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fitchett on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Forde Stapley and children spent a few days last week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers of Mount Pleasant.

Rev. H. Burgess spent the tea hour on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow.

MADOC

Gifts Presented On Anniversary

Madoc — On Friday evening the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown of the O'Hara neighborhood gathered at their home to celebrate with them their 25th wedding anniversary. During the evening they were presented with an electric clock and silver casserole, Mrs. Hugh McIntosh making the presentation and Ogle Devolin reading the address of tribute. The address was signed on behalf of the community by Mrs. Roy Wannamaker, Mrs. Ogle Devolin and Mrs. H. McIntosh.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown thanked their friends for their gifts and short addresses were made by Mr. J. D. Nickle, Mrs. R. Comerford. Games and singing were enjoyed after which the ladies served refreshments. Mrs. Brown was formerly Miss Blanche Bateman of Springbrook.

POEM

My Garden in Winter

My garden in winter
Lies buried 'neath the snow,
Where in the sun of summer
The bright red roses blow;
Now, flowers unresponsive
To winter's trumpet call,
Are sleeping, oh! so deeply
While soft the snow-flakes fall.

My garden looks all dreary
Beneath the cold, gray sky,
No fragrance from its blossoms
Reaches the passer-by;
But when the spring returneth,
When damp the dewy mold,
The flowers of my garden
Will shine like stars of gold.

The heart's cold winter garden,
When fate and fortune frown,
Shows nought of bloom nor fragrance
When sorrow's snows come down;
But with the heart soil softened
By sorrow's storm and pain -
The flowers of the spirit
Will bud and bloom again.

Melrose Entertains Visiting Farm Forums

Melrose—Melrose Farm Forum entertained several of the other forums of Hastings County in the town hall at Melrose last week.

Mr. John Milligan acted as chairman and extended a welcome to the visiting forums.

After listening to the broadcast on "This Little Pig Went to Market," they divided into several groups to discuss marketing with the following conclusions:

We should have organized marketing.

We should have stabilized prices.

We should be assured of a market.

Co-operatives should have their own packing plants. The great problem is not over production but the establishing of interchange of commodities among nations.

Mr. Earl Whiteman commented on the reports of the various groups.

Rev. A. W. Lougheed spoke briefly on farm forum and how it is bringing farm people together and giving them an opportunity to discuss their problems.

Mrs. Arnold Reilly was pianist for community singing. Mr. Sherry Demill sang a solo. Mrs. Demill conducted an amusing contest and awarded prizes. Lunch was served and a very social time enjoyed.

Mr. Morley Sine very capably moved a vote of thanks to Melrose forum for their hospitality.

Will Give Talk On British Zone In Germany

Mrs. Philip Carrington, M.B.E., noted youth organizer and social worker, will speak to the Women's Canadian Club at their meeting, Wednesday evening. Subject of Mrs. Carrington's address will be, "My Visit to the British Zone in Germany".

Born in England, Mrs. Carrington moved to New Zealand where she was active in the organization of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. Later she moved to Canada, her husband being the Dean of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que. At present she resides in Quebec City as wife of the Archbishop of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada.

The M.B.E. was awarded for her efforts in the health and social needs of the people in the Gaspe area. Mrs. Carrington handles several positions among which is being a member of the Dominion Council of the Girl Guides, organizing secretary for girls' work of the Dominion Board of W.A. and Provincial Regent of I.O.D.E. for the Province of Quebec. Last spring she attended the Lambeth Conference, following which she attended the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam, Holland. While in Europe she travelled through the British-held sector of Germany.

An interesting feature of her stay in England was the presentation of a gift book to Princess Elizabeth on behalf of the Girls' Auxiliary.

MINDSZENTY

He confessed and expressed regret; he lived far from worldly affairs; and the United States, through its Minister here, Selden Chapin, "made him hope that the United States of America would start a war and this war would help him attain his aims."

Aggravating factors, the judge added, were the Cardinal's high station in the church, his high degree of education, and the amassing of the crimes he committed.

After the sentence, the Cardinal was taken back to the two small rooms in Marko Street prison, where he was held before and during the three-day trial, to await the result of the Supreme Tribunal's review.

Cardinal to Appeal

The court asked the defendants, one by one, to state whether they accepted the verdicts or would join in the appeals of their lawyers. Cardinal Mindszenty, asked if he wanted to appeal, answered with a firm "yes."

Of the other defendants, only Rev. Ondras Zakar, did not appeal.

This opens the way for the appeals court to impose more severe sentences, if it wishes, or to reduce the sentences. The prosecutor appealed for harsher sentences, arguing that the people's court should have imposed death upon the Cardinal.

The life sentence given the Cardinal closed one avenue of appeal for him. Had he been sentenced to death, he could have sought clemency from the Hungarian president, Arpad Skakasits. He now has open only an appeal to a higher court.

In the case of death sentences, appeals must be disposed of in 10 days. The character of today's sentences does not call for that speed, it appears.

The Cardinal had pleaded partly guilty but denied plotting to overthrow the Hungarian government. All the other defendants except Justin Baranyay, a professor of church law, also had made the same plea and the same denial.

Baranyay pleaded innocent. Today he was convicted of trying to overthrow the republic, and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment, loss of his fortune and political rights, and loss of job for 10 years. Presumably the loss of his job would be effective at the end of his sentence.

Other Sentences

Here are the other convictions and sentences, as read out to the "people's court" this morning by presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys:

Rev. Ondras Zakar, the Cardinal's secretary, convicted of treason and trying to overthrow the government; six years imprisonment, loss of his job and fortune, and suspension of his political rights;

Duke Paul Esterhazy, wealthy Hungarian landowner, convicted of trying to overthrow the republic and of speculation in foreign currency; fifteen years imprisonment, loss of his job, political rights and fortune;

Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of Catholic Action, convicted of speculating in foreign currency and of failing to do his duty to the government by exposing the other cases; three years imprisonment, suspension of his political rights and loss of his job for five years;

Rev. Bela Ispenky, another Roman Catholic priest, convicted of treason and speculation in foreign currency; life imprisonment, and deprived of his job, political rights and fortune;

Laszlo Toth, a journalist, convicted of treason; ten years imprisonment, 10 years suspension from his job, loss of political rights and confiscation of his property.

The decisions were announced at a tense court session by Olthys. The defendants were lined up before him as he pronounced the court's findings. The so-called "people's court" is a five-judge body, with no jury.

Cardinal Mindszenty stood quietly, his hands folded and his face expressionless.

Judges Seven Minutes Late

The judges entered the crowded little courtroom seven minutes late. Everyone rose as Olthys announced immediately:

"The People's Court is now in session."

Then came a roll call of the defendants. The Cardinal murmured as his name was mentioned.

The judge then announced, in each case individually, that the court had arrived at decisions of guilty to the various charges.

Tension in the court grew since, in accordance with the People's Court procedure, the sentences were not pronounced until some minutes later.

Some of the spectators relaxed noticeably when it finally was disclosed the Cardinal had been sentenced to life imprisonment instead of death by hanging, possible under the treason charge against him.

Prosecutor Gyula Klapi previously had demanded a death sentence for the Cardinal. Today he protested against all the sentences but the life term of Father Ispenky, saying they should have been more harsh.

The Cardinal and other prominent Catholics were arrested Dec. 26, setting off one of the fiercest church-state controversies in modern times. Father Zakar had been arrested on treason charges about a month before.

Said he Wrote Letter

Cardinal Mindszenty and the other six defendants were brought into court last Thursday.

The cardinal acknowledged writing a letter to the minister of justice offering to withdraw from his office for a time to allow the Hungarian bishops to negotiate for a church-state agreement which he previously had opposed.

(There have been unconfirmed reports that the government was seeking to establish a National Catholic Church, independent of Vatican control.)

Cardinal Mindszenty acknowledged Royalist sympathies, admitted engaging in illegal money deals and offered to make restitution for the amount of money lost by the state.

Finally, he said he had changed his mind about a letter he wrote to the bishops before his arrest in which he warned them not to accept as bona fide any confession he might make because of "human frailty."

Called Mock Trial

(This string of confessions and recantations in court set off charges abroad that the cardinal had been tortured or drugged. One of the most prominent spokesmen making such charges was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, who called the proceedings a "mock trial".)

The prosecutor said "hatred of democracy and not defence of religion" was the cardinal's guiding motive, and denied that the Prince of the church had been drugged, tortured or threatened to extort confessions.

The trial brought to a climax the long, running fight between the government and the cardinal, who as an archbishop defied the Nazis when they were guiding the destinies of Hungary, and was imprisoned by them.

The battle with the Communists grew when they announced plans to nationalize church schools. The cardinal opposed the measure all the way, even threatening the excommunication of any Catholic member of parliament who voted for the measure.

KEAYS ALLEGES

Investigated Shooting

Keays said he investigated the shooting of Constable Dent and Miki, and found that Sgt. Stringer fired only one shot. But Sgt. Stringer told reporters and testified at the inquest that Miki fired first, then that he (Stringer) fired three shots. Keays said he was instructed by Insp. Cousins to subdue evidence proving that Sgt. Stringer fired only one shot.

It was at this point that Keays borrowed a revolver from a nearby Provincial officer, G. Purdy. Keays examined the loaded weapon in front of His Lordship and then asked Purdy if he would go downstairs and fire one shot. He explained he wished to show the effect of powdering in the chamber when only one shot is fired.

"I find my heart going pit-a-pat at this flourishing of firearms," said Special Crown Counsel C. P. Hope. "I confess I don't know what its purpose is."

Gun Returned

Mr. Justice Mackay had Keays return the gun, saying "I think we will have to stick to documentary evidence rather than any demonstration."

Keays' letter, which he elaborated from the witness stand, charged:

1. That Mr. Donnan knew Ernest Carefoot of Belleville was practising medicine without a licence, yet sought to prevent a prosecution and interfered with Keays when he sought to investigate Carefoot.

2. That Cpl. Irvine, then a constable, asked Keays to withdraw criminal charges against Leroy Woods, to "help out an influential friend," and that he deliberately committed perjury to "exonerate Woods."

Serious Charge Made

3. That Sgt. Stringer gave false testimony to the jury probing the death of Miki.

Keays said that Mr. Donnan encouraged patients to go to Carefoot for treatment "well knowing that he was a disqualified practitioner." The constable asserted Carefoot "had victimized the public to the extent of thousands of dollars as a result of administering a substance or method of treatment held out as a guaranteed cure for cancer."

But Mr. Donnan told Keays, according to Keays, that "Should I give evidence which would implicate him with the accused . . . he would get me if it was the last thing he ever did." From documents seized from Carefoot's residence "it was evident that Mr. Donnan was implicated in a fraud on the general public with Carefoot between the years 1936 and 1945," Keays testified.

Keays said that Mr. Hope, commission counsel who is a solicitor in the Attorney-General's office, knew of Mr. Donnan's interference but took no action. Mr. Justice Mackay then asked Keays if he felt it would prejudice Mr. Hope's appearance as commission counsel, but Keays said it would not prejudice the presentation of his case.

Took Treatments

In substantiation of charges relative to the Carefoot cases, Keays told the Commission of visiting Dr. Carefoot at the suggestion of Mr. Donnan and after being told he was suffering from cancer, of taking several treatments.

Later he had been instructed by the Attorney General's Department to investigate Mr. Carefoot, but knowing of Mr. Donnan's association with Carefoot he had suggested the investigation be turned over to the Criminal Investigation Bureau.

"Mr. Donnan told me to keep my mouth shut about the Carefoot matter as he was practising without a licence," stated Keays. "He said to pass the football back to the College of Physicians and Surgeons."

Secured Evidence

He said he had been instructed to continue the investigation with Inspector G. Monahan of the College of Physicians and Surgeons with result that sufficient evidence had been secured to warrant a charge of fraud.

These facts were placed before Mr. Donnan who explained he could not prosecute the case as Carefoot was a client of his in civil practice. The matter was turned over to Assistant Crown Attorney S. Gordon Robertson.

On March 19, 1946, Carefoot was arrested at his residence but, according to Keays, was released on $2,000 bail half an hour later before he had a chance to question him. He charged that Carefoot's release had been assisted by Mr. Donnan.

CONSERVATIVES

The final figures: Chapdelaine, 8,295; Trahan, 7,999; Manseau, 432.

The by-election was caused by the death of Lucien Dubois, who won over Mr. Trahan and an Independent-Conservative in the general election of 1945. In that contest, Mr. Dubois polled 7,973 votes against Mr. Trahan's 6,658 for a plurality of 1,315. The third candidate, as in Monday's voting, trailed far behind.

In the campaigning leading up to Monday's vote, importance was paced by both parties on the outcome. The by-election was the first in Quebec Province involving the two major parties since Prime Minister St. Laurent took over the Liberal leadership and George Drew became federal leader of the Progressive Conservatives.

In six other by-elections the two parties met only once—in Digby-Annapolis-Kings—and the Progressive Conservatives gained that constituency from the Liberals.

More than 77 per cent of the eligible 21,685 voters cast ballots Monday.

Mr. Chapdelaine held a lead almost from the first returns over his 40-year-old Liberal opponent, also a Nicolet lawyer.

Mr. Trahan made no statement on the outcome other than to say he would make no concession until the official recount Feb. 10.

Mr. Chapdelaine said the result was "a compliment to French-speaking Canada and a great triumph for broad-minded Canadianism."

In Ottawa Monday night Mr. Drew said the result demonstrated the voters' "firm belief in national unity based upon respect of our Canadian constitution" and offered "the most convincing proof" that the Progressive Conservative Party "is on the march in every part of Canada".

St. Laurent Confident

Mr. St. Laurent said he is "just as confident as ever that the majority in Quebec and in the rest of the country is Liberal, and I am equally convinced that we Liberals can win whenever and wherever we work together as a team."

The Canadian Press flashed the Progressive Conservative victory at 8.50 p.m. E.S.T., two hours and 50 minutes after the polls closed.

The campaign in Nicolet-Yamaska was practically devoid of local issues and became basically a test of party strength.

Up to the 1933 Redistribution Act, the two counties were separate ridings.

Nicolet as a single riding was last won by the Conservatives, 38 years ago, in the 1911 general election. Yamaska last went to the Conservatives in 1887.

What part the light vote polled by the Independent-Liberal, Mr. Manseau, played in the result was still a subject of discussion today. Some observers said Mr. Trahan's total was more adversely affected. Mr. Manseau lost his deposit.

PLAN TO EXTEND

The government, he said, was keeping its ceiling on flour because a subsidy now is being paid on flour used for making bread in Canada. Other ceilings were being continued because the products to which they applied still were in short supply.

He believed the steel industry welcomed the continuation of controls because they provided a fair division of available supplies.

He reported as well that there was a shortage of high-grade lumber in Canada and said the country would be stripped of its supply if controls were dropped at this time. It might be possible to lift the controls completely before "many months".

Priorities controls operated almost exclusively in favor of low-cost housing projects. Some of these also might go into the discard within a matter of months.

Mr. Coldwell noted that the official cost-of-living index, now at its highest point in history, began its breath-taking climb in August, 1945, when the government first started to abandon controls. The increase had been "disastrous" for persons on small and fixed incomes.

HOUSE APPROVES

When the debate resumes, the bill will be up for second reading or adoption in principle. It was given first reading after Mr. Gillis concluded his speech.

Also given first reading was a bill amending various federal statutes to make them applicable to Newfoundland after union, now scheduled to take place March 31.

The debate brought from Mr. Coldwell and his supporters new requests for a return of price controls to reduce living costs.

Some Criticism

Practically all speakers in the Newfoundland debate referred to the fact that there is some criticism of the way in which union is being engendered. Mr. Gillis disagreed sharply with his two party colleagues on the question of whether the island should have been given responsible government before union terms were discussed.

Mr. Nicholson and Mr. Castleden said many people in Newfoundland felt they should have a legislature of their own to ap-

Mr. Gillis said proponents of responsible government in Newfoundland wanted a return to a National government that would not discuss Confederation.

Mr. St. Laurent said many Newfoundlanders had felt the United Kingdom government should have restored responsible government and then left the island government to negotiate union. However, the United Kingdom had decided to let Newfoundlanders decide which form of government they preferred. By a substantial majority the people had voted for Confederation rather than responsible government.

As far as Canada was concerned, the choice of the island's future form of government had been left to the people of Newfoundland. The Canadian government had said only that it would be glad to extend fair terms if Newfoundland wanted to join Confederation. The union negotiations had been carried on in that spirit.

Mr. Drew said the union procedure would not contribute to the spirit of harmony and good will which should be the main consideration of all those who welcome Newfoundland as a part of Canada.

Lengthy Review

He added:

"It must, however, be remembered that in this House we are called upon only to deal with the steps which Canada will take to bring about Confederation. Except for any action by the Canadian government which has not been disclosed and it is therefore not known generally to the members of this House, the procedure, so far as Newfoundland is concerned, is one which affects the people of Newfoundland in their direct relationship with the government of the United Kingdom.

"We may well regret that appropriate steps were not taken to assure that there would be no cause for any widespread feeling of bitterness or dissatisfaction, but it is not for us to tell the people of our sister Dominion what course they should follow in their own dealings or in their dealings with the government of the United Kingdom."

The debate was heard by the two men who were leaders of opposing factions in Newfoundland. Sitting side by side in the diplomatic gallery were Joseph Smallwood, leader of the Confederation movement, and Peter Cashin, one of the Responsible government leaders.

Mr. St. Laurent started the debate with a lengthy review of events which preceded signing of the union terms Dec. 11.

Financial Terms Given

Dealing with financial terms, he said provision was made for "substantial" transitional grants to enable Newfoundland to provide provincial services without an excessive burden of taxation, or without a tax burden heavier than that prevailing in the Maritime provinces.

The terms also provided for establishment of a Royal Commission eight years after union to investigate whether the terms of union were satisfactory to enable Newfoundland to provide services similar to those of the older provinces.

An indication that there may be some argument on the details of union came when Mr. Drew said careful consideration should be given some aspects of the terms.

He suggested first that parliament should consider removing from the Confederation instrument the provision that Newfoundland could continue to use oleomargarine as in the past, regardless of the Dairy Industry Act which at the time of signing barred oleo from Canada.

Since that time, the Supreme Court of Canada has ruled that the act was invalid as regards manufacture and sale, though valid as to banning importation.

Principle Involved

Mr. Drew said a "very important principle" was involved in the inclusion in that section. If accepted, it might apply to other items of trade and commerce with serious consequences.

It suggested that it was an accepted principle to create trade barriers between different sections of Canada.

He criticized another section of the terms which state that Newfoundland will not be able to seek adjustments in any Dominion - Provincial taxation agreement even if more favorable terms are negotiated in similar agreements with other provinces.

Mr. Coldwell said "We should consider Newfoundland and Labrador a part of the whole Maritime region of Canada, which cries out for a new deal."

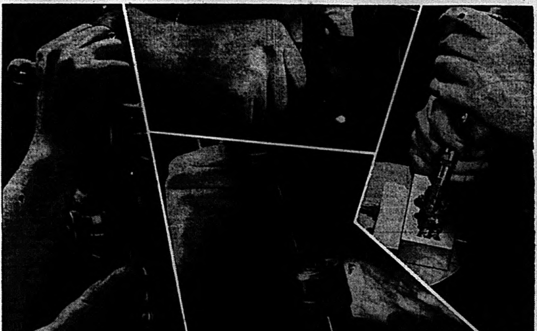
HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO



Learning to Make Plastics

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, as in the pictures shown here, every effort of Ontario's newly-skilled plastics workers will mean better plastic products — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

CNR Diesels Retain Unbeaten Record In Senior "B" Group Defeating Gananoque 6-3

By GEO. CARVER
(Sport Editor)

The C.N.R. Diesels rolled back into their hockey roundhouse last night a weary crew, still undefeated but their rolling stock had the biggest scare thrown into it since the start of the Senior "B" season.

It was a fast-skating hard fighting crew from Gananoque who gave the hitherto flying Diesels butterflies in their hockey stomachs and had the sailors from down the St. Lawrence way had their passes clicking the 6-3 score might have been different. As it was, the Trainmen fired home a 4-1 lead in the first period and perhaps it was a good thing they did.

There was no score in the second heat as the squads went all out in a rampaging, roisterous third period bout that had seventeen hundred fans adither and yelling for hockey blood.

Consistent Attacks

The visitors scenting possible victory in the third period sent their fast-skating forwards to consistent attacks and penned the homesters in their home yard for the first thirteen minutes of the period, scoring two goals to bring the count to four-three before the enraged Diesels finally struck back with two clincher goals.

It wasn't the best hockey in the world with both squads failing with passing plays. The two goalies, Maurice LeFort for Diesels and McDonald for the Gans. turned in outstanding performances with perhaps the nod going to LeFort. The husky youngster turned back Gan forays time after time and his work especially when the visitors drove in along was a little short of spectacular. McDonald on the other hand also kicked out plenty of rubber from the swirling Diesels front lines.

Eye-pleasing Game

But it was fact, eye - pleasing stuff with both teams laying on the body and individual duels apparent. Referees Ken McNaught and Speedy St. Louis dishing out eleven penalties held the boys in check although at times battle was imminent.

It looked to be all over but the counting when the Diesels rammed home four goals in a fast first period with but one reply from the speedy Gans. But the trainmen had reckoned without these fighting Guys from Gan.

Gerry Moher, one of the fastest skaters out there last night who got three assists, skated miles and his first effort clicked when he tobied a pass to Vern Goyer to give the Diesels a one-up lead at 37 seconds of the first period. The Diesels were on their way after that first blood warming. Moher with his line of Timmy Williams and Leo Goyer ripped home the Diesels' second goal and then Wardhaugh surged through for a single that gave them a three-goal lead. Wardhaugh went through a minute later and scored from a pass from Keith MacDonald to count the fourth and it began to look like "how many"? But they didn't know the Gan. squad.

Hastie Scores Three

Bill Hastie, former Belleville hockey star who manages the Gan. team and who scored all of his team's goals last night raced thru with Anderson to notch a counter with seconds to go.

The neatest goal of the evening was scored by Timmy Williams when he took Gerry Moher's tandem pass in front of the goalmouth to beat MacDonald. Williamson was in on that play, too.

The third period saw the flashing Gan team out for victory. The speeding front lines backed up by their offensive defence hemmed in the Diesels for nearly two thirds of the period. They rammed home two goals from the uncanny stick of Bill Hastie and then went out to tie or win.

Put on Clincher Plays

But the settling goal came when Leo Goyer and Timmy Williams with Gerry Moher in tow finally rammed home the rubber to give them a two-goal lead. Two minutes later with a minute and seconds to go Doug Bastedo abetted by Bernie Meagher, fired home the sixth Diesel goal to finally clinch the game. And that was that.

Maurice LeFort, Diesels' goalie, stood out with his counterpart MacDonald at the other end. Up front for Diesels Gerry Moher stole the thunder with three assists. The kid was flying all night. Vern Goyer, despite a rough handling insofar as bodychecks go turned in another fine performance. Jackie Wardhaugh scored two goals but he strayed too much. Atkins, of Gan, was one of the best players out there and along with Hudson. Keyes and Ford stole the thunder for the losers.

The teams:

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor

In splendid shape, full of boyish exuberance and confident that they will bring plenty of credit to themselves and their sponsors, the Belleville Gunners midgets start off tonight on that hard rocky trail that leads to a provincial championship. And they meet tough foemen, 'tis said, in the hard-fighting crew that wear the battle-colors of Peterborough. The second game of the goals-to-count series will be played in Memorial Arena here on Thursday night.

• • •

The youthful Midget "B's" under the guidance of Cy Barriage and Bob Strahan, and wearing the colorful artillery shades of red and blue, eliminated the Trenton Midgets in their group playoffs following a sudden order from the Ontario Minor Hockey Association officials last week. They are a sturdy, plucky crew of youngsters who can be depended upon to give a good account of themselves.

• • •

But while that Diesels-Gananoque game was productive of a good brand of hockey, nevertheless it was fast, exciting and full of crowd-pleasing spectacles if missed passes, heavy checking, close shaves and the occasional goal means anything to the faithful.

• • •

For that is what is was. The Diesels' hitherto fast-skating, pass-clicking offensives were missing on several occasions. Time after time the Barrett - MacDonald - Wardhaugh line swept in as did the Leo Goyer - Williams - Gerry Moher trio. True Wardhaugh got two goals, one on a breakaway and the other on a neat pass from Williamson, but on the whole the former clicking plays were missing. The boys were off their timing a bit, but they weathered the storm and came out with a 6-3 victory and perhaps that is all that counts.

• • •

But that is no alibi for this fighting Gan. squad. They're fast, they can shoot and they know a lot of the answers. They should go far in the Intermediate "A" race for the Ontario title.

And they threw a goddlemighty scare into the Diesels and their supporters especially in that third period. Atkins, Fair, Hudson, Bill Hastie, all stars of the night, swept in time and again and gave the Diesels' defence the biggest headaches it has had this year.
